LANSING LETTER

of cleared laad, Ann Arbor was chosea for its location.

100-Year-Old Hall

When you visit the north wing of University Hall at Aan Arbor, you will find the original Masoa Hall, built in 1841 to serve aot only as the classroom of the new institution but also the studeats' dormitories and the scientific collectiona of the school.

Seven students comprised the first closs that met in 1841. Their two professors were the Rev. Joseph Whiting, professor of languages, aad the Rev. George P. Williams, who taught mathematics. Thus mathematics, Greek and Lntin made up the first curriculum, a modest start for this grent state institution.

The department of literature, scieace and arts later becume the college of literature, science aad the arts—mother of the present college of engineering, graduate school, schools of educatioa, pharmacy, business administration, ausic, forestry nnd conservation. The college will celebrate the centenaial of its opeaing with a full day's program on October 15, featuriag an address by Dr. James Rowlaad Angell, president emeritus of Yale university, an alumnus of Michigaa, aad son of James B. Angell, illustrious president of Michigaa from 1871 to 1909.

First in Teaching

Michigan's progressiveness in education is also shown by the fact, also little known, that the first chair of the scienee aad art of teaching in the United States was established at the state university in 1879.

Co-education was introduced in 1870, and again the university pioneered in a custom that is observed nation-wide.

As early as 1837, when the state of Michigan eame into official being, Michigan had led the natioa in the establishment of free schools operated at public expense includiag grade or elementary schools, the academy or high school and the university. This plan was drafted in Marshall by the Rev. John D. Pierce in collaboration with General Isaac E. Crary, first attorney of Calhoun county aad representative to Congress from 1835 to 1840.

Interestiagly enough, the plan was nearly wrecked by a controversy over whether or not the Bible should be used in public schools. It was finally decided that a teacher might open sessioas by reading the Bible, but could not commeat upon the text.

From this smnll beglaniag education in Michigan has grown uatil today there nre eighteen colleges aad uaiversities, six teachers' colleges, eleven junior colleges, eight professioaal schools, twelve private schools, about 1,600 high schools, 6,800 public school districts for elementary classes and 465 parochial schools.

Well Known for Writers

Challeaging the literary reputation of its sister state, Indiana, Michigaa can boast of a large nuaber of literary mea and women whose writings are nationally famous.

Rex Beach and James Oliver Curwood, both native Michiganders, wrote tales of early Michigaa lumbering history. Stewart Edward White, now liviag ia California, described life in Michigan lumber camps in "The Riverman" and "The Blazed Trail".

Harold Titus, member of the state conservation commission, lives at Traverse City. James B. Hendryx (born in Minnesota), adventure fiction writer, lives near Sutton's Bay, and Karl Detzer, aaother prolific writer, has a summer home near Leland. At Detroit are Edgar A. Guest and Anne Camphell, bards of the press. Arthur Pound, native of Michigan, wrote many books dealing with the state's growth. Paul de Kruif, born at Zeeland, is the author of numerous books. Other Michigaabora writers — aad this fact is probably little kaowa to our readers—laclude Ring Lardner, Edna Ferber, Helea Toppiag Miller, aad Webb Miller. Carl Sandburg, Chicago poet, lives near Benton Harbor, while Eraest Heamingway spent most of his boyhood ln our state. William Lyon Phelps spends his summers ln the Thumb.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

This morniag on my way to the office, I heard a very interestiag statement over the radio. The Washington schools open on Monday. There are 70,000 public school students ia Washiagton and 40,000 ia the Purochial and nearby coantry schools. Some 5,000 A.A.A. Safely Patrol boys guard these youngsters from automobile accidents. Iu the 13 years that the Safety Patrols have been operating here, there has not been one single fatal accident and very few children have been injured. I think this is a remarkably commendable record, even more so when one realizes that otherwise Washingtoa is far from being the safest city in the coantry from automobil traffic hnzards. These Safety Patrol youngsters do a remarkable joh all over the country and I hope our motorists will nt nll times cooperate with them wherever seen.

Congress is again very much in the doldrums. We were called back in a hurry last week to receive a lengthy report from the Senate and House conferees on the thirty-six huadred thousand dollar Tax Bill which, however, was very quickly passed by both Houses without even the formality of n record vote. We were then informed that there were no legislative matters to be considered in either House uatil the 29th, and today I learaed that has agnia been postponed until October 6th. Consequeatly most members have agnia returaed home. Some of us who live far away from Washiagton find these little trips back home are very costly, nad it will doubtless interest some of my readers to know thnt such expeases are not even deductible from our income taxes.

On the other haad constaat requests for assistance from citizens back home make it advisable for maay of us, includiag myself, to remaia in Washington most of the time.

The next major item of importance which we will consider is the President's aew request for almost six billion dollsrs for additioaal Lease-Lend fuads. The Appropriations Committee expects that it will need about two weeks for hearings on this legislation and will thea bring it out for discussion aad vote, aad it is expected that it will be passed by both Houses in reasonably short order.

It then appears probable that before loag the Coagress will be asked to repeal, or drastically revise, what is lft of the Neutrality Law, in order, to legalize action —which the Presideat will probably take anyway on his own initiative — to sned American merchant ships into combat zones.

Since the President's famous "shoot on sight" speech, the general concensus of opinion in Washington is no longer whether or not we will get into war, but rather one of conflicting predictions as lo just when the shooting will start or when we will lenrn that the shooting hns started, due to the fact that the President has stated tha he may or may not let the American people know when the shooting starts.

Many of us realize that war materials, food supplies, etc.—for which the American taxpayers will pay—are of little value at the bottom of the Atlantic, and at the same time, we realize that they nre of little value when beiag tied up in Defense plant bottlenecks thruogh the actlvities of unscrupulous labor leaders and so I wonder why not only is there a definite lack of courage manifested on the part of the Administration in curbing such activity, but on the contrary there appears to be a very definite manifestation of approval of such tactics. Not so long ago various employers were being crucified by the government for interfering with a man's right to join or not to join a labor union as he saw fit. Employers were crucified for permitting so-called company uniona to function. Recently the government took over, and is now operating, a large shipyard on the East Coast, and the very first act of the Covernment itself, which hns now become the employer, was to institute a closed shop and a check-off, which means that no one can work on the construction of badly needed naval craft in that shipyard without they are forced to pay tribute to ono labor union, and ono only, and their dues in that union will be deducted from their pay and no one who is in arrears on his dues can continue to work in that yard.

Sometimes one wonders whether this is symbolic of the future Democracy which we are preparing to go to war to save.

We must arm ourselves nguinst the forces of evil and destruction. You enn help by buying Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps regularly.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

The new national food program recently announced by the Secretary of Agriculture Wicknrd which sets up production goals aad aims at the largest agricullural production ia the history of the coantry, does not affect the wheat problem, accordiag to Walter H. Healey, chairmaa of the Charlevoix County AAA Committee.

He palated out that wheat acreage allotmeats will still be in effect for the 1942 crop and that another wheat marketing quotn referendum will be held some time next spring.

"Farmers who are gettiag ready to put ia their 1942 wheat should, for their own protection aad for the general welfure of wheat farmers everywhere, plant withia their wheat allotmeats," Mr. Healey said.

The AAA official said that the regulations regarding marketing quotas have not changed from the regulations now in effect. If marketing quotas are voted in next spriag, farmers with excess wheat will ngain be faced with the problem of disposiag of their excess.

The exact amount of the penalty for excess wheat in 1942 will not be set until next spring because the law requires that the peaalty be 50 per cent of the national average wheat loan rate and the loan rate for 1942 will not be determined until next spriag.

Farmers who had excess wheat this year may free this excess by underplaatiag their allotmeat this fall to equal the amount of their 1941 excess. Full information on this poiat may be obtained at the county AAA office.

SOME PEOPLE NEVER LEARN... but most of them do!

There are always a few "smart alecks" who want to stand up and rock the boat. But most people try to keep out of trouble.

The same sort of thing happens in the retailing of beer. The great majority of beer retail establishments are clean, law-abiding and wholesome. But occasionally you may find a "smart aleck" retailer who violates the law or permits anti-social conditions.

We of the brewing industry want these anti-social retailers wiped out! Because they imperil your right to drink good beer...and our right to make it.

We want to protect the benefits that beer has brought to Michigan—employment for 58,312 persons since relegalization, an annual payroll of $58,300,740 and taxes of $4,439,995.07 paid to the state last year.

This state, too, has an important stake in Beer's purchases from over 100 industries supplying the brewing industry with materials, equipment and services.

You can help us in our public-spirited program by (1) patronizing only reputable and legal beer establishments and (2) by reporting any irregularities you may see to the proper authorities.

Dog, Decoys, Duck Hunter

Opening of duck hunting season October 1 will find this sight of a hunter with his decoys, dog, shotgun and gubbins a familiar one along Michigan's numerous lakes, rivers and marshes. New federal regulations have increased limit on canvasbacks and ruddy ducks from three to ten a day. Geese, coots, rails and gallinules may be taken during the same 60 day season as ducks. A federal Duck Stamp is required of duck and geese hunters in addition to the state small game license.

nows are coming in from Lake Michigan in great schools—a sure sign of the fall steelhead run as well as a forerunner of the perch migration.

Prices of many commodities are up somewhat, but speaking of meat, it looks as if the "cow had jumped over the moon" again.

There are rotten sports in every walk of life, I guess. At least Mrs. Anna Loeb, an ardent angler, thinks so since thoughtless fellow-anglers cut off six trolling outfits by passing too close behind her boat on Lake Charlevoix. There should be no question of right-of-way where the operation of trolling boats is concerned—merely the observance of courtesy among anglers. Only under the most stringent circumstances would it be necessary to run so close behind another troller's boat as to cut off his line, otherwise such an act could only be termed a deliberate one. It is to be hoped there will not be a reoccurence.

Our grandmothers believed there was a destiny that shaped our ends; but the modern girls place more faith in girdles.

The Morris Novers, from Saginaw, have purchased and are improving the Bonner residence, formerly the A. J. Auld property, on Michigan avenue. Dell Dutcher is in charge of alterations aimed to make the cottage on completely modern summer home.

Mackinaw trout trollers have 15 days to enjoy this sport before the closed season ban takes effect October 10.

Duck hunting season is the next thing on the program for sportsmen and even if we didn't know the season opens Wednesday, October 1, we'd surmise it was close at hand because of preparations being made by local enthusiasts. You can hunt small game above the Straits beginning next Wednesday, too.

EXPECT POTATO PRICE BE HIGHER THIS FALL

Recent Rains Great Help to Crop In This Region

Potato growers of Charlevoix county who have kept their crops protected with sprays and who produce good, healthy potatoes, can expect a slight increase in market price this year, indications show with food commodity prices all over the country soaring.

Blight is menacing crops of regional farmers who have not kept their potatoes sprayed, and as a result they may not be able to take advantage of a rising market price.

While it is still too early for definite announcements on market prices, buyers in the region and agricultural observers believe that rising price trends will extend to the potato market.

Heavy rainfall during the past two weeks had almost miraculous effect on some potato fields. In one field under observation by County Agricultural Agent B. C. Mellencamp where the plants had been covered by six applications of high pressure spray, the potatoes grew from approximately the size of marbles to almost salable size within one week.

All the meetings will be held in the Petoskey high school auditorium. For those coming from outside of Petoskey who might like to stay for all three meetings, if the weather is too bad for picnic dinners outside, a room in the high school building will be available in which to eat. Each person or group will furnish his own basket lunch.

An offering will be taken at each of the three meetings. The morning and afternoon offerings will be to pay the expenses of the meetings. The evening offering will be given for the national work of the American Sunday school Union.

CCC ENROLLMENTS NOW LIBERALIZED

Take On New Workers to Aid In State Tree Planting

Decreases in CCC manpower, a factor in sharp curtailment of tree planting, construction work and other projects of the state conservation department, are being checked somewhat by liberalization of enrollment procedure, according to George Young, administrative officer of CCC camps working on state projects.

Single men between 17 and 23½ years of age may now enroll at any time by reporting to county selection headquarters or to CCC camps, Young said, specific enrollment periods having been eliminated. All camp commanders are enrolling officers.

While the new enrollment policy is attracting young men to camps daily, Young reports that many CCC-trained mechanics, cooks, carpenters, truck and tractor drivers and metal workers are answering calls of the army and private industry.

Harrietta Hatchery will handle trout eggs produced at Frankfort, Leland and Northport to the limit of capacity. Oden hatchery will take 2,000,000 eggs from Charlevoix and St. James. Thompson hatchery will handle trout eggs produced along the north shore of Lake Michigan. Harrisville hatchery will handle lake trout eggs taken on Lake Huron to the limit of capacity, and send the surplus to Thompson and the Duluth hatchery of the federal Fish and Wildlife service.

Trout eggs collected at Isle Royale also will be turned over to the Duluth station, which stocks the waters of the western part of Lake Superior under a cooperative agreement with the Michigan conservation department. Trout eggs taken at other Lake Superior fishing grounds will be delivered to Marquette state hatchery.

Any whitefish spawn taken will be sent to Thompson.

Where the quantity of eggs does not warrant shipping, the spawn is planted back to the waters from which the fish were taken. After a time determined by the setting of test nets on the fishing grounds, commercial fishermen are obligated by law to save all spawn from ripe fish and deliver it in proper condition to conservation department fisheries men.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The Junior Boys Class of the Baptist church had a slumber party at the home of Guy Smith on Saturday night. There were raids on the icebox, breakfast, a hike, and all went to Sunday school. Guests were Charles Bennett, Clyde Barnhart, Billy Cruthers, Bobby and Billy Carey, Jack Stinson and Dickie Hardy.

Mrs. Greg Shadko was hostess Saturday evening at a party celebrating the tenth birthday of her son, Warren. Nineteen guests were served dinner at a table decorated in a color scheme of pink and pale green, and later attended the theater.

A farewell party for Miss Madelyn Crites, who left Tuesday to spend the winter in Chicago, was given Sunday evening at the home of Miss Mary Louise Moshier. A potluck supper was enjoyed by the guests, who later attended the theater. LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

Camp Roberts, Calif.

Dear Sirs:

Just to let you know that I have been receiving the Charlevoix Courier. It's time that I should thank you for sending it to me.

It really is great to get the Courier here, kind of gives me an idea what's going on around home and in Charlevoix.

I really would appreciate a little rain here, we haven't had any rain since I've been here, that's about three months. Some of that Charlevoix rain would sure do fine over here.

Thanks again for the Courier.

Grasshopper Threat Smaller This Year

Grasshoppers are less threatening to crops this year than in 1938, 1939, and 1940, Dr. Lee A. Strong, chief of the U. S. bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, predicts. A grasshopper egg survey, on which federal entomologists forecast infestations of these pests, indicates that in 1941 the 'hoppers will be fewer in numbers and less widespread in area. However, large numbers of grasshoppers are expected in North and South Dakota and western Minnesota.

The grasshoppers will appear also throughout western Kansas and immediately adjoining areas of other states, but not in such large numbers as in the northern part of the Great Plains, Doctor Strong says. Large numbers are expected in parts of California and Nevada, though in limited widely scattered areas.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Attention in the way of clipping off seed pods and a continuation of watering will cause most of the annual flowers to give a good supply of late bloom.

Do not cut fruits and berries for indoor decoration carelessly. Thoughtless hacking off of branches from trees and shrubs may leave the plants crippled for years to come.

Most perennials, except the late summer-flowering kinds, can be transplanted now. Divided carefully and replanted in deeply dug and well enriched soil, they should be sufficiently well established to flower next year.

Delphinium seedlings set out in frames now and left mature planted in Spring will give good spikes for cutting early next summer. At that time outstandingly desirable plants may be saved and others discarded.

Although this is a good time to plant evergreens, it is a mistake to think that they will grow in poor soil or exposed situations. They need good ground and some protection, especially through the first winter in their new locations.

Gourds for winter decoration should be picked before they are touched by frost. The stems should be cut off about two inches from the fruit which should then be taken into the house to dry. Fashion dictates that this stem portion be left attached to the gourd.

Purchase ferns and house plants, in general, now so that they will be accustomed to house conditions before winter sets in. Plan to move all house plants in from outdoors some weeks before starting the furnace. Watering must be done carefully during the first few weeks in the house.

'41 DUCK SEASON OPEN OCTOBER 1

OFFICIALS PREDICT EXCELLENT SHOOTING

Upper Peninsula Small Game Season Opened Today — Duck Law Rulings Outlined

Conservation department officials predicted that most of the state's 80,000 duck hunters would be out at sunrise today for the opening of what was expected to be a better-than-average duck shooting season.

Reports of an excellent hatch in Canada and along Michigan's Great Lakes shoreline this summer indicated that shooting should be good in the state this fall.

In addition to the 60-day duck season, the cottontail rabbit and upland game season opened Wednesday in the Upper Peninsula.

Conservation officials reminded hunters that both state license and the Federal duck stamp were required. Exception was in the case of youths under 16 years of age who may shoot on their own farms without license or stamp.

The daily bag limit for ducks was 10, same as last year, with the possession limit 20. Not more than three bufflcheads or three red-heads or three of both may be in the daily bag. Canvassbacks and ruddy ducks have been restored to the 10-in-a-day class. The limit on geese remains at three a day or six in possession, except in the case of blue geese which may be taken at the rate of six a day.

The use of bait or live decoys still was prohibited along with the use of cattle, horses or mules. Hunters may not use larger than 10-gauge shotguns and the three-shell limit on automatic guns remains in force.

Shooting was to be allowed from sunrise until 4 p. m. except at Houghton Lake where shooting must stop at 2 p. m. The early closing hour was ordered to permit birds to feed.

CHARLEVOIX WINS OPENING CONTEST

DEFEATED MANCELONA BY 35 TO 0 COUNT SATURDAY

Scored In Every Period by Superior Attack; Meet Boyne City Here Saturday Afternoon

Coach Ray Kipke's Red Rayders swamped Mancelona high under a 35 to 0 score in the initial contest of their 1941 football schedule at south side athletic field Saturday afternoon.

Showing superiority in every department, they tallied one touchdown in the first period, two in the second and one in each of the third and fourth quarters. Mancelona advanced into Charlevoix territory but once during the contest, then through a desperate passing attack in the third period.

Don Carey and Carl Rowe sparked the Charlevoix offense with brilliant end runs and line thrusts. Rowe accounted for three touchdowns, Carey two. Carey converted after three tallies, Rowe after twn, thus they divided Charlevoix's scoring.

Charlevoix scored first midway in the initial period. An exchange of punts gave them the ball on Mancelona's 40-yard strip. Steady advances by Rowe, Carey, Martin and Shapton carried to the 15-yard line from where Rowe skirted right end to tally. Carey went through the line for extra point.

(WNU Service)

STATE OF MICHIGAN
Executive Office
Lansing, Michigan

Among the freedoms which we cherish in the United States for preservation of our liberties is freedom of the press.

Without a free press, disseminating the truth as editors and reporters see it and providing a forum for public discussion, our democracy could not survive.

Along with freedom of religion and freedom of speech, it is a basic guarantee of individual liberty, given to us in the first amendment to the Constitution of the United States, better known as the "bill of rights".

In special tribute to Michigan newspapers which have declared anew their patriotic determination to serve the people with information of national defense, I hereby proclaim Oct. 1 to 8, 1941 to be National Newspaper Week in Michigan. Let it be a special commemoration of the constitutional right, enjoyed by every citizen and safeguarded by our newspapers, of freedom of the press.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, Governor.

SEEKING REDUCTION IN AUTO WEIGHT TAX

Circulate Petitions to Place Proposal Before Voters

A change of plans to speed legislative action on a pruposed slash in motor vehicle license fees has been announced by Frank W. Herrick, manager of the Michigan Automobile Dealers association.

Herrick said members of his organization were seeking 200,000 signatures on petitions calling for a 62 per cent reduction in the Michigan weight tax for submission to the legislature when it meets October 9.

Previously it had been announced that the reduction approval would be submitted in the form of an initiative petition which could not come before the legislature until the 1943 session.

The automobile dealer's proposal called for reducing the automobile license fee from 35 cents a hundred pounds to 10 cents a hundred and the truck fee to a flat 35 cents a hundred. The present truck levy ranges from 65 cents to $1.25 a hundred. Herrick said gasoline tax moneys, now used for bond retirement and the state trunk line program would be used to compensate county road commissions, in part, for losses in weight tax returns. All weight tax receipts now go to the counties.

THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington, D. C.

The recurrence of National Newspaper Week should awaken in the hearts and souls of all Americans a renewed determination to defend and maintain and perpetuate the priceless heritage of a free press.

I trust as a result of the forthcoming observance that Americans everywhere will have a renewed sense of the incalculable blessing which a free press confers. It must be maintained against all assaults.

Very sincerely yours, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

BIDS OPENED FOR BRIDGE PROJECT

BAY CITY FIRM LOW AMONG NINE BIDDERS

Delay In Starting Project Seen Because $588,473.83 Bid Higher Than Original Estimates

Delay in start of the state highway department's project on construction of a new bascule bridge over the channel on U.S.31 is expected following opening of bids last week in Lansing.

This project was among 20 involving improvement of 68 miles of road, two large bridges and a grade separation for which the low bids aggregated $1,860,973.62.

The Bay City firm of W. J. Meagher & Sons submitted a low bid of $588,473.83 on the local project involving a 90-foot double-leaf bascule span, two 40-foot rolled beam approaches, 40-foot roadway and two six-foot sidewalks. Nine bids were entered, it is understood, with only two coming under a $600,000 figure.

Delay in start of the project is seen in the fact that the lowest bid was considerably higher than the original estimate placed at $480,000, which amount had been appropriated with state and federal funds sharing equal amounts. With insufficient funds available, it is understood that the state highway department will be required to make application to the Federal Bureau of Roads for a supplemental grant to meet the bid cost.

In all probability the work will be held up until required finances are available. Building approaches to the proposed temporary bridge, requiring removal of buildings acquired on the east side of Bridge street, will be the first work done, it is understood. Traffic will be routed eastward from Bridge street at the present roadway leading to the municipal dock, across the temporary bridge, through the Charlevoix Lumber Co. property to Dixon, cross Dixon onto Nichols street joining the trunk line on Petoskey avenue.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

A good newspaper reporter should know, I suppose, what the folks in his town are doing all the time. I must have slipped somewhat, because I'll confess I didn't know that the Couriers—Frank and Laura—were on a western jaunt until one day last week I received from Livingston, Mont., a souvenir they sent. They remembered my greatest weakness—fishing—with a small rainbow trout made of candy, all colored and as natural as you could imagine. It pleased me a lot, too.

A maiden lady lived in a small house in the country with one maid. One morning the bell rang. The maid admitted the visitor, an evacuee officer, arranging for homes for children evacuated from London, then rushed upstairs. "Please mum," she blurted out breathlessly, "you've got to have two babies, and the man's downstairs."

Charlevoix had a sample last Thursday of what kind of a mess it would be if the highway swing bridge got out of order for any length of time. Operation difficulty during the heavy northwest gale resulted in damage to mechanism to an extent the bridge could not be locked. Electric fuses burnt out, too, and there it set open. During the period until repairs could be made traffic started to pile up on both sides. School buses loaded with children being returned home from school sat waiting, mail couldn't be delivered to the train, cars were lined up for blocks. What a snarl it would have been if the incident had happened during the heavy summer traffic peak! Which all goes to prove that the swing bridge is one awful important cog in our daily city transportation system.

And speaking about Thursday's storm, it sure rolled up some mountainous seas in a hurry. Fish tugs scurrying back to port provided an interesting sight for many spectators as they rolled and pitched.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Another "first" for Michigan: Michigan newspapers, 345 of them strong, published daily and weekly, have sponsored the first all-media state committee for effective dissemination of national defense information. The office of Civilian Defense at Washington has declared that the Michigan press program to be a model for general adoption by state councils of defense.

This announcement came today from the Michigan Press Association, newspaper trade organization since 1875, which made public statements of congratulation received from the White House, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, Secretary of War Henry Stimson, William S. Knudsen, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and many others, including Michigan congressmen.

In July the newspapers took the initiative in sponsoring a non-partisan advisory group for the newly formed Michigan Council of Defense. All media are represented on an equal basis — motion picture theatres, radio, outdoor advertising, graphic arts, and periodicals. In addition are several advisory agencies representing industry and labor, governmental public relations and advertising.

President's Secretary

Stephen Early, secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, wrote:

"I congratulate the Michigan Press Association on its patriotic determination to put the whole weight of its influence behind the campaign for national defense. Foremost among our cherished freedoms is freedom of the press. Without that guarantee our other freedoms would languish and disappear.

"The example of the Michigan Press Association is one which I hope will be widely emulated."

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, in commending Michigan newspapers, said:

"The coordinated efforts of your member publications will do much

W. J. Rachow, vice-president and cashier of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank, has been elected secretary of the new Saginaw Valley Trust Co. He will retain his interest in the State Bank and divide his attention between the two institutions.

Another Ford fracas. Really, it doesn't seem as though we would be able to go to press if some Lizzie didn't cut up a half column's worth of capers. Saturday night, the Ford truck belonging to Nat Burns, while running onto Bridge street from Park avenue, was rammed by McCann's bread jitney running south on Bridge street. Both machines were more or less bruised up, no injuries resulted to the drivers.

Miss Joy Rifenburg, of Ironton, and Cyril H. Seckinger, of Ypsilanti, were married Friday evening at Christ Episcopal church.

Mrs. Jane Bowdish, 74, resident of Charlevoix county since 1869, died Friday at her home in this city.

Mayor Andrew Ross has proclaimed the week of October 2-7 as the time to square up debts, it being designated National Pay-Up Week. Not such a bad idea, at that.

Paul Harsha, Perry Mason, and Dorothy Armstrong have taken up their studies at the University of Michigan. Doris Stevenson returned Monday to M. A. C.

Frank Glassford has about 30 men working on the Waller farm, where extensive additions and improvements are under way, including a barn, four dwelling houses and a creamery.

Mrs. C. E. Bailey is planning extensive remodeling on the Lamphear house on Clinton street, which she now owns.

John Curtis has bought the Cosy Corner cottage, corner of Michigan and Petoskey avenues and has moved the house to his property on the State road. Mrs. Cruikshank, from whom he purchased the building, will erect a modern cottage on the old site.

Charlevoix had an unusual visitor Sunday noon. F. W. Zimmer of New York city, one of the Wright Brothers' crack demonstrators, and E. L. Judson, president of the Continental Motors Co., landed in Pine lake with their 100 horse power Wright flying boat, in which they had come from Carp Lake, a distance of 56 miles, in 24 minutes. (Evidently the term "pilot" was not in general use, as one of the men was referred to as "driver" or "navigator" of the plane.)

And by the way—only 79 shopping days before Christmas. (We had to stop and count up this year's calendar and discovered there are only 72 days left.)

"Uncle" George Van Pelt's touring diary of his three-day trip from Charlevoix to Detroit, thru Grand Rapids, gave the following time schedule: Manistee to Scottville, 22 miles, 1 hour and 5 minutes; to Pentwater, about 21 miles, 55 minutes; to Shelby, 15 miles, 1 hour; to Montague, 14 miles, 1½ hours; to Muskegon, 19 miles, 1 hour 35 minutes; to Grand Rapids, 45 miles, 1 hour and 45 minutes. Roads all exceptionally good except between Shelby and Montague. The next day he left Grand Rapids at 7:30 a. m. and arrived in Detroit at 5 p. m.

HOW THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT WORKS

Editor's Note: This is the seventh of a series of articles explaining the programs for social security operated by the Federal and State governments.

As a result of the program of "public assistance," which was established by the Social Security Act, nearly 3,000,000 people in the United States get cash allowances each month through the public welfare offices of their communities.

They are the needy men and women past 65 years of age, the children in families without bread-winners, and the needy people who are blind.

Here is how this program helps needy old people. A person who is 65 years of age or older, who wished to apply for "old-age assistance" goes to the nearest public welfare office. That office finds out if the case comes properly under the rules for "old-age assistance" in that state.

Those who apply for help at their local public welfare office will be asked questions to find out if they can meet the requirements for old-age assistance.

They must show how long they have lived in the state. "Old-age assistance" can be given only if they have lived there a certain length of time.

Most states allow it only to people who have lived in the state at least a year just before asking for assistance, and four other years during the past 9. In a few states the time is shorter.

The state officials decide how much the allowance shall be according to the need in each case, and also according to the amount of money the state has for the purpose.

Some states can afford to pay more than others. In some, the same amount of money goes farther than in others. For the country as whole, the average allowance is about $20.

The money is provided by the state and federal government. Of any allowance up to $40 a month, the federal government pays one-half and the state pays one-half. The state decides who shall receive allowances, and pays the money to the individuals.

"Old-age assistance" is for needy old people because of their need. It is not the same as the insurance plan for wage earners and their families—which is called "Federal old-age and survivors insurance" and which pays benefits because of wages earned.

A second phase of the public assistance program is called "aid to dependent children." It provides cash allowances for children in families which do not have sufficient means of support because the fathers or mothers are dead, disabled, or absent from home.

The purpose of this program is to keep the family together, and give children a chance to grow up in a home with their own relatives.

Where there are children who need this kind of help, the mother or father, or other relative with whom they are living, should apply to the public welfare office nearest their home.

The children's ages must be given, their circumstances must be explained, and their need of assistance must be shown.

The exact amount of the monthly allowance for each child is decided by the state according to the need in each case, and according to the amount of money the state has for the purpose. The average allowance in the 44 states which are giving aid, is about $32 a month per family.

The federal government pays half the cost of the allowances given by the state for dependent children, up to $18 for the first child and up to $12 for any other child in the same home.

There is a third phase of the "public assistance" program which provides aid for the needy blind. Here is how they get help.

A blind person applies to the nearest public welfare office, where he must show that he is without sufficient means of support and totally blind, or that his sight is so poor he cannot support himself.

Of course, a blind person over 65 years of age who is getting "old-age assistance" cannot also get "aid to the needy blind."

Most states do not require that the blind person be a citizen, and many do not require that he shall have lived in the state any particular length of time.

Some states require a year's residence; but most states require more than a year. But the requirements cannot be more than 1 year, just before asking for aid, and 4 other years during the last 9.

The monthly allowance in each case is fixed by the state, and the federal government pays one-half the cost, up to $40 a month for each person. Payments to individuals are based on the extent of need in each case and therefore vary greatly.

The average monthly allowance to needy blind people in the 43 states which have plans of this kind is a little less than $24. In 8 states, it is less than $15; in 10 states it is above $25 a month.

The age limits for aid to the needy blind vary throughout the country, but a blind person over 65 years old cannot receive both old-age assistance and aid on account of blindness.

To find out more about the program of "public assistance"—help to the blind, the needy aged, and dependent children—get in touch with the nearest public welfare office.

You can also get pamphlets explaining the program by writing to the Social Security Board.

The Board of Directors of Charlevoix County Red Cross held its fall meeting at the East Jordan Inn last week, Monday, with fifteen present. New officers elected are Mrs. I. Price, secretary and Mrs. Esther Kroll, treasurer.

The Red Cross Roll Call has been set for November 11 to the 30th. Because of the emergency status, $18,000,000 must be raised. This amount is double last year's assessment. The Red Cross tried to show in last year's articles the wide-spread activities of the Red Cross and how they can do and why everyone should do his bit. If every family put only 15c a week aside from now until November 11 the quota would be very easily and painlessly reached. It is figured that 26 per cent of the people of a given area will become members of this great organization, but Charlevoix county has fallen far below every comparable county for the past five years. Let's bring Charlevoix county up to par this roll call.

The next touchdown march started when Mancelona, failing to gain from the kick-off, punted to Rowe, who returned to Mancelona's 40. Carey made 15 yards around right end, Stewart hit the line for 9, Martin skirted right end for a first down on the Mancelona 20, Rowe hit the line for 5 yards as the quarter closed. On the first play in the second period, Rowe romped over and Carey again converted for a 14 to 0 lead. Charlevoix scored again before the half, using three plays after Mancelona punt was grounded on their 40. Carey gained 10, Rowe hit the line for 5, Carey ripped off 25 yards around right end to score. Rowe converted for a 21 to 0 margin.

Mancelona carried into Charlevoix territory for the first time in the third period. They fired passes at random, completed several for gains which were wasted when intercepted. An intercepted pass paved the way for Charlevoix's fourth touchdown near the close of the period. Shapton brought one down on Mancelona's 29-yard strip and on the next play Carey criss-crossed through the entire visiting team to score. Rowe hit the line for extra point, giving the Ryders a 28 to 0 margin.

The final score came a few minutes later as the final quarter opened. Martin intercepted a Mancelona pass on their 30. Two passes, Carey to Martin and Rowe to Swanson put the Ryders on Mancelona's 18; Rowe romped around the end to score, Carey went over for the extra point to end the scoring.

In his starting line-up, Coach Kipke used Stewart and Martin at half, Carey at fullback, Rowe at quarter, Gallagher and Swanson at ends, Bissell and Foster at tackles, Jancha and McMillan at guards, Bill Rowe at center. Substitutions were made freely during the game, giving nearly all substitutes an opportunity to play.

Charlevoix entertains Boyne City here next Saturday in what will no doubt be their major test of the season. Boyne has a victory over Cheboygan and defeat by Petoskey, both class B teams, to date.

BOY SCOUTS ASKED TO GATHER WASTE PAPERS

Council Troops Again to Meet Defense Aid Request

Boy Scouts of the Scenic Trails Council have for the third time this year been asked to carry on a national defense project.

The first request was for distribution of a large number of defense band posters. The second request was to participate in the aluminum drive and this time the request comes from Leon Henderson, Administrator of Civilian Supply in the Office of Emergency Management. Mr. Henderson has requested Scouts to carry on drives for the collection of waste paper.

This project is to be carried out by Troops in each community and disposal to be made through regular sources at market prices. A definite shortage of materials to be converted into packing boxes and cartons for ammunition, food and other materials has been reported by the administrator. The commissioner staff of the Scenic Trails Council will make available to all troop leaders specific information as to drive organizations and disposal points. Waste paper includes old newspapers, magazines, corrugated cartons and office and school waste paper.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON
From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

Congress was again in recess all of last week and is scheduled to be this week. Meanwhile numerous committees were holding sessions considering future legislation. Of course, the most important matter being considered at present is the President's request for additional Lease-Lend funds which will probably be considered in the House during the week of October 6th. While it is expected that the President will get this additional appropriation without much difficulty, nevertheless it is probable that a severe fight will develop over whether or not any of the money can be used to Lend-Lease or give materials to Russia.

The House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries favorably acted upon my bill for the construction of a large Coast Guard cutter capable of crushing the heaviest ice in the Straits of Mackinac. The bill was approved unanimously by the committee and the chairman instructed to exercise all possible diligence and make every effort to secure its passage by the House at the earliest possible date.

Admiral Waesche, the Commandant of the Const Guard, showed me the preliminary drawings of this boat and described the proposed cutter to me. According to plans, this boat will be 260 feet long and 70 feet wide and have an 18 foot draft. This means that it will be able to open a channel through the Straits wide enough to accommodate all boats on the Great Lakes or any which are apt to be on the lakes for years to come. She will be of exceptionally heavy construction and have a 10,000 shaft horsepower. The bow has a considernble slope below the water line which will enable her to climb up on top of the ice and break it by virtue of its sheer weight. There is a heavy propeller located up in the bow which serves two purposes; first, to help the boat go astern if necessary after climbing up on top of the ice, but its principal purpose is to be used to pull the boat forward and in so doing clear ice away from underneath the bow by pushing it astern. On the aft end of the boat there will be twin screw propellers. Also in the stern will be a heavy towing engine which can be used, of course, to tow vessels in distress or for assistance in refloating stranded vessels. In addition to her ice breaking functions, it is expected that this powerful crusher will be of estimable value in aid to refloating steamers which may have gone aground in bad weather.

If Congress passes this authorization bill before the end of the year, it is expected that the boat will be in service sometime in 1943. If so, it will complete a fight which myself and my predecessors have been making for the past ten years to secure a suitable heavy duty ice crusher for the Straits of Mackinac to insure uninterrupted ferry service in the winter and at the same time be of considernble value in keeping the navigation season open as long as possible to permit the flow of iron ore, coal, limestone and other commodities so much needed in the Defense picture and in normal peace time operations in the Great Lakes area.

to assure a full public understanding of the defense program. The importance of Michigan as an industrial center makes your project of special interest at the present time."

"Patriotic Public Service"

Lieut. Colonel E. Ernest Dupuy, chief of the planning of liaison branch of the war department, declared that the Michigan newspaper move was " a patriotic public service of high order".

"You may be interested to know that while there have been no other similar groups which have perfected the formal organization of your association, quite a number of state press associations have been directing combined efforts towards the same end. All this is in the finest tradition of the American press, and is of particular value in this emergency."

Likewise, Senator Arthur R. Vandenberg sent commendations for the "splendid arrangements that have been made by Michigan journalism to coordinate its labors in behalf of effective national defense. This is a real public service, and I congratulate all of you upon this line enterprise."

Secretary Knox Lauds

Secretary of Navy Frank Knox, who served as president of the state newspaper association in 1904 while publisher of the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News, wrote:

"I get the same satisfaction out of hearing about the fine cooperation of the Michigan press in our defense program that anyone gets out of hearing about a good job done by the people back home with whom he has lived and worked. I know from first-hand experience of the fine tradition which Michigan newspapers are carrying on today. And I know, too, that at no time has there been greater need for such cooperative action on the part of the press than there is today."

Another excerpt: "Democracy depends upon the wide dissemination of information about our national problems and free discussion of the best way to meet and master them."

Knudsen on Reporting

William S. Knudsen, director general of the Office of Emergency Management, put emphasis on "sound, thorough and objective reporting" in congratulating Michigan newspapers for their non-partisan stand. He wrote:

"The public depends in large measure upon the press for its understanding of the defense effort. Sound, thorough and objective reporting is of increasing importance in these days of national and international emergency.

"If the people know the facts, they will, as always in a democratic country, arise promptly to the defense of their liberties.

"I hope that the (newspapers) concerted nonconcerted non-partisan effort to perform a vital public service of keeping American citizens ever better informed of defense activities will serve as an example to its colleagues elsewhere."

Michigan Congressmen

Typical of statements received from Michigan representatives to Congress is this comment by Albert J. Engel, Muskegon, congressman from the Michigan ninth district: "The press is on firm ground when it offers to cooperate in the defense program but reserves its constitutional right to print the news compatible with military necessities and to offer constructive criticism of the government's foreign policy and program."

Jesse P. Wolcott, Port Huron congressmen, urged Michigan editors to "separate factual matter from the pure propaganda", while Clare E. Hoffman, Allegan congressman, admonished the press to "go 'all out' for national defense and not for intervention."

The newspaper division of the state defense committee, headed by W. S. Gilmore of the Detroit News and Schuyler Marshall of the Clinton County Republican-News at St. Johns, will meet in Lansing Friday night (Oct. 3) to confer with Governor Van Wagoner and officials of the state defense council.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Corn Bores Causing Considerable Damage in Corn

This year we have had many reports from all over the county concerning the great increase in corn bores. A few corn bores are not anything serious to consider but apparently the numbers are increasing so rapidly that good clean-up measures are in order and should be practiced, by every good farmer. Fortunately these desirable practices are simple and fit in the picture on the average farm very nicely.

Corn bores spend the winter in the corn stalks. It is difficult to find the pests in other places except weeds growing in heavily infested corn fields. No practical method has been devised for killing the adult moths that lay the eggs and for destroying the eggs on the plants in the summer. Therefore three or four practices are herewith recommended which will materially decrease the extent of the damage next year. First all of the borers must be killed before wintering in the corn. One good way is to make insilage out of the corn which automatically elliminates the pest, next, corn shredded naturally decreases the numbers. Cutting the corn low likewise, does away with a large number. But more important is plowing up of the stubble cleanly is very helpful. This likewise destroys the weeds which are also sources of infection. While we do not like to see bare ground over the winter season nevertheless where corn bores are becoming serious this may be necessary. The big thing to remember is to plow under all debris and remnants left in the field.

Perhaps corn borers will have to be accepted on about the same basis as grasshoppers, leaf hoppers and other corn insect pests. We probably will have them in years to come but by proper control measures we can still live with them and still keep the upper hand. It is not too late yet this fall to clean-up your corn field and plow it down if necessary.

Rural Folks Interested in Landscaping Act Now

A recent announcement from O. I. Gregg, landscaping specialist, Michigan State College, indicates that he will be in a position to develop at least six new landscaping outlines this winter. By October 10th all requests for his assistance must be received at the County Agent's office in Boyne City and forwarded to the State College. Any farmer desiring to beautify his home surroundings at a very nominal cost should immediately send in his request at once. These plans are so developed that the exact location of every shrub and plant is noted on the outline. Each cooperator will submit three or four photographs of the farm home and will show the exact dimensions on graph paper.

Very close to a hundred outlines have been developed by Mr. Gregg during the past twelve years.

Perch have been caught in good numbers both in Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix during the past few days. The "run" should get under way in full force within a short time. And then there was that woman, whose identity I didn't learn, who caught a 4-pound steelhead off one of the east park yacht slips. She sat there when I started out trolling and had her prize when I came back two hours later empty-handed. You have to live right, I guess.

October 1 to 8 is being observed ns Nntional Newspaper Week. In this nntion 1,500 daily ond 4,000 weekly newspapers nre joined in the observance—one nimed to impress upon their millions of readers the true significance of one of our greatest democratic heritages—freedom of the press. There was a time when we knew of this freedom more or less as theory. But today, with the press of foreign nations robbed of freedom and used for mere propaganda purposes, we see this privilege as a fact. In this issue will be found expressions of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Governor Murray D. VanWaggoner upholding the free press as one of this country's greatest institutions. It is the hope of this writer that you readers, too, nre apprehensive of this privilege of a democratic people and that if the occnsion ever arises to defeat it you will do so with typical American thoroughness.

"Twin beds nre all very well," said the blushing bride to the salesmno in the furniture depnrtment, "but there is no use buying them until we get the twins."

Charlevoix had a generous slice of prominence Sunday as metropolitnn newspapers heralded the performaoces io Saturdoy's football contests of the Carey boys. "Chuck" performed brilliantly for Michigan State College against the University of Michigan until injnries forced his removal from the game; Keith was mentioned among three players most responsinble for Alma College's victory over Grnnd Rnpids U., ond on the home gridiron, Don, younger member of the fnmily trio, was bringing honor to Charlevoix high.

TUBERCULOSIS ASSN. HONOR RURAL SCHOOLS

Two in Charlevoix County Cited for Xmas Seal Sales

Michigan rural teachers and pupils are being honored in the September-October edition of Health, official publication of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, which was mailed this week to 15,000 people throughout the state. Health's featured article points out thnt "Last year 3,711 rural schools in Michigon sold 1,725,318 tuberculosis Christmas seals—one room schools with as few as five or six pupils; two room schools that boasted as many as fifty; some that had sold seals for twenty years; and others that were selling for the first time."

Charlevoix rural schools are among those to whom this issue of Health is dedicated. Last year twenty-eight Charlevoix rural schools sold Christmas seals as their part in the fight against tuberculosis. Highest honors in the 1940 seal sale were won by Ironton school in Ironton, with Miss Elsn Bradley in charge of her eighteen pupil salesmen. Ironton was a winner in 1939, too, making the second highest per capita sale of seals that year in Charlevoix county. Running a close second in the 1940 sale was Lakeside school in Boyne City, where the selling cnmpoign of the eleven pupils was directed by Miss Erdine Skornia.

SWAN SOAP IS BEING INTRODUCED LOCALLY

Campaign Launched for New Lever Brothers Product

White, floating Swan Soap, comparable in purity and mildness to the finest, imported "100% olive oil" castiles, has been introduced in markets and stores here this week. It will be advertised extensively as the first really new white floating soap since the Gay Nineties.

Swan Soap wns developed by the Lever Brothers Company after extensive laboratory research.

Before making the new soap available to the public, hundreds of tests designed to prove its blandness were conducted by an independent medicnl laboratory. Under the supervision of doctors and nurses, women and children of all ages took part in these extensive tests — blondes, brunettes and red-heads — thick-skinned, thin-skinned — oily and dry. A summary reveals Swan to be as mild as expensive 100% olive oil castiles.

Made with painstoking cnre, with constant and rigid control during production, Swnn Soap introduces a number of improvements over other flonting sonps. It suds into n rich, long-lasting lather two times qnicker than other soaps of the same type, is a firmer soap, and has a newly developed fenture thnt allows the bar to be snapped easily lnto two handsome toilet cakes.

COUNTY DEFENSE COUNCIL NAMED

FIVE MEMBERS TO DIRECT LOCAL COOPERATION

Regional Meeting at Traverse City Revealed Scrap Iron, Steel Vital Defense Need

Civilian defense activities in Charlevoix county are being organized by a committee of five members recently named by Governor Murrny D. Van Wagoner.

Heading the group, known as the County Defense Council, is Clarence Healey, of East Jordan, chairman. Others are Fr. John Collins, of Charlevoix, vice-chairman; Ralph Price, Iroaton, secretary; Benj. Brown, of Charlevoix, and Mrs. J. W. Dilworth, of Boyne City.

Duties of the committee in coordinating efforts in the county were outlined at a meeting of Defense Council members and city officials of 17 northern Michigan counties last week at Traverse City.

Outlining information gained at the Traverse City session, Mr. Brown, local member of the county group, stated that the average citizen will play a tremendous role in providing defense factories of the country with raw materials from which to build defense weapons during the next year. With iron and steel the backbone of defense, the only way the demand can be met is for every citizen of the country to do his part in providing scrap steel necessary.

Citizens will be asked to sell old iron and steel in their possession, auto wreckers to give more of their salvage to the government, farmers to sell old machinery rusting on their farms, manufacturers to sell old, obsolete machinery.

E. J. Edwards and C. S. Webster Are Named on Board

Two Charlevoix businessmen were named among the 76 directors of the West Michigan Tourist & Resort Association at the annual meeting last week in Grand Rapids.

Clair S. Webster was re-elected a member of the Board and E. J. Edwards, president of the Charlevoix board of commerce, was chosen a new representative from this city. These men will assist in the association's management policies during 1941-42.

URGE MEDICS ATTEND TB ASSN. ANNUAL MEET

Release Figures Showing Mortality In County from Disease

The 34th annual meeting of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association will be held in Grand Rapids on October 27 and 28, according to Curtis M. Wylie, president of the association. In making the announcement this week, Mr. Wylie urged medical men and lay workers in Charlevoix county to attend this meeting, which is held each year with the purpose of making further gains against tuberculosis.

"In the association's files are records showing that last year Charlevoix's tuberculosis death rate was 23 per 100,000," Mr. Wylie said. "These figures are a strong argument for the need to continue our energetic fight against the disease. For, though the rate in Charlevoix county is lower than in 1939, there can be no letting up in the campaign to control tuberculosis, which works unnoticed and often unheralded by symptoms."

COUNCIL ADOPTS ZONE ORDINANCE

REGULATE ALL FUTURE BUILDING CITY

Districts Are Established for Residential, Commercial, Industrial, Agricultural Areas

The city council Monday night placed its approval on a zoning ordinance introduced early in summer and upon which two public hearings were held.

Vote on the ordinance was 4 to 2 with Aldermen Goss and Hooker dissenting.

The ordinance as adopted contains numerous modifications and changes from the original draft, following public opinion as expressed at hearings. It divides the city into districts for residential, scenic reserve, commercial, industrial and agricultural purposes. Restrictions are imposed for each district as to what kind of buildings can be erected, size of lots and nature of use.

Three residential districts are established, each with regulations as to type of building, size of lots, distance of dwelling from street, height of structures, etc. Two commercial, two industrial, marine and general, are outlined.

The zoning ordinance applies to all future construction. Building permits must be secured from the city under specified regulations. Protests against the ordinance can be made to a board of appeals, which is composed of members of the city council.

Full text of the ordinance is published on pages 7 and 8 of this issue.

BOYNE WINNER OF SATURDAY CONTEST

DEFEATED CHARLEVOIX BY 12 TO 0 COUNT HERE

Rayders Made Excellent Showing Against Heavier Team; Play Onaway Next Saturday

Charlevoix high school's Red Rayders lost to Boyne City by a 12 to 0 score Saturday afternoon in a renewal of the annual rivalry between the two schools at south side athletic field.

While the records will show Boyne won by a margin of two touchdowns, they actually earned a score in the first period and were handed the second through a wildly tossed forward pass which was intercepted in the final period.

Outweighed man to man by a considerable margin, the Rayders gave a good account of themselves. Their defense, featured particularly by hard and accurate tackling, stopped Boyne on the 2-yard strip in the second period and thwarted numerous other scoring marches. Boyne's heavier line, however, stopped Charlevoix's offense cold.

MICHIGAN IS SECOND IN DUCK STAMPS SOLD

Let Only by Minnesota, National Leader, Reported

Michigan is doing better than holding its own as the second most popular duck hunting state of the union, the latest check on federal duck stamp sales furnished the state conservation department reveals.

While Minnesota, national leader, sold 1,103 less stamps in 1940 than in 1939, Michigan sold 8,116 more stamps last year than the year before. The margin is still considerable, however, as the 1940 record lists Minnesota's sales at 118,931, Michigan's at 94,180.

Wisconsin and California rank next after Michigan in the number of hunters purchasing duck stamps, and sales for the entire country totalled more than 1,250,000 in 1940. Required of every sportsman over 16 who hunts migratory waterfowl, the stamps finance the federal government's refuge program.

UPLAND GAME SEASON OPENS OCT. 15

LOWER PENINSULA COUNTIES OPEN FOR 22 DAYS

Extended Rabbit Hunting Again This Year; Laws, Legal Limits Same as Last Year

Michigan's most popular hunting season opens at 7 a. m. next Wednesday morning, October 15, when the legal lid of protection is lifted from all common varieties of small upland game in the lower peninsula.

With the upland game season above the Straits and the duck season open since October 1, the October 15 opening in the lower peninsula will complete the release of an anticipated 600,000 hunters.

The species which become legal game October 15 are pheasants, partridge, woodcock, cottontail and snowshoe rabbits, fox squirrels, prairie chickens and sharp-tailed grouse. The latter two species are found only in the upper peninsula and northern section of the lower peninsula, and the lower peninsula area in which they may be hunted is defined as that lying north of the north line of T16N and west of Saginaw bay.

Fox and gray squirrel may be hunted in all the lower peninsula except Emmet and Cheboygan counties from October 15 to November 5, or as long as the bird season lasts.

Game laws, limits and seasons remain virtually the same as last year. All are simply explained in red print in the 1941-42 game law digests which are issued with the hunting licenses.

Unless frost or rain brings the leaves down, foliage will make most small game shooting more difficult, especially partridge hunting early in the season. Prospects this year, according to reports, are good.

DOG TAX DRIVE BRINGS RESULTS

FINE RESPONSE REPORTED BY COUNTY OFFICIALS

Charlevoix City Makes a Good Showing With Five Delinquent; Campaign to Be Pressed

Satisfactory results have been obtained during the past three weeks from a campaign launched by Prosecutor Norman Ance and Sheriff Floyd Ikens to collect delinquent dog license fees in Charlevoix county.

From 656 letters mailed delinquents as shown by the list turned over from the county treasurer's office, approximately 500 dog owners have responded, leaving those negligent in the minority.

Those in charge of the campaign have expressed appreciation of the fine response. Charlevoix city, it was pointed out, shows the smallest number of delinquents at present, only five remaining unpaid. Townships in the same category are Norwood, Marion, Evangeline, Charlevoix, Eveline, and South Arm. Arrangements have been made by those few delinquents in these townships to make payment.

Prosecutor Ance reports that thus far officials have failed to contact any single individual who has refused to pay the license fee, indicating the most prevalent reason for delinquency has been neglect. He stated the campaign would be continued vigorously until all dog license fees in the county are paid. Those who have not responded up to the present time are requested to do so in order to avoid prosecution, which is mandatory under state law.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

"Deer hunting widows" can be thankful that 1941 will be the last year of postponed Thanksgiving dinners. Gov. Van Wagoner is following President Roosevelt in proclaiming the national holiday this year for November 20, but next year will return the holiday to the traditional last Thursday in November.

Most people don't care what happens, provided it doesn't happen to them.

The Michigan State College officials responsible for the ruling that all girl students must wear long stockings during the fall and winter terms probably didn't have four daughters to buy hose for.

Speedy: "Boy, it's great to speed along the highway like this, aren't you glad to be alive?"

Timid Friend: "Glad isn't the word. I'm simply amazed."

There were occasional bright spots on the fishing front during the week past. For example, that 6 pound 5 ounce smallmouth bass taken Sunday from Round lake by Fay Davis established a season's record, and the 5½-pound steelhead Mrs. Coryell Sevrey caught in Lake Charlevoix was a beauty. And perch! Not in the remembrance of old-time anglers have such perch been taken as those caught in the bay of Lake Michigan between north and south points. It all started a week ago today and is still going on when weather permits. Perch weighing close to two pounds, and lots of them! It is said these big yellowbellies seldom enter Round lake from the big lake, but there's a lot of anglers hoping such theory is without foundation. Round lake hasn't produced perch very consistently so far. It was not until October 10 that the "run" really got under way last year, so there's still hope that it won't fail.

Hunting for grouse, prairie chicken and sharptails across the Straits didn't turn out too good for local parties, I'm led to understand.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Hold on to your hats, folks—we're going somewhere!

Staggering to the imagination of the Michigan man on the street is the latest federal payroll tax proposal, blessed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morganthau, to skim more millions of dollars from the national income—all in the name of our economic good health.

It puts the Michigan legislative situation, in which Governor Van Wagoner is to deliver an address today (Thursday), into a modest corner of incidental interest. The governor and the legislature may get the headlines, but they will be only symptoms of a tremendous problem which is worrying Washington these days and giving even housewives an occasional jitter.

Let's consider the Michigan scene first, take a look at the symptoms.

$2,000,000 Pay Boost

Among the many vetoes exercised by Governor Van Wagoner was one chopping more than $3,000,000 off the regular appropriation bill. Reason: "Balancing the budget."

When the legislature enacted the bill last spring, members anticipated an average of $10 per month increase in salaries of employees in the lower pay bracket. Then the state civil service commission, a supreme court unto itself under the state amendment creating it, ordered blanket wage increases averaging $25 a month for hospital and prison employes.

Result: A deficit of around $2,000,000 is anticipated in the same appropriation bill, and Leo J. Nowicki, state budget director, has drafted a bill for introduction in the legislature, reconvening today, to appropriate this additional sum.

Rising Prices

A worry to state officials, as it is to housewives, is the mounting cost of commodities. Everything costs more than they did six

AT THE MOVIES

"I'll Wait for You" Comes to Palace Screen

Robert Sterling and Marsha Hunt, who dawned on the screen as a romantic team in "The Penalty," are reunited in a tense human drama in "I'll Wait for You," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's story of loyalty and regeneration coming Tuesday, October 14 to the Palace Theatre.

"I'll Wait for You" deals with a young racketeer, educated in the underworld, who in escaping from the police is forced to hide on a down-East farm. Among simple, trusting country folk he finds a new side of life he never knew existed and a new philosophy. The experience opens the path to a new life and a new happiness for him.

Sterling plays Lucky Wilson, the racketeer, and Miss Hunt the farm girl with whom he falls in love and whose influence does much to inspire him to a new mode of life. Little Virginia Weidler has one of her best roles as the ubiquitous "kid sister," first a nuisance to the love-making of the guest from the city, and later his loyal friend.

Robert B. Sinclair directed with a cast that includes Paul Kelly, Fay Holden, Mickey Rooney's mother in the Hardy Family pictures, Henry Travers, Don Costello, Reed Hadley, Theodor von Eltz, Veda Ann Borg, Carol Hughes and others.

Wondering about the 1942 cars?

Here is Buick's superb solution to the problems posed by making our national defense, as it should be, industrial America's No. 1 job

BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE
Our assignments Building Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft engines for defense use.

It was no time to duck or dodge the facts. So we didn't try.

Instead we said—these being the materials critical in the defense program, we'll do our planning for 1942 with that foremost in mind.

Not merely for an "acceptable" car—certainly not for any "ersatz" number.

We had to have a real and representative Buick. One we could be proud of. One able enough, active enough, durable enough to serve till annual new models are the rule again.

We resolved on a 1942 automobile of such merit as could carry the Buick reputation without fault until other new Buicks, however far off, could come along to refresh it.

Now we're announcing these 1942 cars.

Why waste words telling you how good they are! You can't put language in the gas tank and learn either how many or how enjoyable are the miles you'll get per gallon.

There's a better answer—you drive these cars themselves. Come on, do that! Put your own yardstick on their quality.

It would be a shame, for you and for us, to have you miss the dreadnaught Buick we've built to stand up successfully to the toughest job in years.

Alternating line drives and passes, Boyne tallied their initial touchdown midway of the first period after an advance of 35 yards. Harper made the touchdown from Charlevoix's 2-yard strip. Eustrom's try for extra point from placement was wide.

For the next two and a half periods the battle surged up and down the field with whatever advantage there was in Boyne's favor. With about five minutes to play in the last quarter, Rowe tossed a pass straight into the hands of Poirier, Boyne quarterback, who romped untouched across the goal from the 25-yard line. The try for extra point failed and the game ended a few minutes later.

Boyne's biggest threat was its forward passing. They tossed 26 during the game, completing 9 for good yardage. Carey's long and accurate punts were another factor in Charlevoix's strong defense, pulling the team out of bad spots repeatedly.

The line-ups:

Charlevoix—		—Boyne City
Shapton	lh	Harper
Martin	rh	Jersey
Carey	fb	Shearer
Rowe	qb	Poirier
Gallagher	re	Eustrom
Bissell	rt	Kurchluski
Jancha	rg	Price

BOY SCOUT CAMPAIGN SET FOR OCTOBER 6-14

"5005 Boy Scout Boosters" Is Slogan for Drive

A campaign for "5005 Boy Scout Boosters" for the Scenic Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, will get under way in the 37 communities of the council between October 6 and 14.

The campaign is for both operating funds and personnel for the council. Instead of each local community having its drive independently as in former years, they are being combined into a council wide endeavor. Local chairmen and committees are organizing the drive in each of the communities in each of the 11 counties comprised in the Scenic Trails Council.

In announcing the booster campaign, Hugh J. Johnston, council president, stated, "We have had an exceptional growth in membership in the Scenic Trails Council the past year. We also have had an outstanding growth in the number of adults taking part in the leadership program of Scouting. This year in our finance drives, we are also making drives for additional leadership as well as operating funds."

The first drive to get under way will be at Manton and the last scheduled will be in Cadillac. In Boyne City Don Watkins is chairman of the Boy Scout booster campaign.

STRAITS TRAFFIC IS AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

1940 Record Passed Thursday With Three Months to Go

Traffic records at the Straits of Mackinac were broken Thursday with the season still three months and some 60,000 automobiles still to go.

Ferry officials announced that state ferries have transported 297,114 automobiles up to and including September 23.

The total for the entire season of 1940 was 296,769 automobiles.

With three months to go, the total traffic will be well over 350,000 or an increase of some 25 per cent, according to Fletcher Davis, assistant superintendent. Ferry officials pointed out that Thanksgiving holiday, hunting season and Christmas usually bring a rush of traffic to the state ferries.

Total benefit payments to American families from their life insurance companies this year are running at an annual rate approximately $680,000,000 greater than in 1929, an increase of 35%.

SUNRISE SHOOTING STRICTLY FOLLOWED

Charts Prepared to Erase Any Excuse of Ignorance

As in 1940, hunters again are prevented from indulging in any self-satisfying guessing about when it is sunrise and time to begin shooting, since the conservation department has issued the official sunrise timetable, good for both clear days and cloudy ones.

The sunrise hour varies from 6:28 a. m. on Lake St. Clair on October 1 to 8:06 a. m. in Gogebic county on November 29.

Over-eager hunters brought to court by conservation officers for firing too early, and incidentally spoiling the shooting of their fellow hunters, will find the timetable, prepared with the official aid of the U. S. weather bureau, of firm legal standing.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Early-blooming wild flowers are best transplanted in autumn. Plan to give the new plantings a thick covering of fallen leaves both for winter protection and to serve as a soil mulch next summer.

Gladiolus corms should be dug as soon as the foliage ripens. Permit the corms to cure in shallow flats or boxes for two or three weeks. Then they can be put away for the winter, preferably in a cold place but above freezing.

Make sure that varieties do not get mixed during a general replanting of the perennial border. Label each kind accurately before digging in. Also, labels are important where numerous varieties of bulbs are being planted in the same area.

Cuttings of many rock garden plants may be made from new basal growth. Rooted this autumn and carried over winter in pots or cold frame or cold green house, the young plants will be sturdy enough for planting outdoors in spring.

Give the outdoor chrysanthemums a final staking as soon as they have set their flower buds. Since the budded plants will grow no taller, the stakes may be cut off below the flower line thus making the flowering plants more natural in appearance.

Clumps of chrysanthemums in flower may be dug and potted for house or porch decoration. They may also be moved to other parts of the garden for autumn color effects.

Laughing Around the World

With IRVIN S. COBB

He Won the Oil Stone

By IRVIN S. COBB

THIS one used to be a classic around the newspaper offices. A reporter who was covering the hotel news for his paper, gathering up gossip of new arrivals and the like, returned to the shop with a story.

"I butted into three traveling-men talking in the lobby," he said. "One of them, an underwear salesman said the hot weather had put him almost out of business. He acted like he wanted to cry about it."

The other two listened to his complaint for a while. Then the second one said:

"You've got no kick coming. Look at me, cheery and bright. I haven't made a sale since last February and yet here it is the middle of August."

"Rotary snow-ploughs."

Up to this point the third fellow hadn't said a word. Now he spoke up:

"You fellers haven't got a kick coming. Why I haven't made a sale in five years."

The other two turned on him;

"What's your line?" They asked in chorus.

"Suspension-bridges."

LANSING LETTER

months ago, except your newspaper and a few other items.

Prices at wholesale have climbed 20 per cent over the level existing in pre-war months before September, 1939. The cost of living is up 7 per cent and mounting almost daily. This is particularly true of food.

Under the price control bill endorsed by Leon Henderson, price expert at Washington, agricultural prices could rise to 110 per cent of parity—that is, 10 per cent above the level existing between 1909 and 1914.

At Washington today (Thursday) is Michigan's commissioner of agriculture, dirt farmer Leo V. Card, who is to oppose any attempt to fix a ceiling on agricultural products at less than parity.

As everyone knows, continued increases in farm prices are bound to form a base for additional rise in living costs; these higher costs will form a base for demands by labor for further wages; such higher wages in turn will increase cost of commodities, and so on and on—the old inflationary spiral that pushes itself upward by its own momentum. It is like the old question about which came first—the chicken or the egg. But that isn't all.

Payroll Taxes

Social workers have advocated for years that social security benefits should be extended to millions of Americans, that the benefits themselves should be greater.

The name for it is "social justice" whereby masses are given economic security by government decree, wealth is re-distributed, and poor states are given help by the rich states. Some persons call it the "New Deal".

Now comes news from Washington that the threat of inflation, an economic peril, has prompted the federal administration to seize upon social security taxes as a weapon for warding off disaster through inflation of ever spiraling prices. By their new plan the administration would make some 40,000,000 Americans eligible for social benefits—old age pensions, unemployment compensation, and the like—for the first time. It would constitute an astounding expansion of tax payments on employer and employee, a social revolution of the first magnitude whose consequences would inevitably be far reaching. More persons would be taxed more by a government that is spending more.

Who Pays the Bill

Farm laborers, domestic servants, self-employed persons, farm operators and all employees and all employers would be taxed by the federal government for benefits to which they would be eligible to receive in the future, presumably in the postwar era.

Who would pay the bill? Unemployment compensation taxes, for example, are paid only by the employer in all but five states—Alabama, California, Kentucky, New Jersey and Rhode Island. When the social security act was adopted, it was first thought that states might widely adopt contributions by employees to ensure the solvency of their unemployment trust funds and to make possible a more adequate system of benefit payments to the workers.

Michigan's unemployment compensation fund now totals $108,000,000. That is to say the state has this credit at the United States Treasury. Another $12,000,000 will be available soon from July-September contributions.

Under the new anti-inflation plan, all employers would pay 3 per cent unemployment tax on their payrolls. At present employers who hire less than eight persons are exempt.

Old age taxes, now 1 per cent by the employer and 1 per cent by the employee would be boosted immediately to 1½ or 2 per cent on each party. Laugh that off!

Pinch of Priorities

Add to this tax-buggy-ride the prospect of a sharp decline in state revenue in 1942, and you have something to think about.

Budget Director Nowicki forecasts a marked drop in sales taxes by January 1.

Governor Van Wagoner told a congressional committee in Detroit that Michigan faces "economic chaos within three months" unless priorities of materials were extended to non-defense industries. Furthermore, he admitted that the outlook of state finances in 1942-1943 was "definitely dangerous."

Well, folks, we're on our way. The grade is steep, so hang on to your hats!

HOW THE SOCIAL SECURITY ACT WORKS

Editor's Note: This is the eighth of a series of articles explaining the programs for social security operated by the Federal and State governments.

Almost 6 years have gone since the Social Security Act was passed. Before August 14, 1935, when President Roosevelt signed the Social Security Act, most workers got no help when they lost their jobs.

Only one State had a law providing for unemployment compensation — out-of-work insurance to tide people over until they found work once more.

When breadwinners grew too old to work and lifetime savings were exhausted, they often had no protection against want because the program of "old-age and survivors insurance" did not exist. For dependent children, and the blind there was often no help at all.

Some States and some localities had tried to deal with these problems. But they are so big that they can be solved only if the local community, the State, and the Nation work together.

The Social security program is not yet completed. Those who work on farms, in domestic service, and in some other jobs are not yet able to build up Government insurance against unemployment, old age, and death.

Out of its experience in the last 5 years, however, the Social Security Board has recommended that the law should be changed so that these workers can get the same protection as those who work in business and industry. And, as time goes on, the Social Security Act will undoubtedly be extended to reach many who are now left outside.

Today, about 50,000,000 workers throughout the country have social security account number cards. Thousands of retired workers are getting monthly Government insurance checks based on the wages they earned before they stopped work.

About 3,000,000 needy old people, dependent children, and blind who cannot provide for their own support, are getting money under the "public assistance" program of the States in which they live.

Thousands and thousands of workers in commerce and industry who lose their jobs can get checks to carry them over until they find work once more.

For the past 7 issues, this newspaper has been printing brief articles about this broad program. Many problems which come up under the social security program have not been discussed for lack of space. Many readers will undoubtedly still have questions to ask about their rights.

If you want further information on "old-age and survivors insurance" write or call at the nearest Social Security Board field office.

You can get its address from the telephone book or by asking at your post office. The field office has a number of free pamphlets which it will be glad to give you.

If you want further information about unemployment compensation and how it works, get in touch with the nearest Michigan State Employment Service office.

That office can also help you find a job. Its address can be found in the telephone book or through the post office.

Finally, if you want additional information about public assistance, get in touch with the nearest public welfare office or write to the Social Security Board and ask them to send you a free pamphlet.

You can also get information about the whole social security program by writing to the Social Security Board in Washington.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Swine Sanitation Brings in Dollars

Our farms where fall litters of pigs are customary, or where such litters will be cared for this fall because of attractive pork prices, certain sanitation measures put into use will add to the nation's food supplies and bring in extra dollars.

Young pigs prove most vulnerable to such pests as the roundworm during the first few weeks after birth of the pigs, it is pointed out by V. A. Freeman of the Michigan State College animal husbandry department.

Control of the roundworms begins before the pigs are born. The sow should get a clean farrowing house after she has been washed with warm water and soap to remove any adhering roundworm eggs.

After 10 days in the farrowing quarters, the sow and her litter should be hauled to clean brooding quarters, preferably with some clean pasture. The latter is obtained by using land that has been plowed and planted to at least one crop since last serving as a hog pasture.

That familiar "thumping" and coughing observed in young pigs is a roundworm symptom. The process of infestation is simple but costly to a hog producer. Eggs picked up by young pigs hatch in the alimentary canal. The larvae penetrate the intestinal wall and migrate in the blood from intestine to liver and from liver to lungs. From the lungs the worms are coughed up into the mouth and swallowed a second time. This second time the worms settle in the intestine and develope to fertile maturity in about two months. If the pigs are kept free of worms the first four months, they develop sufficient resistance to withstand considerable infection without serious results.

Home Economics Leaders Hold First Lesson

The first lesson in the coming winters project was held last week Wednesday, with 26 leaders in attendance representing 15 communities. Miss Ruth Peck is again our specialist from Michigan State College. The forenoon session was devoted to a little business meeting followed by a general outline of the five lessons which make up the project.

The first lesson was devoted to the "Selection of Fabrics for Slip Covers." Later on it is estimated that some twenty chairs will be recovered or other spring unit articles.

This year the following communities are carrying on the extension project: Peninsula, Burgess, South Arm, East Jordan No. 1 and East Jordan No. 2, Barnard, Evangeline, Clarion, Charlevoix, Deer Lake, Marion Center, Chandler, and three groups from Boyne City.

"THIS BOOK ISN'T WORTH READING ... tear down the Library!"

One bad book doesn't make it a bad library. You wouldn't destroy the library to get rid of a few bad books.

A similar situation holds in the beer industry. The vast majority of beer retailers operate clean, decent law-abiding establishments. Now and then an occasional "black sheep" retailer turns up who violates the law or permits anti-social conditions.

The Beer Industry is now actively working to eliminate such retailers. We want to protect your right to drink good beer and our right to make it.

We also want to protect the economic benefits of beer. Right here in Michigan, beer provides employment for 58,312 persons, supports an annual payroll of $58,300,740 and contributed $4,439,995.07 last year in state taxes.

This state, too, has an important stake in Beer's purchases from more than 100 industries supplying the brewing industry with materials, equipment and services.

You, too, can help the cause of moderation by (1) patronizing only the reputable places where beer is sold, and (2) reporting any law violation you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

For 1942—a Beautiful New

FORD

"6" OR "8"

IN THESE UNUSUAL TIMES we invite you to inspect an unusual new car—new in its beauty, its comfort, its choice of two fine 90 horsepower engines, 6 cylinders or 8.

See it and you sense at once that here is new style that will stay good for years. On a lower, wider chassis, we have designed new long, low, wide and modern lines.

Interior treatment is entirely fresh, distinctive, pleasing. The beauty of this Ford will more than hold its own in any company.

Inside, the car is big—wide across the seats, generous in knee-room, leg-room, elbow-room.

On the road this year you find the "new Ford ride" still further advanced in its softness, quietness, steadiness and all-round comfort.

At the wheel, you will find driving easier than ever. Steering, gear-shifting, action of the big and sure hydraulic brakes have all been made smoother and easier.

In quality, the car is sound to the last detail. Defense requirements have all been met without a single reduction in the basic and lasting goodness of the Ford mechanically. Some new materials have replaced old ones, usually at a greater cost to us, but in every case the new is equal to or better than the old.

If your family needs a new car, go see and drive this Ford. For what it is today and for what it will be through the years ahead, we believe that you will find in it more and better transportation for your money than you have ever found before.

Ford NOW ON DISPLAY

Here's a Preview of 1942 Ford

DEARBORN, Mich.—A distinctive frontal design sets the style for the new Ford passenger car line for 1942, introduced recently at a preview for the nation's automobile editors. The new Fords will be shown to the public soon in all Ford dealers' showrooms. A rustless steel radiator grille blends gracefully with an entirely new front contour which features a new arrangement of headlights and parking lamps. Offered in three lines—the Super DeLuxe, DeLuxe and Special, the 1942 Ford has a distinctive trim for each series of cars. Engineering improvements emphasize comfort and safety. The Super DeLuxe and DeLuxe lines are offered with either the famous V-8 or the new Ford "6" engines.

stand. One group of four killed less than thirty in five days; another fellow bagged nine in two days. It never fails to turn out that the U. P. is a mighty big place and unless you know the exact acre to hunt on, you're usually out of luck. Then there's the duck hunters. One local fellow said the duck were plentiful enough to use up three boxes of shells, but just to avoid trouble I won't reveal how few ducks 75 shells brought down. The small game season opens a week from today (Wednesday) in the lower peninsula. All indications point to a plentiful supply of bird and other game, but heavy foliage, especially in arens approximate to Lake Michigan, so far untouched by frost, is going to make shooting tough like it was a year ago. Expect to be down in the phensant country of lower Michigan for the opening myself.

To make sure that an unpleasant job won't be done, plan to do it yourself.

Unless you have already done so, plan to register at the city clerk's office before next spring. Unless you do, you won't be able to vote, because existing election laws provide each person must register in person to be eligible. Remember this the next time you drop into the city hall to pay your light or water bill.

OLDSMOBILE INTRODUCES NEW MODELS

Auto Electric Service Has Display; Many Improvements

The amazing ability of the automobile industry to produce new models each year that overshadow all previous efforts in beauty, performance and value is evident in the new Oldsmobile line for 1942—now on display at the Auto Electric Service.

Named the "B-44" because it is better looking, better lasting and better built than any previous Oldsmobile in the company's 44-year history, the new Oldsmobile comes as a distinct surprise to that section of the public which had anticipated little or no change in the 1942 models.

The Oldsmobile "B-44" line includes two Sixes and three Eights, with a total of 15 body types, covering an even broader price range than in previous years. The Oldsmobile "Sixty", in the low-price field, is available in two series—a Six and an Eight. In the popular price bracket, Oldsmobile also offers the "Seventy-Six" and "Seventy-Eight", with new streamlined styling. In the medium price range, the "Ninety-Eight" series, powered with a 110-horsepower straight-eight engine, presents three entirely new bodies of exceptional size and roominess on a 127-inch wheelbase chassis.

Oldsmobile will continue to offer its famous Hydra-Matic Drive on all models for 1942.

MICHIGAN BELL SAVES VITAL DEFENSE METAL

Substitutes Used In Manufacture of Telephone Apparatus

Made possible through the use of substitutes in the manufacture of telephone apparatus, millions of pounds of vital metals are now being forged into weapons of national defense, according to Thomas N. Lacy, vice-president and general manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

By its metals substitution program, the Bell system is saving more than 5,000,000 pounds of metals essential to defense needs this year, Lacy told some 300 present and former telephone workers.

The savings means enough aluminum to build more than 275 fighter planes and enough zinc for use in the manufacture of more than 4,000,000 75-millimeter anti-aircraft shells, Lacy said.

DRAFT EXAMINATION STATION AT TRAVERSE

New Plan for Induction Centers Effective October 23

Lt. Col. John I. Croshaw has announced that the functions of all lower peninsula induction stations would be transferred to Camp Custer and army examining stations would be established at Detroit, Kalamazoo, Saginaw and Traverse City on October 30.

Col. Croshaw said the change had been ordered to eliminate the hardship of rejection. He said that under the new system selectees would be notified to report to one of the four stations for examination by an army examining board 15 to 30 days before actual induction. They will be told at the time if they have passed army physical requirements. If they have they will have time to go home to wind up their affairs, Col. Croshaw said.

The November-December call for examination was: Detroit station 2474 white, 170 colored; Kalamazoo 587; Saginaw 202; Traverse City 99; Marquette 122; Rhinelander, Wisconsin, 75. Col. Croshaw said about 25 per cent of the men examined at the various stations probably would not see service. He said that Michigan to date has supplied the army 40,841 selectees.

TUBERCULOSIS ASSN. PRAISES NEWSPAPERS

Acknowledge Service As National Newspaper Week Approaches

"The newspapers of the state have performed a splendid service in bringing before the people the facts concerning tuberculosis and the progress of the campaign against it," stated the first annual report published by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in 1908.

In recognition of National Newspaper Week (Oct. 1-8) Theo. J. Werle, executive secretary of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, states, "Without the powerful assistance of the press, volunteer tuberculosis fighters could never have succeeded in forcing the Michigan tuberculosis death rate down 66 per cent in the past 34 years."

Printing facts about tuberculosis brought much criticism in the beginning of the campaign. Many people accepted that tuberculosis was the will of God; others believed that the disease was inherited. "Banishing this ignorance was not easy," Mr. Werle states, "but the papers carried on the crusade." The press has continued this health crusade even through these days of wholesale destruction, although constructive news is not as spectacular.

MANY PERSONS DENIED PRIVILEGE OF HUNTING

"Blacklisted" for Violations and Accidents With Firearms

There will be 637 persons denied the privilege of hunting deer in Michigan this season, the "blacklist" being prepared by the conservation department reveals.

Sixty-one of these persons were involved in deer hunting accidents, 22 of which were fatal.

Conviction of a violation of the law respecting deer, moose, elk and caribou disqualifies a hunter from getting a deer hunting license for three years. He is barred from the sport for five years by the shooting, while deer hunting, of any human being.

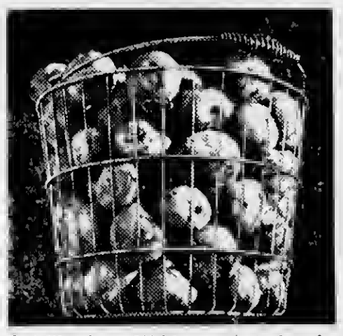
The Nation's No. 1 Potato Patch

Digging a big crop of potatoes. The average yield per acre in Michigan is about 100 bushels, and on some farms it has reached 500 bushels per acre.

What state of all the forty-eight has the biggest acreage in white potatoes? It's not Idaho, or Maine, but our own Michigan, with a yearly average of about a quarter-million acres planted to this staple crop. Three other states have a larger total yield. But fried, baked, mashed or boiled, Michigan's annual 22,000,000-bushel crop is a lot of potatoes!

The potato grower usually has to decide whether to sell his potatoes as soon as they are dug, or to hold them in storage, to sell in winter or spring. Weather conditions, the size of the nation's crop and other factors must be followed closely, and the telephone helps many potato farmers keep informed. By telephone, too, the wholesaler sells to retail stores, and the housewife places her weekly order of potatoes. What about some of those new, tender-skinned Michigan spuds for dinner?



Smooth, plump Michigan potatoes by telephone? Surely! Call your grocer.

ANNUAL FARM DAY PROGRAM PLANNED

KIWANIS EVENT IS SCHEDULED FOR NOVEMBER 1

City and Chamber of Commerce Cooperating; Potato and Apple Prizes Arranged

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

Plans are now being formulated for the annual Charlevoix "Farm Day" to be held on Saturday afternoon and evening, November 1st in the city hall in Charlevoix.

The Kiwanis Club is again sponsoring this big farm day program. President R. L. Lewis and R. F. Sloan, chairman of the Kiwanis agricultural committee, are both greatly interested in this event and are making plans for a real time. The city of Charlevoix and the board of commerce are likewise cooperating in every way possible to make a real success out of it. Remember this event is for the entire county and all folks both rural and urban are cordially invited to attend.

The exhibits should be of even higher quality than last year. Potatoes are yielding much higher than was estimated some 4 or 5 weeks ago. Other farm crops such as corn and beans have likewise shown improvement. Competition in potatoes will be for the seniors, 4-H club members, and Smith-Hughes projects from East Jordan and Boyne City. Three classes for potatoes will be offered, one for Russet Rurals, one for Chippewas and Katahdins, and a third for any other variety. These same classes will be available for the juniors.

The juniors will be showing corn and beans. In addition, the 4-H conservation clubs will have their exhibits at this show. It is planned this year to have each forestry club have a box in which are planted various evergreen seedlings such as have been set out by the club members in their projects. You will be interested to see the various ages and sizes of these trees.

The apple department should be a wonderful sight to behold. Never have those red apples had any better complexion than this year. Plate samples will be offered in Delicious, MacIntosh, Northern Spy, Snow, Wagener, Wealthy, Wolf River, Jonathan and other varieties. In the bushel competition all varieties are in the same classes.

The Kiwanis club have promised a wonderful program in the evening. If you have enjoyed one of the first two programs nothing more need to be said. You can just be assured of a wonderful time. Be safe and mark down on your calendar Saturday, November 1st. Further particulars will be given next week.

CONVENTION DELEGATES ARE SELECTED

Next Farm Bureau Meeting Advanced One Week to Nov. 5

The Phelps and Marion Senior Farm Bureau met last Wednesday, October 8, at the home of Grace and Bruce McElroy, with fourteen members and two visitors present.

Delegates elected to go to the state convention, at Lansing on November 12th, were Charles Mascho, Rowley Williams and Bruce McElroy.

Parity progress was the general topic of discussion. That farmers feel the critical situation which they are facing can best be met by organization among themselves, was brought out during discussion.

Refreshments were served following adjournment of the business session.

The next meeting will be November 5, one week earlier than scheduled, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rowley Williams.

ONAWAY WINNER SATURDAY TILT

CHARLEVOIX TEAM DEFEATED BY 7 TO 0 COUNT

Final Quarter Forward Pass Gave Presque Isle Team Victory; East Jordan Here Saturday

Charlevoix high school's Red Rayders met their second defeat of the season Saturday, losing a 7 to 0 decision to Onaway at Onaway.

After being out-played for three and a half periods, the Presque Isle county team uncorked a forward pass which netted victory. The 15-yard toss juggled on the finger tips of Gallagher, Charlevoix end, then bounced into the hands of Taylor, Onaway halfback, who romped 45 yards over Charlevoix's goal. Onaway converted after touchdown for the extra point.

Whatever advantage there was in play was Charlevoix's up to the time Onaway scored. The Rayders kept Onaway on the defensive in their own territory as the two teams used a straight running attack during the first half due to a wet, puddle-spotted field.

Charlevoix threatened in the third quarter, advancing to Onaway's 7-yard strip before losing possession of the ball. They were touchdown-bound again in the final minutes of play when Onaway fumbled and Joe Bellinger recovered for Charlevoix on the 4-yard strip. With but two seconds of the game remaining, Charlevoix had time for one play which failed to cover the required yardage.

The Rayders were weakened for the Onaway tilt by the absence of Stewart, center, and Martin, halfback, both out on account of injuries.

Charlevoix plays its third and last home game at south side athletic field Saturday afternoon. East Jordan, with an apparently strong team, will furnish the opposition and prospects point to a close and interesting contest.

Elaborate material and equipment is being brought for the conduct of the class. SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

"The women of the Presbyterian church have cast off clothing of all kinds. Look them over in the basement of the church any time this week." — From an exchange.

No doubt many parents have heard their children say that study of Latin in school is a waste of time, and in an equally off-hand way dismiss the importance of arithmetic. Children themselves, and parents who believe thusly, completely miss the point. For most youngsters the mastery of Latin and solid geometry is no more "useful" than skill in horseback-riding or contract bridge. Much depends on what we mean by useful, however. The kind of mind that can master Latin and higher mathematics is a trained and disciplined mind that can be concentrated on new and different problems and can probably solve them. Such a mind can attack contract bridge, for example, and comprehend the fine points of the game more readily than a mind that has never been compelled to function with precision. Thus, after studying Latin and mathematics, a young man's mind is better able to cope with any mental problem that may be presented. If he has learned to solve original problems in geometry, he will know something about how to attack any other original problem, whether in business, law or science.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Enemy bedfellows together in the latest anti-tax movement at Lansing are state and county highway departments. It is an unusual situation.

As a few sheriffs eye the state police, so some county road commissions have watched the state highway department at Lansing with envy and occasional antagonism. Like the Hatfield-McCoy feud in old Kentucky, the highway battle has been of long standing. Field marshals have been Louis Webber, better known as "Doc" Webber for the county commissions, and the state highway commissioner — Governor Van Wagoner until recently, and now the astute G. Donald Kennedy.

Because many upstate road commissions are Republican and the state highway department has been Democratic in personnel, the contest has taken on a political aspect at times — invariably on election days. That makes the present love-fest the more newsworthy to record.

Poor Motorist

Taxed by state and federal governments for years, motorists were recently given another defense levy of $5 per year added to their state and local licenses and gasoline and oil taxes.

However, automobile sales are being curtailed by the federal government, all in the name of national defense. The excise tax has been doubled on new car sales. Automobile dealers aren't altogether happy about the whole thing.

Then came a dashing hero to the rescue, the Michigan Automobile Dealers' Association which proposes immediate relief to dealers and the motorist in the form of a $14,000,000 slash in revenue to state and county highway departments. This saving would be effected by reduction of motor vehicle license fees for automobiles and trucks.

FOX DE LUXE BREWERY increases capacity to more than one million gallons. Twenty modern ageing tanks—8 averaging more than 24,000 gallons each, (shown on cars above) and 12 averaging better than 9,000 gallons each (see inset) are now being installed by the Fox De Luxe Brewing Company, Grand Rapids. This addition to the recently modernized Fox De Luxe brewery has been made necessary by increased sales throughout Michigan, and by a policy as old as the company itself of never offering a drop of Fox De Luxe Beer for sale until it is thoroughly aged to the peak of perfection.

Flying Movie Star Sponsors Youth In CAA Pilot Plan

Richard Arlen, flying motion picture star, has set the nation's pace in civilian aviation circles. When the Civil Aeronautics Authority offered to match a scholarship with any given by a private citizen, Arlen dug into his pocket and supplied the funds for the training of Byron Morrell of Burbank, Cal. Morrell, who wouldn't have had a chance to learn, turned out to be a star pupil, taking special courses and examinations to qualify him for the regular Army Air Corps course and graduate as a flying officer.

But this is only one phase of Richard Arlen's air defense activities. He has interested two motion picture producers, William H. Pine and William C. Thomas, makers of Paramount's sky drama, "Forced Landing," which plays Tuesday and Wednesday, October 21-22, at the Palace Theatre, to raise a fund to enable ten young men to earn their wings. Arlen, who stars in the producers' series of aviation pictures, sold them on the idea of joining him in sponsoring five eligible young men for flying instruction. The CAA will match the generosity of the trio by training five more to match their "scholarships." Arlen has already appeared in "Power Dive," first of the series of Pine-Thomas films for Paramount.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. How do I get the highest return on my investment in Defense Savings Bonds?

A. By holding each Bond for its full term of years you will secure the full maturity value. A Defense Savings Bond of Series E increases in value 33 1-3 per cent if held for 10 years.

Q. Is the Government concerned over whether I buy my Defense Savings Stamps at post offices, banks, savings and loan institutions, retail stores, or elsewhere?

A. No. The Government is interested in having as many persons as possible take a hand in the National Defense Program. Toward that end the Treasury is making Bonds and Stamps available for purchase in the largest number of places possible.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at retail stores.

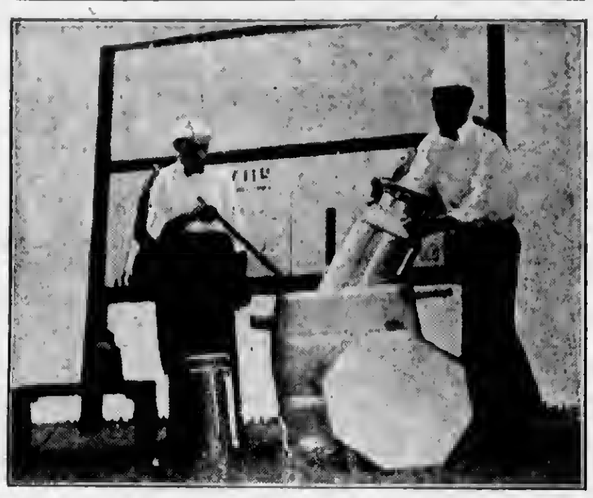
MICHIGAN 4-H DAIRY TEAM TO MEMPHIS



MICHIGAN will be represented in the fifth national 4-H dairy production demonstration contest at the National Dairy Show, Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 11-18, by Walter L. Chellis Jr., and Bernard Best, both 19, of Ellsworth. In their demonstration titled "Construction of a Barrel Cream Cooler," the boys point out that as milk and cream are perhaps the most perishable of all foods the farmer handles, they readily absorb all forms of bacteria. This danger is minimized by properly cooling these products immediately after milking. Coached by Orville Walker, district 4-H Club leader, the team won over all contestants in the recent annual competition at the State Fair, Detroit. Transportation and other expenses to Memphis are provided the team through the Kraft Cheese Company, which also appropriates $280 in college scholarships for the eight highest scoring pairs in the finals there.

Almost Forty Years Ago

(A Courier of this date, labeled "High School Edition" and dedicated to Charlevoix's brand-new high school building, was brought to us recently by Mrs. John Potter, Rt. 1.)

The occupation of the New High School Building on Monday marks another epoch in the educational history of Charlevoix. Officially designated "McKinley School", the building is constructed of Charlevoix brick from the yard of Barber Bros. Alexander Cameron was superintendent of construction, Messrs. Crouter and Iddings were the purchasing committee, and F. J. Meech was in charge of installing the heating plant. The entire building is lighted by electricity.

The building has a large attic that will doubtless soon be fitted up as a gymnasium, if the basement is not so utilized.

High school enrollment was 106, as large as that of Petoskey and larger than Cheboygan at that time.

J. M. Tice was superintendent; teachers were Laura Kempf, Maude Bergy, Lillian Vowles, Edna Patterson, Edith Fanning, Florence Bishop, Anna Tracy, Jennie McMillan, Edith Jones, Marguerite Shutt, Mary Miller, Lenn Fanning, Ina McCalmon, Jessie Manners.

History of Charlevoix schools was reviewed from the opening of the first school in 1861; building of a two-story, four-roomed school in 1873 on the site of the present "central" building, burning of this building on February 6, 1889 and immediate construction of the central building; building of the Washington and Lincoln schools in 1895.

H. B. Tuttle advertised cement walks, "cheaper in the long run than hemlock planks, even if you steal the hemlock."

COURT OFFICIALS OBSERVING CENTENNIAL

Meeting October 22 at Traverse Honoring John Augustus

Next Wednesday, October 22, has been proclaimed John Augustus Centennial Day in the state of Michigan, in tribute to the man who began the improvement in criminal procedure known as probationary supervision.

John Augustus was a shoemaker in Boston, who in 1841 intervened in the old Boston Police Court in behalf of a lawbreaker, and proposed that the offender be turned over to him for social treatment and reformation. The success of his humane experiment led directly to the establishment of probation in practice and by statute. He is credited with having bailed at least 1,946 persons, never receiving a cent of compensation for his work in the courts.

A committee from Charlevoix, composed of C. B. Meggison, O. P. North, Miss Caroline Geiken, Rev. W. L. Cruthers, and F. R. Bulow, were at Traverse City last Wednesday to meet with Judge Parm C. Gilbert and other officials of the 13th judicial circuit to make plans for the meeting to be held next Wednesday at Traverse City in observance of the centennial.

The meeting will be at 8 p. m. Wednesday evening, October 22, in the Traverse City high school gymnasium. It is expected that Judge Joseph Sanford, of Muskegon, will be speaker. Everyone is invited to attend.

Boy Choir Class Proves Popular

Incentive Needed for Good Work Is Provided in Singing School.

COLUMBUS, OHIO. — A school where classes daily start 10 to 15 minutes early with pupils "rarin' to go"—that's Columbus' unique boys' choir school.

The 48 pupils are a bunch of livewire, red-blooded boys, each with a distinct personality, but all have one burning desire in common—to sing. And sing they do. The first thing every morning, and that's why everyone's always on time.

Like tardiness, truancy is no problem, says Headmaster Harry C. Marshall, who reports the boys are better than average students although they're selected for their musical talent rather than scholastic proficiencies.

Good Grades Required.

But like college athletes, who must maintain good grades to engage in their favorite sports, the 11 to 15-year-old choir school boys must do well in the classroom or they're ineligible to sing.

Except for the singing classes, which occupy about an hour and a half each day, the school is operated much like any other. Because it's non-denominational and has no church affiliation it's the only school of its kind in the nation, according to the organizer, Herbert Huffman.

The youngsters are the kind you'll find in any neighborhood. They're rough, but black eyes are of minor importance. A good fight and even a broken tooth are accepted by the faculty as inevitable.

Almost uncanny, though, is the quiet that surrounds their play. Because they're proud and careful of their voices, yells and shouts are rarities.

Four grades—fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth—make up the school. Its curriculum is closely co-ordinated with that of the public schools. Headmaster Marshall formerly was principal of the city's largest junior high school.

Can't 'Buy' Entrance.

When a boy's voice changes he leaves the school choir and returns to the public school from which he transferred.

Parents can't "buy" their son's way into the school, as all the pupils are selected on the basis of voice and musical aptitude. The 48 were chosen from 300 applicants and many are from poor families.

Music and civic-minded individuals contribute toward the $150-a-year pupil cost. Tuition is paid only by those families who can afford it.

The school opened last September, growing out of a choir project sponsored by the Kiwanis club.

"We decided to organize the school because the choir singing was interfering with the boys' regular school work," explained Organizer Huffman. "As it was we were continually asking principals to excuse the boys whenever the choir had an engagement.

"Now we have the entire choir available at noon or any time we need it. We're also able to give the boys more personalized supervision and break up the choir rehearsals so they won't be too long."

Youth, 16, Outstanding Fly Caster in Country

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—Sixteen-year-old Colin Samuelson, Minneapolis high school youth, ranks as one of the greatest bait and fly casters in the nation.

A member of the All-American fly team and rated as one of the five best rod and reel experts in the nation, Colin began practicing with a rod in 1936.

Discouraged by lack of strikes while fishing near Fort Dodge, Iowa, Samuelson began trying to hit objects floating in the water. A month later, he purchased a rod and reel of his own and began practicing on regular casting targets.

Tighten Rules on Visitors To Army and Navy Offices

WASHINGTON.—Drastic restrictions have been imposed on visitors to the army and navy departments to lessen the possibility of espionage and sabotage.

Special badges have been issued to all officers and employees, bearing their names and photographs, to permit their passage by guards in both buildings. All persons without badges must establish their identity before entering either department and will be escorted to and from the offices of officials they wish to see.

Peddling and loitering have been banned. No large packages may be carried out of the buildings without permission.

Son Gets Mess Kit His Dad Used Back in 1918

PETERSBURG, IND.—World war memories were revived for Lane Lang, a gardener, when his son, Lane Lang Jr., wrote that he had been issued a mess kit carved with his father's name and a skull and crossbones at the Phoenix, Ariz., CCC camp.

Lang recalled that he had inscribed the mess kit with his name and the design while in the Argonne forest in France.

RED CROSS NEWS

Making Each Thread Count

From Richard F. Allen, American Red Cross delegate in Marseilles comes an almost unbelievable account of the manner in which American Red Cross aid to the women and children of unoccupied France is being literally stretched to the last stitch.

Out of the 278,000 sacks originally containing flour, 200,000 are being transformed into 200,000 baby shirts, 200,000 triangular diapers and 100,000 rectangular diapers. In addition thrifty volunteers will make 3,500 knitted panties for babies from the thread with which the sacks were originally sewn! Professionals will do the cutting and all other production work will be done by unemployed French women. The remaining 78,000 sacks will go to hospitals where they will be made into bed sheets.

Speaking of knitting — from Speed, Missouri, comes the tale of a 23 years delayed sweater. Mrs. George Chamberlain of that town was at work on a sweater for Red Cross 23 years ago when the Armistice of that war was declared. She unraveled the yarn when she heard the news, packed it away in moth balls and forgot. At the last Call To Knit she unpacked it, knit it into a sweater and a refugee from the present war is now wearing it. Chapter officials said the yarn was in excellent condition.

Pre-Marital Examinations Justified

Partly in answer to certain theoretical objections by medical men, directed at states which require a blood test of persons intending to marry, as a means of detecting syphilis, a writer in a current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association says that:

A study of data compiled by 13 of the 26 states having such pre-marital examination laws shows that in less than four years 677,832 persons were tested and 9,017 or 1.3 per cent gave positive reactions.

A high proportion of those found to be diseased were unaware of their infection.

Most cases had been recently contracted and the victim was capable of infecting the intended life partner.

The value of pre-marital blood testing-si being repeatedly demonstrated. The first of the southern states to report statistics of this type was West Virginia. During the six months following May 26, 1939, when the examination law was enacted, about 1,600 persons were tested and 4.2 per cent gave positive reactions. Today, the incidence is 2.1 per cent and seems to be declining.

Some of this apparent decline may be due to the fact that persons found to be diseased sometimes persist in their intent and obtain licenses to marry in states not requiring the examination. In a group of 206 positives registered in New Jersey, 113 were refused licenses as being in an infectious stage. Seventy-one stated that they would forego marriage; 18 were married out of the state and the rest could not be traced. But three months after the examination, 135 of the original group were found to be under treatment —as they might never have been were it not for the compulsory examination.

Connecticut enacted its pre-marital law in 1936. In that year, 38 infants under the age of one year were reported suffering from congenital syphilis; in 1937 the number was 24; in 1938 it was 16, and in 1939 it was 11. The progressively declining figures are said to be suggestive even though it is impossible to prove the new law solely responsible.

It is admitted that the positive reactor to a test is not necessarily infectious, and thus licenses to marry may have been refused to some who should have received such permission. Laboratory findings may be occasionally in error, yet such reports are the only available to guide the licensing official.

It is impossible, too, that in in rare cases some persons may be stigmatized, through false reactions, who are not infected.

Legislation of this type is not perfect in all instances. But there can be little doubt that it is desirable. It provides a valuable means of detecting syphilis in a group in which such detection is of the utmost importance. Meager as are the statistics yet available, the pre-marital examination has demonstrated it sworth as an effective means for controlling disease and only the short-sighted or those without sense of responsibility will regard it as a punitive measure or an abridgement of personal rights.

Cancer Consultant to Visit Physicians in Local Areas

In cooperation with the Michigan State Medical Society, a new and expanded cancer education program will be sponsored by the Michigan Department of Health, it is announced by Dr. James Chapman, Director of the District Health Department at Charlevoix.

Dr. F. L. Rector, who for eleven years was the mid-western field representative of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, has been named cancer consultant by the Michigan Department of Health. Dr. Rector will work with both lay and medical groups in Michigan. He has been scheduled to visit Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet counties during the period of October 22 to 31st, when he will call on the physicians in these areas.

Cancer is the second-ranking cause of death in Michigan, but in recent years it has been removed from the hopeless classification. When taken in time, cancer can often be effectively treated by radium, x-ray or surgery. Only these methods are effective, and at present anything else is considered a quack remedy.

There are no immunities, and cancer may effect anyone. Pain is not a beginning sign, as it is with other diseases, and so knowledge of the possible early indications of cancer is very important.

Dr. Rector is known to the medical and health professions of Michigan because of his field work with the American Society for the Control of Cancer. He made a survey of the facilities of treating cancer in the state in 1935 and the results were published in the Journal of the Michigan State Medical Society. He has spoken in many of the cities of Michigan before medical societies, and hospital staffs, and before college, church, women's and other lay groups.

Conservation Week Specials

School children, sportsmen and members of garden clubs and service clubs are joining in the sale during Conservation Week of these stamps —showing Tahquamenon falls in winter, pheasants, a fawn, trout fishing, fall coloring and Michigan orchids—all in natural color, to finance local conservation projects. In his proclamation of October 5 to 11 as Conservation Week, Governor Murray D. VanWagoner urged use of the stamps on letters to advertise Michigan's attractions.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

The Triple-A County Committee and Community Committeemen with the assistance of the County Agent held a series of eight educational meetings thruout the county during the past two weeks for the purpose of presenting information on the 1942 National Farm Program. The all-out drive for food for defense has resulted in many changes in our farm program which was explained in detail to farmers in order that they might accordingly make plans for their 1942 production of crops.

The community committeemen will make a farm canvass beginning the latter part of this month. Every farmer will receive a visit from one of his township committeemen who will assist in preparing a farm plan which will show the farmer's intentions for compliance in the 1942 farm program.

With the exception of the wheat and potato payment earned on special allotments, the entire 1942 payment must be earned by carrying out soil-building practices. With this in mind, the county committee has ordered 220 tons of 20% superphosphate. This will be available to all farmers at the rate of $17.00 per ton and must be applied on soil-conserving acreages. The phosphate will be equally distributed at warehouses in East Jordan, Charlevoix and Boyne City which will enable farmers to obtain the material at the most convenient place. Marl and limestone may also be obtained for fall deliveries. Credit for these conservation materials will be applied on the 1942 farm payments.

Any farmer desiring phosphate, limestone or marl should call at the Triple-A county office in Boyne City and sign an order for the amount desired.

NEW COTTON HOSE MAKE BETTER FIT

Let's have less wrinkles, American women demanded when the silk situation indicated cotton hosiery would become more prevalent.

In Michigan farm homemakers work many hours on their feet. For everyday wear around house, garden and farmyard they are more interested in service-weight hose than in sheer leisure time stockings. Home economists at Michigan State College report that new styles in cotton hose designed by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture answer the new demand that the new cotton stockings be better shaped and fit better.

These new stockings are full-fashioned. That means stockings shaped to the curves of a woman's leg on one knitting machine, and connected by a delicate hand operation with another machine that shapes the foot correctly. A true seam up the back is one indication of a full-fashioned stocking.

The new hose have numerous other construction features to appeal to practical women—foot reinforcements for soles, heels and toes, and two-way stretch tops.

They have been made in beige and tan, black, white, tweed-like blends and many popular new colors; in plain knit, ribbed and mesh weaves; and in full length and knee-length campus socks. All these everyday hose are finding their places in the wardrobe of a farm woman. They are just right to wear with house dresses, slacks or the latest farm work clothes. Also available are designs in sheer and lacy weaves of cotton, to put on with lighter-weight shoes.

"Extravagance"

In the role of crusader is Frank Herrick, manager of the auto dealers association. He has put the issue crisply in the following sentence:

"It is a command from the voters to reduce extravagant government expenditures."

Nelson D. Brown, business manager of the Ingham County News at Mason and son of Auditor General Vernon J. Brown, approved the tax-cut plan editorially with this comment: "Michigan had roads before we got the habit of providing $65,000,000 a year to the state highway department. Michigan can still have an excellent road system if the aggregate is reduced to $50,000,000 where it was until 1940. The only way the reduction can be made is by the people."

Webber Sees Danger

Webber, executive director of the Michigan Association of Road Commissioners and Engineers, thinks otherwise. The tax reduction proposal, affecting both state and county highway departments, was in Webber's judgment: "An ill-advised plan that spells disaster for county road systems."

To Webber, the villain in the plot is Herrick, his fellow association executive.

Webber's argument goes something like this: County road systems spend $12,000,000 a year less than they did in the 1920's, while the state highway department has about $6,000,000 less, despite the fact that traffic has increased. Furthermore, there are still $15,500,000 of Covert road bonds outstanding among the counties, and it will take at least six more years to retire them.

Add to this the prospect of a decline in gasoline tax revenue and automobile license revenue, because of the defense curtailment of automobile production, and the license fee reduction would spell ruin for road-makers and road-keepers, he insists.

And so when the auto dealers' bill went before the state legislature, which reconvened last Thursday at Lansing, it met united opposition from both state and county highway forces.

Defense Needs

That the tax plan will be opposed by the state highway department under the leadership of Commissioner Kennedy is an obvious understatement of fact. It will be fought vigorously on a basis of constituting a threat to national defense as well as a blow to the tourist and farm industries of the state.

Keynoting the 1941-42 needs were addresses delivered recently by Governor Van Wagoner and Commissioner Kennedy before the American Association of State Highway Officials, meeting in Detroit.

"In addition to building highways serving our new defense industries," Kennedy is quoted in "The State Democrat", publication of the Democratic state central committee, "highway officials are now confronted with the gigantic task of coping with the tremendous rise in traffic brought about by the steadily growing industrial activity."

And there you have it: Good roads are vital to good defense; anything that threatens to weaken good roads will also weaken our defense. Such will be the answer. The fling will be waved again, and taxpayers will be exhorted to save the country.

Should the legislature decline to do anything about it, then the auto dealers contemplate the circulation of petitions for a referendum in 1942. You may have a chance to express your opinion at the ballot box.

Another 1942 Contest

Another lively scrap that is looming for the 1942 campaign is the challenge delivered by Michigan Young Republicans, in recent state convention, calling for united support of President Roosevelt's foreign policy and an end to isolationism.

The "Stay out of war" policies of many Michigan congressmen may be put to a popular test in 1942 when many of them will run for re-election.

Michigan's parade of events heralds varied and brilliant fireworks in 1942.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman

Fred Bradley

11th District, Michigan

Wars are costly propositions. England—at war—in 24 months will have spent 31 billions of dollars. Our nation, which is said to be not at war, has appropriated 46 billions of dollars in the past 16 months for our own defenses and I have voted for every cent of this for arming ourselves.

I did not, however, vote for the Lease-Lend Bill, which we passed in March nor have I voted for the two appropriations for this bill since then. Within the past six months, I have been asked to vote to give away 13 billions of dollars of your money to foreign countries, most of which, of course, is expected to go to Great Britain. I have been asked to vote in six months a sum of money which equals 40 per cent of what Britain herself has spent in 24 months. When the Lease-Lend Bill was passed, we were repeatedly told that it was up to Congress to decide how much money should be appropriated, that it was up to Congress to hold the purse strings. As your Representative here in Washington, I have been denied access to the detailed records showing for just what this enormous sum is to be expended. I have been asked again to vote for a blank check, the proceeds from which are to be given to someone else.

This huge sum of money will be eventually paid by you, the taxpayers. The government can only spend this money after it has borrowed it through the bond issues and experience proves that every dollar raised in this fashion is eventually repaid two-fold in principal and interest and, therefore, I have been asked in effect to vote a bond issue on every community in my District in the exact amount of $200 for every man, woman and child living in those communities. My home town, Rogers City, has a population of about 3,000. In six months I have been asked to give my vote of approval on a bond issue on Rogers City in the amount of 600 thousand dollars—not to be spent for them—but to be given foreign countries. The people of Rogers City have not been given an opportunity to go down to the polling booths and vote to bind Rgers City in the amount of 600 thousand dollars. You have had no voice in the matter, but as their Representative here in Washington, I have been asked to place my stamp of approval on such a bond issue and charge it up to you.

In March, Congress appropriated seven billions of dollars for Lease-Lend aid to Britain and others. Of that amount of money over 10 per cent has not as yet been requested from our government. Less than half of this money has as yet been contracted for in the intervening six months; only 190 million dollars of it has so far been shipped to Great Britain and others; of this sum 118 million dollars covers agricultural and industrial commodities and not war munitions. Only 72 million dollars of munitions has been shipped and of this, the President tells us, 65 million dollars came out of our own defense materials.

We have been told that it will be the end of 1942 before all of this money originally appropriated will have been expended and delivered. Therefore, I feel fully justified in asking why the rush to appropriate another six billion dollars at the end of six months, in which tremendous sum is included a one billion dollar blank check, which none of the witnesses who appeared before the Appropriations Committee could tell how it was proposed to be spent. Furthermore, we were told by the President that he would request another huge sum about next February.

Of course, it is said that the justification for all of this tremendous expenditure is to keep this country out of the war. Remember that when Lease-Lend was passed Britain asked us simply to put the goods on our docks and she would come and get them. We were specifically prohibited by the law from delivering these goods. Title of ownership in these war materials naturally rests with us until Britain or other countries have made suitable payment therefor. Arrangements for repayments have not yet been made with Britain after six months. Hence, we properly ask how is this equipment being transferred to England and who owns it? We have transferred under Lease-Lend a number of our merchant ships to Britain to carry this material. We are paying the owners of these vessels for their use. We are paying the entire cost of transporting these materials to Britain. We are paying the British sailors on these ships. We are charging it to Lease-Lend. Furthermore, we have transferred about 500 American owned vessels to Panamanian registry so that they could carry these materials under the Panamanian flag. American seamen have been taken off these boats and foreign seamen put on and it is well known that under foreign flag these boats can carry smaller crews and foreign seamen normally work for much lower wages than American seamen. In some instances these ships have been armed. We are paying to the government and to private American interests the high freight rates and the high insurance rates on the acknowledged lucrative war trade and are charging it against Lease-Lend. Thus we see that America delivers the goods. Title to this equipment remains in our hands, and therefore, there can be no question that some of the aircraft bombing Berlin; some of the tanks being used by the British in Africa; some of the bullets which are being fired at the Germans, are owned by the people of the United States. Thus it cannot be denied that we are in the war with our material and equipment.

Ships carrying war materials, and especially armed ships, are subject to attack by the enemy. Hence it was inevitable that some of the ships transferred to Panamanian registry in order to evade the Neutrality Act—and remember it was specifically provided in Lease-Lend that the Neutrality Act must not be evaded—would be sunk, and five of them were sunk. On September 11th last, the President spoke to the nation and reported an attack on an American destroyer and told the American people that he had instructed the Navy to defend itself and shoot on sight any Axis warcraft. He did not tell you, however, that on July 31st our Navy had been instructed to take offensive action—not defensive—against Axis controlled surface warcraft whenever they were sighted. He did not tell you that on August 14th orders were issued to American Naval vessels to take offensive action against Axis submarines wherever they might be found. Therefore, he did not tell the American people that at the time she was attacked, the U.S.S. Greer had been under orders for almost one month to take the offensive against any Axis submarines.

This it is clear that our Navy is now engaged in an undeclared war, by Presidential order instead of a constitutional act of Congress.

The argument is advanced — give Britain and her Allies all she wants in order to keep our boys at home. Don't kid yourself! There are three steps on the road to war, munitions, money, men. We provided for munitions when we lifted the Arms Embargo. We are providing the products of the money under Lease-Lend, and as soon as our investment in the war is heavy enough, manpower will follow as sure as night follows day.

Now it is proposed to repeal the Neutrality provision against arming our merchant ships sailing under our flag. The yardstick by which we should judge that request is our experience of the first World War. How effective was the arming of ships at that time? Sinkings materially increased rather than decreased and there was not a case on record, so far as I have been able to find out, where an armed American merchant ship destroyed an enemy submarine or successfully defended herself against attack. Why then invite trouble? We are told that this bill is being presented in this form to the House because it is thought that this provision and this only can successfully pass the House. However, it is probable that once this provision is lifted and the bill passes the House, the Senate will add onto the bill a repeal of the prohibition to send American flag merchant ships into the war zones.

Laughing Around the World

He Probably Slept

By IRVIN S. COBB

AN Easterner of sporting proclivities was spending his vacation up in the Northern Peninsular of Michigan. There he met a native of the wilds who was neither a guide nor a woodsman but who seemed merely to be an onlooker at what went on about him. It would appear, further that he had neither vices nor habits. So far as might be judged, he didn't even have any pursuits, outdoor or indoor, that he followed.

Filled with interest over having encountered so unusual a human phenomenon, the Easterner proceeded to ply the resident with questions.

"Don't you ever fish?"

"Nope."

"Nor hunt?"

"Nope."

"Ever run around any with the ladies?"

"Never have yet."

"You don't play poker, either, do you?"

"Nope."

"Ever go in for golf, by any chance?"

"Don't know what it is."

"I suppose not. Well, how about taking a drink once in a while?"

"Not for me."

"Possibly you've heard that there is such a thing as horse racing. Did you ever bet any money on the ponies?"

"No sir."

"Well, then," said the baffled stranger. "I'm coming now to the main question: In the winter time when everybody in this part of the country is frozen in, what the hell do you talk about?"

SHOT AT RANDOM

duce a profusion and richness of color that in sheer mass effect make even a country gentleman's spring garden seem uninteresting. But the trouble with autumn is that summer is gone. The sun warms the outdoor air to a comfortable temperature for just a few hours. The porch is no longer an inviting spot to sit. Darkness comes at an earlier moment each succeeding day, driving the householder indoors where he is undecided whether to light the furnace or save expense. Not long after August is gone, we quietly look forward to winter. We ought to love autumn, but experience warns us that each succeeding day will be just a little darker, colder and gloomier. Then we put up the storm-windows, shovel coal into the furnace, invite the dog into the house, and order the children to make less noise and get busy with their home work. Then we put down our cigar and doze till bedtime.

The other sex is both amusing and perplexing — whichever side you're on.

Deer hunting parties are commencing to take shape now with meetings here and there of the "gangs" making plans for their annual outing in the big woods. Bet you couldn't get all the buck that have been "shot" so far on one of the state ferries.

Tuesday was an exceptional day. It didn't rain!

I've hunted since, and even before I reached the age a youth can obtain a hunting license, and this morning killed my first fox squirrel. I'll know tonight whether they are as good eating as they're cracked up to be.

He: "I'm a bank examiner.
She: "Well, I'm no bank."

With all the parties out fishing for big yellow-bellied perch, it looked like a regatta on the Lake Michigan bay last Sunday. They're still getting those big ones, too—some going close to 2 pound, I've heard.

Haughty woman: "Did any of your ancestors do things to cause posterity to remember them?"

Farmer: "I reckon they did. My grandfather put mortgages on this place that aren't paid off yet."

When a research expert undertook to find out why some garage owners get and hold a prosperous trade while other garage owners have a large turnover in customers, his agents interviewed hundreds of patrons of automobile sales and service stations. The findings were surprising. The outstanding characteristic of successful dealers was "proper attention to details." Next came "intelligent diagnosis," followed by "he keeps his promises," "he avoids over-selling," "his charges are reasonable," and "he appreciates my patronage." Courtesy, about which we hear so much, was twentieth and last on the list. Courtesy, cleanliness, accessibility, and good materials are common to nearly all dealers, good and bad, successful and unsuccessful. Customers, therefore, do not rate them so high as other things.

STATE POLICE WARN BAD CHECK PASSER

Lawrence W. Peake Operating In Small Towns of State

Information has been received from Michigan State Police that Lawrence W. Peake, a former employee of the state highway department, is passing bad checks in smaller towns of the state.

Mostly his victims are merchants, hotelkeepers and proprietors of nurseries. He sometimes uses a rubber stamp bearing the name of the state highway department to authenticate his claims.

Peake is 43 years of age, weighs 175 to 190 pounds, is 5'11", has brown hair and eyes.

CHEBOYGAN ADDS TO LIST POTATO PRIZES

Northern Michigan Exhibit Scheduled for November 5-7

More and larger premiums offered by the board of directors of the sixth annual Northern Michigan Potato and Apple show at Cheboygan November 5, 6 and 7 indicate the total entries likely will surpass the record of 481 entries in the 1940 show at Manistee.

Potatoes normally mean a seven million dollar income to growers in the 31 counties included in the Cheboygan show district, it is reported by A. A. Griffith, county agricultural agent at Cheboygan and secretary-treasurer for the 1941 event.

Increased premiums announced by the directors include the following:

Peck samples for russet rural, 5 added $2 premiums.

Peck samples, other varieties, 5 added $1 premiums in 2 classes.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Another bit of autumn gardening technique is the lifting and storing of tender bulbs. Dahlia tubers are usually left in the ground until their tops are killed by frost. After that the clumps are dug, dried in the field and put in storage for the winter.

Long experience has shown that storing dahlia tubers calls for about the same knowledge and equipment as is required to carry potatoes over until the next season. Some growers always store their tubers in peat moss. In any event, they must not get too dry, and sprinkling with water occasionally may be a good practice.

Cannas are to be treated in much the same way as dahlias, but it is desirable to keep as much soil as possible on the clumps. The older canons are easy to store, but so much difficulty is found in wintering the newer kinds that most amateurs prefer to make new purchases each spring.

Gladiolus corms are not quite so exacting. Dug after the foliage ripens, the corms are dried, and stored free of the old tops. Storage facilities should be dry and cool, but above freezing.

To guard against thrips, the corms may be placed after cleaning in paper bags with naphthalene flakes, one ounce to 300 medium sized corms. After three weeks of such gassing, the bags should be opened and bulbs placed in cool storage.

Tigridias take about the same treatment but are best stored warmer. Also, tuberous-rooted begonias are lifted, dried and stored, usually in dry sand or peat moss. Most experts advise against letting the begonias dry out too fast.

NOTED NEGRO TENOR WILL GIVE CONCERT

Pruth McFarlin to Appear at Methodist Church Oct. 28

The people of Charlevoix will have the opportunity of hearing Pruth McFarlin, talented young negro tenor present a concert in the First Methodist church on Tuesday, October 28th, at 8:00 p. m.

A graduate of Southern University at Baton Rouge, Louisiana and Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York. Formerly head of the music department of the Piney Woods School and now on a concert tour of the Northwestern states.

Mr. McFarlin has won top-notch ranking from music critics in this country and Canada. His voice is exceptionally rich and mellow and he produces an almost hypnotic effect on his audience. He sings in four languages and his songs are from famous old music masters as well as from the most modern composers. Besides remarkable ability in rendering classical numbers, he will bring the real old south to his hearers in the negro spirituals and plantation melodies.

This young man suffered from infantile paralysis in his early childhood and has never recovered the full use of his lower limbs. He sings seated but his smile and sincerity as well as the fine quality of his voice win the hearts of all who hear him.

Accompanied by his charming wife, Hazel McFarlin, who also presents a group of instrumental selections as well as speaking briefly on the work being done at the Piney Woods School.

No admission charge is made for this concert but an offering will be received for this school that is engaged in the training of the young negroes.

MORE SHARP-TAILS NORTHERN COUNTIES

Increase of Birds In Pigeon River District Is Noted

Northern lower Michigan bird hunters will bag more sharptails than ever this fall, according to conservation department game men who have been checking reports of these grouse throughout the region.

Several releases of sharptails made about three years ago by the conservation department on the Pigeon River, Higgins Lake and Ogemaw state forests have been successful, according to reports of officers and field men. Previous to these releases, private plantings had been made at Traverse City and Alpena.

Birds released by the department were banded, but young birds of broods seen this spring will show up in the hunters' game bags without markings. To get more information on the spread of sharptails in lower Michigan, the conservation department is asking hunters to report their kill of this species to its Lansing office. If unable to identify their grouse, hunters may send wing or tail feathers to the department's game division for identification.

In the lower peninsula sharptailed grouse and prairie chickens may be hunted as far south as the north line of township 12 North, a line which crosses the state from east to west at a point between Saginaw and Bay City. The season is October 15 to November 5.

INTEREST "FARM DAY" MOUNTING

OUTSTANDING EXHIBITS ARE NOW ANTICIPATED

Kiwanis Club Arranging Excellent Entertainment for Event Here November 1st

(By B. C. Mellencamp)

The Charlevoix Fnrm Day to be held on Saturday, November 1st promises to be a gala event. The premium list for the show has already gone forward to prospective exhibitors. Everyone is keenly interested in cooperating with the show officials toward having the best crops show ever held.

Fortunately the quality of potatoes this year is excellent. This means you can expect to see better exhibits than we have had in the past.

The forestry clubs in the county are getting their display of pine seedlings ready. You will be interested in seeing the various ages of pine trees that have been set out by the various 4-H schools and communities. The 4-H clubs and Smith-Hughes students have their potatoes already selected and are putting on the finishing touches.

Last year's champions, Elmer Hott, of East Jordnn and Lee Sneathen, of Charlevoix, are out to duplicate last year's record of winning first places in Katahdins and Russet Rurals. Both have excellent yields and beautiful quality. You certainly want to see these exhibits.

The program for Saturday evening to be held in the gym has not been announced by the committee. We can assure you, however, that it will be one of the most enjoyable evenings you have ever spent. The Kiwanis club of Charlevoix is spending a lot of time and attention in developing the final plans. While we do not want to be quoted on this, we do know that a lot of local talent is being assembled. There will be many surprises in store for all guests of the show. Hope you keep Saturday, November 1st free of conflict so that you can see the fine exhibits and enjoy the program being developed for your enjoyment.

CHARLEVOIX AND JORDAN PLAY TIE

SATURDAY'S CONTEST PRODUCED SCORELESS BATTLE

Rayders Had Edge Ground Gained But Lacked Scoring Punch; Play Next at Harbor.

Charlevoix and East Jordan high school football teams battled to a scoreless tie Saturday afternoon at south side athletic field.

While failing to produce a touchdown during the 60-minute nip-and-tuck battle, Charlevoix had a decided edge in ground gained and failed to score only through lack of sufficient punch.

Carey executing one of numerous brilliant runs, brought the Rayders to Jordan's 20-ynrd line late in the first period. A fumble spoiled this scoring opportunity.

The second and third periods were evenly played, although East Jordan was kept on the defense, mostly in their own territory. Again in the final period Carey skirted the end to reach East Jordan's 18-yard strip, but this opportunity faded when the visitors' defense strengthened and Charlevoix lost the ball on downs on the 18-yard line.

East Jordan brought the ball into Charlevoix territory but a few times and never reached scoring position.

Carey was Charlevoix's most consistent ground gainer and it was largely his accurate punting that kept Jordan in their own territory.

The line-ups:

Charlevoix		East Jordan
Shapton	lh	Green
Martin	rh	Sturgell
Carey	fb	Bechlold
Rowe	qb	Saxton
Gallagher	re	Kemp
Bissell	rt	Strehl
Jancha	rg	Stallard
Stewart	c	Hixcox
McMillan	lg	Perry
Foster	lt	Gilgerson
Swanson	le	Woodcock

Charlevoix made its last home appearance against East Jordan last Saturday and this week journeys to Harbor Springs. Harbor undefeated until last Saturday, lost 6 to 0 to Boyne City, a hard battle is in prospect for the Rayders.

SUPERVISORS CONCLUDE ACTIVITIES

ADJOURNED OCTOBER SESSION TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Granted Customary Appropriations, Adopted Budget of $79,041.65 for Year

The annual October session of the Charlevoix county board of supervisors adjourned Tuesday afternoon following nine days of work.

Reports were heard and adopted on a large scale the closing day after committees had completed conferences.

A budget of $79,041.65 as recommended by the finance committee was adopted. It compared with $80,947.69 a year ago and requires a 9 mill tax for county purposes.

Appropriations included $1,450 for the District Health Unit, an incrense of $1,000 over last year due to gradual depletion of the Couzen's fund which supported such units in the past. Complete financing by counties of such units will be a requirement of the near future, it is understood.

Welfare requirements were voted $22,000 for the fiscal year of 1941-42. Total appropriations for welfare purposes during 1940-41 aggregated $23,000.

Claims for damage by dogs to sheep, poultry and livestock aggregated approximately $750. Dog tax fees for next year were set at 75c for male and nnsexed dogs, $1.50 for females, duplicating last year's fees.

An appropriation of $300 was granted for extra clerk hire in the county treasurer's office to operate the new addressograph used for setting up tax rolls, work which, due to press of added duties in the office, has fallen behind schedule. A committee to supervise the project was named with its membership comprising Supervisors Arthur Bergeon, C. B. Meggison and Angus Fochtman, representing Charlevoix.

A smarl man is the one who hasn't let a woman pin anything on him since he was a baby.

Now that the fellows have organized n skeet club and can get in a little extra practice now and then, things ought to go pretty tough for the birds around here nnother year.

Had my firsl experience with the Williamston Plan of regulated hunting, now prevalent throughout southern Michigan, during last week end. Every farm in the territory we visited was posted, so it was necessary for hunters to go to the owner, get permission to hunt, receive and wear, after being granted permission, a yellow tag of identification. The plan appears to work successfully. Only so many hunters are allowed to hunt on so mnny acres and, despite the fact it sounded like a sham battle with gunfire in every direction, each party was out of range of the other and there was no over-crowding. In every instance of fnrms we visited, the owners appeared perfectly willing to allow you to hunt providing you observed rules and his quota of permits had not been exhausted.

"Madam," he said, "will you please get off my foot?"

"Why don't you put your foot where it belongs," she replied.

"Don't tempt me, madam, don't tempt me."

See where the Boyne City chamber of commerce has appointed a committee to investigate the Charlevoix County Road Commission. They want to find out how much money the commission is spending; what the ratio between overhead and construction and maintenance is; why the absence of sufficiently improved road; why, particularly, a bridge hasn't been built to replace a condemned structure on State street in Boyne City. How far this group will get with its investigation is a matter of conjecture. Between you and I, though, it is no matter of conjecture that Charlevoix county,

LANSING LETTER

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Conflicting economic forces are now converging on non-metropolitan cities and towns of Michigan.

Their movement has been accelerated by the deterioration of the Russian military front and a consequent realization of American leaders of the enormity of the production job facing the United States.

Like armies in head-on conflict, some of today's economic forces are positive, others are negative, in their ultimate effect.

An over-all picture of what is happening on Main Street today may be put together, jig-saw fashion, from the segments which are at hand. While the picture is not complete, the focus is clear enough to justify comment.

Shortage of Supplies

One negative economic force that threatens the life of small towns is the growing shortage of raw materials needed for manufacture of non-defense products. This bottleneck is the inevitable result of an attempt by this country to accomplish in a few years what Hitler did in seven years. That we have the capacity to do it is generally conceded; that we are falling down in attaining our maximum potentialities is also widely admitted.

The lack of supplies for factories now engaged in non-defense production was recently recognized by Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner when he testified before a congressional committee in Detroit, as follows:

"Unless this priorities starvation now facing our small industries is relieved, Michigan and the nation face economic chaos within three months which will bring about a welfare and economic problem far worse than the depth of the last depression."

Choice of Small Industries

If small industries cannot obtain needed supplies with which to continue production schedules, then the choice becomes a temporary and perhaps permanent shut-

NAVY
OCTOBER 27TH
In the air, on the surface, and under the sea, the Navy maintains the traditions on which it was founded. It will ever be Our First Line of Defense.

THE BIRTHDAY OF THE U. S. NAVY

One hundred and sixty-six years ago a committee of three men, John Adams, Silas Dean and John Langdon purchased the merchant ship Black Prince of Philadelphia. Rennmed the Alfred, this vessel had the distinction of being the first ship in the United States Navy. These men were appointed by Congress, through the efforts of George Washington, ns a Naval Committee responsible for the purchase of two vessels. An originnl appropriation of $100,000 was increased several days later, making possible the purchase of four ships in nll—the latter three named the Columbus, Cabot and Andrew Dorin.

The date October 27, on which Congress in 1775 acted to establish our Navy, is celebrated annually as Navy Day. The purposes of Navy Day are to pay n deserved tribute to the splendid service the men in the Navy have rendered in making and keeping us a nation and to better inform the American people of what our Navy is and does for them. When originally chosen, October 27 marked not only one of the most important dates in U. S. Naval history, but also the birth date of Theodore Roosevelt whose life was devoted to furthering a sound naval policy for the United States.

In its early days, the history of our Navy was a turbulent one. During the revolutionary period 73 vessels of all descriptions were used, but through sale, capture and destruction only one was left in 1785 and during that year Congress abolished the Navy, leaving the burden of the protection of our country in the hands of an army of only 80 men. In 1794 our Navy was revived by a Congressional Act authorizing the construction of several frigates to deal with the Algerine pirates nnd the first U. S. Navy Department was established four years later. One of these new frigates purchased ns a result of this act of 1794 was the Constitution—with the Constellation, United States, President, Congress nnd Chesapeake making up n Navy which, through successful encounters with French cruisers and privnteers, established an enviable reputation for itself. In 1801 a series of engngements with the Barbnry states and the ensuing treaties rendered commerce in the Mediterranean safe from nttack and ended the pnyment of tribute by Americans.

The outstanding performnnce of our Navy and privateers during the War of 1812 insured freedom of the sens for our commerce nnd further increased our national prestige abroad.

The effective work of the Navy during the World Wnr is still fresh in the minds of most of us. The nstonishing fact that no American soldier escorted by the U. S. Navy lost his life in transit across the Atlantic amazed even those in the highest positions of authority.

All American foreign relations, all American participation in the life of the community of nations must find its expression through trnffic on the seas. Ships, both commercial and naval, are the means of giving effective outlet to America's right to participation in international trade and politics.

COURIER JOINS NAVY CAMPAIGN

In outlining the many advantages offered hy enlistment in the United States Navy, Mr. Usher, Navy Editor of the Courier, said, "It is possible for a bright young man to increuse his pay seven times during his first enlistment and he can earn as much as $126 a month. This monthly figure is actually worth much more when it is remembered that the man has few living expenses and is provided with the finest of medical and dental eare.

"You have all your food and lodging, and also your original outfit of clothing provided hy Uncle Sam free," Mr. Usher continued. "In addition there are free sports and entertainment—even to the latest Hollywood pictures. On top of this you get free travel and adventure in colorful pinces—a thing few civilinns can afford.

"When you consider the size of this country and the fact that the Navy will select only 15,000 applicants a month from many times that number throughout the United States, the quotation, 'Mnny are called but few are chosen,' will apply to local young men interested.

"Navy men are a 'hand-picked' lot. Candidates must be men of more than average intelligence and ambition, of fine moral chnracter and must have the written recommendation of at least two local townspeople."

As Navy Editor, Mr. Usher has just received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for all men interested and, in addition, will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into tho new and greater opportunities the Navy now offers for training for future civilian careers as they serve their country now in its emergency.

NEW GAME LAWS ARE IN EFFECT

ADJOURNING LEGISLATURE ADJUSTED STATUS

Doe Deer for Camp Food; Limit of Three Cottontail Rabbit, Among New Rulings

This fall for the first time in 20 years the killing of doe deer will be legal in Michigan, as the Legislature in a surprise move on its return from a three-month recess gave immediate effect to an act amending the general game law.

Under the new law each party of four hunters is entitled to take "one deer"—either a buck or a doe—for camp use. Regulations for taking deer of either sex by bow and arrow and antlerless deer only in a special season are scheduled for conservation commission approval at a special meeting in Marquette October 21.

Hunting of antlerless deer had been recommended by the conservation department only in a special season, and only in certain areas where loss from starvation is high because herds are too large for the winter food supply.

Principal difference for the small game hunter produced by the immediate effect action is the reduction of the cottontail rabbit limit from five to three in one day and from 10 to six in possession. All hunters, however, are now urged to turn over their digests of game laws issued with all licenses and "read the black". Until the Legislature acted, digest regulations printed in red were controlling.

The period for keeping small game has been extended from 10 to 30 days, except in the case of migratory waterfowl, where the 20-day federal limit applies. Deer and bear may be kept 60 days without permit, and both small and big game may be kept up to six months longer under special conservation department permit in freezer lockers.

Opossums are now protected except during the open season on raccoons, and woodchucks are protected in the lower peninsula except during the rabbit season, though farmers may kill them at any time on their own lands.

An attempt to give immediate effect to the Horton trespass law amendment which would have required the hunter to obtain written consent of the landowner before hunting was stopped in the senate.

Immediate effect given two other acts allows license dealers to retain five cents for each small game and deer hunting license sold and reduces the license fee for non-resident bow and arrow deer hunters from $25 to $5.

Your car may start right off these warm mornings, even if your battery is half down. But we will soon have cold mornings, when the same battery will be unable to do the job because a cold motor starts harder and a cold battery has 40% less power at zero than at 32 degrees above. Bring your car to us and let us put it in condition for winter. Our products are the very best, our charges are reasonable and our service guaranteed. D-X Service, 200 Antrim St., A. C. STATE ICE CRUSHER LOANED GOVERNMENT

Will Be Used to Lengthen Navigation Season

State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy this week announced that the ice crusher Sainte Marie would be loaned to the Federal government in an effort to prolong operation of ore boats in the Great Lakes.

Kennedy stated that the action of releasing the ice crusher from December 1 to December 15 for use in keeping the St. Mary's River open to navigation was taken upon request of Carl W. Fischer, coordinator of transportation for national defense.

The ice crusher, leased by the state highway department for service at the Straits, will return to service there December 16. Arrangements were being made so that release of the Sainte Marie would not affect the regular early winter ferry service schedule at the Straits.

WARNING!

Due to numerous complaints against groups of "treasure hunt" participants speeding with automobiles and trespassing on private property, it has become necessary to notify all that this practice can not be longer tolerated.

This is a warning that in the future "treasure hunts" must be conducted in a manner eliminating these abuses of public rights, or more drastic action will be taken against violators.

GLACIERS BLAMED FOR SOIL MIX-UPS

MSC Professor Credits Crop Diversity to Soil Variations

Michigan probably has its soils mixed up more than any other state. Authority for the statement comes from J. O. Veatch, professor of soils at Michigan State College. He recently began his 21st year in soil studies in Michigan, during which time he has sampled soils in every county in the state and in some counties as intensely as every 40 acres.

That very soil complexity, plus due credit for a great diversity in local climatic conditions, reflects Michigan's diversity of crops and other agricultural enterprises. Other states look enviously upon Michigan mint, celery, peaches, apples, cherries, chicory, beans, and scores of other foods and feeds.

According to Professor Veatch, the famed Irish Hills area of northeast Jackson, northwest Washtenaw, and southern Livingston counties and the areas of Ingham and Eaton counties represent some of the most complex assortments of soil types in the state. In contrast there is the rather consistently sandy area of Crawford county in the central part of the Lower Peninsula.

Glacial deposits put layers of soil or soil-making mixtures over most of Michigan. Some spots were covered by but a foot over the original rock. This occurred in portions of Delta and Alpena counties and around Munising in the Upper Peninsula. In contrast, the Cadillac region provides glacial deposits around 600 feet in depth and there is a maximum of 1,000 feet around Manistee.

The soil sugar, the spade and the mattock are Veatch's principal equipment. Frequently he obtains valuable soil information from new-made gullies, highway or railroad cuts. Underlying soil structure gives Veatch information on drainage, depth of various layers and a vision of the past and the future of the soil in the area.

Even the subsoil information becomes a determining factor on some soils. Where sand over clay is found on an area, often the depth at which the clay is found determines use of the land. If the sand is but a foot in depth, the sand likely remains too wet, and at two feet, the surface may be rather damp. If the sand covers the clay to a depth of four feet, the land ordinarily may be usable, but if the sand layer is six feet or more, the surface would remain too dry for most Michigan crops.

"There is no average Michigan soil," reports Veatch. "Soil tests serve in appraising land value and in contributing information on proper land management to maintain or improve fertility.

For practical application, the soil tests serve two definite purposes. In intensive farming areas, the soil tests determine uses of land, selection of crops and specific methods of management.

For the state as a whole, the tests reveal Michigan's soil resources. In counties where land use programs have been adopted, the soil tests are linked with economic and sociologic data to make a definite pattern of the logical long-time use of the land.

THERE GOES A TIRE!

... but why junk the car?

Any car can have a blowout in a tire. But you wouldn't junk the car. You'd just fix the tire—or replace it.

That's very much like a situation that exists in the retailing of beer. Beer retailing has its "flat tires," too—retailers who disobey the law or who permit unsavory conditions.

To protect your right to drink good beer, we of the beer industry want to eliminate the few "flat tire" retailers. Here's another reason: Right here in Michigan, beer has provided employment for 58,312 persons, supports an annual payroll of $58,300,740 and paid $4,439,995.07 in state taxes last year.

The state, too, has an important stake in the beer industry's purchases—for material, equipment and services—from more than 100 other industries.

Those benefits are worth preserving. You can help us preserve them by patronizing only the reputable and legal places where beer is sold and by reporting any law violations you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

Stay Out of Crib for '42 Seed Corn

One-third of the 1941 crop of corn in Michigan grew from hybrid seed, according to federal-state crop statistician estimates.

Which means that two warnings about 1942 seed corn are worth dollars and cents to farmers in the state.

Farmers who continue to plant the standard variety or open-pollinated corn ought to get their seed corn selected before the crop goes into the crib if they intend to plant from their own 1941 harvest. If farmers intend to purchase seed, the problem does not exist.

A severe freeze kills the seed corn germ if the corn contains much moisture. Members of the farm crops department at Michigan State College suggest field selection of ears as soon as the corn is mature. High yielding stalks that show no disease or weak shanks are the best sources. This husked corn should be put in a dry place where there is a free circulation of air. Professional seed corn breeders use artificial heat to dry seed corn.

Then there are the farmers who use hybrid seed. An excellent yield leads to a temptation to select robust-looking ears and use these for seed for next year.

This practice fails to pay, crops men report. Tests by the United States Department of Agriculture and several state experiment stations show that hybrid corn saved for seed a second year usually produces a crop no better than ordinary open-pollinated corn. Good characteristics of hybrid corn—strong stalks, uniformity and resistance to insects and diseases—are lost in the second year.

Yield and Quality of Potatoes Far Exceed Expectations

Same three or four weeks ago no one reasonably expected yields of potatoes to exceed three hundred bushels to the acre. The dry weather of July and August was responsible for a light set of tubers but the moisture and warmth of the last four weeks has made a very good crop throughout the county and the quality is the best in several years.

Four fields have been checked and graded and much to our surprise the highest yield so far measured is 357.1 bushels per acre. The field is owned by Ed. Jensen, Walloon Lake and is 5.1 acres in size. The quality likewise was very good with 86% No. 1 potatoes. They are good size and of very good type. These are of Russet Rural Variety. The second high yield is that of Elmer Hott's in East Jordan, his Katahdins and Chippewas went 351.2 bushels to the acre. Again the potatoes are very good type and of good size with very few No. 2's and 3's. The next highest yield was that of Lee Sneathen of Charlevoix who averaged 340.7 with Russet Rurals on 16.4 acres. Howard Stephens' potatoes went 323.4 bushels to the acre. These are of the Russet Rural variety. His field of Chippewas fell just a shade under 300 bushels to the acre.

The big difficulty with potatoes at the present time is the low prices being offered by buyers. Certainly with this nice crop of good quality, good type, potatoes, farmers should not be expected to have to sell them at the prices now offered. Apparently 50c and 55c per cwt. is the price offered. Most farmers swear that they will not sell at these prices. Who can blame them?

down with resultant unemployment of many workers or a transition over to production of defense goods.

Governor Van Wagoner believes that Michigan's industrial capacity has only been partially tapped by the government; that the state could produce 50 per cent more for defense if energies of small industries were utilized.

Threatened unemployment may be eased temporarily, he feels, by distributing work to all employees in hard-hit industries on a shorter work week basis, say 32 hours instead of 40, and so on, and also by the assistance of unemployment compensation for 18 weeks at $16 a week.

He also has pointed out that migration of workers into Michigan from other states will only accentuate the unemployment problem here.

Priorities Muddle

"Why this shortage of vitally-needed supplies," you ask.

In our present transition to an all-out defense basis, shortages are taking place for several reasons:

1. Actual shortage of raw material. Not enough copper, steel, aluminum or other urgently needed metals to meet needs of both defense and non-defense industries. Consequently, priorities favor defense and at the expense of non-defense.

2. Hoarding of materials induced by fear. C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, recently declared before a Congressional committee that "people are getting steel who will keep it in the mud for months."

3. Poor planning and maladjustments in priority schedules.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents in its latest bulletin points out, "Undoubtedly there are hoarded supplies on hand in many places, and attempts will be made to smoke them out."

A steel trade review also revealed that "filing of priority claims is having the effect of wiping considerable duplicate tonnage off books, and the existence of some large inventories is revealed."

What to Do

This pinching shortage of materials has inspired Washington to create another alphabetical clearing-house, the Supplies Priorities and Allocations Board, known as SPAB, with Donald M. Nelson (former Sears executive) as executive director and Floyd Odlum as angel No. 1 to whom small business must look for relief.

Odlum intends to do something about the situation whereby 56 large corporations, such as General Motors, Ford, Packard, Chrysler, and Hudson have received 75 per cent of defense contracts.

In getting its tremendous armament program under way quickly, it was logical for the government to go first to the big manufacturer. Thus the Ford Motor Co. is not only completing a plant to make Pratt & Whitney motors, now nearly ready for production, but is building a gigantic new plant near Ypsilanti for making of 75 bombers and 100 plane sub-assemblies each month. Packard is just getting into production for Rolls-Royce aircraft motors; Hudson is finishing a naval arsenal for ordnance production; Chrysler expects capacity tank production in its new plant by January 1, while General Motors is tooling up for $1.2 billion of defense contracts, 70% of which are not normally made in GM plants.

But now the little manufacturer's turn has come. Odlum hopes to open 200 field offices for handling of defense sub-contracts. In the meanwhile, small manufacturers are urged to write to the Division of Contract Distribution, Office of Production Management, Social Security Building at Washington, D. C., for contract forms. Positive relief is possible for those who act promptly.

Higher Farm Income

Another positive counter-force to priorities pinching small business is the prospect of higher farm income in 1942. Assurances have been given to Michigan farmers that agriculture is to be put on an all-out production basis for the coming year.

Unless inflation neutralizes gains made by higher farm income, Michigan farmers will have more money. The big problem is going to be shortages of labor and farm equipment, and a state conference is to be held soon at the call of the governor to draft plans for trying to overcome them.

DISTRICT HEALTH UNIT

Burns in Children

With the coming of the winter season, it is to be anticipated that burns, especially among children, will increase in number. Carelessness of adults in allowing small children to play in the vicinity of stoves, open grates, boiling kettles and tempting match boxes is generally responsible for injuries that not infrequently result in death.

As a rule, the same type and size of burn is much more serious in a child than in an adult. Apparently, the body chemistry is more violently disturbed by the toxic matter absorbed from the burned surface. A comparatively small, deep burn in a child often causes more difficulty than might be supposed.

A child who has been severely burned should be rushed to a hospital, as soon as possible. Emergency treatment to combat shock may be given in the home or at the place of injury but it is not likely to prove very effective except when administered by a trained individual.

No liniment, salve or greasy ointment should ever be placed on a burn as a first aid measure. This would interfere with the application of the dye or tannic acid which is essential to promote healing. The area should be kept dry and clean until the physician has had an opportunity to prepare the site for a skin graft, should that be indicated.

Children may recover from minor burns with little adverse effect but is is always wise to summon a physician that he may ease the pain and take measures to prevent infection, scarring and contraction.

For the superficial burn, home treatment may consist of bathing the part in cold water and applying a paste made of water and bicarbonate of soda. Actually this may not be as effective in allaying the pain as in causing the child to think that something important is being done for it. Usually, the pain would last only a few minutes even if nothing were done.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Has the Government set a quota to be raised through the sales of Defense Savings Bonds?

A. No; there is no quota and no time limit. The Defense Savings Program is to be a continuing effort, and both Defense Bonds and Stamps should be purchased steadily and regularly.

Q. Why were the Nation's retail stores asked to sell Defense Savings Stamps?

A. American retailers were not asked—they volunteered thru their national organizations to undertake the sale of Defense Savings Stamps on a vast scale.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at most retail stores.

The Sailor Judged by Himself

By IRVIN S. COBB

EVERY ocean liner, it seems, adopts a pet or mascot and all the sailors and officers make much ado about it.

Now when the Leviathan was first flying under the American Flag, one of the officers had a very fine pet cat.

It selected one of the "thousand dollar" staterooms to give birth to kittens. Later, a sailor on board was heard talking to the mother.

"You're a fine kitty, ain't you?" he said reproachfully. "You'd ought to be ashamed of yourself—we give you shore leave and then look what happens."

regardless of reason or cause, has the lonliest township roads you will find in your travels. The condition of some would lead one to believe that not a single penny had been spent on them since the McNitt Act abollshed township highway commissions and placed the maintenance of township roads under the county road commission. The same holes that have been in them for several years are still there and getting deeper; roadsides have grown to weeds and brush so there is just about room for a car to squeeze through. Whether the road commission hasn't money enough to do any better the average person wouldn't know so that condition leads to the thought that perhaps the chambers of commerce of Charlevoix and East Jordan should join in with Boyne City as a means of making the inquiring front united.

If you know five hundred people whom you can recognize and call by name, that's not remarkable. But if you know a thousand, you're a politician—or you should be. School teachers, insurance salesmen and candidates for office are about the only ones whose personal acquaintances number more than a thousand. In a lifetime we come in contact with a lot of people, and it seems that we should keep some of them for friends. We do make new acquaintances, of course, but old ones vanish from our memory more rapidly than they are replaced. As we grow older we tend more and more to restrict our circle of friends. We ought to be enlarging it, particularly with younger people, but the effort is too much for most of us—the youngsters being what they are.

When all's said and done, finding money to pay the grocer in these days of high prices is a personal and lonely job.

Lewis O'Neil and Dan Gerbit are hoping they have the same experience while deer hunting that they did one afternoon last week while partridge hunting. Traversing an old road beyond Mt. McSauby they ran smack-dab into three buck deer, one with a rack of horns as big as a rocking chair and two smaller ones. Probably won't happen for either of them again in a lifetime.

Bonnie Nickerson has a rare experience last Sunday, too. He had a shot at a silver black fox while hunting over in pleasant Valley. "Nick" and Keith bagged eight "pats", which is about the best day's work I've heard of so far this season. Some of the boys, including Curl Ikens and Bud Kohler, got their limit of pheasants down below. Got in a couple days down there myself. Three pheasants in two days was the score.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL OPEN SOON

DRIVE OPENS IN CHARLEVOIX NEXT SATURDAY

County Chapter Officials Urge Cooperation of All Citizens In This Trying Period

In preparation for the annual Red Cross Roll Call, which opens here Saturday, November 1, Mrs. Neil Krieghoff, county Roll Call chairman, has announced the chairmen of committees who will conduct the campaign in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Robert Bridge has been named city Roll Call chairman. Assisting her will be Mrs. Clinton Cooper, first ward; Mrs. Glenn See, second ward; Mrs. Harry Gebeau, third ward; Miss Olive Allen, Bridge street; and Mrs. E. D. Hawley, chairman of schools.

Charlevoix's quota for this year is $450. Citizens are asked to welcome the volunteer worker who calls at their home to solicit membership, for although living costs are rising steadily, the need for aid to suffering humanity is even greater.

Only fifty cents of every individual contribution of a dollar or more goes to the national Red Cross. The remainder is kept for the county chapter.

Red Cross officials point out that of all agencies asking funds for worthy purposes, Red Cross is the one from which you, as individuals, benefit most directly.

For those who have sons or brothers in the Army, it is interesting to know that a Red Cross field director in every Army camp helps locate soldiers who have been transferred and have failed to notify relatives of the change; Red Cross nurses care for soldiers who become ill, and recreation in camp is sponsored by the Red Cross. It is the only organization allowed in Army cantonments today.

ASK CITIZENS TO SELL SCRAP IRON

COUNTY DEFENSE GROUP URGE IMMEDIATE ACTION

Efforts National Defense Depends Largely On Obtaining Steel Requirements for Industry

The Charlevoix County Defense Council at the request of the Office of Production Management, and the Michigan Defense Council, is making an appeal to the public — farmers, industrialists, county and village officials, and individuals—to collect and market all available scrap metal. This scrap to be marketed through the local scrap dealers in the usual way.

The price which these dealers can pay is determined by a set of regulations issued by the Office of Price Administration in Washington. There is a top limit on the price which the steel mills can pay for scrap, and from this, the local dealers must deduct the cost of preparing the scrap for shipment and the transportation charge.

Steel which is made from a combination of pig iron and scrap is being currently produced at the rate of 87,000,000 tons of ingots a year. Defense needs demand an immediate increase of 10,000,000 tons of ingots a year, and the mills will have to have more scrap iron to meet this demand as the pig iron furnaces are operating at full capacity now. Steel is a basic war material and the Defense Council feels that this is an opportunity for every citizen of Charlevoix county to be of service to their country and at the same time improve their own financial condition.

The Council is contacting all local scrap dealers so that they will be around to buy what you have collected in the near future. Remember, many little piles make a big pile. Let's make Charlevoix county's pile a big pile. Help your country in time of need.

DOE FOR CAMPS LAW RESTRICTED

CONFINED TO HUNTERS WHO COOK OR HIRE COOK

Many Large Clubs and Resorts Do Not Come Under Intent of Law, Department Avers

Michigan deer hunters will cook venison from their camp deer themselves or hire their own cook to do it this fall, since the conservation department has ruled out public eating places in its reminder of what the law means by a "camp" and "camp purposes".

Though only 703 permits were issued last season, the sale of camp permits this year is expected to amount to several thousand because the hunter may take a doe instead of a buck on the camp permit if the party chooses to do so.

Conservation department interpretation of what constitutes a deer camp—made after a conference with the attorney general's office—will limit hunters patronizing hotels and restaurants to deer taken on individual licenses, which may only be bucks. To qualify for a camp deer hunters' camps must be distinguished from hotels by fact that the hunters do their own cooking or directly employ the person who does the cooking for them.

Holding that the Legislature intended the camp deer "for camp purposes" to be used as food in what is commonly understood to be a deer hunting camp, the department construes this phrase (a camp) to mean that a camp exists only when the deer hunting party prepare their own food, or employ

OSCAR STROUD BEGINS CABIN CAMP PROJECT

Purchases Lake Charlevoix Frontage from Central Land Co.

Development of what promises to be one of the finest tourist cabin camps in this region has been started by Oscar Stroud.

Construction of seven modern cabins, beginning of project providing for many others, is under way on property recently acquired by Mr. Stroud from the Central Land Co. The site is a triangular piece of property comprising 18 or more acres located east of Mercer boulevard and fronting on Lake Charlevoix.

The cabins are being built of logs. They will have electricity and electric appliances, running water, showers and other modern conveniences and will provide accommodation for from two to four persons. Roadways leading to the camp, construction of sidewalks to the Lake Charlevoix beach and otherwise clearing of the property to give unobstructed view of the lake is planned.

Kit Carson Lumber Co. has the construction contract.

POTATO REFERENDUM IS PLANNED

HELD IN THIS COUNTY FROM NOVEMBER 3RD TO 8TH

Marketing Agreement and Regulation of Potato Shipments Will Be Voted Upon

A referendum will be held among Charlevoix county potato growers, as well as throughout the state, the week of November 3-8, to vote on a proposed marketing agreement program to regulate potato shipments out of the purchasing area and at the same time a marketing agreement will be submitted to potato handlers for their signature.

Producers in Charlevoix county may vote at two balloting places during the hours indicated on the following dates: November 3-8, AAA office, Boyne City, 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.; November 6, 7 and 8, farmers may vote at East Jordan Co-Ops, from 1:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Similar referendums will be held this fall in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North Dakota. Tentatively approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, following public hearings in the four states, the marketing program would regulate grades and sizes of Irish potatoes shipped in interstate commerce and provide for Federal or Federal-State inspection. Potatoes grading lower than U.S. No. 2, the minimum U.S. grade, and smaller than one and one-half inches in diameter (culls) could not be shipped from these states under the proposed marketing program.

FALL RAINS INCREASED LEVEL OF INLAND LAKES

HARBOR IS VICTOR OVER CHARLEVOIX

SCORED 14 TO 6 VICTORY SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Charlevoix Plays Grayling, Conference Leaders, In Final Game of Season Saturday

Charlevoix high school's Red Rayders dropped their third conference football game Saturday, losing by a 14 to 6 margin to Harbor Springs.

Making good on their scoring chances, Harbor tallied in the first and third quarters and converted extra point after both touchdowns. An advance from their own 10-yard strip to midfield and a 40 yard dash through center of Charlevoix's line accounted for the first. The second culminated a steady advance after receiving the kick-off opening the third period. A forward pass over the goal was the scoring play.

Charlevoix muffed a scoring opportunity in the early moments of the game. A pass, Rowe to Foster, put Charlevoix on Harbor's 38-yard strip. Line plays advanced to the 25 and Rowe fumbled on the next play to give Harbor the ball on their own ten.

Charlevoix received to open the fourth period. A combination of passes, end runs and line plays carried them to Harbor's 10-yard strip, where an intercepted pass ended the threat. Harbor punted out and Charlevoix again started a steady advance that produced a touchdown when Rowe crashed through from the 2-yard strip. A line buck for extra point failed.

The Rayders were touch-down bound when the game ended three minutes later with the ball in their possession on the Harbor 12-yard line.

Though defeated, the Rayders gave the best performance of the season. Their passing attack functioned for the first time and good gains resulted from line plays and around-end thrusts. Carey's passing and punting stood out.

Charlevoix closes its season next Saturday at Grayling. Grayling leads the northern Michigan class C conference with a perfect record. While Grayling appears to be the outstanding conference team, Coach Kipke predicts his Rayders will bring home a victory.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

If you want your dreams to come true, don't over-sleep.

What is this — spring or fall? We've been wondering, since while the trees are practically denuded of leaves, there has been no killing frost and flowers bloom with all the lustre of mid-summer. Second bloom of spirea and lilac has been reported, red raspberries and dandelions quite common. It is an unusual season, indeed!

Lester Rowe, Portland, Mich. hunter, dragged his gun barrel foremost, through a fence after him. Lester Rowe is dead and buried. Moral: Put the gun through the fence first, then climb through after it.

Gosh, it doesn't seem possible, but here the deer hunting season is only 16 days away. Wish I could take my pick of the bucks being "shot" at meetings of various groups planning for the season.

Hear they're going to put a bell on "Cy" Powers so they can keep track of him during the remainder of the bird hunting season.

Employes of the Charlevoix county highway department have organized a union under the CIO, it is understood. A person would wonder why the mighty CIO fiddles around with tiny groups like county highway workers. The answer is found in the fact that it is the accumulated membership of thousands of such small groups that makes the CIO mighty. And it is the membership fees of thousands of such small groups that finance this labor organization's activities, which, under present leadership, have made the rackets of prohibition days look like peanuts. That is one side of the story. The other side is the struggle of the working man to make ends meet in the face of increasing living costs on the same wages he drew before prices went up. The answer to this is for employers to compensate workmen in accordance with the cost of living. If and when employers and workmen

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Instead of plowing crops under, Michigan farmers are asked to grow bigger crops in 1942.

The reason is obvious. As Harry N. Scholler, director of the north central division of the AAA, said recently at a Lansing state meeting, "We've got to feed the army, the people, and the people of Europe."

Thus a complete reversal of the doctrine of scarcity has taken place in less than ten years, and the reason lies entirely out of the farmer's or consumer's control.

For the first time in many years, the farmers are urged to increase food production. They are assured, at the same time, of a "profit".

This will be good news to families on rural routes and to business men on Main street, but prosperity has its price and all is not rosy and bright.

Soil Conservation

Whereas in the last world war every available acre of land was turned under for growing of grain and the usual economic marginal use of land was completely ignored, this crisis is finding agricultural leaders prepared to get production results without sacrifice of soil conservation.

The sub-marginal land of low fertility will be left alone, according to present plans. Increased output will be effected through application of better farming methods.

Mechanized agriculture is going to occupy the stage. Manufacturers of farm equipment are being exempt from priorities, and logically so, if the front line of democracy is to extend back to the plow.

War-Time Profits

AAA Leader Scholler, speaking at a state meeting of more than 1,000 county committeemen at Lansing, urged farmers to avoid a war-time profit splurge of going into debt for purchase of more land, more machinery and "expensive" automobiles.

An important issue before Charlevoix voters at the November election is the choice between general prohibition nod home rule, in regard to the sale of liquor. * FROM THE GARDEN CLUB *

Another autumn task is to make sure that evergreen plants—both the broadleaved and coniferous—do not go into the winter dry. While this precaution is important, it is one to be practiced with care. In some districts the drought of the past summer, following injuries done last spring, has left many plants in such condition that they are now covered with soft new growth. It is possible that too much water in early autumn may promote growth which will be damaged in the cold months ahead. Thus, inordinately heavy watering while the weather is still warm may not be entirely beneficial. But a thorough watering shortly before the freeze-up will help offset the foliage burning so common last spring. In addition to water, a deep mulch of fallen leaves applied before the ground freezes is sound practice.

In addition to their insulating value, fallen leaves are an excellent source of organic matter. Few gardens have so many that they need to be burned or hauled away. It is far sounder practice to rake them into the shrubbery plantings or to stack them for composting. While the loose leaves are prone to disturbance by wind to permit their use for covering beds in the open, the overhanging branches of shrubbery will hold them in place.

When it comes to protecting the tops of broad-leaved evergreens, little thought need be given to wrapping for warmth. This is especially true where all is well beneath the soil. A satisfactory wind screen for plants of ordinary size is to enclose them in a cylinder of chicken wire covered with burlap. The wire should be held rigidly erect by stout stakes. No cover is necessary as long as the screen projects well over the top of any plant being protected.

Dear Mr. Usher,

I want to tell you that receiving the Courier every week has helped me pass many enjoyable hours since I have been in the hospital.

My back hasn't responded to treatment and I have been transferred here to Billings General Hospital for further treatment. This is a much larger and more complete hospital than the Station Hospital at Camp Grant.

Four of us came down here from Camp Grant yesterday morning. I am seeing quite a bit of the country and getting most of my medical training at first hand. We patients that can get up and around do a lot of the things that the soldiers in camp learn from lectures only.

Thanking you again for the Courier which allows me to keep up to date on what is going on at home.

HAVE WEEK TO APPLY DOE HUNTING PERMIT

Application for Allegan County Season Close November 4

Hunters who want a chance to participate in Michigan's first antlerless deer season have just one week to place their names in the lottery from which the conservation department will draw a list of 500 eligibles November 4. In fixing regulations for the special firearms season December 1-10 on 20,000 acres in central Allegan county, the conservation commission limited the 500 to residents of Michigan.

Application blanks, available now at conservation department district and regional headquarters, the Allegan wildlife experiment station and at Lansing, must be sent to Lansing with the license fee and postmarked not later than October 31. Licenses and permits for the 500 lottery winners will be mailed by November 10.

Issuance of a permit will not bar the hunter from hunting in northern Michigan during the regular season November 15-30, but he will be ineligible for the Allegan hunt if he fills his license in the north. At a checking station in Dunningville, north of Allegan, hunters must present their permits for stamping before hunting and return there with their kills for attaching of special seals. In the December season, killing of bucks will not be permitted.

MICHIGAN RESIDENTS LIKE FLORIDA WINTER

St. Petersburg's Michigan State Society Plans Winter Program

Michigan's growing colony of winter visitors in St. Petersburg, Fla., will reach a new high this season as early arrivals in the Sunshine City are already shattering records of other years.

Newly elected officers of the Michigan State Society will take over at the first meeting of the season to be held in November with Andrew A. Swenzie, Highland Park, president, presiding. Other officers are H. E. Waits, Ludington, vice president; Mrs. Maude M. Knercher, Detroit, secretary; and Dr. H. C. Stuart, Walled Lake, treasurer.

Meetings of the Wolverine group are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month in their own club rooms. Innumerable dinner dances, yachting parties, bench picnics and entertainments will be held through the winter.

"NAVY INTELLIGENCE"

Is it necessary to be a high school graduate in order to enlist in the Navy?

No. Navy enlistees need not be high school graduates. All applicants will be given an examination containing approximately 100 questions. A grade of 50 per cent or better on this examination is sufficiently high to pass the Navy educational standards. However, a high school education will be valuable to the seaman during his Navy enlistment.

If I enlist in the Navy or Naval Reserve, will I be sent to a Navy Trade School?

All new recruits are sent to one of four Naval Training Stations and after a training period they may take examinations for entrance into Navy Trade Schools. Those recruits who pass their examinations with sufficiently high grades are sent to Navy Trade Schools before assignment to the fleet. While attending these schools, they will receive regular Navy pay and free schooling valued at $1500.

What is the greatest possible pay I can expect to earn during my first term of enlistment?

It is possible to earn as much as $126 a month by the end of your first term of enlistment, and remember that your clothing, lodging, medical and dental care are all supplied free.

After I have served my term of enlistment, what benefits do I get for re-enlistment?

Depending on your rate and length of service, you can get a cash bonus up to $300 plus 30 days leave with pay.

What does the term "ash can" mean in the Navy?

An "ash can" is a slang term applied to the depth charge used to combat submarines. The average "ash can" is a container filled with approximately 300 pounds of T.N.T. and can be dropped overboard from a ship and so controlled as to explode at depths ranging from 36 to 300 feet. These are generally carried by the fast ships in the fleet, as a boat dropping a charge required to explode at 70 feet depth must move away from the explosion area at a speed of 25 knots or more. These "ash cans" are either rolled off the stern or shot from "y-guns" which hurl one right and one left simultaneously.

SALVAGE TIMBER FROM ARMISTICE DAY STORM

Conservation Department Permits Logging Operations

Approach of the anniversary of the 1940 Armistice Day storm that leveled thousands of big forest trees in northern lower Michigan and the southeastern part of the upper peninsula finds private logging operators, working under permits from the conservation department's forestry division, still salvaging windthrown timber in the state forests.

With many of the 331 permits issued since the storm still in effect, operators already have paid the state more than $7,000 for timber removed from 70,000 acres. Forestry division officials estimate the state income may reach $10,000 when all marketable timber has been salvaged.

Timber already salvaged includes 548,000 board feet of pine, 25,000 feet from other trees, 3,800 cords of pulpwood and a quantity of cabin logs. Another 300,000 board feet of lumber has been salvaged from the forests for use on conservation department projects.

Cutting is expected to continue most of the winter, though the remaining windthrown timber is quite widely scattered. Much remains, however, on privately owned property within state forest boundaries.

CAN DENY SMALL GAME HUNTER HIS LICENSE

Accidents and Violations Are Causes Under New Law

Denial of hunting licenses to small game hunters involved in hunting accidents and game law violations, a penalty long in force against erring deer hunters, is expected to make doubly careful this fall the bird and rabbit hunters who want to continue enjoying the sport.

Under the new law, effective since the Legislature adjourned, any person over 17 who, while hunting small game, accidentally or otherwise wounds or kills, by shooting, any human being will be ineligible, like the deer hunter, to obtain a license in the next five years.

Any person convicted of violating the small game law may, if the court so orders, be deprived of his hunting license for the current and the succeeding year. For deer hunters the penalty for law violations remains at three years' suspension from the sport.

On the conservation department's 1941 deer hunters' blacklist are 637 names. Sixty-one are names of persons responsible for deer hunting accidents, of which 22 were fatal.

GAME STORAGE LAWS ALTERED THIS YEAR

Permits Needed to Keep Game Over Specified Period

Permits for the storage of game for use on special occasions next winter and spring may be obtained directly from local conservation officers, the conservation department's field administration division is advising hunters writing to Lansing.

No permits are needed for keeping small game up to 30 days after the close of the season or for keeping deer or bear up to 60 days after the close of the season. The permits allow up to six months additional storage. They are issued by the conservation officer only for specific freezer lockers or places of cold storage where inspection by the officer or state police is permitted.

Migratory game birds are an exception to the general cold storage regulations. Under federal rules, they may not be kept longer than 20 days past the end of the season.

NERVOUS TRIGGER FINGERS GET 200 NIMRODS TROUBLE

Nearly 200 hunters who could not wait for the legal game seasons to open have paid in court for firing too soon at partridge, waterfowl, fox squirrels, rabbits and deer. With 175 other violators of conservation laws apprehended in September they paid a total of $3,880 in fines and $2,475 in costs, besides 425 days of jail sentences. Conservation officers lost just one case.

Advise Draining Spray Rigs

An estimated 20,000 spray rigs, having done their duty in 1941 in helping produce quality fruit and vegetable crops in Michigan, deserve a good turn before freezing weather prevails. The simple job of draining or of replacing water or spray solution with lubricating oil is advised.

Here is a typical day's menu in the U. S. Navy: Breakfast—Fresh fruit, Viennn sausage with tomato sauce, assorted cereals, griddle cakes with syrup, bread, butter and coffee. Dinner — Vegetable soup, pot roast of beef, succotash, mashed potatoes, salad, bread, butter, coffee, chocolate cake and ice cream. Supper—Liver and bacon, string beans, steamed rice, salad, stewed prunes, bread, jam and tea.

School newspapers all over Michigan are again invited to take part in the war on tuberculosis during the Christmas seal sale. Feature stories, news stories, editorials and cartoons may be submitted to the Michigan tuberculosis Association, Lansing. Certificates of Merit will be awarded schools whose contributions "show originality, an intelligent grasp of the subject, accuracy as to detail and an appreciation of the role the school can play in the prevention of tuberculosis. This project is sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

He went from there to Kelly Field, near San Antonio, Texas, where, after nine months' training, he will graduate as a navigator. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shapton and son, Stanley, accompanied him to Fort Brady and returned that day.

Ensign John T. Foster, U. S. Naval Reserve, arrived Monday from Pensacola, Fla., to spend a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Foster. "Jack" has been transferred to Seattle, Wash. He will leave Friday for his new post. He was accompanied by his cousin, Corp. Tom Mills, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who is stationed at Lewiston, Wash. LANSING LETTER

"Save your money, buy defense bonds," he pleaded, "so you'll be able later on to buy machinery and automobiles made by factories now working on defense orders. Thus we can keep the factories going and not have a post-war depression."

But the profits of 1942 production are not going to be easily realized.

Big problems are the shortages of labor and farm equipment, and the two go together. Canada has sought to overcome them by mobilizing young women into harvesting brigades during the summer months. Such was done in this country to a limited extent during World War I, and the result was beneficial to morale as well as to farm output.

Cooperative ownership of farm machinery is suggested by Leo V. Card, commissioner of agriculture.

Food Prices

Before a congressional committee at Washington, Commissioner Card strongly opposed price-fixing for farm commodities "at this time."

If there must be price-fixing, as some experts advocate, then the farmer insists on price ceilings for all commodities including labor. And immediately you run counter into a powerful pressure group at Washington, just as influential as the farmers themselves.

With the farmer opposing price-fixing, and labor telling the government to keep hands off, the housewife or consumer is being caught right in the middle. Here is where the peril of inflation sets in, a threat of scarcity which prompts many persons to overbuy and thus to create an artificial scarcity, kicking prices upward and upward.

A recent analysis of commodity markets, made by the Associated Press, shows that prices paid farmers for major commodities have soared three to 47 per cent since June, 1940, and 18 to 68 per cent since January of this year! Wholesale butter has gone up almost 40 per cent since June of last year; cheese, 71 per cent; eggs, 88 per cent; hogs, 117 per cent; cattle, 24 per cent; lambs, 10 per cent; grains, 35 to 81 per cent. Lard is 128 per cent higher, pork loins 100 per cent more, ham 82 per cent up, and so on.

Lease-Lend

Along with airplanes, tanks and other items needed for "shooting war", our government is committed under the lease-lend act of Congress to furnish many shiploads of foods to Europe.

But the fact remains that there are record breaking surpluses of some foods for this time of the year, and yet prices are going up persistently. Why?

Just as many manufacturers have contributed to a shortage of raw materials by hoarding them, so many housewives have helped to push up spiraling food prices by buying a dozen cans instead of one or two, or case-lots instead of a half dozen. Commodity men were quoted by the Associated Press as saying that buyers are their worst enemies.

Consumer groups, however, suspect that the middleman is profiteering at the expense of both the farmer and consumer. A state consumer committee was recently formed under auspices of the Michigan Council of Defense to investigate reports of excessive price raises.

Inflation

If what the experts proclaim at Washington — economists such as Lubin and Henderson—an inevitable penalty which we must pay through inflation which is well under way, duplicating the World War inflation, will be a steady advance of food prices during the coming months.

Here you have the food picture in Michigan today—farmer, middleman and consumer.

Unemployment may exist in cities and towns, but there'll be no unemployment on Michigan farms in 1942. Home gardens will be larger: "root cellars" will be filled with more vegetables than usual; shelves of canned goods will bend under added weight. While the farmer will continue to exercise his inherited perogative of complaining about the weather, he is going to be a lot better off than many city folks—and he knows it.

TOMMY, TAME MOOSE, IS STUDIED AT CUSINO

Dies After Month's Freedom; Life History Fully Recorded

The life story of Tommy—Cusino's famed captive moose whose every weight variation, diet, illness, trick and misdeed game men have carefully documented, with pictures, since the day he was born—is not going to end with the finding of his body on Minor's beach, eight miles east of Munising.

Tommy's massive head with its broad spreading antlers is to be mounted and will be displayed at the conservation department's training school at Higgins lake, where a steady succession of educational groups that use the school will read his story in years to come. Few moose have been born in captivity and survived anywhere, and few if any other moose in the world have a four and one-half year's life history that will match Tommy's for detail.

The 1,100 pound bull had less than a month of freedom since he and Abie, another bull, escaped September 10 from the moose corrals at the Cusino wildlife experiment station where they were born and raised. When game men found him he was trapped on a narrow rock ledge eight feet above water level. They dropped browse to him from the top of the 200-foot high Pictured Rocks cliff when rough Lake Superior waters thwarted attempts to remove him by boat. He disappeared the night of October 9 and his body was found two days later.

4-H CLUB NEWS

4-H Dairy Boys Enjoy 2,600 Mile Trip

Two Antrim county 4-H dairy club members, Walter Chellis and Bernard Best, and two boys from the southern part of the state were accompanied by O. F. Walker, district club agent, and his wife to the National Dairy Show, which was held at Memphis, Tennessee. The two boys from Antrim county competed in the National Dairy Show contest. Their demonstration was judged in the red ribbon group. Nebraska, Minnesota, and Iowa were judged in the blue ribbon group.

Some of the highlights of the trip were the trips to the cotton fields where they saw cotton being picked and also followed it to the cotton gin where it was ginned and baled. A side trip across the Mississippi River into Arkansas was enjoyed. Four days were spent in Memphis where the 4-H members had the opportunity of getting acquainted with boys and girls from every state in the union except California, Washington and Nevada.

After leaving Memphis a trip through Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia was enjoyed and many new sights were seen such as the making of sorghum, molasses, and digging sweet potatoes. From Georgia the trip extended through North Carolina and into the Great Smoky mountains of Tennessee. Probably the most interesting part of the trip was going through the Great Smoky mountains where it was necessary to climb about a mile high on winding roads to get over the top. At the top of the mountain—we were several hundred feet above the clouds. The next stop was at Norris Dam which was lighted at night. From here we traveled through the Cumberland mountains to the Mammoth Cave and then home. The trip covered over 2,600 miles

District Agent.

LEGISLATURE ASSURES BLUEGILL ICE FISHING

Opposition to December 31 Closing Date Effects Change

Only the governor's signature is needed to complete the Legislature's new move to assure Michigan anglers two months of ice fishing for bluegills and sunfish this winter. The new measure supersedes an act passed earlier in the regular session which would have stopped bluegill fishing December 31.

Passage of the new act when the session was resumed after three months' recess followed a display of popular opposition evidenced by tens of thousands of names on petitions sponsored by sportsmen's clubs, proposing submitting the question to a vote of the people.

The new law provides for closing the bluegill and sunfish ice fishing season February 28, a month earlier than formerly. Ice fishing in March, however, is not so good as in the earlier months, and ice conditions then often become unsafe.

The winter bluegill fishing ban that the new law corrects did not have the approval of the department of conservation, whose institute for fisheries research, in intensive studies of typical bluegill lakes, found more fishing rather than less will yield a larger total crop of bluegills and will lessen the stunting that occurs when the population is too great for the food supply.

AT THE MOVIES

Defense Secret Theme of Latest Skyways Thriller

The world's most closely guarded military secret, the United States Army's famous Norden bomb-sight, was the inspiration for Paramount's latest thrill drama of the air, "Flying Blind," which shows on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 4-5, at the Palace Theatre.

"Flying Blind," which centers around the romance of Richard Arlen and lovely Jean Parker, is the third of a series of Paramount aviation films dedicated to National Defense. Produced by Bill Pine and Bill Thomas, the picture was directed by Frank McDonald from the original screen play by Maxwell Shane and Richard Murphy.

In "Flying Blind" a group of foreign agents, aided by a renegade airlines pilot, attempts to steal a vital piece of secret apparatus from a new Army bombing plane. Naturally their efforts come to naught but their attempt provides the thrills in one of the most exciting of a long line of aviation pictures. Incidentally, the star, Richard Arlen, is a former Royal Air Force fighter pilot and is one of Hollywood's most enthusiastic flyers.

When an Army bomber equipped with the Norden sight makes a landing the valuable piece of apparatus is removed by mechanics while armed guards stand by. Still guarded by soldiers with ready rifles, the sight is carried in a special case to a vault where it is kept, still under armed guard, until it is needed for another flight.

So carefully is the secret of the Norden sight preserved that its individual parts are manufactured in widely separated sections of the country by different companies.

ge, together on such a plan, there will be no excuse for such organizations as the CIO and labor disturbances will end.

A general and a colonel walking down the street passed many privates, and each time the colonel would salute he would mutter, "The same to you."

The general's curiosity soon got the best of him, and he asked: "Why do you always say that."

The colonel replied: "Well, I was a private once myself, and I know what they're thinking."

Did you ever stop to think how reading a book or a magazine or a newspaper would be if we had no punctuation marks and no capital letters? When we read, we think only of the words we see; and yet the lowely period and comma and all the other marks of punctuation are playing a highly important part. See if you can read this next paragraph intelligently; it has no capital letters and no punctuation marks:

how astounding you read that yet you were uncertain perhaps it goes to show that a little mark means a lot you read this easily it is simple reading above was far from that

And this is the same paragraph properly punctuated:

How astounding! You read that; yet you were uncertain, perhaps. It goes to show that a little mark means a lot. You read this easily; it is simple. Reading above was far from that.

Hats off to punctuation!

To the average individual an article in Monday's Detroit Free Press describing an operating room on wheels which accompanied the First Armored Division on recent maneuvers, was perhaps of only passing interest. But to Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Levinson, local residents, it was of intense interest, for their son, Charles, member of the 47th Medical Battalion at Fort Knox, Ky., was a member of the staff accompanying this novel piece of equipment. Invented by Maj. L. Holmes Ginn, Jr., commander of the 47th Medical Battalion, the wheeled operating room carries complete supplies and equipment, even to hot and cold running water. In 15 minutes the body of the truck proper becomes a comfortably spacious operating room, well lighted and with instruments and supplies in easy reach. Under the extended canvas sides are receiving and dressing stations and a dentist's chair.

The weather of Monday and Tuesday was no doubt a sample of what we can expect in near future weeks. It snowed lightly here, melting as it fell, and the thermometer dropped to around 40 degrees, the nearest to freezing temperature we have experienced. Dealers in anti-freeze preparations did a land-office business.

HOLD SECOND TB CLINIC ON NOVEMBER 4TH

Examination at Boyne City Gymnasium Is Announced

This year's second X-ray clinic for Charlevoix county, sponsored by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, will be held on Tuesday morning, November 4th, at the Boyne City gymnasium, according to Dr. J. W. Chapman, director of Health District No. 3. The association's chief purpose in this fall clinic will be to find early cases of tuberculosis.

"Over the past ten years forty-two cases of tuberculosis have been found in Charlevoix county as a result of X-ray examination," pointed out Dr. Chapman. "Of these, twenty were in the early, minimal stages of the disease."

Watchword of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association is "Early discovery, early recovery." The importance of finding early cases lies in the fact that they require much less treatment than do the advanced cases, Dr. Chapman declared.

"Because the early case of tuberculosis often can be treated in approximately one-third the time needed for an advanced one, the patient is returned to his home and work much sooner, and the county is saved a great deal of unnecessary expense. That is why Charlevoix residents who have had contact with an active case of the disease — those who have had a positive tuberculin test—and those who need to be re-checked—should take advantage of the opportunity for X-ray."

Arnold J. Linden, X-ray technician, will be in charge of the clinic sponsored jointly by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and the Health Department. Application for X-ray should be made through the health department or the family physician.

MRS. LOUIS L. FOWLER ADDRESSED STUDENTS

Organizer of Pathfinder Project, Inc., Trains Dogs for Blind

Mrs. Louis L. Fowler, of Berkley, Mich., spoke last Thursday night at the Methodist church, and appeared Friday before grade and high school students, accompanied on each occasion by her dog, "Dedie", a thoroughbred Doberman-Pinscher.

Mrs. Fowler has been blind for seven years, and "Dedie", her constant companion and guide, was given to her in April, 1940, by the Detroit and Pennsylvania Kennel clubs. Discovering what a wonderful aid to sightless persons a guiding dog can be, she formed a corporation known as Pathfinder Project, Inc., located at Royal Oak, to train such dogs. Her husband, who was here with her, is secretary-treasurer of the corporation.

Only pedigreed Dobermans are used, and their education is severe. Part of their training takes place on the busy streets of Detroit, with their trainer blindfolded and putting himself in situations a blind person might encounter.

Mrs. Fawler stressed the need for dogs of this type, stating that for the 130,000 blind persons in the United States, less than 700 dogs are trained to guide them.

The Fowlers were guests of Rev. and Mrs. Leigh Hagle during their stay in Charlevoix.

NAVY DOES NOT DEMAND H. S. EDUCATION

Legion, High School Heads Tell Opportunities for Young Men

Since Secretary Knox announced the enlistment drive for Uncle Sam's new two-ocean Navy several weeks ago, many young men have asked if they were eligible to enlist without a high school education.

Charles A. Hamlin, commander of Leslie T. Shapton Post, American Legion, answers this important question for the young men of Charlevoix.

"Navy enlistees do not have to be high school graduates," said Commander Hamlin. "Any ambitious and patriotic young fellow who wants to serve his country has that opportunity now by joining the United States Navy or Naval Reserve. Of course, he must be of average intelligence, good character and be able to pass certain physical and mental examinations. Now, more than ever before, the Navy needs men of that type.

"All applicants, whether or not they have high school diplomas, are given an elementary examination containing about 100 questions," explained Commander Hamlin. "Those receiving a grade of 50 per cent or more satisfy Navy educational standards."

"Naturally, a high school education is helpful in the Navy, just as it is in civilian life," points out O. P. North, superintendent of Charlevoix high school.

"There are certain advantages for the high school graduate in the Navy," said Mr. North. "He has a wider background to call upon in earning advancement in position and pay. For example, men who are proficient in English may be sent to one of the Navy's communications or clerical schools. Recruits with a knowledge or aptitude for handling tools might be marked for trade or engineering courses. Men with college educations may qualify for midshipmens' training courses in the Naval Reserve and after their schooling period they will report for active duty as officers with the rating of ensigns.

"The Navy has four excellent trade schools to which new recruits in either the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve may be sent after a training period, providing they pass entrance examinations with sufficient high grades. At these schools they will be trained in any one of nearly fifty skilled trades or vocations to which their aptitudes suit them and will receive free schooling valued at hundreds of dollars in addition to their regular Navy pay. Such an education is valuable for advancement in the Navy and in later civilian life," he concluded.

a person to prepare food for them under their control; which preparation of food may take place either in the premises occupied as living quarters by the campers or in separate premises.

Hunters at many large clubs and resorts will be ineligible for camp permits under the conservation department definition of a camp, since at these places they will be enjoying hotel accommodations and not camping. Like hunters staying in town hotels and farmhouses in the deer country, they will be able to take only one buck each on their individual licenses.

Distribution of the $3 camp permits is made according to parties, and each such party must consist of not less than four licensed deer hunters who camp together. They may take the deer for "camp purposes" only. Single parties larger than four may get only one permit. Any of the signers of the permit may kill the camp deer, but he must have the permit in his possession at the time of the kill. According to the law, the camp seal must remain attached to the deer until all the venison is consumed.

MISS MARGARET BOSS AND JOHN MARTIN, JR. WERE WED SATURDAY

The marriage of Miss Margaret Boss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boss of Central Lake, and John Martin, Jr., son of Mrs. John Martin of Charlevoix, took place at the home of the bride's parents at Central Lake at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, October 25. Rev. Chester Meengs read the double ring ceremony in the presence of the couple's immediate families and close friends.

Mrs. Rex Supernaw of Detroit, sister of the groom, and Jack Boss of Central Lake, brother of the bride, attended the couple.

Large baskets of colorful autumn flowers made a lovely setting for the ceremony.

The bride wore a street-length dress of gold crepe, with shoulder corsage of white carnations and fern. Mrs. Supernaw wore aqua crepe, and corsage of bronze and white belle mums.

A reception for twenty-three guests followed the ceremony. Buffet refreshments were served from a table which bore a large three-tiered wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin left immediately after the ceremony for a trip to southern Michigan and Chicago. They will reside in Charlevoix.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. John Martin, Sr., James, Sara Ann, Phyllis, Patrick, Frank and Phil Martin, Miss Irene Warner and Harold Curtis, of Charlevoix, and Mrs. Watson Gregory and three children, of Petoskey.

BIRTHS WILL ESTABLISH HIGH RECORD THIS YEAR

Births in Michigan will reach an all-time high of more than 100,000 this year, says the Michigan Department of Health. It is estimated that the total will be 107,000 compared with 99,940 in 1927, which was the state's record year.

At the conclusion of the program there was a mad scramble to buy these wonderful apples. The 4-H club conservation members put up displays showing young pine trees of various ages. The biggest tree, six or seven years of age, very nicely showed the wonderful development that takes place in a very few years. Other trees were from one year up to four years of age.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN IS BEGUN

INTEREST HIGHEST IN PEACE-TIME HISTORY

Gain of 68% In Memberships Is Reported for Early Stages of Roll Call Drive

"All out for the Red Cross" is the slognn for the 25th annual Red Cross Roll Call which begins officially next Tuesdny, November 11.

Because of the short time between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving this year, volunteer workers in Charlevoix have already begun to work in the most intensive membership campaign in Red Cross peacetime history.

Public interest in the Red Cross has reached a peak not approached in twenty years, as early Roll Call returns throughout the country show an overall gain of more than 68 per cent in membership.

Nothing short of nn "all out" Roll Call can fulfill all the needs of the Red Cross this year. In addition to their disaster service and first aid training at home, and greatly increased activity among war-affected people of Europe and the Orient, the American Red Cross has taken the duties of helping to bolster America's civilian defense and to act as a communication line between the people and the armed forces.

As the only outside agency authorized to conduct day-to-day services within the confines of Army and Navy training stations, the Red Cross is in the midst of its busiest year since the first World War.

Red Cross field directors in all military camps and naval stations are aiding in solving problems of morale and adjustment to army life which have arisen during mobilization of a two million-man fighting force.

RAYDERS PLAYED GRAYLING TO TIE

CLOSING CONTEST SATURDAY ENDED SCORELESS

Bad Breaks Snatched Victory from Charlevoix After Out-Playing Northern Class C Champs

In the final game of their football schedule last Saturday, Charlevoix high school's Red Rayders played Grnyling, northern Michigan class C chnmpions, to a scoreless tie.

Grayling, fighting to uphold an unblemished record, was out-played throughout the contest ns the Rayders gave their best performance of the season.

Charlevoix twice crossed the Grnyling goal, only to have a referee's decision upset one touchdown and an off-side penalty the other. Receiving to opening the third period, the Rayders nd vanced deep into Grayling territory on a series of line and around-end plays. On a wide end run, Carey, running behind beautiful interference, went over the goal. The touchdown was not allowed when the referee decided Carey stepped out of bounds on Grayling's 2-yard strip.

Shupton again crossed the Grayling goal on the next play, but the ball was called back and Charlevoix penalized 5 yards because of a player in motion. Another 5-yard penalty followed for the same reason and on fourth down a pass was incomplete. Insofar ns scoring thrents were concerned, the game ended there.

Charlevoix was superior by a wide margin as indicnted by the fact Grayling never advanced closer than Charlevoix's 30-yard line and were on the defeasive throughout the contest.

The Rnyders won one, lost three nnd tied two of a 6-gnme schedule which closed Saturdny. They were defeated by Boyne City, Harbor Springs and Onaway, won from Mancelona, tied East Jordnn and Grayling. Their largest margin of defent wns Boyne's 12 to 0 victory. Grayling, undefeated and untied until Saturday's tilt, won the northern Michigan class C crown.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Making wool out of cow's milk must make the cows feel sort of sheepish.

Despite today's wide spread in individual incomes, we manage in this country to retain a fairly strong sense of equality among our people. In this writer's opinion, the chief source of the feeling of equality is the automnbile. Whatever the age or type of automobile a man drives, he identifies himself with the automobile group and thereby feels superior to the pedestrian group. Since nearly everyone either owns or rides in a private automobile, the feeling of superiority is nearly universal. The humbler a man is, the more an automobile adds to his self-importance. When a man's behind a powerful motor he thinks he's as good as anybody else, or nearly as good. It's lucky for our democracy that our manufacturers of motor cars have been able to distribute them widely.

Somebody is alwayn giving me the "raspberry" and the instance I'm about to relate is no exception. Was presented with a spray of raspberry blossoms picked Sunday at the Mrs. B. L. Harrington home. While not piling up such an imposing record, the Charlevoix high school 1941 football team was one of the best Coach "Stub" Kipke has turned out in recent years. Competition in the northern Michigan class C circuit this year was tough, thus the Rayders' perform-

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

As predicted in this column last February, state aid for advertisiag of Michigan agricultural products is due to become a legislative issue.

An annual appropriation of $100,000, only $20,000 less than the amount granted for tourist advertising, is sought by a new agricultural advertising committee headed by W. F. Doyle, manager of the Michigan Chain Stores Bureau and former state senator from Menominee.

This objective was determined at Lansing at a meeting called by Leo V. Card, commissioner of agriculture.

The state legislature set aside $30,000 for allocation to state groups on a matching basis for advertising of Michigan products. When the State Supreme court upheld the apple advertising tax last winter, the rush for funds began. Requests totaled $64,000, more than double the sum at hand. The agreement for a $100,000 grant followed.

Doyle's interest in the advertising programs springs chiefly from co-sponsorship of "Michigan Days" last spring by independent and chain stores. Under the new advertising plan, one-fifth would be set aside by each group for promotion of "Michigan Days" annually for Michigan food products.

Tourist Conflict

State tourist nssocintions, each of which now receives $30,000 nnnually for advertising, have been cool to the inclusion of nny amount for agricultural advertising in the legislative appropriation.

They have pointed out that farmers received a direct benefit from the influx of tourist dollars into Michigan from purchase of additional foodstuffs at resort centers.

Whether harmony can be maintained between the food groups, including the Michigan Food Council representing the retailers, distributors and producers, and the four tourist associations is a mat-

Gun Handling, Right and Wrong

Simple little mistakes like those illustrated on the right above cause most hunting accidents. Correct habits of gun handling, shown on the left, are being demonstrated at sportsmen's shows and other meetings throughout the state in a conservation department campaign to keep hunters properly respectful of their firearms. Among elementary rules is one that guns should never be loaded in cars, homes or camps, but should be handled as carefully as if they were. On the field a gun should never be carried with the safety off, nor ever allowed to point at any thing the hunter does not intend to shoot. Please remember all shooting should be attempted only after the guns have been loaded, or pushed through and fired on command, by the hunter who is alone. Last season 55 of Michigan's 71,282 licensed deer and small game hunters were injured from accidents in the field.

Ten More Young Purebred Sires Distributed to Local Dairymen

Last week Friday a truck load of young sires arrived in this county and were distributed to ten dairymen who had previously placed their order for these young calves with the county agent.

Included in the group were eight Holsteins, and two Guernseys. They were selected from various herds in the southern part of the state, all of whom had D. H. L. A. records and of known producing inheritance. These young calves should do much toward increasing production in the various herds represented. Certainly a good purebred sire of known producing ancestry is essential toward the development of a good producing herd. These sires were all reasonably priced. Of course, they are not real show animals but have the necessary breeding to make improvement. It is interesting to note that during the last two years over thirty animals of this type have been purchased by local dairymen.

The following are the owners of the new sires distributed last week: Chester A. Donaldson, Ellsworth; James Feres, Charlevoix; George Nelson, East Jordan; Lee Sneathen, Charlevoix; John Taylor, Boyne City; L. G. Hanker, East Jordan; Leon Massey, Boyne Falls; Howard Stephens, Charlevoix; William Mayne, Charlevoix; Charles Shepard, Boyne City.

On Monday inst at about seven o'clock in the evening, fire started in the building occupied in the front part by Peter Lemieux's harber shop nnd in the rear by the cigar factory of Bracken & Feuless. Pete was shaving a customer in the front room and the two were the only occupants of the building, when a passerby, noticing smoke pouring out of the side door into the little alley between the buildings, rushed in, startling Pete, who in his excitement nearly cut his customer's throat, and the room in the rear was discovered in a muss of flames. It was thought a spark from the factory room stove started the blaze. The cigar factory was completely wiped out, but much of the harber shop equipment was saved.

After making n thorough cnnvass of the city for the most suitable plnce for Charlevoix high school to plny their basketball games, and even considering building a temporary gymnasium to use notil the new high school is built, the board of education Monday evening instructed Supt. Coverdnle to mnke nrrangements for the Hooker gnrage again this winter.

What will be one of the most beautiful residences in the city is now under construction for Mrs. J. J. Knight of Knlamnzoo, on her Belvedere nvenue property. The house is of Spanish and English construction of unusunl design, with stucco finish.

Chnrlevoix high school's football tenm was snowed under 51-0 by Petoskey lnst Saturdoy. The only thing the home team did well wns punt, nnd Higman's toe probably snved the score from going over the one hundred mark. But—sh!—they goined only 5½ yards from scrimmage, to Petoskey's 464.

The C. H. S. band is off to a good stnrt under direction of John TerWee of Enst Jordan, graduote of the Leyden, Holland, school of music. Wayne Belding got his stnrt on the saxophone in thnt originnl gronp, os did Franklin Ross, Charles Blehn, nnd William Novak. To mention but n few of the twenty-five—Chuck Sterritt on the tromhone, Junior Supernaw tootlng a mean cornet, Lee Shapton and Ho. Helms on the bnss horns. Other famous names in that aggregation were David Livingston, Devere Bird, Dan Geneit, Pnt Mornn, Wilson Howe.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Goddard and Mrs. Goddard's mother, Mrs. Nellie Wood, arrived lnst Wednesdny from Lincoln, New Hampshire for a visit with relatives.

Last Saturday evening Lewis Greenmnn entertained n number of friends with n unique Hallowe'en party nt his Clinton street home.

Mrs. Frank Hines returned Saturdny afternoon from an extended visit at Sunta Monica, Calif., with her sons, Otto and Galo Hines.

A new tubular fire escape is being constructed on the north side of the east wing of Charlevoix hospitnl.

Students were detained from their classes for a short while lnst Friday because some Hallowe'en pranksters entered the ossembly by night, took the books from every desk and piled them high and dry in front of the room.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Farmers may vote all this week (November 3-8) at the Triple-A county office at Boyne City, in the referendum on o proposed marketing agreement program for potatoes in the states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota. Those near the East Jordan area may vote on November 6, 7, and 8, at the East Jordan Co-operative Co. from 1:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Any potato grower in Charlevoix county who has been engaged in the production of Irish potatoes for market during the period from January 1, 1940 to July 31, 1941, is eligible to vote in the referendum, according to Wolter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County Triple-A Committee.

Full information about the provisions of the marketing agreement program may be obtained from the county Triple-A office.

If adopted by producers and handlers, the program would regulate the grades and sizes of Irish potatoes shipped from the four states in interstate commerce and provide for Federal or Federal-State inspection. Potatoes grading lower than U.S. No. 2, the minimum U.S. grade, and smaller than one and one-half inches in diameter (culls) could not be shipped from these four states under the proposed marketing program. Similar potato programs are now in operation in Idaho, Colorado, and Oregon.

When Charlevoix county farmers are contacted by AAA farmer-committeemen this fall in connection with the 1942 farm defense program canvass, they are being urged to repair their farm machinery this fall and winter in order to avoid delays next spring and to release needed metals for other phases of the defense program.

Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County USDA Defense Board, reports that adequate metals have been assured for repair parts, but the amount of new farm machinery which will be available is still questionable.

He said that farmers will be asked to check over their present machinery for necessary repair work and to order the parts needed as soon as possible. Farmers should notify the county USDA defense board if they cannot obtain needed parts.

Recent word from the Michigan State USDA Defense Board reveals that the OPM has assigned a defense priority roting of A-9 to specified steel products handled by warehouses, hardware stores, dealers and jobbers and that this should be of assistance to farmers in meeting their hardware needs, Mr. Henley said. He emphasized that it is not necessary for individual farmers to obtain priority ratings themselves for repair parts and equipment; that the ratings apply only to handlers of this material.

Mr. Henley said that earlier in the fall, the OPM had assigned a priority defense rating of A-10 to the deliveries of materials necessary for the production of parts for the repair and maintenance of existing farm equipment. At the same time, the highest civilian rating, B-1, was assigned to materials which appear on the priorities critical list to a manufacturer who needs them for the manufacture of new farm equipment.

The cautious widow's fatal love. For many years she guarded her inheritance from fortune hunters, but when a poetic suitor with a strange Napoleonic complex wooed and won her, she lost her fortune—and her life, too. Read this real life murder-mystery story in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

Some people think so. But let's look at the record. Figures recently compiled by the American Bankers Association show that thrift deposits in banks have increased for the seventh straight year! Over 45 million depositors have thrift deposits of more than 25 billion dollars. These figures speak well for the average American's faith and foresight. Our bank encourages thrift and welcomes the accounts of all sincere depositors.

RECORDS REVEAL BEST DEER COVER

MOST BUCKS KILLED LAST YEAR IN ROSCOMMON

Ontonagon, With Less Hunters, Showed Best Percentage of Success; Lower Peninsula Best

Deer hunters still debnting the choice of n spot for hunting this fall can pick n county to suit their prefereure from the cnnservation department records of what happened last senson.

If the hunter wnnts to he in the thick of the fun he may choose Roscommon county, most heavily hunted in the entire state, with n hunter concentration of more than 25 to the squnre mile. Gond reason for the hunter concentrntion is the county's production of 3,152 bucks, more than were killed in any other county.

If the hunter takes the "percentage" approach to his choice, upper peninsula counties, particularly Ontonagon, will be attractive. Every other hunter in Ontonagon county lnst season (51.7 per cent, to be exnct) took home a buck, though the county's totnl kill wns little more than half of Roscommon's.

In 1940 as for nearly every year for the last 10, the upper peninsula county poorest in terms of the per cent of hunters successful was better than the best county in the lower peninsula. But the lower peninsula, with more hunters, also produces more deer—31,320 bucks lnst year as compared with 20,393 taken north of the straits.

Average concentration for the entire state wns 5.08 per square mile; 29.5 per cent of all licensees got bucks, and the total kill was 51,713 deer, according to the report compiled by the conservation nlepnrtment's game division from hunters game-kill cards.

The ten counties producing the most deer, in order: Roscommon, Oscoda, Alcona, Crawford, Ogemaw, Chippewn, Montmorency, Lake, Iron and Luce.

The 10 counties with the highest percentnge of hunters successful, in order: Ontonagon, Iron, Gogebic, Baragn, Dickinson, Menominee, Schoolcraft, Mackinnc, Deltn and Chippewa.

Extremes of hunter concentration: 25.17 per square mile in Roscommon and 19.07 in Oscoda, compared with 1.57 in Menominee.

Medical-social workers, specially trained, are on duty at Army and Navy general hospitals to nid service physicians, to act as a medium of communication with families of hospitalized men and to conduct recreational programs for convnlescents.

As part of the Army and Navy safety programs, enlisted men are being picked for training as instructors in first nid and water safety programs, to conduct classes at their cnmps.

Million Red Cross Volunteers Aid Defense Program

Washington, D. C.—Behind the front lines of U. S. defenses more than 1,200,000 Red Cross volunteers are on the job—making surgical dressings, knitting sweaters and giving comfort articles, learning the rudimenta of emergency mass feeding and scores of other duties in an all-out effort for national defense.

The largest defense task now being undertaken by Red Cross volunteers is the production of 40,000,000 surgical dressings for the Army and Navy, according to Mrs. Dwight F Davis, national director of Volunteer Special Services. The undertaking came to the Red Cross at the request of the surgeons general of the Army and Navy when a survey revealed commercial manufacturers could provide only ten per cent of the surgical dressings needed.

Home Service volunteers and Grny Ladies, whose duties are directly concerned with the man in uniform also are expanding their programs, Mrs. Davis said.

As a preparedness measure, thousands of women throughout the country are learning mass feeding and nutrition as members of the Red Cross Canteen Corps. Added thousands are being trained to the Motor Corps to serve as emergency drivers.

The first color film in the field of tuberculosis education was premiered at the 34th annual meeting of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in Grand Rapids, October 27-28. This two reel picture "The Case History of Lucy X" was produced by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association as part of its educational campaign against tuberculosis. The association's entire program is supported by Christmas seals.

U. S. NAVY RECRUITING OFFICER PRESENTS APPLICANT WITH NEW "BADGE OF HONOR"

COMMANDER F. K. O'BRIEN, of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Service, is shown here placing the new Navy "Badge of Honor" on the lapel of an applicant for enlistment in the Navy. (Badge shown above at right.) All ambitious young men who apply for service in Uncle Sam's "Two-ocean" Navy, whether accepted or not, are given this new badge as a mark of their patriotism. To learn of the many opportunities the Navy and the Naval Reserve offer, local men of 17 years and over can get the official illustrated free booklet, "Life in the Navy," from this newspaper's Navy Editor.

WET BEANS AND CORN ARE BEST LEFT ALONE

If Wet, Should Not Be Handled Until Dry Weather

Lucky or farsighted are the Michigan farmers whose beans are threshed or safely stacked against recurring rainstorms, comments H. C. Rather, head of the Michigan State College farm crops department.

But if a farmer has beans out in the field, it may he best to leave them there until dry or freezing weather arrives. The largest driers in the state have capacities of 1,500 to 1,600 bags of beans in 24 hours, yet wet beans are being threshed more than twice as fast as drying facilities can handle the crop.

The navy or white pea beans for which Michigan is famous are handled on the market at 18 per cent moisture. Many of the beans now being threshed have even more than 25 per cent moisture. When threshed and piled in bins or bags the beans spoil rapidly when too high in moisture.

Farmers who have their beans in well-built field stacks or safely in the barn can wait until continuous freezing weather sets in unless local elevators give assurance of an immediate market.

Similar troubles face farmers in counties where corn is grown for grain. Spoilage in storage will be common this fall if corn with high moisture is husked too early. Either the corn can be husked later, dried specially, or put in narrow cribs well ventilated. Loss from storage is likely if corn is cribbed when it contains more than 20 per cent moisture in the kernels. Many grain elevators are equipped for testing small samples.

ASK BIDS ON BRIDGE STREET STRUCTURES

Step Seen As Preliminary to New U.S.31 Bridge Project

Indicating an early start on preliminary work by the state highway department on the proposed new bridge on U.S.31 is an advertisement elsewhere in this issue asking bids for sale and removal of six buildings purchased to provide right-of-way.

Bids will be opened November 13, at Lansing. Purchasers will be required to have the buildings salvaged within 30 days after final acceptance of bid. Bids may be submitted on any or all of the buildings, including the Sam Rose, Robert Bonthron, Fred S. Myers, A. S. Mussalem, Sentinal and liquor store buildings.

"Splinter protection", a new advance in the form of topside armor, is being installed on many of the ships of the U. S. Navy to protect gun crews, observers and signalmen.

KEYNOTES RED CROSS APPEAL

Frances Fedden, attractive Bronxville, N. Y., artist's model, is the 1941 Red Cross poster girl. Thousands of posters like the one pictured above have been distributed throughout the country calling attention to this year's Roll Call membership appeal. Painted by Bradshaw Crandell, prominent New York illustrator, the poster carries a national defense theme, portraying the active part being taken by the Red Cross in serving the armed forces.

LAKE MICHIGAN LEADS IN FISH PRODUCTION

Produced Nine Million Pounds of Nineteen Fish Varieties

Lake Michigan still furnishes the biggest share of the state's two million dollar food supply produced by commercial fishermen annually from Michigan's Great Lakes waters, according to an evaluntion of last year's crop just reported by the conservation department's fish division.

Lake Michigan's production of 9,199,126 pounds of 19 different species of fish is worth $764,478, and Lake Huron fisheries, including those in Saginaw bay, rank second with $599,057 worth. The Lake Superior crop is valued at $518,060 and Lake Erie production in Michigan waters is worth $57,087. Total value for all four lakes, at $1,938,682 is more than a quarter of a million dollars under the 1939 production of $2,241,417 and the 1938 total of $2,339,144.

Lake trout, prime fish of the Michigan commercial catch, accounted for $834,315 of commercial fishermen's 1940 earnings. Whitefish, valued at $280,503, is not far ahead of herring production, which amounted to $262,940 in the same year.

Values of other fish important in last year's catch are: yellow pike, $247,475; smelt, $72,560; chubs, $67,920; yellow perch, $62,584; white and redhorse suckers, $50,511; carp, $24,034 and catfish, $16,465.

MICHIGAN'S '42 AUTO PLATES NOW ON SALE

License Smaller With White Letters on Green Background

Michigan 1942 automobile license plates, diminished a size as a measure of conserving steel for defense needs, went on sale in branch offices of the Secretary of State Monday.

The plates, available at the present time only for passenger cars, are somewhat smaller than those of previous years. White letters stand out on a dark green background.

Fenton R. Bulow, manager of the local branch office in the court house, announced plates are available at his office beginning Monday.

CROPS SHOW OUTSTANDING EVENT

The program held in the gymnasium attracted an attendance of close to three hundred visitors. R. F. Sloan, of the Kiwanis club, acted as chairman. He introduced R. L. Lewis, president of the club, Mayor Robert Bridge, and Attorney Floyd Supp, who gave brief remarks on their reactions toward this type of event. Several musical numbers were given by a troupe from Mancelona while a specialty number was given by a group of three high school students from Charlevoix.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

Last week I charged that the real isolationists of this country are our Secretary of War and our Secretary of the Navy, and I advocated this basic principle; that if America is to remain secure; if we are to maintain our freedom, we must create immediately an independent air force. We must as quickly as possible assume complete command and mastery over the air oceans; we must create a vast independent air armada which should be under the control of a new Cabinet Officer—a Secretary of Aviation. He should have equal importance and rank in our scheme of national defense with our Secretary of War and our Secretary of the Navy. He should cooperate with them and they with him. This war has taught us the value of airpower in conjunction with land and naval forces; and we can well vision the possibilities of future independent aerial warfare. However, both our Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy have refused to concede its true importance as an independent force in addition to its present connection with their arms of the Services. They are concentrating their plans of defense on a two-ocean Navy and an out-moded 1918 mass Army. That is true isolationism.

Now let us study this contention. With the most powerful Navy afloat today, Britain was unable to prevent the invasion of Norway; she was unable to defend the Island of Crete; to prevent the reinforcement of the Italian and German forces in Africa; and, yet, she is said to have complete control of tthe Mediterranean Sea. With the most powerful navy afloat today, Great Britain right now dare not start a land invasion of the occupied continent of Europe against a tremendously weakened German Army of occupation. The answer in every case is the fact that so far Germany has maintained superiority of the skies or at least let me say that Britain and her allies as yet have not been able to secure domination of the air.

A further answer is the fact that there is no case on record in the present war where land armies or the most powerful navy afloat have been able to defeat airpower. Airpower has only been defeated in this war by one force—airpower. There is only one force—and one force only—that stopped Hitler from invading England and that is the fact that he could not gain complete air superiority over the British Isles, because that is where Britain had concentrated her Royal Air Force. She recognized the fact that to stop Hitler's superior air force, she must rely on a total concentration of her own air force.

Now I know you will say—"isn't our Army and Navy aware of this menace of airpower?" The answer is—"Yes, partially." Airpower must work in conjunction with the army. Land attack today without supporting airforce is military suicide. Naval combat today without supporting aircraft is naval suicide; but beyond all this there must be an all dominating, and all powerful independent air force, free to act entirely on its own, free to wage its own offensive warfare, if need be, or its defensive warfare if that be necessary. Independent airpower must be used defensively to successfully combat independent airpower used offensively.

Let me explain what I mean. Supposing Hitler wanted to invade America from the air. You ask would not our aircraft carriers with their planes be able to intercept him? I say—No. Aircraft carriers and their planes have a very limited use, because of the mechanical limitations necessarily placed on that kind of aircraft, in order, to permit their very operation off of, and their return to, the carrier at sea. Of necessity they are slower, their range is much more limited than land based airplanes and, consequently, they cannot begin to have the striking power sufficient to permit them to combat the aerial invader of the future.

Just how powerful this aerial invader of the future may become is a matter of conjecture. You have all heard of our famous B-19 super-bomber which our Army Air Corps is now testing. As yet this isn't a fighting plane. It is powered with four 2,000 HP motors; it is comparatively slow; it has provision for something like two dozen machine guns and a limited number of cannons, and, yet, let me remind you that the B-19 has a non-stop range of 7,800 miles—it can carry 18 tons of bombs for that distance and that gives her a striking power equivalent to 40 of the famous German Stukas dive bombers, which raised such havoc over England. But let me repeat, the B-19 has only 8,000 horsepower developed by four motors, while today it is no secret that we have practically completed the development of single engines which will have 8,000 horsepower. Thus one may visualize some of the possibilities of the superbombers of the future, bombers which will carry a hundred tons or more of high explosive bombs and whose devastating effectiveness will be the equivalent of a hundred or more of our present famous flying fortresses.

But, again, I repeat, and I want to impress this upon you. These land based gigantic bombers by the reason of their size, of their tremendous range, will operate as well over land or ocean, they will recognize no such thing as our "Maginot Line" created by either the Atlantic or Pacific oceans. They will recognize no mountains. Flying at tremendous heights they will go when and where they will. They will operate entirely independent of armies and navies. The design, the development, the construction, the fighting, of these gigantic monsters of destruction must be entrusted to specialists—men whose primary thought will be on the aircraft of the future and the aerial warfare of the future. They must of course recognize—and they will—that aircraft can destroy and by its very destruction may cause a nation to bend and even surrender. But the aircraft of the future, no more than today, can of itself conquer and occupy a conquered nation. Consequently, the aircraft specialists of the future will recognize that they must work in cooperation with both the Army and the Navy, but the Army and Navy in turn must realize that the primary striking force of the invader of the future will come from the skies as a separate, independent unit and the only way you can successfully combat him is by counter airforce, not subordinated to the Army—not subordinated to the Navy, but acting on its own on a parity with both. This we do not have today in America. This we must have in America if America is to remain secure. American invented the airplane. American genius is perfecting it. America leads the world in civil aviation. America must lead the world in military aviation. And when this is recognized not only by our President but principally by our Secretaries of War and Navy, then we will be well on the right road to gain supremacy of defence against the hordes of Hitler.

"NAVY TRADE TRAINING GAVE ME MY START" SAYS PRESIDENT, SPERRY CORPORATION

THOMAS A. MORGAN (pictured in insert), president of the Sperry Corporation, world's largest manufacturers of aeronautical and marina instruments, received his early technical training in the U. S. Navy, in which he enlisted as a young man. "This has proved of great value to me in later years," said ex-sailor Morgan. Pictured above are new Navy recruits receiving electrical training at one of the modernly equipped Navy Trade Schools. LANSING LETTER

ter of speculation. Whereas food advertising would be handled thru the state department of agriculture, tourist advertising funds are allocated directly to the tourist groups which, in turn, must account to the state for their expenditures.

The tourist interests gave in to pressure from the administration this year by voluntarily setting aside $5,000 from their $30,000 annual grants for use of a $20,000 state-wide advertising program and the establishment of a central office at the capitol. During Frank Murphy's regime, the associations were threatened with outright scalping. Centralized state control was staved off, but it is bound to be revived under pressure for more advertising funds.

Defense Headaches

Financial headaches, due to defense priorities and a rapid swing to "all-out" war production, are beginning to multiply.

Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, speaking at Washington, estimated gloomily that between 100,000 and 150,000 Michigan automobile workers would be thrown out of employment between January and July as automobile plants re-tooled for defense.

This would place a new drain on unemployment compensation funds and a new burden on relief loads.

Another bottleneck is being felt already in many small towns where non-defense industries are being hard pressed to get raw materials needed for defense.

Washington is being urged to speed the letting of arms contracts in advance of the 1942 unemployment slump. The lag in blueprints and tooling is always greater than the worker believes it should be. Even if the war must continue until 1943 and possibly 1944, as Washington is now assuming, industrial hard-times will prevail and inflated prosperity in many communities of Michigan unless red tape is slashed, action is ordered. Such is the governor's belief, and signs are bearing out his predictions.

Tax Headache

The federal government's insistence that all defense equipment and production must be tax exempt has sent chills up and down backbones of both state and county officials.

In Wayne county it is estimated that shutting down automobile plants will remove millions of dollars annually from personal property assessments. If defense equipment is tax exempt, what is going to happen? Figure it out for yourself.

Louis M. Nims, director of the state sales tax board, foresees an immediate decline in revenue if the federal government's policy prevails to waive all taxes on defense operations. Estimates of potential losses run from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000 although it is felt that eventually when the readjustment to defense production has been made the return of purchasing power will offset the temporary loss of revenue.

Farm Prosperity

At the Sault Ste. Marie state convention of Michigan Grange, Dean E. L. Anthony of Michigan State college school of agriculture counseled farmers not to buy larger farms and more equipment from the new profits from higher-priced products in 1942.

Avoid the temptation, he warned, as an economic letdown from today's crazy spending is inevitable when the emergency ends.

"We should know that as soon as this war is over, the world will return to its land, exhausted and too poor to buy our products. We will have a farm machine built for an excess demand."

Civil Service

Political control of Michigan's state prisons is on the way out, according to Garrett Heyns, state corrections director, who says that the new civil service amendment will prevent the frequent turnover of wardens and state employees and make for new efficiency in our penal system.

In civil service tests Warden Simon R. Anderson of Marquette prison and Warden Warren J. Dodge of Ionia prison failed to qualify for their positions.

Eligibles for their jobs include A. Ross Pascoe, chairman of the parole board; Joel R. Moore, former warden at Jackson (appointed by Murphy); Dr. Wellington B. Huntley, medical director at Jackson, and Hilmer Gellein, former corrections director.

COMMUNICATIONS

Dear Editor of Courier Public Pulse:

It's quite a while since you heard from me so I thought I would open my Bazoo once more. You may lick me but you can't shut my mouth.

I saw something in Petoskey the other day that really woke me up again. I went into a grocery store to buy some cheese. I wanted some Michigan-made cheese. I have never been able to buy or eat any Michigan cheese only what I made myself. Well the grocery, which was the A. & P., did not have any Michigan made cheese. But they had New York cheese at 35 cents a pound and they had also Wisconsin cheese at 30 cents a pound and they would not guarantee either one to be full cream cheese. It was simply cheese.

Now I used to make tons of cheese and you can't fool me on a full cream or a half skim cheese. The full cream cheese is what I eat and when I can't get that I don't eat any. I would like to ask the cow milkers of Michigan: have they quit pulling teats so that New York and Wisconsin could have a market in Michigan for their dairy product?

Butter is selling in Charlevoix for forty cents a pound, cheese selling at 30 cents a pound. The milk that makes a pound of butter will make two and one-half pounds of cheese. When cheese sells for 30 cents a pound, butter should sell for 75 cents a pound, or vice versa, when butter sells for 40 cents a pound a full cream cheese should sell for 16 cents a pound, not 30 or 35.

Too much butter made and not enough cheese. Such work is a disgrace to the cow milkers of Michigan, when New York and Wisconsin has to ship their cheese to Michigan to help feed the people of Michigan while the Michigan farmers ride around in their tin lizzey on a cement road and kill each other before they give Hitler a chance to do the job. If you are going to help feed the Reds and Britain, why not make more cheese and ship cheese and less milk? If we could get the cheese business talked up, our government might put in a few factories here in Michigan and make more cheese. Very few people know that the milk that makes a pound of butter makes two and a half pounds of rich full cream cheese, not a tough skim milk cheese.

Respectfully, G. W. Dennis.

P. S. — Now, Ken Usher, you told me once if I would write an article on cheese you would stick her in the Courier. I know my time is getting short, so here it is. But don't send me any bill for this if it ain't worth anything to your paper don't do it. Frat. yours, G. W. D.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Just what is inflation and how can it be minimized?

A. Inflation is a decrease in the buying power of the dollar caused by a rising cost of living. This, in turn, is brought about by a heavy public demand, resulting from a rapid increase in the national income, for things which cannot be produced in large enough quantities. Every citizen can help minimize inflation by buying Defense Bonds and Stamps.

Q. How can I get cash for my Defense Savings Stamps if I should need to redeem them?

A. Go to any post office.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at most retail stores.

AT THE MOVIES

"Smilin' Through"

When "Smilin' Through" shows Saturday, Sunday and Monday, November 8-10, at the Palace Theatre with Jeanette MacDonald and Brian Aherne in the starring roles, little seven-year-old Jackie Horner will make her debut on the screen as Jeanette MacDonald as a child.

In "Smilin' Through" Jackie plays the piano. She is in a supporting cast which includes Gene Raymond, Ian Hunter, Frances Robinson, Patrick O'Moore and Eric Lonsdale. Frank Borzage directed the picture and Victor Saville produced it.

"She Knew All the Answers"

As the girl who knows all the answers, beautiful Joan Bennett comes November 11-12 to the Palace Theatre screen with Franchot Tone in Columbia's newest love-and-laugh furee, "She Knew All the Answers." Proving that Wall Street may know its stocks and bonds but a brunette like Joan Bennett is something else again, the hectic new hit was directed by Richard Wallace from a popular magazine story by June Allen. John Hubbard, Eve Arden and William Tracy are important members of the supporting cast.

"Down In San Diego

Uncle Sam was in charge of the prop department for much of the factual background in "Down In San Diego," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture which opens an engagement of two days November 13-14 at the Palace Theatre.

Placed in bristling San Diego, scene of American defense preparations, the picture reveals activities of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and aviation. The story concerns a group of youngsters who become involved with a gang of spies, eventually defeating them with the aid of the Marines.

ances didn't show up as well as they might have. It is quite unusual to find five strong teams in the conference at one time, and that's what happened this year. Ordinarily one or two would stand out, but this season there was Boyne City, Harbor Springs, East Jordan, Grayling and Charlevoix—all about even in strength. Scores would indicate as much, for most victories were by the margin of one touchdown. Grayling, conference champs, won 14 to 13 from Boyne City, providing an example. All things considered, Charlevoix fans have no kick coming on the 1941 Ryder combination.

The reason no woman has ever married the man in the moon is because he only makes a quarter n week, gets full once a month, nnd stays out all night.

Charlevoix this year had a truly prankless Halloween, thanks to the Kiwanis Club. Ringing of door bells and a youthful demand for "trick or treat" was about the extent of Halloween activity. Hardly any windows were soaped, no property damage occurred at all. That the Kiwanis plan of providing entertainment in place of seasonal depredations is a success, there is no doubt. Let's be appreciative of the influence this splendid service organization is exerting among our youngsters.

Banker (visiting the farm): "I suppose that's the hired man?"

Farmer (who had visited banks) "No, that's the first vice-president in charge of cows."

Boy! It sure is hard to keep up with things. The deer season opens November 15, just 9 days away; Thanksgiving, the New Deal variety, is the 20th, 14 days distant; nnd the next thing we know Christmas will be here!

October no doubt will go down in the record as one of the wettest (I mean rain) months in many years. You could easily count the days it didn't rain on your fingers. Over five inches of rain fell during the month and anyone who frequents the woods will tell you they have never seen so much water in lowlands at this time of year.

And speaking about wetness reminds me of a cold cure a friend once told me about. He said you take one pint of whiskey and into this stir well one teaspoonful of whiskey; then add another quart of whiskey. Beat carefully with a spoon or eggbeater—keep pouring in whiskey. Fill a large bowl with water; have your wife set this out of your reach—or, better yet, have her blindfold you and hide it where you will not be able to find it. Now, take a small tumbler and into this pour two teaspoonsful of water; pour out the water, dry the tumbler carefully and fill it with whiskey. Add contents of the tumbler to the first ingredients. Flavor to your taste with whiskey. Dosage: Four fingers every half hour; continue treatment until patient finds, and upsets, the bowl of water.

TUESDAY STUDY CLUB FIFTH ANNUAL PARTY

Hallowe'en Theme for Dinner at Max Smith Home

The Tuesday Study Club, their husbands and friends, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Smith Tuesday evening, October 28th, for their fifth annual party. A delicious buffet dinner was followed by a social evening.

It was fitting that a group led by Attorney Floyd A. Supp should win the prize for the solution of the mystery surrounding the murder of "Jimmie, the Scarecrow". The men were also most clever in solving the brain-teaser crime stories which were read aloud to the guests by Mrs. Frank Courier. Mrs. Max Smith and Mrs. Albert Cook, who it would seem are past masters in the art of fortune telling, brought to light dark secrets and unsuspected characteristics in the lives of those present. The house was decorated with witches and black cats, and lighted with orange candles in keeping with the Halloween season.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur A. Cline, Mrs. Rosa Nettleton, Mrs. Angus Fochtman, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Supp, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonthron, Mr. and Mrs. Osenr North, Mr. and Mrs. Max Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Courier, Mrs. Otto Krueger and Olive Allen.

NET FISHERMEN WILL MEET TRAVERSE CITY

District No. 2 to Have Annual Session There Friday

Commercial fishermen from ports along the Lake Michigan shore from Manistee to the Straits will meet at Traverse City Friday evening for the annual meeting of District No. 2 of the Michigan Fish Producers Association.

The meeting will be held in the basement of the chamber of commerce at 7:30, Claude Verduin of Grand Haven, secretary of the state association, announces.

Officers will be elected to succeed the following who have headed the district organization for the past year: president, Willis Cross of Charlevoix; secretary, Otto Anderson of Manistee; member of the state board, Edward Carlson of Northport.

All commercial fishermen of northwestern Michigan are urged to attend.

HALLOWEEN QUIETEST IN HISTORY OF CITY

Youngsters, Entertained by Kiwanis, Refrained from Pranks

Last Friday night will probably go down on the records as one of the quietest Halloweens in the history of Charlevoix.

There was no property damage, church bells didn't ring, windows, for the most part, escaped the usual dosage of soap and wax.

Responsibility for this fine record, no doubt, lies with efforts of the Kiwanis Club in providing entertainment for children as a reward for abstaining from seasonal pranks. Nearly one thousand youngsters attended the Kiwanis free show afternoon and evening at the Palace Theater and participated in a "treat" given in addition.

It was an exceptionally fine record.

REMOVE COMMERCIAL FISHING BAN MONDAY

Re-Open Season Mackinaw Trout; Chub, Whitefish Seasons Closed

Local commercial fishermen, inactive since the closed season on mackinaw trout which went into effect October 10th, may resume operations Monday.

With the season not only closed on trout, but also on whitefish and chubs, most operators have utilized the enforced vacation to get their gear ready for the reopening of fishing.

The season on chubs reopens November 20 and the closed season on whitefish, effective since November 5, continues until December 10.

The committee also approved a resolution authorizing acquisition by the coast guard of an additional ice-breaker for use on Lake Michigan.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS HELD DISTRICT MEET

Dean C. Taylor, Northern Area Director, Was Speaker.

Pine Lake Lodge No. 122, Knights of Pythias, were hosts Monday night to members of Traverse City, East Jordan and Central Lake lodges at a district meeting of northern area lodges.

About eighty members of the four lodges were present at the meeting. Dean C. Taylor, of Mason, Grand Lodge officer and director of the northern area, spoke in an informal and interesting manner.

Among the guests were Dan and Harry Round, Lester Bowers and William Chase, of Traverse City.

E. J. Edwards, district deputy, was in charge of the meeting. Refreshments were served.

Barnard Extension Group Met

The first meeting of the Barnard Extension club was at the home of Mrs. May Stutzman on Wednesday, October 29, with sixteen members present. The lesson on selecting fabrics for slip covers and upholstering was given by Mrs. Mary Bolhuis and Mrs. Emily DeBoer. Refreshments were then served. The next meeting will be Friday, November 14.

RED CROSS URGES ALL-OUT SUPPORT

ARMISTICE DAY MARKED INTENSIVE DRIVE

Cite Activities of Organization As World-Wide Under Emergency Conditions

The American Red Cross officially opened its "all-out" Roll Call on Armistice day, beginning the most intensive membership campaign in its peacetime history.

A new and little-known function of the Red Cross is one of its greatly increased program of activity is a project now under way to build up large reserves of human blood plasma for use in time of national emergency.

Under Red Cross sponsorship, biological laboratories are preparing packages of dried plasma which are turned over to the Army and Navy in hermetically-sealed flasks for emergency transfusions. In seven cities programs are in operation to provide reserves of plasma for use in civilian catastrophes, and fifteen other cities will soon join the program.

In England the blood and blood plasma bank has been the means of saving thousands of lives of civilians, who would have died had it not been possible to have administered the blood plasma under field conditions. Dried plasma is packaged with the proper amount of distilled water to restore the essential fluidity, and in its present form is available for immediate use under any possible condition of operation, either in hospitals or in the midst of the turmoil of battle or a bombing raid on a crowded city.

More than 200 convicts of the Ohio State penitentiary have volunteered to give their blood to the Army and Navy. Some 200 to 300 pints will be provided each six weeks, which is sent to the Red Cross collection center in the Cincinnati General Hospital to be processed and packaged. The Red Cross already has provided the armed forces with 15,000 blood plasma units and expects to procure 200,000 units.

STATE TO ORGANIZE ALL CIVILIAN PILOTS

Will Take Steps to Get Civil Air Defense Under Way

Governor Van Wagoner has named a 6-man sub-committee under the state defense council to survey the state's aviation resources, including pilots, ships, and mechanics, in anticipation of full cooperation with a federal program of civil air defense which was scheduled to be announced in Washington soon.

S. B. Steers, director of the Michigan State Board of Aeronautics, chairman of the subcommittee, said the purpose of the program was to organize civil aviation "so it won't get in the way of the army but at the same time will be a definite military aid."

Steers said civilian aviators eventually would be organized along military lines as a "civilian air patrol" with each state having a wing commander.

1941 DEER SEASON TO OPEN SATURDAY

EXPECT RECORD NUMBER OF HUNTERS THIS YEAR

Shooting of Antlerless Deer Legal for First Time Since 1920; Rulings Listed

If conservation department estimates hold true, an army of approximately 200,000 hunters will be in the woods for opening of the 1941 deer season next Saturday morning.

Officials base their calculations on the annual increase of licensed hunters, which jumped from 168,143 in 1939 to over 190,000 last year. The same rate of increase would put the number of licenses sold over the 200,000-mark for 1941.

Providing an added attraction this year was legislative action legalizing the shooting of doe deer for the first time since 1920. All camps of four members or over who hire done or do their own cooking, may purchase a license providing an antlerless deer for camp. With does as plentiful as they are in almost all big game cover of Michigan, there is no reason why venison should not be on the camp menu after the opening day.

The state last year threw open a number of former game refuges to hunting and these areas are still open this season. Those opened were former refuges near Alpena; Cusino, near Munising; Lunden, near Hillman; Pigeon river, east of Vanderbilt; Molasses river, Midland, and Ogemaw, north of West Branch. In addition, nearly three-fourths of the Wilderness Park refuge in Emmet county is open to hunters this year.

PLANTING GAME FISH COMPLETED

AWAIT ODEN REPORT FOR RESULT YEAR'S PROGRAM

Trout Reared at Stover Creek Ponds Distributed to Adjacent Streams and Ponds

Officers of the Charlevoix Sportsman's Club are awaiting receipt of a report from Oden state fish hatchery to ascertain success of the 1941 fish propagation program at Stover Creek rearing ponds.

Planting of the year's output of the rearing pond system was made recently under direction of conservation department fish division men from Oden, assisted by local club members. Fingerlings of each specie were weighed and these tabulated reports will be forthcoming.

Without the Oden report, club officials believe the 1941 program was the most successful on record. Ideal water conditions prevailed throughout the summer, a factor of utmost importance to successful fish propagation.

It is estimated around 15,000 advanced fingerlings—fish ranging from 5 to 8 inches in length—were distributed throughout the county. Brook, German brown and rainbow trout were included. Streams stocked, it is understood, included Horton, Stover, Monroe and Loeb creeks, the Burns trout pond on McGeagh creek. Rainbow trout were released in the south arm of Lake Charlevoix, German browns were released at Burns pond and in Monroe creek.

Heavy planting, which will be augmented next spring by releases from state hatcheries, were made at Burns pond, a Sportsman's Club project initiated last year. The pond in its first year provided excellent fish and, with heavy planting this fall as well as next spring, should be even better another year.

These officials assured council members the townships they represented were favorable to a plan providing finances for the truck purchase and a set fee for calls by the truck in their districts.

Officials of Norwood, Hayes and Eveline townships will be contacted in the near future to join in the movement aimed to provide fire protection for rural and resort properties in the townships adjacent to Charlevoix.

ARMISTICE DAY OBSERVED HERE

APPROPRIATE PROGRAM HELD TUESDAY MORNING

American Legion Presented Seven Flags to School; Rev. W. L. Cruthers Program Speaker

Patriotic exercises in observance of Armistice day were conducted Tuesday morning by Leslie T. Shapton post No. 226, American Legion, at the high school auditorium.

Opening the program at 10:45 were two numbers by the city band, "Gate City", march, Weldon, and "Scenes from Operaland", Hayes. Attorney Floyd A. Supp, chairman, presented to the school seven American flags which were hung at the front of the auditorium, saying as he made the presentation that the flag is the only living and constant symbol of American freedom and integrity. Miss Lillian King accepted in behalf of the student body.

The salute to the flag was given by the entire assemblage, followed by two minutes of silent prayer, all facing east at attention. Playing of "Taps" concluded the period of silence. Charles A. Hamlin sang "Land of Mine", accompanied by Mrs. A. J. Stelter.

Rev. W. L. Cruthers, Legion State Departmental Chaplain, spoke with great sincerity on the question of why we celebrate Armistice day when the United States is the only large country formally at peace in the world today. During the first World War, Rev. Cruthers served overseas with the 602nd Engineers, seeing action at St. Mihiel and the Meuse-Argonne, and was with the army of occupation in Germany, so spoke with authority and feeling from the viewpoint of the soldier. Armistice day, he said, is not an empty celebration of a peace that did not endure, but is a time to re-affirm our faith in freedom as we know it.

A selection by the band was followed by recitation of "In Flanders Fields", by Lt. Col. John G. McCrae, given by Miss Ruth Hoffman. "Praise for Peace", by Fleming, was sung by the high school glee club. "God Bless America" was sung by the assembly, and the program concluded with playing of "Star-Spangled Banner".

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Seeing how that Saginaw fellow bagged a 300-pound bear with a bow and arrow, there ought to be a chance for us guys with a gun. News accounts of the incident said it was "the first bow and arrow killing of a bear in Michigan since the days of the Indians."

How did Pat get his black eye? He was leading the life of Riley—and Riley came home!

An awful wail has arisen out of Emmet and Cheboygan counties over the Conservation Department's action in opening a large portion of Wilderness State Park to deer hunting this fall. Most of the complaints, I judge, are based upon sentiment. Fifteen years ago, when seeing a deer was rare sight, sanctuaries like Wilderness State Park, Pigeon River, etc., were the answer to efforts to replenish the state's deer herds. It is a different picture now, though. Deer have multiplied a hundred fold in every northern county. Sanctuaries, providing protection for deer when the gunning starts, now only serve to congregate vast herds and subsequently create over-population problems. The Conservation Department's game division has made an intensive study of over-population and accompanying food shortage and has come to the conclusion opening closed areas is one successful way of combating it. The department is in a far better position to consider such matters than the average individual, thus, to my way of believing, sentiment has no place in the picture.

Earnestness and simplicity are the marks of great men and great writing, so it is natural that Dr. Carrel should see that the weakness of this nation does not lie in the lack of grandiose economic planning, but rather in the failure to practice fundamental precepts

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Petitions to initinto an anti-branch banking law are being circulated this week throughout Michigan.

It portends a renewal of the legislative battle climaxed in 1941 when Governor Van Wagoner vetoed the branch bank bill and legislators retalinted with a 90-day recess.

According to the state law on initiatory legislation, the voters themselves will have an opportunity to enact the bill if the legislators fail to act. The referendum is automatically invoked by negative action of the legislature, and thus the people themselves would have the last word in this controversy.

In this tug-of-war the battle lines are between urban and rural banks. Earl W. Delano, of Allegan, president of the Michigan Bankers' association, explains that the proposed law would prohibit branch banks outside the county in which the parent bank is located. This provision would prevent extension of branch banking, such as through the Michigan National Bank with branches in large cities such as Lansing and Battle Creek.

Reapportionment

Another issue between upstate and metropolitan interests appears to be headed for a showdown in the 1943 legislature in the revived demand for reapportionment.

Here is a case where the state constitution, stipulating how many legislators shall serve each area according to its population, is being conveniently ignored due to rural fears of urban dominntion.

George R. Averill, Birmingham newspaper editor, points out that 27 per cent of Michigan's population actually elect a majority of the 100 state representatives and 32 state senators. Averill heads a steering committee to seek constitutional enforcement.

Ben Probe of Detroit, representing the Michigan Council of the C.I.O. said farmers had no reason to be apprehensive over organized labor. He said that "labor has

THE visitor was an Englishman. He was paying his first visit t America, having come to see his married daughter and his newly arrived grundson.

As it buppened, the steamer landed earlier than was expected and so there was no one at the dock to greet him But he knew his daughter's address—it was only a matter of six blocks across town from the wharves—and in due time a public conveyance lnnded him with his luggage at the proper destination. Before anyone suspected his presence, he was ringing at the apartment door.

"But father," asked the young matron, after he had been welcomed, "did you have any difficulty getting here?"

"Not at all," he said. "The only thing that perplexed me was your Yankee money. On the ship I had two pounds changed into American coins. The purser tried to explain their value but I couldn't understand him—after dealing with pennies nnd shillings and half crowns, these American terms seemed so stupid.'

"Well, then, how did you reckon how to pny your taxi fare?" she asked.

"I didn't try," he snid. "When the cab stopped here in front of the house I thought of an expedient. I'm very quick-witted about money matters, as you know. So I just drew out of my pocket all the Yankee money the purser had given me—quite a handful of it, I assure you—and I held it out to the cabby so that he might take his fare."

"How much did he take?"

"That's the extraordinary part of it," said the canny Britisher, "he took it all. By a remarkable coincidence I had produced the exact amount."

In addition to the bnse pay received by enlisted men in the U. S. Nnvy and Nuvul Reserve, men receive additional pay for certain types of work or honors received. For example, a seaman uwarded the Distinguished Servlce Medal, Distinguished Flying Cross or Navy Cross, receives $2 extra a month; gun captains receive $2 to $5 a month extra; mall clerks, $10 to $30 a month extra; expert riflemen or expert pistol shots, $3 more a month; sharp-shooters, $1 extra per month; divers $10 to $20 extra each month, etc.

The days of sleeping in the swinging hammock are over, as far as the majority of Uncle Sam's sailors are concerned. Most of the new ships are outfitted with steel bunks which, when not used, fold against the casemate, or wall.

Uncle Sam lays great stress on the training of his sailor men. The American Navy seamen nnd seamen in the Nnval Reserve probably get more and better training than is given in any other Navy in the world. These men are trained at Navy Trade Schools to which qualified enlisted men are assigned for instruction in Navy Training Courses.

Look into the Last Mile— FIRST

MAYBE it's a little hard to picture this trim Buick as it will look on that unknown day when you come to turn it in.

There may be scars in its fenders, and use-stains on its upholstery—but the thing that matters is it'll still be going great guns.

You can count on that husky valve-in-head straight-eight to be ticking off the miles with the satisfying efficiency it now boasts.

You can rely on Compound Carburetion† to hold your gas-costs down, squeezing every last power-packed mile out of the fuel you burn.

There won't be any loss of easy comfort in those all-coil springs, or any need for care to keep them gentle.

As for such things as connecting rods and bearings—Buick rods are extra strong, while tests show that our oil-cushioned bearings last twice as long as others under the same load and service.

So go right ahead! Buy Buick on its last mile instead of its first.

If you can get one now, you'll be smart to grab it!

Fur Harvest Begins

Careful preparation of pelts will get trappers better prices in the Michigan raw fur market that averages $1,500,000 in normal years. Prospects are good and prices are up for the month-long season that began November 1 in the upper peninsula and begins November 15 in northern lower Michigan, December 1 in southern Michigan for muskrats, the state's first rank furbearers. The conservation department is advising against overtrapping, urging trappers to leave seed stock so they may take advantage of next year's anticipated good market as well; and also is recommending greater familiarity with extra-jawed "stainless" traps for more efficient dry land sets.

As the Courier goes to press, it seems certain that Charles Evans Hughes has been elected president of the United States, although Democratic leaders are clinging to the hope that the country vote in the middle western states yet may turn the balance in Wilson's favor.

Arhur Edwards left last week for Big Rapids, where he will take up the study of telegraphy at Ferris Institute.

The Misses Agnes and Jennie Carey returned last week from a month's vacation in Detroit.

Dar Meech, Harry Mohrmann, and Ed. Chaloupka left Tuesday for their deer hunting camp on the Tahquamenon river.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shapton, of Barnard, at high noon on Wednesday when their daughter, Gertrude, was united in marriage to George Block, also of Barnard.

Friends and relatives of Charles Emrey and Miss Enid Todd have known of their engagement for some time but were pleasantly surprised to hear of their marriage in Petoskey, Tuesday evening. The young couple completely stole a march on the expectant celebrators.

Eveline: Matthew Saunders has purchased the Lake Side farm formerly owned by Ben Nowland. . . . Frank Courier is doing tenm work for Albert King.

Henry Wood has taken the local agency for the Dodge car.

"Uncle" George Van Pelt, writing home from his tour of New York and the New England states, said he found no place with more beautiful scenery than Charlevoix county, and predicted that when good roads were built in the county, tourists would come here by the hundreds.

Harold Usher writes from the Michigan National Guard Camp at El Paso that the beautiful scenery of Texas consists of sand dunes, rock, cactus and grensy Mexicans.

Antrim City: Fred Simon's car caught fire and did quite a bit of damage before they could get it out. Autos are alright but the old horse and buggy don't catch afire.

Not very many deer hunters in this county are planning their annual outing, because of the new one-buck law. Among the few leaving so far are N. A. Shores, Tim Shores, Irving and John Hallett and William Maybury, who camp on the Two Heart river.

During observance of Armistice Day next Friday, trees in memory of World War soldiers from Charlevoix and vicinity will be planted on Bridge street, between Belvedere and Hurlbut avenues.

Dwight H. Fitch, former resident of Charlevoix and East Jordan, died Friday at his home in Muskegon.

Last Saturday Charles Vosburg brought to this office a branch from a rose bush, which bore three roses in full bloom. Ripe raspberries and strawberries have been picked in this county, wild flowers are blooming, and we hear a report of a cherry tree in blossom.

Laura Brown has accepted a position at the Central Drug Store for the winter.

Verle Crandell arrived home last week from Dubuque, Iowa, and expects to remain for the winter.

Ruth Ranger, operator at the local telephone exchange, and Marva Cooper, bookkeeper, left Wednesday to attend the Michigan State Telephone company conference at Petoskey.

Sevrin Orlowski, 76, pioneer Charlevoix businessman and a resident of this vicinity for forty years, died last Wednesday.

Dean Davenport has returned from Grand Rapids and accepted a position at the Charlevoix Hardware company.

Mr. and Mrs. Emery Gimble left Monday for Pontiac to get a new Oakland car, purchased recently from Block and Simmons of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sternberg returned Monday from Detroit to make their home here.

68th Pursuit Squadron
58th Pursuit Group
(Interceptor)
Baton Rouge, La.
November 4

Dear Ken,

Just a month ago today the Fifty Eighth Group moved from Selfridge Field to Baton Rouge. Ever since then I have been intending to write and let you know what I think of this place. The first few days were bad but since then general conditions have improved.

When completed this field will be much larger than Selfridge and will be the last word in equipment. Right now they are still working on the landing field and the buildings but in the spring all of this work will be done.

By reading the home town news I see that Charlevoix has had snow. That is one thing I won't have anything to do with this year. During the day the temperature reaches 80 degrees and the nights are cool enough to let a fellow sleep. The only drawback is the rain. It rains at least three days a week and that makes it muddy going on the roads.

I sure enjoy the paper. Every time I read it I wish I was back there among my old friends and acquaintances. And then again when I read about the snow and low temperature I sure feel sorry for the ones who have to shovel snow and stick it out until spring.

Please send my paper to my new address instead of the old one and maybe I will be able to read the home town news before it becomes ancient history.

Sincerely,
S/Sgt. Robert Fochtman

* DEFENSE BOND QUIZ *
* * * * * * * * * * *

Q. I cannot find the word "Defense" anywhere on the Defense Savings Stamps I have bought. Are they merely Postal Savings Stamps or does my money invested in these Stamps go into the Defense Program?

A. The money you use to purchase these Stamps goes definitely into the Defense Program. The Stamps bear the words "American Guard," which indicates that they are an integral part of the Defense Program.

Q. What is the Treasury's purpose in putting Defense Savings Stamps on sale in retail stores throughout the Nation?

A. To make it as easy as possible for Americans everywhere to buy these Stamps, which, as everyone knows, may be exchanged at many post offices and banks for Defense Savings Bonds.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at most retail stores.

On November 24 eighty-two million tiny, blue lighthouse seals will be distributed over Michigan as the 35th annual Christmas seal sale is officially opened.

Four Stars in "The Feminine Touch"

Ultra-modern comedy with a background of literary bohemianism brings four stars to the screen in "The Feminine Touch," opening Saturday, November 15 at the Palace Theatre, for two days.

Rosalind Russell, Don Ameche, Kay Francis and Van Heflin create a "four-cornered" triangle in a plot of conflicting emotions. The supporting cast includes Donald Meek, Gordon Jones, Henry Danlell, Sidney Blackmer, Grant Mitchell and David Clyde.

Miss Russell portrays the attractive wife of Ameche, who is a college professor, scientifically opposed to jealousy. He writes a book to support his theory and it is bought by Heflin, playing a New York publisher, with Miss Francis as his aide. To shatter her author-husband's scorn of jealousy, the wife accepts the attentions of the playboy publisher. His assistant, deeply in love with him, retaliates by devoting herself to Ameche.

That four-angled situation launches the principals into a comedy of marital jealousy. Literary teas, a "come-as-you-are" party and a four-way battle, are among the highlights. Van Dyke used more than 500 players for the scenes. The costumes worn by Miss Russell and Miss Francis were designed by Adrian to set the pace for 1941-42.

In the past twenty years Michigan has put nearly four million dollars into Christmas seals in an intensive effort to prevent tuberculosis; yet the disease costs the state more than that amount every year for sanatorium care for tuberculosis victims.

WRITTEN PERMIT NOT DEEMED AS NECESSARY

Owner May Give Oral Consent to Hunters on Land

Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton held Friday that a land owner or lessee does not have to give written consent to persons he allows to hunt on his land.

Conservation Director P. J. Hoffmaster requested a ruling on whether a law passed by the last legislature requiring hunters to obtain written permission to hunt on private land, made it mandatory for the farmer to issue a written permit or if permission still could be given orally.

Rushton pointed out that the law was passed to protect the landowner and that it did not appear possible for a conservation officer to obtain a conviction without the landowner as a prosecuting witness.

Thomas LaLonde, 59, former local resident, died in Detroit last Sunday after an illness of several months.

Born in East Jordan on December 29, 1881, Mr. LaLonde was associated with the Emrey clothing store in Charlevoix for a number of years. He moved to Detroit 21 years ago, and for the past 17 years had operated a meat packing business.

Rowley Williams and Charles Mascho were reported as delegates to the annual Farm Bureau convention at Lansing, November 12-14, with Bruce McElroy and LaVern McGhan as alternates.

PERMIT IS NEEDED TO MOVE CHRISTMAS TREE

Individuals Required to Have Bona Fide Bill of Sale

The State Department of Agriculture has announced that its bureau of orchard and nursery inspection would cooperate with county agents, conservation agents and state police in enforcement of the new law which requires persons transporting Christmas trees to possess a bill of sale.

"If you are intending to bring back a Christmas tree or evergreen boughs when returning from your deer hunting trip, be certain you have a properly executed hill-of-sale form," C. A. Boyer, chief of the nursery bureau said.

Boyer said the blanks could be obtained from his branch offices, state police posts and conservation headquarters. He said motorists may expect to be stopped if officers see a tree on their fender.

places respectively. In the club competition the Boyne Falls club placed 4th. In the 4-H potato judging contest Ted Kozminski, Boyne Falls, won first with two other Boyne Falls boys following him closely.

In the Smith-Hughes class the Boyne City schools won second while in the individual class of Russet Rurals, Howard Crozier, Boyne City won 6th, Melvin Crozier, Boyne City won 9th, and in the Russet Burbanks, Norman Crozier won 1st and James Ashby, Boyne City, won 4th.

In the apple department Charlevoix county was represented by two exhibitors, Eveline Orchards and Floyd Griffin. In the bushels exhibits Eveline Orchards, East Jordan, won a 1st and a 3rd, while Floyd Griffin, Boyne City, won a 1st, 3rd, and 8th. In the plate competition Floyd Griffin won a 3rd and Eveline Orchards a 6th. These two exhibitors helped to make the apple show a beautiful display. Another year they are going to enter the competition in a bigger way and I am sure we will hear more from them. The show was beautifully arranged and handled most efficiently by Mr. Griffith, county agricultural agent, Cheboygon, as secretary. The banquet was attended by 139 visitors with an address by Leo V. Card, commissioner of agriculture, as the highlight.

The better exhibits have already been packed to the Michigan State College where they will be displayed at the State Seed Show to be held in connection with Farmer's Week.

TB ASSN. CAMPAIGN OPENS NOVEMBER 24

Thousands in Michigan Prepare to Assist In Effort

Thousands of volunteer lighthouse keepers will go to work in Michigan on November 24. For defense? Yes, for the defense of public health. Although the lighthouses themselves measure only five-eighths of an inch from tip to base, their light has saved hundreds of thousands. The lighthouse, of course, is the design on the 1941 tuberculosis Christmas seal. The lighthouse keepers who will step into the line of duty on November 24 range from farmers to city officials.

In Battle Creek a busy attorney will take time to manage the Christmas seal sale; in Alpena a young housewife; in Ironwood a nurse. Hundreds of school superintendents direct the sale in their towns.

In a recent quizz given 500 persons the Michigan Tuberculosis Association found that 80 per cent of them believe tuberculosis is inherited. The disease cannot be inherited. It is spread from the sick to the well.

It is estimated that there are more than 5000 unknown cases of tuberculosis in Michigan. Finding these cases and keeping their germs from spreading to other people is part of the work of the Christmas seal.

There are four (4) Naval Training Stations where Naval recruits are trained before going aboard ship or entering one of the Trade Schools. They are at Newport, Rhode Island; Great Lakes, Illinois; Norfolk, Virginia; and San Diego, California.

All men in the U. S. Navy and Naval Reserve are paid twice a month. They receive no coins but are paid to the nearest dollar.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County AAA Committee, attended a meeting in Lansing on Thursday, November 6, of more thnn 60 AAA chairmen from lower peninsuln countles to talk over some of the more drastic problems which confront farmers in their drive for record-breaking food production next year under the 1942 Farm Defense Program.

Mr. Henley said the AAA chnirmen discussed the diminishing fnrm lnbor supply, agricultural drnft deferments, the expected shortage of fnrm machinery in 1942, nnd other agricultural problems. An official from the state headqunrters of the selective service met with the AAA group to go over questions concerning agriculturnl deferments under the Selective Service System.

The seriousness nnd the importnnce of the huge job fncing farmers next year in order to reach the production goals outlined for essential furm commodities was emphasized by Maurice A. Doan, State AAA chairman.

Doan told the county AAA chairmen thnt farmers will not have an exnctly easy time of it reaching the production goals set up for next year in the face of the shortage of farm labor and machinery with which to do the joh. Because of these obstacles, it will require a great deal of extra work nnd sacrifice on the part of the farmers of Michigan to produce in 1942, 8 per cent more milk, 10 per cent more spring pigs, 6 per cent more eggs, 5 per cent more beef enttle and cnlves marketed and to meet other increnses asked for.

"In order to get the job done," Donn said, "it will he necessnry for farmers to roll up their sleeves nnd make an all-out effort to produce the food so vitnl to our national defense program—the food that probably will be the deciding factor in this present world emergency."

A "Rookie" in tho U. S. Nnvy is called a "Boot." He is ranked as an Apprentice Seaman and receives $21 n month besides board, clothing and equipment. After four (4) months he automatically becomes a Seaman second class and his pay is raised to $36 a month.

LANSING LETTER

learned its lesson" from the Lansing labor holiday, sit-down strikes and other events, and that "the farmer need not fear labor."

From Patrick McNamara, representing the Detroit and Wayne county A. F. of L., came a flat assertion that labor would get "tough" if necessary. "If it requires mob scenes to get reapportionment, let's give them mob scenes," he is quoted by the Associated Press.

From present signs, the reapportionment issue is already involved in labor vs. farm prejudices, overshadowing the basic issue of constitutional representation.

Special Session?

As financial worries begin to multiply at Lansing, suggestions are being made again that the state legislature be summoned to meet in special session early in 1942.

Three state agencies are overrunning their budgets:

1. Labor mediation board upon which is being placed the burden of peaceful settlement of numerous disagreements between labor and management. When the load is light, the mediation board easily lives within its budgeted appropriation. However, Michigan's labor troubles continue to be numerous, and the board is due to incur a deficit, according to word from Leo J. Nowicki, state budget director.

2. State council of defense, Michigan's own clearing house for all national defense activities. The council was running well within its budget until the priority bottleneck developed and immediate relief became imperative from Washington in the form of national defense contracts. This resulted in the council's employment of Varnum Stelnbrugh as its Washington liasison man at an estimated cost, salary and expenses, of around $15,000 a year, or one-third of the council's entire budget for a year.

Here again, according to the governor's office, is a case of an unforeseen emergency that demanded immediate action in the interest of the entire state. But it created a financial deficit on paper.

3. Michigan military establishments including the newly formed home guard. Obviously this is another case of a defense need.

Little Legislature

The state administrative board, however, was given an annual appropriation of $500,000 for emergency needs.

Budget Director Nowicki is confident that the above three agencies can be financed adequately from this contingency fund.

The annoying problem is how to finance increased salaries which the state civil service commission have ordered after the legislature fixed appropriations on the basis of lower pay scale.

The question is to be held over until January when state officials and legislative leaders will meet to review the situation and map out plans for meeting 1942 needs.

Payroll Taxes

Of main concern to both management and labor are the new tax proposals of Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. Besides stepping up income taxes to yield 15 per cent on taxable income, the program would double the present old age annuity payroll tax on both employes and employers and impose a 1 per cent payroll tax on employes for unemployment compensation for which management is already paying 3 per cent.

Michigan's state compensation law would create individual reserve accounts effective January 1, 1942, based on employment experience of the past three years.

Employers whose employment conditions are stable would save upward to $25,000,000 a year under the Michigan law. A legislative commission is now studying possible changes which could be made a subject of consideration of a special session of lawmakers. Labor desires more compensation, more weeks; employers desire relief from burdensome taxes when individual unemployment load is light.

Because of pressure for action on branch banking, reapportionment, finances and unemployment compensation, the special session talk persists. Yet it is predicted that the governor will seek to avoid involvement in a 1942 legislative battle if he possibly can. After all, he will be the Democratic nominee for re-election.

Partners: They have been in the hotel business for many years. At first they were close friends. What came between them my informant could not say. But for some time they have so disliked each other that they do not speak. That means of course that their business transactions are carried on through a third party, a capable woman secretary who transmits questions and answers and makes records of decisions. A stipulation is that the firm that handles the advertising and publicity for the hotel must see that if the name of one partner appears in a story, the other's does also. One week the name of only one partner was mentioned. The other refused to O. K. the bill and as checks must bear both names, there was an impasse until the partner who had been publicized gave his personal check. Curiously enough, through the years the hotel has prospered.

A taxi swings up to the curb . . . The doorman opens the cab door and assists a young couple to alight . . . As the taxi goes on its way, a woman tenant comes out and petulantly informs him that he should have detained the cab because she wants to go downtown . . . He steps out into the traffic, gets a cab for her, helps her in and closes the door carefully . . . A costly car, driven by a liveried chauffeur, draws up to the curb . . . A prosperous-looking man gets out, shakes hands with the doorman and chats with him . . . The doorman was once a contractor . . . and the man in the costly car was his chief clerk.

Strictly Business: To build up business for a chain of drug stores, numbers were selected at random from the telephone book and whoever answered was informed that if he or she would go to the neighborhood store, a dollar would be paid. One of the lucky ones was an attractive young woman employed as a secretary. She went to the store and collected and the next day told fellow office workers what had happened.

"I suppose you were a good enough sport to spend the dollar in the store," remarked an elderly gentleman.

"Well," replied the young woman, "I did ask the man if they had any postage stamps."

Oh, Dear: Hilda Burke, eye-filling soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, was invited to be guest soloist at the silver jubilee convention of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. For the occasion, she selected a song she felt was especially appropriate. Titled, "My Gown," the words describe in detail the various processes that go into the making of a woman's dress. When Miss Burke arrived at Madison Square Garden, she found the place packed. After she had finished singing, the convention president approached her with a smile on his face.

"That song was beautiful," he said, "but this is a convention of men's clothing workers."

End Piece: The town's glamour boys have been warned that if they want to visit any of the town's swank night spots not to call for Virginia Peine, Hollywood glamour girl, who is appearing in her first Broadway role in the latest hit, "Lady in the Dark." Miss Peine, who is taking singing and dancing lessons during the day, doesn't go night-clubbing any more and so a date with her means an hour of bowling and a light snack. Then she goes home.

which have been the support of every stable civilization in the history of the world. What's wrong with us is that we are trying to get more out of life than we are willing to put in. We are hoping some miracle will save us from the consequences of our follies, and meanwhile our motto is that since we only live once we might as well make this a big night because we may be dead tomorrow. Cynicism and indifference characterize the ways of our adult population. As parents we are hopeful that our children will have a better life and will not seek the cheap escapes from realities which we have chosen. But by shielding our youth from hard knocks and letting them have a good time while they're young, we are making sure that the torch bearers of tomorrow will be even less fit. "In the disciplining of children, the first responsibility falls on the parents," says Dr. Carrel. "This responsibility has not been discharged. The spoiled child is America's heaviest crop. Nowhere else in the world are the young so systematically pampered and fatally handicapped by parents who have failed to teach them to work, earn and learn." We hear a lot these days about preserving the American way of life. The American way, so far as the attitude of parents toward their children and the attitude of the children toward their parents is concerned, needs a drastic overhauling.

Most women's feet are a lot bigger than they look.

The Boyne Citizen's last issue carried an article stating that the newly-formed county roads workers (CIO) union has voted to file a strike notice with the state mediation board. Seems the group has adopted strange tactics in the respect that insofar as officials of the county road commission are concerned, no demands have been presented for consideration by the commission. I don't know anything particularly about strikes, but it always appeared from what I've read that the union first presented demands for higher wages or betterment of working condition, and, if refused, went on strike. The only thing certain about the whole thing is that the CIO has rallied so many more dues-paying members.

"DICK" LEWIS, FORMER COUNTY OFFICER, DEAD

Held Charlevoix County Offices for 32 Years

Richard Lewis, 78, prominent in Charlevoix county public offices for 32 years, died Saturday at the home of his stepson, LeRoy Sherman, at East Jordan.

Born in Canada, he came with his family to Lapeer county in 1867. The family took up a homestead in Wilson township, Charlevoix county, in 1875.

He served as township highway commissioner three years, township supervisor twelve years, county treasurer four years, and as county clerk for thirteen years, retiring from the latter office in 1923 when he moved to East Jordan.

Surviving are a brother, Jason, of Boyne City, the stepson, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Sherman home, with interment at Wilson township cemetery. Courthouse offices were closed from 2 to 4 p. m. to allow county officials to attend.

The Bi-Weekly club surprised Mrs. Dent Newville at a shower held at the home of Mrs. Clare Staley, Tuesday evening. Games were played, and refreshments served by the hostess. The honored guest received many lovely gifts. Among others present were Mesdames John Stebe, Gordon Dennis, Al Smith, George Bergmann, and Miss Hilda Brady.

Members of the Church of God honored their pastor, Rev. H. J. Pulsipher, with a birthday party at his home Tuesday evening. About forty guests were present, bringing a shower of harvest gifts. A program of musical and vocal selections was given, which was in charge of Mrs. Winnifred Bambach.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

The planting of bulbs is an important operation up to and including November. Certain instructions are most important. The holes where the bulbs are to go should always be large enough so that the bulbs will rest on the bottom. Often a sharpened stick is used to make the holes and an air pocket is left under each bulb. This is very bad practice but can be corrected by running a little sand into the holes before the bulbs are placed in position. This is a particularly good plan to follow with lilies, which sometimes decay when they come into direct contact with wet soil.

When bulbs are being planted in beds they must be at the same depth or they will not bloom at the same time. There should be three inches to the bottom of crocus bulbs, five inches to the bottom of narcissus bulbs, six inches to the bottom of tulip bulbs, and seven or more inches to the bottom of most lilies. This, of course, is speaking in a general way. If the bulbs are unusually small or the soil is heavy, they should not be planted so deeply but in sandy soil they should always be set a little deeper.

Although most of the so-called "Dutch" bulbs will be rather scarce this fall, a few words are not amiss. Of the dwarf ones which bloom in the spring but are planted in the fall, the scillas are particularly to be recommended. The colors are blue, pink and white and the attractive little flowers may be used very advantageously around beds of taller bulbs such as tulips and daffodils. They also look very well scattered through the shrubbery. Then, there are the snowdrops, which are among the earliest of the bulbs to bloom, pure white in color and very welcome as harbingers of spring. Muscari are not to be overlooked. Many garden makers, indeed, consider them among the choicest of spring bulbs.

Attention is drawn to a number of rules governing this sport, the violation of which have always drawn many hunters into the clutches of the law. Among these are the following: Persons under 14 years of age cannot hunt deer, and between that and 17 years the youths must have their parents' or guardians' consent. All bucks shot must have antlers measuring at least three inches above the scalp.

Don't carry a loaded gun in your car while going to the deer hunting cover and be certain to place the seal on the antlers as soon as the kill is made. Venison may be kept in possession for 60 days after November 30, and for a period not to exceed 6 months on permission by conservation commission.

The license fee for residents remains at $2.25 and for non-residents $25.

MERCHANTS GIVEN STAMP PROCEDURE

NEW RELIEF SYSTEM EFFECTIVE NOVEMBER 21

Details of Program Explained by Representative Surplus Marketing Administration

Nearly one hundred Charlevoix county retail food merchants and clerks gathered at the court house last Monday evening to hear Paul McDermott, state representative for the Surplus Marketing Administration, and Hanford Gray, of Boyne City, local food stamp plan chairman, explain operation of the plan which goes into effect here November 21.

According to William Lindsay, administrator of the County Welfare Commission, the plan will be operative for old age assistance recipients on November 21, for W. P. A. recipients on November 22 and direct relief recipients on December 1.

Between 30 and 35 county merchants were represented at the meeting. In order to participate in the plan a merchant must have attended at least one such meeting to receive instructions on handling the stamps.

By purchasing $10 worth of orange stamps, the purchaser is entitled to $5 worth of blue stamps free. The orange stamps may be used by the purchaser to buy any article stocked by a food merchant. With the blue stamps the purchaser may obtain articles listed by the Surplus Commodities Commission, including such necessities for a balanced diet as butter, shell eggs, corn meal, dried prunes, raisins, hominy, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, pork, including all cuts, dry edible beans, fresh vegetables, including potatoes, fresh pears, apples and oranges.

—The food stamp plan serves a three-fold purpose, Mr. McDermott said. They aid the government in maintaining proper nutrition for persons receiving relief, they help remove surplus commodities from the market and aid the retailer participating in the plan.

At last week's meeting details of the plan as effecting the county welfare commission, were explained by Mr. Lindsay.

STORAGE LIMITS FOR WILD GAME OUTLINED

May Be Kept for Sixty Days On Special Permits

The amount of game a hunter may keep in a freezer locker under the new cold storage regulations may not exceed the hunter's possession limits, the conservation department is informing early applicants for storage permits.

Small game, excepting migratory waterfowl, may be kept for 30 days and deer for 60 days after close of season, without permit. By securing a special permit from the local conservation officer, the hunter may keep the game up to six months longer in a cold storage place where it may be inspected by the officers or by state police.

Here are the limits on the amount of game that may be stored, when it is legally taken and proper permits have been secured: one deer; one bear; six cottontail rabbits, 10 snowshoe hares, or a combination of cottontails and snowshoes totaling 10; 10 fox and gray squirrels, combined; four pheasants; 10 ruffed grouse; and 10 prairie chickens and sharptailed grouse, combined.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPEN DEC. 5

PETOSKEY HERE FOR INITIAL GAME OF SCHEDULE

Possibility of All-Veteran Line-Up Provided Best Prospects In Three Years

With but a little over two weeks intervening before opening of Charlevoix high school's 1941-42 basketball schedule, Coach Ray Kipke is putting candidates for positions through heavy drills in preparation for the season.

"If the availability of a near-veteran team is any indication of strength, Charlevoix's prospects are the best in three years. Among those out for practice are Don Carey, John Swanson, Ralph Mitchell, Carl Rowe, Jack Stewart and Stanley Shipton, all of whom were among the first ten players on last year's team. Bud Kohler was the only full time regular lost by graduation last spring.

In addition to the regulars above listed, Coach Kipke has numerous promising players from last year's second team trying for positions.

A 12-game schedule, which probably will be augmented by alumni and other extra tilts, has been signed for the season. The schedule opens Friday evening, December 5th, with Petoskey's class B Northmen furnishing the opposition. The schedule is evenly divided, six games at home and as many away.

SIX PASSED INDUCTION EXAMS

ONE COUNTY MAN REJECTED AT TRAVERSE CITY

Two of Group Volunteered and Were Sent to Army; Others Are Now Awaiting Call

Six of the seven Charlevoix county selectees passed pre-induction physical examinations last Wednesday at Traverse City.

Two of the group, Archie Wasegiskik, of Charlevoix, and William Kirby, of Boyne City, volunteered immediately following examination and were sent to Camp Custer. The others, including Frank Thompson Jr., and Russell Hall, of Boyne City; Herbert Ager, of Charlevoix; Albert Jackson, of Ironton, are awaiting orders from local draft headquarters to report for induction to fill the county's November quota. Victor Howard, of Boyne City, failed to pass examination.

Robert Dow, former Boyne City resident, has been transferred from California for induction from this county and will go with the November allotment.

The selectees made the trip in chartered bus. They left here Wednesday, took the tests Thursday and returned home that evening.

According to Fay Davis, draft board clerk, Charlevoix county has been requested to furnish a tentative quota of 16 men of Class A-1 registrants for pre-induction examination between November 18 and December 20. These men will fill the county's December and January quotas, it is understood. The exact number to be drawn, however, has not yet been announced.

'41 PARK ATTENDANCE NEAR ALL-TIME MARK

Nearly Ten Million Registered With Figures Not Complete

With late figures still being received, attendance at Michigan state parks — already past last year's total — may equal the all time peak of 9,609,443 set in 1937, the conservation department discloses.

Latest available attendance figure for this year is 9,407,000, better than half a million above the 1940 total of 8,916,000. Park officials think the 1937 record may be surpassed, but doubt that the 10,000,000 mark will be reached this year.

Up to October 1, 44,720 camping permits were issued, and though deer hunters are camping now in some northern parks, the final figure on camps is expected to be slightly less than last year's.

Outstate campers outnumbered Michigan campers in two parks, the J. W. Wells state park near the Wisconsin border and Van Buren state park near the Indiana state line.

ED. HANSEN HURT IN HUNTING ACCIDENT

Struck In Both Legs By Shell Fragments Last Saturday

Struck by shell splinters when a bullet from a high-powered rifle shot by Arthur Wexstaff glanced off a tree, Edward Hansen was injured slightly in both legs Saturday morning while hunting east of Vanderbilt.

The accident occurred when Wexstaff was shooting at a deer crossing a fireline near which Hanson was seated eating his lunch. One bullet went through Hansen's pantleg without touching him, two others struck the ground nearby, the fourth, which splintered, struck the tree against which Hansen had been leaning. Wexstaff, shooting from an elevation, was unable to see Hansen, and unaware of the mishap until the two met moments later.

MANY DEER HUNTERS FERRIED AT STRAITS

Forty Percent Increase Over Last Year Is Reported

Figures released by the state highway department indicate a record number of deer hunters have been carried across the Straits of Mackinac this year.

Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy reported 22,477 hunters were ferried between November 8 and 15, a 40 percent increase over last year.

Despite lack of tracking snow, hunters report heavy kills in lower peninsula counties. Warm weather, it is feared, however, will drive many hunters home from the woods to save their venison from spoiling.

Four hunting fatalities have been reported up to the present writing.

RED CROSS AIDS BRITISH DEFENSE

MEDICAL SUPPLIES SENT BY AMERICANS

Help Emergency Medical Service In Program of Treating Blitzkrieg Victims

The American people, through the American Red Cross, have made a substantial contribution to Britain's Emergency Medical Service by the contribution of blankets, beddings, medical and sanitary supplies and equipment, and ambulances valued at approximately $3,400,000 at the end of August.

Britain's hospitals "carry on" and function smoothly amid many dangers, difficulties and disturbances. Swiftly organized to face the problems of the blitzkrieg, the Emergency Medical Service scheme has divided the country into sectors, each with a base hospital and well-staffed smaller hospitals.

Since it is impossible to forecast locations of air raids, every hospital in the country is prepared to do its part. Those in the most generally bombed areas treat air-raid casualties in their immediate neighborhood, while hospitals in fairly quiet sectors are prepared to receive both casualties and ordinary patients transferred from dangerous areas.

The British Red Cross Society and also the Women's Voluntary Services for Civil Defense play important parts in Britain's home defense.

A vivid picture of the life of Women's Voluntary Service workers who are distributing Red Cross supplies to air raid victims is contained in a letter from England received at the Chicago chapter headquarters:

ALL GIRL CONFERENCE CHEBOYGAN SATURDAY

Large Charlevoix Group Carries Off Two Prizes

Two busloads of Charlevoix high school girls went to Cheboygan last Saturday to attend the 11th annual Northern Michigan All Girl conference. Miss Eleanor Thomas, Girl Scout leader, Miss Violet Bush, and Miss Margaret deMerse accompanied them.

About 330 girls and their sponsors from six neighboring cities were present. Meetings were held in the Thompson gymnasium and the opera house. Dr. L. M. Smith, of the extension department of Central Michigan College, Mt. Pleasant, and Mrs. W. Earl Chapman, of Cheboygan, were speakers.

The Charlevoix girls were awarded a cash prize for choosing the best motto for the combined clubs, which was "Group Fun Is More Fun." They were also awarded a prize for presenting the best skits.

The All Girl conference was begun by a Charlevoix Girl Scout troop in 1931, and every year since then the meeting has been held in a different town. The 1942 conference will take place in Petoskey.

SCOUTS CONTINUE PAPER CAMPAIGN

ASK COOPERATION OF CHARLEVOIX CITIZENS

Names of Collectors in Three Districts of City Listed; Collect Thru Winter

The Boy Scout drive for old newspapers and magazines last Saturday resulted in a sizeable collection for the troop.

However, a number of persons did not have their old papers sorted out and requested that the boys return for them at a later date. For this reason, it would be appreciated if these persons would deliver the papers to any one of the boys in their respective community listed below, or contact one of the boys so that he may arrange for picking them up.

Scout collectors and their districts are: South side — Versal Shearer, Bridge street, phone 110, Jack Mol, State street, and Don Brown, Grant street; Valley — Russell Lewis, Mason street, Kendall Courson, Mason street, phone 601, Bill Cruthers, Mason street, phone 522; North side — Don North, Lewis street, phone 191, Bill Fochtman, Dixon avenue, phone 600, Eugene Bridge, Dixon avenue, phone 693.

It is the troop's intention to continue this arrangement through the winter and it is hoped the citizens of Charlevoix will cooperate by saving old papers and magazines. They will not only be doing a patriotic service, but also be giving the Boy Scouts an opportunity of earning money for troop activities.

Because a woman is well preserved doesn't mean that she is sweet.

We're having a belated Indian summer, I guess. After nearly a week of cold, stormy weather, accompanied by snow, which covered the region for nearly a week along comes the nicest, bright warm days we've had the entire fall. No frost, at least along Lake Michigan, flowers still blooming. It's mighty hard to be picking these words off on a typewriter when a fellow's mind is bound to dwell on a favorite deer runway 50 miles away in the woods, no fuolin.'

Had an opportunity last Thursday to observe a comparison between highway maintenance work of Charlevoix and adjoining Otsego county. For instance, the Boyne Falls-Thumb Lake road from a distance east of Boyne Falls to the Otsego county line was about the roughest, sloppiest piece of road I'd ever driven over. With about five inches of snow, it appeared that a snowplow had been run up one side and down the other, forming a bank on each side which prevented any drainage. The result was a slight to behold. However, from the Otsego county line to U.S.27 the highway was almost perfect, plowed bare and scraped smooth. Many motorists whom I talked to had driven the extra distance around by Gaylord rather than abuse themselves and their car by driving the shorter route. Then top it all off with the galloping ride you get on the Charlevoix-Boyne City road around the north side of Lake Charlevoix and you've had a thorough work-out.

And speaking about roads brings to mind the fact that the county road commission is being investigated by the Boyne City chamber of commerce in an effort to determine, if possible, what is the reason for poor county and township roads in Charlevoix county; why doesn't Charlevoix county have more miles of state trunkline in

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

The threatened strike of C.I.O. workers in the Chrysler tank plant at Centerline, one of Michigan's key industries in national defense, has focused attention again on the role of the state mediation board.

The idea of requiring labor to serve notice of intention to strike and thus to permit voluntary mediation during a "cooling off" period was conceived during the 1939 state legislature. The late Frank Fitzgerald has sensed the public's critical reaction to the sit-down strikes of 1937. Labor peace became one of his promises, and the state mediation board logically followed when he was elected governor.

During the present emergency, Governor Van Wagoner has made frequent use of the mediation machinery established by the state board. To seek a settlement of the Chrysler tank dispute, the governor appointed a special mediation committee headed by Thomas J. Donahue, chairman of the state board. The governor said to the press:

"I will do everything in my power to make sure that the continuous flow of tanks from the arsenal is not interrupted for as much as one day."

Labor Policy

The rise here of labor disputes, some of which have seriously hampered defense production, is in rather sharp contrast to the cordial relations existing in England between unions and employers.

While strikes in war industries have been banned in England, the government's order was agreed to in advance by both labor and employers. Furthermore, it contained no penalty provisions against strikers.

In the first World War Great Britain introduced compulsory arbitration of disputes in war industries, and yet more than 1,500,000 munitions workers took part in illegal strikes during thirty-three months after adoption of the act in July, 1914. Compulsory arbitration is difficult to enforce.

Avoid the Peaks and Help Defense

THE chart above shows the ebb and flow of Long Distance telephone calls during an average week-day in Michigan.

Notice the sharp peaks in mid-morning and mid-afternoon. That's when business activity is greatest — when many important defense calls must go through.

See the third peak around eight o'clock in the evening. That's when your out-of-town friends are most likely to be telephoning.

At these peak periods our switchboards and circuits carry their heaviest loads — heavier now than ever before, because of defense, increased business and new homes.

If you can time your calls to fit the "valleys" instead of the "hills," you'll get faster service and find more people free to talk.

* IN BUYING A COAT *

* * * * * * * * * * *

A woman who buys u new cont this year gets a reminder of acute nntlonal and Internutlonal situations even when she starts "just looking."

Wool prices are on the rise. Silk used for linings is a problem. Furs are on the taxnble luxury list even when used far coat trim. Most conts consequently reflect simplicity in style and material, comment members of the home economics extension staff at Michigan State College.

This year's cont, tou, may have to last a little longer than usual. So it pays to check every detail of coat quality before a purchase to mnke sure the best materlal is in the best made coat the buyer can afford.

Fiber content is important. This year the new Wnol Produets Labeling Act helps. Every cont, with more thun 5 per cent wool, must be honestly labeled as to its exact wool content und the kind of wool in the coat. A coat labeled "all wool" or "all virgin waol" will netnully be 100 per cent waol.

The liniag, with the bun on raw silk imports, will doubtless be of rayon. For most coats, good quality rayon is highly satisfactory. But make sure the seams nre generous and well-stitched. Otherwise they mny frny badly. Interlining muterial should be warm enough for frigid dnys. If the interlining and lining are seamed separutely the coat will look better and fit better.

At this season we should all subject ourselves to re-examination, to see if love and kindness still survive as a practical combination to bring happiness to the human heart. Each of us holds in his hands the key to this happy combination. Let us use it at this Thanksgiving time, and with bowed heads be grateful for the manifold blessings which America continues to enjoy beyond all other nations in the world.

Wylie, president of the Michignn Tuberculosis Association. He will be nssisted ky one of the Boyne Falls tenchers, Mrs. Lola Hnrmon, who hns been active in the seal sale for the past three years. SPAWN FISHING PRODUCES FINE CATCHES

Market Higher Than Previous Years; Long Season Expected

With the highest market price in yenrs being paid and better than average entches since opening of the commercinl fishing senson for lake trout November 10, fishermen are operating successfully during the spawn fishing senson.

Boats operating out of Charlevoix and Beaver Island have been bringing in daily hnuls running from 500 pounds to two ton. Indications, nccnrding to fishermen, point to a season of several weeks. Favornble weather conditions the past week have been an nlding factor.

This senson forms a striking contrast to that of last yenr when the Armistice Day slorm resulted in loss of gear running high into thousands of dollars.

AGED HUNTER HAS A RECORD BEAR KILL

Lifetime Total Reached 108 With Sixth This Season

When Art Jackson, widely-known 71-year old hunter of the swamps in the conservation department's Dead Strenm gnme area, killed his fifth nnd sixth black bears of the season a few dnys ago he not only rnn his lifetime bear kill total to 108; but uncovered evidence of cannibalism, uncommon among benrs.

Visiting his trap line in Missnukee county, Jackson found n big bear feeding on the carcnss of a smaller one cnught in one of his traps nnd killed it with a single rifle shot. While such evidence of bears eating other bears has been recorded, the instnnces are few.

Missaukee is one of five Michigan counties in which bears are not protected.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Final figures show that the conservation materials plan of the AAA Farm Progrnm was popular with farmers in Charlevoix county as well as with farmers throughout the cost of the stnte during the 1941 AAA program year which ended September 30, according to the Charlevoix County AAA office.

The conservation materials plnn which was used for the first time during the 1941 progrnm, makes it possible for the farmer who is participuting in the AAA progrnm to obtnin up to 70 per cent of his AAA payment in liming materinl or fertilizer, thereby requiring no "cnsh-out-of-pocket" on the pnrt of the fnrmer. In addition, the AAA cooperator can earn part of his AAA pnyment by npplying conservntion materials on his soil toward the completion of an accepted soil-huilding practice as defined in AAA provisions.

The report for the 1941 program year shows that a total of 278 yards of marl, 110 tons of lime, and 40 tons of 20 per cent superphosphnte were applied to Charlevoix county farm land in the past 12 months under the conservation materials plan.

Figures from the state AAA office show that for the state as a whole, Michigan farmers applied a total of 204,000 tons of liming mnterials; 791 tons of 48 per cent superphosphate; 10,000 tons of 20 per cent phosphate; nnd 100 tons of potash on more than 200,000 acres of land during the 1941 progrnm year.

Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County AAA Committee, predicted that the use of conservation materials, especially liming materials, would undoubtedly show a large increase during the next twelve months ns more farmers become fnmiliar with the provisions of the plnn and ns administrative difficulties are ironed out.

Another reason for expecting an increase in the use of conservntion materials during the next twelve months is the new provision in the 1942 AAA program which requires that nll soil-building allowance pnyments must he earned by carrying out npproved soil-building practices.

Mr. Henley snid that the National Defense Program may make it difficult to obtain phosphate and potnsh fertilizers next yenr but that it should in no wny interfere with the avallability of liming materials which nre obtained locally. He snid that contracts for supplying liming materinls would he nwnrded in this county before the first of the yenr.

In nddition to liming materials, 20 per cent phosphate fertilizer (0-20-0) and a mixed fertilizer, 20 per cent phosphate and 20 per cent potash (0-20-20) would be used in the 1942 program, Mr. Henley said. All 0-20-0 delivered to fnrmers after December 10, 1941, will be charged for at the rate of $20.40 per ton nnd the price for the mixed fertilizer (0-20-20) will be $42.40 per ton.

New Hampshire is holding a six-dny season in December to let hunters kill 125 elk from a herd "too lnrge for farming interests." Michigan's elk herd is estimated to he larger, but it does no dnmnge to agriculture at its home in Pigeon River state forest.

In interpreting the lighthouse scene on the 1941 Christmas seal Curtis M. Wylie, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association says, "The tiny lighthouse shines forth, a symbol of protection, reminding the sick that they may he cured . . . the well that their chances of escaping tuberculosis are becoming greater with each passing year. Tuberculosis was once FIRST on the list of causes of death—now it is SEVENTH.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Curiously, perhaps, it is in the winter that plants, woody plants in particular, have their greatest fascination. With the leaves gone, we can get a good luck at them—their form and the arrangement of their framework, as well as the minute details of bark and bud. Indeed, it is only then that we really get an opportunity to appreciate the trunks and branches of trees and to admire their grace and their strength. Having once gained this appreciation, no one will again plant bushes to hide the trees' trunks. Rather, there will be a tendency to open up the plantings to let the trunks stand out.

These changes come gradually, and this transition period, which we call autumn, is brimful of interest to those who have eyes to see how Nature works.

It is now, too, that plants show just how thoughtless some of our pruning methods are. A tree that has been cut back may not l too uncomely when covered leaves, but in the autumn butchery shows up. Cold weat nnkedness also brings out fa pruning in shrubs. Spiraea similar plants show how they have been hacked by thinking gardeners.

But consider those plants w have been allowed to develop urally. How handsome they For example, the American with its towering branches, as ing like a gothic arch, leading the eyes nnd the spirit upw The famous cedars of Leba cannot compare with an old w pine, especially when seen aga un evening sky.

Records of the Michigan Tu culosis Association show that a three year period more 223,000 persons in Michigan h seen its educational films. Thi a part of the preventive work nanced by tuberculosis Christ seals.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

After eight hours of most serious debate, which may truthfully be said to have transcended all question of partisan party politics, the Congress by a vote of 212 to 194, passed and sent to the White House legislation to repeal three key sections of the Neutrality Act — Section 2, banning merchant ship entry into belligerent ports; Section 3, barring combat zone travel; and Section 6, prohibiting arming of ships.

After this vote had been taken, it was admitted by some Administration leaders in the House that on Wednesday night they had privately conceded that the opposition might succeed in defeating the President's foreign policy by as high as 50 votes. In the final vote a mere switch of 10 votes would have repudiated his policy. How then between Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon was this approximate 68 vote gain brought about?

Last week I heard Mr. Gerald L. K. Smith, chairman of the Committee of One Million, make the remark in his weekly broadcast, that in his opinion there were three types of Congressmen here in Washington. First, those who sincerely believe in their hearts that the President's foreign policy is in the best interests of America. This type of Congressmen on last Thursday rallied to the President's support. Second, those who sincerely believe—as I do—that the President's foreign policy is not in the best interests of America. Last Thursday we were joined in this debate by a number of stalwart Democrats who had in the past supported the Administration's foreign policy; among them were four outstanding Administration committee chairmen—veterans of many years in the House—two of them had voted for our entrance into the last war; and in addition we were joined by 11 other Administration committee chairmen—in all by a total of 55 Democrats who felt sincerely they had gone as far as they could in support of the President's foreign policy and who by their voice and vote expressed their sincere belief that this emasculation of the Neutrality Act could have but one ultimate result—that of leading us all-out into this war. Then Mr. Smith referred to a third class; those members who permitted the goal of political expediency to determine their vote. Such members on both sides of the aisle freely told me that they felt the President's policy was not in the best interests of America and if left to their own best judgment, they would oppose the President in this instance. They took the position that it was more important for them to be re-elected than it was to vote for the best interests of America and they had been told by their political leaders back home that a majority of their constituents, who stood to gain personal profit through employment in defense industries, insisted that they support the President. Thus do they openly disregard the welfare of America for the god of political expediency. To the votes of members such as these, were added those of others who were unable to resist the terrific pressure applied Wednesday night and Thursday by Administration leaders promising this or that appropriation, this or that road, this or that river or harbor, this or that other favor in the form of possible appointments to Federal judgeships and so forth. It is indeed a sad fact to contemplate, a sad truth to realize, that unfortunately under our Democratic form of government such pressure can be applied, and more unfortunate that in some scattered instances such pressure cannot—or will not—be resisted. The destiny of our country was decided by 10 such votes last Thursday.

Then, too, the President broke another precedent when for the first time in the history of our Congress, the President closed the debate in support of his own foreign policy. When it became apparent late Wednesday night that the outcome was in doubt, Administration leaders in the House dispatched letters to the President and Secretary of State requesting their openly expressed support of the President's policy. Consequently, in closing the debate for the Administration, majority leader McCormack read an appeal from Secretary of State Hull and he was followed by Speaker Rayburn who read a three-page letter from the President. The President stressed two points. First that he would henceforth put an end to labor unrest and bring to a sudden stoppage strikes in defense industries. This I sincerely hope will be done promptly. The Speaker promised to take the lead if legislative action becomes necessary. It has finally dawned on the Administration and on Congress that further steps along the road to war are utter folly until we obtain peace at home in our defense industries.

The second point the President stressed was the fact that defeat of this policy would bring encouragement to Hitler and his murderous allies and may cause discouragement and disillusionment to Britain and her allies resisting aggression. For my part, in judging by the mute evidence manifested on the faces of those mothers and fathers sitting in the galleries on last Thursday, I think it is more important that we worry about bringing some word of encouragement to the people of America before we worry about the effect of our actions upon peoples of other nations.

The fact, however, remains the Congress in an American constitutional manner has endorsed the previous foreign policy of the President and it is up to all of us to see to it that that policy is carried out in the same American manner and with the sense of unity of purpose. The President is the Executive of this Nation. It is up to him henceforth to so conduct our foreign policy as to abide by the expressed wish of the voice of America, manifested in the House last Thursday. That vote was a mandate that we must NOT go to war. That vote was won principally because repeatedly Administration spokesmen insisted it was a peace measure, it would enhance our chances of keeping from becoming involved all-out. That vote revived the spirit of the American people expressed in these four words—"steps short of war".

London papers Friday morning interpreted this differently. Their headlines proclaimed "They're Coming Over" and "The Yanks are Coming". From one London paper we read this statement—"Step by step a great American statesman has brought his country nearer active intervention in the defense of freedom. Though the United States is not yet at war, this is the biggest step." In spirit of honesty our Administration leaders should immediately point out to the English peoples that the people of the United States — speaking through their elected Representatives in Congress—reaffirmed only the President's previous policy to continue to give all support possible to the nations fighting aggression but that policy shall—and MUST—remain confined to STEPS SHORT OF WAR. The American people are determined and they demand that our President guide his course in the future so that a second American Expeditionary Force will not go to England, Africa or Asia. The President in all honesty should tell the British people that "The Yanks are NOT coming".

In my opinion the only way to achieve unity, after this close national division, is for our President to convince his people that he will not go beyond the limited powers granted him in this legislation but will "use caution in carrying it out".

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

By B. C. Mellencamp

Cotton Mattress Program In Full Swing

Many families throughout the county have been busily engaged in making mattresses and comforters in various centers organized for the project. Many communities have not started as yet due to the rush of farm work and the harvesting season.

The communities of Clarion and Boyne Falls have already completed their work with the Thumb Lake center finishing by the time this paper is published. Other centers nearing completion are Maple Grove, Boyne River Grange and Wilson communities. By far the busiest center is the Boyne River Grange where they are turning out over twenty mattresses and 35 comforters each week. Beaver Island is another busy spot. In order to take care of the demand another shipment of two bales was made last week. They expect to finish within the next two weeks. The centers at Marion and Barnard are slated to begin this week. While Advance, East Jordan and Rock Elm are making plans to start.

The folks who have their mattresses and comforters are truly appreciative of the wonderful opportunity and are cooperating in every way possible. Great credit is due the community leaders who have to make out the daily reports and supervise the actual work. This is absolutely the last time this program will be made possible and we must finish the work before the end of the year.

One of the most popular hobbies of sailors in the U. S. Navy and Naval Reserve is that of collecting "covers" from the battleships that maintain their own post offices. Several naval magazines devote regular departments to stamp collections.

Even the United States during the last World war never prohibited strikes or lockouts. The national war labor board was without authority, as is the present national labor mediation board, to enforce its decisions. Yet, the record shows that the board's decisions were generally accepted.

Morale is Key

Capt. Don Leonard, Michigan State Police executive who visited England last summer on a national civilian defense mission, was impressed greatly with the high morale of the British worker in support of the government's war efforts.

He visited industrial plants in which men and women were working long hours daily to produce vitally needed tanks, airplanes and munitions. Any thought of depriving the government of defense material was considered by the British "man on the street" as subversive, unpatriotic, and downright sabotage.

"One factory was hit by bombs during an aerial raid," Captain Leonard relates. "The workers were so outraged at the Germans that they voluntarily increased their own production and stepped up the normal output 20 per cent for the next few months."

British labor unions are of long standing, contrasted to the newness of many unions in this country. The regular machinery for collective bargaining has been effective in adjusting disputes without recourse to interference in production.

Complacency

Since his return from England, the Michigan police captain has been appointed a special assistant to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, commissioner of civilian defense, and has been "loaned" to the federal government for special service in promotion of civilian defense.

How has the average American citizen received the civilian defense program?

According to Captain Leonard, the attitude of Americans today is somewhat like the attitude of Britishers before the Nazi invasion of Belgium and Holland and the collapse of the French army. Britishers were unmindful of the possible dangers of bombing attacks from the air; invasion of the island was considered a fantasy; industrial production of war materials took an easy-going pace.

Lagging Morale

Because the United States has 3,000 miles of water between the Atlantic coast and Europe, the average American is complacently confident of the country's security from military attack, the captain observes. He is inclined to overlook the military hazards that would follow a few years from today should Hitler triumph in Europe; he is confident also that the Japanese are bluffing, that we will not be engaged in a two-ocean war with a one-ocean navy.

The combined result of such circumstances and thinking is a lagging morale with regard to defense production. Rise of labor strikes is current proof of it. Even the so-called "shooting war" on the Atlantic has not been enough to create a spirit of determination to defeat Hitler. We present this conclusion not in criticism of labor, nor in defense of any administration, but as an observation objectively borne out by the facts.

As Captain Leonard puts it, many of us still do not realize that our government has pledged America's entire national resources to secure the military defeat of Hitler, regardless of the cost.

A costly tie-up of tank production, should the C.I.O. strike actually develop, might create a 1942 political liability akin to the sit-down backfire that proved so disastrous to Governor Murphy.

The public moves slowly, yet public opinion, once aroused, becomes a swinging pendulum that tends to go from one extreme to another.

AT THE MOVIES

"Sundown"

Carl Voss has staged more "wars" than most army general staffs but he never has been under actual fire. He has put on battles with a couple of squads and he's also staged gigantic scenes of carnage where he used as many as 2,000 play soldiers.

His most recent assignment has been in Walter Wanger's production of "Sundown," exciting romantic adventure story of Africa, which comes to the Palace Theatre Saturday and Sunday, November 22-23. In this picture he trained askaris and native soldiers as well as staged several hand to hand battles.

Gene Tierney is starred in "Sundown" with Bruce Cabot and George Sanders as her leading men.

"Million Dollar Baby"

"Million Dollar Baby," a sparkling romantic comedy starring Priscilla Lane, Jeffrey Lynn and Ronald Reagan, has been scheduled Tuesday and Wednesday, November 25-26, at the Palace Theatre.

May Robson heads the supporting cast, which also includes Lee Patrick, Helen Westley, George Barbier, Walter Catlett, John Qualen, Nan Wynn, Fay Helm, Richard Carle, John Ridgely.

"Broadway Limited"

Based on a laugh-packed screen play written by Rian James, Hal Roach's biggest film comedy to date, "Broadway Limited," comes to the Palace Theatre Thursday and Friday, November 27-28, through United Artists release. The feminine lead in "Broadway Limited" is played by Marjorie Woodworth, who is already being hailed by all of Hollywood's important critics as the greatest screen discovery since Jean Harlow. Opposite her in the role of a young and handsome physician is Dennis O'Keefe, another newcomer on his way to stardom, who recently played the romantic lead in Roach's "Topper Returns."

Featured roles in "Broadway Limited" are portrayed by Victor McLaglen, Patsy Kelly, Zasu Pitts, George E. Stone, John Sheehan and Leonid Kinskey.

n good state of repair. This effort should he made simpler now that the commission, in an open statement last week, has welcomed the investigation hy the Boyne City chamber of commerce or any other organization. With the opportunity now available to study the situation in close cooperation with the commission, the solution should be easier to reach.

Speaking of Tall Ones—

1st Farmer: "Potato bugs ate my whole crop in ten days."

2nd Farmer: "They ate mine in two days and then roosted in the trees to see if I'd plant some more."

Seed Merchant:, "That's nothing; there's a couple of them over there now, looking through my books to see who has ordered seed for next spring."

Back to the woods today to see if I can get the buck I've so far failed to connect with. Had three hung up when I left camp Sunday afternoon—bucks killed by Milt Block and Shorty Sternberg, and a camp deer. Hunting hasn't been so bad for the local boys, either, according to report I've heard so far. Probably the first shot was the one Gene Curtis bagged near our camp east of Vanderbilt at 7:55 Saturday morning. Ross Alexander and Lewis O'Neil were successful on Beaver Island, where it is reported around 30 bucks had been killed up to Tuesday. The Bergmanns bagged two bucks and a coyotte east of Vanderbilt; Dale Bradley filled his license in the same locality; Stub Lord bagged one south of Norwood; Oscar Stroud filled his license near the Waller farm north of town; Buddy Webster got his early Saturday near Otsego lake; Clifford Mayhew was successful in the Dog lake district; Ralph Nutter brought one back from his camp near Manton. That's the dope up to late Tuesday and no doubt there are many more I haven't heard about.

The best liar is he who makes the smallest amount of lying go the longest way—who husbands it too carefully to waste it where it can be dispensed with.

There's a distinct disadvantage in being small, a fact I've always been aware of and one which I had thrust freshly upon me the four days I spent in camp with Milt Block. Milt, you see, had supervision of putting up the camp gear, and of course built everything to his size with no thought of myself and Shorty Sternberg, particularly. The mirror was so high we couldn't see ourselves in it; the table reared up in the air so we almost had to stand up to eat; the hooks to hang things on were out of our reach, not to mention the outdoor necessities which were built to Milt's size as well. Well, that's the penalty for being a runt, I suppose.

"I think he lives in our bathroom," chirped a youngster.

"Why do you think that?" gasped the teacher.

SELECTIVE SERVICE QUOTAS CREDITED FOR ENLISTMENTS IN NAVY

"Secretary Knox of the Navy Department has announced that local communities are given credit for each Naval recruit and that local Selective Service quotas are reduced accordingly," said Fay Davis, clerk of the local draft board, yesterday.

"Every young man who joins the Navy or Naval Reserve thus helps to fill our local Selective Service quota. Young men within Selective Service age limits who have not been deferred would do well to consider the opportunities the U. S. Navy offers for specialized training and advancement while serving their country in its emergency.

"The age limits for the regular Navy are 17 to 31, and for the Naval Reserve the limits are 17 to 50. All applicants under 21 must have the written consent of their parents or guardians."

In addition to explaining that Navy enlistments are credited against the local Selective Service quota, Mr. Davis also stated that a high school education is not necessary for acceptance by the Navy. "Any ambitious and patriotic young man of average mentality and good character who meets physical and other requirements may be acceptable to help man Uncle Sam's new 'Two-Ocean' Navy."

ELMER BARBER INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Received Fractured Neck In Mishap Last Friday Night

Elmer Barber, of this city, suffered a broken neck Friday night when his automobile rolled over several times on the Boyne City road near Undine school.

Meeting a truck on the double curve west of Undine school, Mr. Barber swerved to avoid it, struck the soft shoulder of the road, skidded and ran into a culvert. He was thrown from the car into the road and was picked up shortly afterwards by Harry Mason and Ralph Klein, who were returning to Charlevoix from Boyne City.

Mr. Barber was taken immediately to Charlevoix Hospital, and Saturday went to Munson Hospital, Traverse City, where an operation was performed Sunday for the neck injury. He will be in Munson Hospital for a number of weeks, but is expected to recover fully from his injuries.

Employed in Saginaw, Mr. Barber had come up for the week end and was on his way to Boyne City when the accident occurred.

EXPECT INCREASE IN LATE POTATO PRICES

Improved Consumer Purchasing Power to Be Factor

Potato prices for the late varieties produced in this region should be more favorable according to the vegetable situation for October, published by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture.

Production of early potatoes was heavy while intermediate groups were lighter.

The situation for the late crop is as follows: Production in the 30 late states is indicated to total 295 million bushels compared with 313 million produced in 1940. The eastern late states are indicated to have about the same size crop as in 1940, but the production this season is indicated to be down about 8 million bushels in the 10 central late states and 10 million in the 12 western late states. The smaller output in the central and western states probably will result in a smaller spread between midwestern and eastern market prices this season than prevailed last season.

Market prices of potatoes advanced somewhat during recent weeks as a result of smaller market supplies available and in prospect. Most of the heavy intermediate crop potatoes have been marketed, and the markets are rapidly adjusting to the moderate-sized late crop. Improving consumer purchasing power was also a contributing factor in the price advances. Conditions of both supply and demand now are more favorable to potato producers than they were last season.

LEVER BROS. CREDITS NEWSPAPER ADS FOR SWAN SUCCESS HERE

"If you have something to be told, let the newspapers tell it."

Lever Brothers Company, famous soap manufacturers, have supplied new evidence for belief in this old adage with their announcement that they credit newspaper advertising for a large share of the phenomenal acceptance of Swan Soap, introduced here recently through large announcement ads in this paper.

There has been an uncommonly heavy mail response from housewives in this area using the soap for the first time, according to the manufacturer. Many of the letters have contained new uses for the soap, together with the suggestion that they be incorporated in the advertising; others have complimented the makers for the improvements over other white floating soaps. Introduced by Swan, these improvements, developed after hundreds of laboratory tests, include richer, long lasting suds and a bland mildness comparable to that of finest, imported castiles.

"Small fry," just learning their letters, have also been ardent readers of the Swan advertisements, it appears. A number of newspaper pages bearing the likeness of the active swan which appears in the ads have been received—all beautifully colored in unusual shades of blue and green by enterprising young children.

But the most imposing suggestion for advertising the new white, floating soap was received as a postscript to a mother's letter. The youngster, who will undoubtedly become an advertising man, had a ninth important point to add to the eight improvements outlined in the ads.

"It makes good boats," he said.

"We are still unpacking the most exciting bales from the U. S. A. The last lot contained wonderful jackets; they are enormously appreciated by young wives who have lost their homes and their belongings. I fitted one onto a plump young woman who was anxious to know whether I thought her husband would like it. She thought he was somewhere in Abyssinia. At that moment not only the town sirens blew their warning note; but the piercing whistle blew, too. That means 'danger imminent,' so down we went into the cellars. We went on fitting and then up we came with the 'all clear' to continue the work.

"In half an hour a friend of mine came in from her canteen to tell me of a very close shave she had. Luckily, she was under the table, while her mobile canteen was bombed to pieces outside."

Britain's thanks to Americans for war relief supplies have recently been brought personally by Lady Louis Mountbatten, official representative of the British Red Cross, and by the Countess of Limerick, president of the London County branch of the British Red Cross. Lady Limerick visited Red Cross chapters in this country to tell women volunteer workers how she has observed distribution and use of the thirty million dollars worth of American Red Cross relief supplies in the British isles.

Britain is not the only country to receive American Red Cross aid. Supplies are being sent to Egypt, Eritrea, Abyssinia and Syria also; and 800 tons of medical supplies have been sent to Russia, with another $250,000 worth awaiting shipment to the U. S. S. R.

GOOD CHEER! There's nothing like it. And good cheer is an affair of the heart. It cannot be withheld and hoarded to gain added value with the days or years. Good cheer must be spent.

Let us all radiate good cheer this Thanksgiving Day, for there are reasons enough for good cheer, if we but pause to reflect.

As for ourselves, we find ample occasion for good cheer in the continuous patronage of our many friends. And for this we are truly grateful.

SPORTSMANS CLUB GIVES FISH PLANT

NEARLY 40,000 GAME FISH RELEASED DURING '41

Rearings at Stover Creek Ponds Aggregated 32,130; Enlarge Program for Next Year

With a plant of game fish approaching the forty thousand mark, the Charlevoix Sportsman's Clab during the 1941 season had one of its most successful programs since organization. Figures provided from Oden state hatchery and released through Roy Ranger indicated the scope of the successful program.

A total of 32,130 fish were reared at the Stover creek rearing ponds out of 96,000 released through Oden hatchery last spring. These fish, ranging from 4 inches to legal 7-inch size, included 10,030 fall spawning rainbow trout distributed between Horton Bay and south arm of Lake Charlevoix; 6,900 brook trout in Monroe, Inwood and Horton Creeks and Barnard pond; 5,200 German brown trout divided between Barnard pond and Monroe creek. Barnard pond also received two plantings of legal size fish, 357 in April and 483 in July.

A release of 10,000 steelhead trout hatched from spawn at Oden, reared to fingerlings at the local federal hatchery and carried over into the winter at the East Park pond was made in Lake Charlevoix.

Bass plantings included 1,500 smallmouth divided between Horton Bay, Cunningham, Matchett, Harwood and West Twin lakes; 900 largemouth in Susan lake, 300 largemouth and 300 smallmouth in Oyster Bay.

The above outlined plantings do not include releases made by the conservation department in lakes, rivers and streams of the county, merely fish furnished upon requisition of the sportsman's club and handled by its members under conservation department supervision. Plans are under way for a similar or even larger program next year, together with improvements at Barnard pond by sinking wells to provide constant flow of cold water.

Capt. John Roen Sells Freighter to Haul War Materials

The freighter Fred W. Green, owned by Capt. John Roen of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., has been purchased by the U. S. Maritime commission to haul war materials to the allies, and left Sturgeon Bay on November 12 with New York city as her immediate destination.

Built at Detroit by the U. S. Shipping board during the last World War, and originally named Crayeroft, the ship was bought by Capt. Roen and Ira L. Lyons, of Whitehall, Mich., in 1027 at Norfolk, and re-named in honor of a friend who later was governor of Michigan. The port registered was Charlevoix, and the Green laid up here for a number of winters.

Capt. Roen himself was in command of the boat until 1936. Henry Isaksen, this city, has been chief engineer since the boat has been in Roen's possession.

Tax Becomes Payable Monday, December 1, at Office of City Treasurer Nelle A. Hammond

Winter taxes, which become payable Monday, December 1, at the office of City Treasurer Nelle A. Hammond, will be the same as last year, according to figures just released.

The rate spread will be $18.31 per thousand dollars valuation, the same figure as a year ago. The 1940 rate was $18.40 and the 1939 tax was $19.35.

Spread against the city valuation of $2,434,350, the winter tax charged to Charlevoix property owners will appear, per thousand dollars valuation, as follows:

County	$10.61
School Operating	4.20

Winter taxes go for county and school purposes entirely, with exception of a small fraction allocated for cities and townships. The county realizes funds for general operating expenses and welfare needs. The schools receive a portion for general operating expenses, also debt service, which, in Charlevoix's case goes for the retirement of bonded indebtedness.

Taxes are payable without four percent penalty for collection until January 9th, unless the penalty deadline is not later extended by the city council.

RED CROSS OPENS FIRST AID CLASS

FIRST SESSION SCHEDULED FOR DECEMBER 2ND

Instruction Every Tuesday Evening at City Hall Community Room to Be Provided

Red Cross first aid classes will start in Charlevoix on Tuesday, December 2, at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall community room.

The class is open to all men in industry, housewives, and others over 17 years of age.

Instructor will be Mrs. Sylvia C. Stinson, with local doctors as medical advisors. Meetings will be held each Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30.

The accident situation in this country is an alarming one and there is need of general first aid instruction for everyone. The Red Cross standard course textbook is easily read and easy to understand, giving in clear and concise form the essentials of first aid treatment which everyone should know.

It is estimated that 100,000 persons will be killed in accidents this year. 40,000 of these are traffic accidents. Home accident fatalities are increasing, and measures should be taken to prevent the accidents if possible, and to treat injuries immediately when they occur.

By understanding the simple laws of first aid, each person can help the Red Cross meet the great responsibilities it has today, and will also be materially benefited by this valuable knowledge.

ALL CAR OWNERS MUST PAY NEW TAXES IN '41

Federal Government Levy of $7.09 Due During Year

Because of an odd quirk in the new tax law each of America's 32,000,000 automobile owners will have to pay a federal tax of $7.09 for the privilege of driving his car during 1942. This part of the new law goes into effect February 1 next, the law providing the tax is payable on the basis of the fiscal rather than the calendar year.

On February 1, the auto owner will have to pay $2.09 to Uncle Sam and then on July 1 an additional $5.00. After 1942 the annual tax will be only $5.00. But the government chisled a little extra money for 1942. To make collection of the tax simple, the law provides for a "stamp, sticker or tag" which must be "readily visible" on the car. So a sticker on the windshield is probable, and most state laws frown upon stickers on the windshield.

COUNTY NOW HAS 166 IN SERVICE

OVER HALF HAVE VOLUNTEERED IN MILITARY

Actual Inductees Number 62 Men; County Has List of 431 Yet to Be Classified

Charlevoix county now has 166 men officially in the military services of the United States, it was disclosed this week by the local draft board office. Another 15 men are known to have enlisted but official credit has not yet been received by the local office.

Since October 16, 1940, the date selective service went into effect, Charlevoix county has contributed 62 inductees to the United States army. In addition, 10 men who registered under selective service have enlisted and credit for them has been given against the local draft quota.

A total of six men who enlisted after they had been classified as 1-A and before their draft call, have not been credited toward the local quota. Among the enlisted men for whom credit has not been given are nine men who joined the military services before they had been classified by the local draft board.

The remainder of the men from this county now in military service is made up of those who enlisted before October 16, 1940, in any of the United States service divisions.

A total of 1308 men were registered when selective service went into effect. In the July 1, 1941 registration an additional 81 men signed. Of these 965 have been classified by the local draft board, leaving 431 men still to be classified. There are also nine men under the age of 21 years, the draft minimum, who have volunteered from Charlevoix county.

Draft board officials stated that 27 men are now listed as 1-A's in the local office. Since 6 of these men are known to have enlisted, but without official credit being given yet, a total of 21 1-A's are actually available now.

'41 DEER SEASON IN FINAL STAGE

RECORD NUMBER HUNTERS, RECORD KILL REPORTED

Excellent Conditions Prevail for Final Week; Successful Local Hunters Listed

The 1041 deer hunting season has entered its final week with ideal conditions promising a successful end to what has already been an outstanding season.

Reports from the Straits of Mackinac indicate the largest number of deer transported for returning hunters in any like period. License sales are expected to reach the 200,000 mark. While many parties returned early to save their venison from spoiling in warm weather, conditions now throughout the upper and lower peninsulas are ideal. Deer that had left open country for swamp areas with the early heavy snowfall returned again to the plains and slashings as the snow melted, providing excellent late season hunting.

Beaver Island, producing 64 buck and two doe deer up to Tuesday, leaped into the limelight as one of Michigan's most productive deer areas. One arrest accompanied hunting there, that of Howard Peters, of Onkley, Mich., who paid fine and costs of $11.85 for possession of a buck with horns under the legal length.

In contrast to a year ago when the killing of 14 elk is believed to have resulted in no arrests, this year five arrests have been made in the killing of nine elk. Awaiting circuit court action in Otsego county are Wilfred Krick, 22, and Dell Mitchell, 18, both of Greenville; George Willes, 40, of Flint, Anson Carpenter, of Central Lake, and a man named Mills, whose address is not available. This violation is punishable by a maximum fine of $500 and a year in jail.

Charlevoix deer hunters who have returned home and reported filling their license are: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coon, from Naubinway; Carl Kohler, his son, Bud, James Krulik and all members of their party of seven from northeast of Seney; "Pat" Curtis and Charles

By Ken Usher

All people smile in the same language.

Well, this is the last week of the deer season, and the count stands the same as it did a week ago in our camp—two out of six. Now that I'm home and have found out that so many other fellows didn't get their buck either, I don't feel quite so bad. For instance, when such expert hunters as Deadeye Kit Carson don't connect, there really is some excuse for a poor hunter like me. Wish time and space allowed telling all the stories I've heard since coming home about "how they did" and "why they didn't" get a buck. That really is the most fun of a hunting trip.

Want to do a good turn for a fellow? Then drop a line to Herman Meyer, who's been bed-ridden for some time in a hospital at Camp Grant, Ill., and probably pretty lonesome for word from home folks. His address is Station Hospital, Ward 20, Camp Grant, Ill.

Mrs. Jones was spending the day in bed with a severe cough, and as her husband was working in the back yard hammering some nails into some boards, his neighbor came over.

"How's the wife?" he asked.

"Not so well," said Jones.

"Is that her coughin'?"

"No, you fathead, it's a hen house."

Persistency will win in the end, I guess. For example, there's my younger brother, Clare, of the Grand Rapids Ushers, who after several years of dogged effort, last Thursday bagged himself a buck deer out beyond the city dumping grounds. Inasmuch as I was away hunting (in vain) myself at the time, I didn't get all the information first hand, so have had to sort of piece it together. It seems Clare's wife, Lucille, and father-in-law, Ras Hendrickson, while "dogging" for him, put out five deer, two of which were bucks, right in front of him. Claro whammed away at both as they

LANSING LETTER

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Old man "Ill Cost-of-living" is again appearing in Michigan headlines.

Farmers are insisting on a fair deal on agricultural prices, while the consumers are beginning to grumble about mounting food prices. It's the old, old story of country vs. city, farmer vs. labor, producer vs. consumer—each with a different viewpoint and logically so. Only this time we have a genuine threat of inflation which would be disastrous to all.

Flint's Mayor W. O. Kelly has appointed a committee to study food and rent price increases in Flint. The study will seek to determine whether price increases in Flint are proportionate to increases elsewhere. The committee comprises citizens representing grocers, housewives, ment dealers, labor, realtors, and the city government.

As every one knows well, living costs have been climbing steadily. More than two-thirds of the increase in living costs have been due to higher food prices, a factor which is being utilized by labor in its demand for higher wages. Thus the familiar spiral of inflation is in sight, and there remains only the argument about which came first—the egg or the chicken, labor costs or commodity prices.

Price Control

Albert S. Goss, special research adviser for the Grange, declared before the farm organization's 75th annual convention in Worchester, Mass.: "Unless something is done, agriculture will lose out in the price control legislation now pending before Congress."

In other words, the farmer wants the right to get higher prices if the city worker retains the right of higher wages.

If there is to be price control by the federal government, if we are to have regimentation in the name of national defense, then the attitude of the Grange is that

First Legal Doe in 20 Years

To archer Harold Eldridge of Meadow goes the distinction of bringing down the first doe legally hunted in Michigan after 20 years of the ban. The arrow hope 50 yards away, and the animal went on another 250 yards before it dropped. Sales of camp permits on which does may be taken is expected to reach several thousand.

RENEWAL DIPHTHERIA VACCINATION URGED

Toxoid at Babyhood Does Not Protect In Later Years

Diphtheria has become a serious danger to thousands of Michigan boys and girls who formerly were protected against it, says the Michigan Department of Health.

"The situation is new and we want to impress its gravity upon parents, physicians and local health departments," says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "Several years ago it was believed that one dose of toxoid gave protection against diphtheria from babyhood on through childhood, but we know now that the immunity from one injection gradually disappears.

"As a result, diphtheria is now being found in older school children, even high school boys and girls in some instances. Their immunity is at too low a level to protect them. There are thousands more children in the state who will take diphtheria if exposed unless their immunity is raised by second doses of toxoid."

Children under 12 who have had only one injection of toxoid should have a second dose as a booster, Dr. Moyer said. Such a program is being carried out in Oakland county, one of the counties where diphtheria has been found recently in schools. The Onkland county health department is giving toxoid injections to restore immunity in children where it has fallen low.

ILLEGAL TO USE POISON KILL ENGLISH SPARROWS

The common practice of setting out poison or poisoned bait to kill English sparrows for bounty not only is illegal but also may be dangerous to protected birds, domestic animals and even young children, the conservation department advises.

Good investments do not have to be peddled around the country by sharpers. Remember that when the next promoter tackles you and wants to sell you something that will make you rich over night. CARE OF MACHINERY IS WORTH MILLIONS

Michigan State College Experts Urge Action by Farmers

Better than ordinary care for the $150,000,000 worth of machinery on Michigan farms becomes a money-making goal in the state this year. Replacements are difficult or impossible to obtain, repair parts are less numerous and greater demands and better prices for farm products are stimulating plans for 1942 production.

Even if farmers gain but a 1 per cent advantage over the usual depreciation or upkeep, the advantage means a savings of $1,500,000 in Michigan.

That is the estimate of George Amundson, agricultural engineer in the extension service of Michigan State College.

He is cooperating with the farm equipment dealers, county agricultural agents and other members of the college staff in conducting a series of meetings designed to acquaint every farmer in the state with the need for checking over required repairs.

Proper care includes repairs and new parts as well as proper adjustment, grease, oil and paint, Amundson points out. Overhauling and adjusting machinery now will mean the equipment will be ready to go when it is needed in 1942.

Throughout the state the suggestion to farmers will include such details as to the method of ordering parts, giving make as well as model or year machine was made, name or description of part and the part numbers, usually stamped into the castings.

On a plow, for instance, there are 14 vital points to check. A tractor has 23 vital items and a mowing machine, 25. Lists of the machines and points are being made available through meetings and in offices of the county agricultural agents and farm equipment dealers. Equipment includes disks, spring tooth harrow, grain drill, corn planter, binder, manure spreader, potato planter, potato digger, windmill, pump, milking machine, feed grinder and motors.

BEAVER ISLAND DEER KILL RUNNING HIGH

Bag of 64 Bucks Produces One to Every Two Hunters

With a record of producing a buck deer for every two hunters, Beaver Island is destined this year to step in the limelight as one of the most productive deer hunting territories in Michigan.

According to information furnished by the island coast guard station Tuesday morning, the season's bag up to that time was 64 buck and two doe deer. While the number of hunters was more or less incomplete, figures showed approximately 40 outside hunters, the balance island residents.

The 1940 kill on Beaver Island was 25 buck deer, it was reported, by a slightly smaller number of hunters, indicating a decided increase for 1941. Estimates before the season opened placed the island deer herd at 1,500 animals.

COMMUNICATION

November 21, 1941
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

I can easily understand why there is so much criticism of the Charlevoix County Road Commission. I own and operate a summer business in your county which has brought thousands of dollars to the city of Charlevoix and the surrounding territory in goods and supplies bought and labor given local people. I spend hundreds of dollars for gas and oil. One week end alone I estimated that my patrons left about $1600 in the hotels, cabins, restaurants and stores of Charlevoix. But the road to my place of business is full of bog holes, corduroy logs over 50 years old and mud holes that make it almost impassable to the fine cars that must drive over it.

Three or four times a summer a road machine drags the road for me but the next rain makes certain parts of the road a quagmire. A few loads of gravel would improve the road but I have pleaded in vain for repairs. I have made personal request to the county road engineer. I have written to the Road Commission. I have called at the Commission's office time and again. But I have been put off time and again with some excuse or another.

No repairs have been made on this county road for five years, except a bit of scraping which scatters the thin shell of gravel over the road and into the ditches and leaves big stones in the road bed.

When I had a caretaker and his wife on the place I did get some repairs done, but since there are no votes to be had, my road has been neglected.

It seems to me that summer business in the county should be encouraged instead of discouraged, since Charlevoix county's biggest business is resort and tourist business. When the road was under the township it was well taken care of, but now no amount of pleading gets results.

I hope that the investigation of the Road Commission will result in the kind of roads the heavy expenditures justify.

Signed, A Heavy Taxpayer.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

The Chrysanthemum is not one of those plants which came here with the early settlers as a part of European life and culture. In fact, the Massachusetts Horticultural Society staged America's first formal chrysanthemum show in Boston, but that was not until 1868. Perhaps, the less said about the show, the better, for the weather turned very cold and only one exhibitor showed up. Still, in its intent it was a start toward what we have today.

The chrysanthemum has reached its present position because it is an ideal garden plant and an ideal greenhouse plant, too. That may be the reason why the name "chrysanthemum" means in free translation from the Greek "golden flower". However, the name has a still wider meaning to botanists than to gardeners. For instance, the pyrethrums and shasta daisies of our gardens are technically chrysanthemums and, in all, there are some 150 varieties.

Most of the chrysanthemums, as we think of them, have been developed from one or two Chinese species. Robert Fortune, who traveled in the Orient for the Royal Horticultural Society of England in the 40's and 50s of the last century, brought back two wild species as well as one or two Chinese garden varieties known as Chusan daisies after the place where he found them.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

With our Navy already engaged in an all-out undeclared naval warfare with Germany and with armed American merchant ships, sailing under our flag, due to ply the seas carrying contraband of war through belligerent waters, it behooves America to get her house in order to be prepared for any future eventualities.

A modern army cannot fight without guns and ammunition, nor can it take the field without an adequate supply of tanks, anti-tank equipment, aircraft and anti-aircraft equipment and all other mechanized equipment necessary for effectively fighting modern warfare. All such equipment requires, steel, aluminum, copper and brass, rubber, lumber, and so forth. Therefore, all of these raw materials and manufactured products must be kept moving over our defense production lines. Production lines, however, cannot be kept moving without power. The most serious threat confronting America today is a possible complete tie-up of our coal mines.

Washington during the past months has been much concerned about the struggle for power between the President of the United States and John L. Lewis. President Roosevelt himself created this Frankenstein John L. Lewis when in 1936 he permitted the New Deal Party to borrow one-half million dollars from Lewis as a campaign fund which the New Deal has been paying back to the C.I.O. and United Mine Workers ever since in the form of one favor after another. This labor leader, having risen to power because of this campaign contribution, now assumes that he has reached a pinnacle higher than the office of the Presidency of the United States and henceforth believes he can refuse not only to abide by the wishes of our President in the interest of national defense, but even dares to refuse to obey his explicit demands issued in the name of national defense.

Recognizing the enormous powers given to Mr. Lewis, President Roosevelt endeavored to sidetrack him by bringing into the picture Sidney Hillman, which so irked Lewis that he shifted his political influence to Mr. Willkie in the campaign last fall. Failing to control the political following he thought was his, angered Mr. Lewis and made him determined to gain revenge when the opportunity presented itself. True he resigned as president of the C.I.O. but still wields his influence thru his longtime friend Phillip Murray. Through his control of the United Mine Workers' organization, Mr. Lewis threatened to close down every coal mine in this Nation, and did, until he gained an operating agreement satisfactory to him. This operating agreement, among other things, calls for a closed shop—no one is permitted to work in any mine unless he belongs to, and pays dues to, Mr. Lewis' union.

The so-called captive mines, owned by the larger steel companies of the nation, and which produce coal solely for those giant steel mills, did not come under the terms of this Appalachian agreement. There are some 53,000 miners in these captive mines, of which 2,300 have not yet seen fit to join the union. Lewis now insists that these 2,300 miners must join or he will shut down every captive mine in the country, thus bringing about a complete shutdown of our entire defense industry. What an outright disgrace to our country that one man is permitted to completely paralyze our entire defense production simply because some 2,300 citizens do not choose to pay him for the privilege of working as free American citizens.

Labor has made some remarkable gains in the past 20 years and I believe is entitled to enjoy the benefits of those gains. But I fear Mr. Lewis and his followers are seriously threatening to rob labor of those hard-earned gains, because these men are creating a tremendous and rapidly rising antagonism in the public mind against organized labor. In a recent poll 60 per cent of our people, including workers, were convinced that the C.I.O. was unjustified in calling the strike in the captive coal mines and but 8 per cent of those interviewed felt these strikes were justified, but despite all this the C.I.O. at their national convention endorsed Lewis' actions.

When we voted to emasculate the Neutrality Act, the President in a dramatic appeal read to us by the Speaker of the House, promised the Congress that the strike situation would be cleared up promptly. Congress stands ready to pass drastic anti-strike legislation, if necessary, but this cannot be done without Presidential approval which I doubt will be forthcoming.

The matter is one which must be handled by the President of the United States. It is a personal feud between him and Lewis. He may decide to send the regular Army into the coal fields to guard the mines and give protection to those who want to work and who, in the interests of national defense, will get out our nation's coal to insure continued defense production. In that event he would be appealing to the miners themselves to follow his leadership for the welfare of our country rather than to follow Mr. Lewis. I doubt if this will be effective and many are inclined to agree with Lewis that soldiers would not shoot American miners and soldiers cannot mine coal. If the President fails in this manner, he may be forced to resort to legislation and if he asks it, Congress stands ready to act.

LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

Hq. Det., 9th Trg. Bn.
Camp Wheeler, Ga.

Dear Editor:

Have been receiving the Courier from you for the past couple of weeks and am very happy to be so fortunate.

It seems very nice to be able to read all about the folks back home, even though one is so far away. It makes me feel as though I were right back there in the thick of things.

I just got back to work on the 21st of October after spending a very enjoyable furlough at home. Yes, sir, and it was a real return for me. I was promoted to Technical Sergeant that very same day and am now the Sergeant Major of the Ninth Training Battalion. I believe I must be about as lucky a guy as is, for I really had no idea that I would ever be picked to undertake the responsibility of such a very important position.

I work directly under the Adjutant and am in charge of all the Company and Headquarters clerks in this buttalion. The system we have been working in the office is called the "Personnel System". Each clerk has certain important duties to fulfill each day and also a number of reports, payrolls, etc., to get out monthly. The clerks try to get the work done as accurately as possible and checks it with one of his fellow workers. This work is then turned over to me for check and distribution, after proper signatures have been accomplished.

I realize that the explanation I am trying so hard to make us to how a "Personnel System" is run sounds very pathetic and short and the only excuse I can make is that I can tell about it a lot better than write it.

Again I want to thank you most sincerely for your consideration and thoughtfulness.

They say a soldier (Infantry) travels on its stomach—but you can take it from me that a little kindness and consideration will give heart to many a man, something that even food can't do.

Sincerely yours,
Jack C. McDonald

"International Lady"

With George Brent, Ilona Massey and Basil Rathbone in the top starring roles, Edward Small's "International Lady," a thrill-packed spy melodrama highlighting the activities of a gang of international saboteurs, shows at the Palace Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, November 29-30.

Based on the screenplay written by E. Lloyd Sheldon and Jack De Witt and directed by Tim Whelan, "International Lady" unfolds its dramatic action in London, Lisbon and New York. The supporting cast in the film features Gene Lockhurt and George Zucco.

Briefly, the story of "International Lady" concerns the activities of a stunning radio singer who is suspected of belonging to a sabotage ring bent on crippling the flow of American planes to England. The FBI in Washington and Scotland Yard in London both assign detectives to shadow the young lady in an attempt to discover the higher-ups. This job starts in London, shifts to Lisbon where they embark upon the Clipper Ship and winds up in New York. How the gang is finally rounded up provides the film with many thrilling sequences and a smashing, suspense-filled climax.

"Singapore Woman"

Stark drama, and a torrid love story set against the background of a tropical jungle are the exciting elements that make up the new Warner Bros.' film, "Singapore Woman," which opens December 2 at the Palace Theatre for two days. Brenda Marshall is starred in the role of a beautiful woman who has become branded as the "jinx of the Orient." Even mere acquaintances of hers suffer misfortunes of one type or another.

She is in one of her most depressing moods, trying to drown out her thoughts in the sordid surroundings of a Singapore saloon when she meets a handsome, young rubber planter, played by David Bruce who co-stars with Brenda in the film.

Watch for "Mild" Case of Scarlet Fever

Scarlet fever has undergone a marked change during the past fifty years or so. Before 1885 the disease was a severe one and the coming of cold weather was greatly dreaded by parents everywhere because with cold weather invariably came scarlet fever. The disease caused death of from ten to fifteen per cent of the children who acquired it and those who survived many were left with severe disabilities. Nowadays the disease is relatively mild in the United States, very few children having the disease succumb and few complications follow. Just as many children have scarlet fever now as did a generation ago but the disease is so mild that many cases are not diagnosed as scarlet fever at all. This very mildness makes the disease more difficult to control because so many cases are not ill enough to attract much attention and so are not properly isolated. Also, parents have largely lost their fear of the disease and do not avoid it as they once did. Often the rash is short-lived or absent and the disease is looked upon as a mild sore throat. Such a case does much more to spread the disease than does a severe one of which the diagnosis is certain. A physician is called in attendance, the case is reported to the health department and all precautions are taken against spread. There is evidence that scarlet fever exists in the world, notably in Rumania, in extremely severe form, and with times so out of joint and mass movements of peoples taking place in Europe, it is quite possible that this severe type may reach our shores in time.

Scarlet fever is largely a disease of childhood. It is rare in infants and most common in children from one to five years. It usually occurs in into winter and early spring. It comes on suddenly, about three or four days after exposure; the child usually vomits, has a fever, is quite prostrated and has a sore throat. Whether a rash appears on the skin or not, there is a characteristic eruption appearing in the throat and spreading up over the soft palate, that makes early diagnosis easy to the experienced physician. It is important, therefore, that every sick child have his throat examined. The disease is readily transmissable though perhaps not as freely as measles or smallpox.

It is usually contracted by direct contact with a case although it can be passed in unpasteurized milk. As a rule uncomplicated cases do not transmit the disease after twenty-one days. The skin that peels off following scarlet fever is not contagious. Some individuals harbor the scarlet fever organisms in their throats, ears, or noses for long periods of time.

Septic sore throat is caused by the same organism that causes scarlet fever and some authorities believe that the diseases are the same.

Immunization against scarlet fever by the use of scarlet fever antitoxin is a matter for the physician to decide judging each case on its merits and because such immunization is not carried out generally is no indication that it should not be done at all. A simple skin test known as the Dick test, similar to the Schick test for diphtheria, will determine whether an individual is immune to the disease or not.

Every child presenting the symptoms mentioned above should be seen by a physician. If all cases of scarlet fever were diagnosed and reported to the health officer, control of the disease would be much improved and fewer infections would result.

It Wouldn't Have Been a Scotch Threesome

By IRVIN S. COBB

TWO weather-beaten, sandy-haired, freckle-faced persons were being arraigned in a London police-court. The policeman who had arrested the pair appeared as the complaining witness against them.

"Constable," said the magistrate, "describe the circumstances."

"Well, your Worship," stated the officer, "I found them on the curb, grossly intoxicated and disorderly. I was told they 'ad just been ejected from a public-house after creating a disturbance."

"Then you did not actually see them drinking?"

"No, your Worship, but is was quite plain that they 'aid each 'ad a great many drinks."

His Worship turned to the prisoners:

"Your name?" he asked the one on the right.

"Alexander MacGregor," answered the prisoner in rich Scotch accent.

"And yours?"

"Jock MacDougal," said the second defendant.

"MacGregor and MacDougal, eh?" said the magistrate musingly. He again addressed the policeman:

"Constable," he said, "We'll adjourn this hearing until you have made search for the real guilty one—the person who was responsible for these two poor fellows being in the condition in which you found them. — the person who bought the drinks."

Farm Bureau

The Michigan State Farm Bureau, at its recent 22nd annuol convention in East Lansing, revealed a willingness of farmers to submit to price regimentation only if industrial and labor were included.

At n three-way forum the state bureau presented the viewpoints of fnrmers, manufacturers and orgnnized labor, about as follows:

Edward A. O'Neal, nationol president of farm bureau: Only government control over prices ond wages can save us from ruinous inflation. Big business is benefiting from the defense boom. Fnrmers are entitled to get 110 per cent of parity, the average of farm prices hetween 1909 and 1914.

John Lovett, general manager, Michigan Mnnufacturers association: Labor is fostering public resentment by its strikes in national defense plnnts. Govesnment has been overbuying, creating its own priority problem. We are in for a long war. The closed shop at the Denrborn plant of the Ford Motor company has hindered production instead of helping it.

Prices and Labor

J. A. Wishart, Detroit, director of research, United Automohile Workers (C.I.O.) declared nt the farm bureau forum that price ceilings were needed for farm nnd industrial goods, but they would be unfair for labor. More efficient machinery, he said, wns replacing labor. Labor wanted to retain the right to strike and opportunity of higher wages.

Wishort disclosed that the monthly dues income of the U. A. W. from employees of the Ford Motor company was $500,000, this amount representing an average of about $5 a month from each employee under the closed shop agreement.

All three speakers—O'Neal, Lovett and Wishart — were in one agreement: Inflation is developing.

Farm Income

The nationnl income has increased nearly 50 billions since 1932, going from a low of 40 billions in that year to an estimated 90 billions for 1941.

Compared with the prosperity yenr, 1929, this yenr's national income will be nearly seven billions higher, and it will be an all-time record.

Employees received 64.3 per cent of the national income in 1929; they received 68.8 per cent in 1940, proof that the defense boom is benefiting the working man.

How about the farmer? Cash income including government pnyments this year is estimated by the U. S. department of agriculture of 11.2 billions, while next year's income is expected to reach $13. billions.

Each farm dollar now has a purchasing power equivnlent to 1.15 in 1929, according to the official index of prices of things which farmers buy. This level is the highest in the nation's history by a substantial margin.

Defense Council

The Michigan Council of Defenso has anticipated the importanco of agriculture in a defense economy. Dr. John A. Hannah, president, Michigan State College, was appointed on the council to represent tho farm interests. An ndvisory committee has just been appointed to coordinate tho efforts of farm agencies, and its membership includes W. G. Armstrong, master of the Michigan Grange; Clnrk L. Brody, executive secretary of the Michigan State Farm Bureau; Commissioner Leo V. Card; Milon Grinnell, editor of the Michigan Farmer, and federal and college officials. Another group, a state consumers' committee, is working under guidance of the defense council.

By themselvea, Michigan leaders are helpless to curb a swing to inflation. Locnl protests on prices is only a symptom of a disense, the remedy for which must eome from Washington. It is obviously n national problem that calls for national action.

Implement Dealers and County Defense Board to Discuss Priorities

One of the most urgent problems in our "Food for Defense Program" right now is how to get farmers to order repairs for farm machinery immediately. If parts are not ordered now and repairs mnde mnny machines will be laid up next spring and summer. The problem of getting steel for machinery is critical. We are assured of that fact by manufacturers and from Washington, D. C. Priorities will not mean much if the metal we need is not available. Steel can not be secured in a few days.

All implement dealers and others in both Antrim and Charlevoix counties will be invited to attend this conference which is to be held in Ellsworth on Tuesday noon at 12:30 on December 2nd. George Amundsen, Extension Specialist in Agriculturnl Engineering of the Michigan State College, will be present. The five members of our County Defense Board will, likewise, be there. It is hoped that as a result of this discussion proper procedure will be set up so that all farmers will be able to secure the needed repnir parts so that the production of agricultural products next year will not be jeopardized.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. When will the "drive" to sell Defense Savings Bonds begin?

A. There will be no "drive". Mony people think of the Defense Savings Program as like the Liberty Loan campaigns of the first World War, which were conducted for stated periods to raise specific quotns. The Defense Savings Program is a long-range, continuing effort to stimulate the public to buy more and more Defense Bonds and Stamps month by month, and is essentially a program to promote mass snving, as well as to provide money for defense.

Q. Are the Defense Savings Stamps sold at retail stores exchangenble for Defense Savings Bonds?

A. Yes. They are the same as Stamps on sale at post offices and elsewhere.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at retail stores.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 29

SHOT AT RANDOM

circled trying to find out where the shooting was coming from, but nary a hair was touched. One of the bucks, it appears, was munching a carrot, which he dropped in the excitement. Knowing that bucks were very fond of carrots and probably would return after this tasty tid-bit, Clare hid in the grass right close by, and sure enough, a few minutes later, along come Mr. Buck after his unfinished meal—and his finish. Time: 2 hours and 10 minutes from home and back. Well, that's the story as I got it. But just between you and me, there ought to be something done about these city slickers who sneak up north and bag deer right out of our back yard.

While Monday night's drop in temperature froze ice and put an end to such unsensonable things, Mrs. Miles Olmstead as late as last Wednesday picked a full bloomed American Beauty rose and two buds in her yard.

Christmas decorations are making an appearnnce in stores along Bridge street and, in case you haven't been watching the calendar closely of late, there's just exactly 27 more days before Christmas.

Jane: "That new fellow I met last night is so sweet. He's going to teach me how to play cards."

Jean: "Isn't that nice. What game is he going to teach you?"

Jane: "I'm not just sure, but I think he called it strip poker."

Oh, to be young and carefree again! Tho boys in high school get what they call "crew" hair cuts so the girls, just to look ridiculous too, begin wearing overalls and rolled-up slacks. Well, anyway, it provides a change in scenery.

Our Lil wants to know if you heard about the two brooms who wanted to be broom-mates and sweep together.

Al Weber, editor of the Cheboygan Observer's "Observations" column let loose another blast of his pepper after reading this writer's comment supporting the Conservation Department's action in opening a part of Wilderness Park in Emmet county to deer hunting. I'll admit Al has some good slants on conservation matters, but like all the rest of us erring humans, he has some poor ones, too. If he'd take the time to have a good long talk with men of the conservation department's game division and learn some real facts about deer management instead of spouting his own theories, maybe he'd see the picture differently. It is admitted Wilderness Park's deer have been a great attraction for tourists and home folks alike. I've driven up there many times myself, the last time just before the hunting season, for no other reason than to see the deer. It used to be that Wilderness Park was the nearest place you could go to see deer. That's not true any more, though, as we have them right around home and, if statisties regarding the range of a deer's travel are correct, those we have here didn't come from Wilderness Park, either. I've hunted in that aren, too, and seen dozens of bucks killed that were so old and tough you couldn't cut the gravy, not to mention many dry does. Those are perhaps two of the reasons why the conservation department believes it best to somewhat reduce the park's deer herd, and when the food problem which is now aggrevated by years and years of heavy deer concentration is taken into consideration, you have some of the answers. I still maintain sentiment has no place in game management, regardless of Al Weber and his rantings.

And in closing, would like to wager a little that the doe for camp deer law won't survive another season. Those untouched doe encreasses, toted home by the hundreds, smacked too much of the selfish meat hunter to set good with the honest-to-goodness sportsmen.

$700,000 YEARLY PAID BY A & P TO EMPLOYES IN U. S. ARMED FORCES

More than 2,600 employes of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company now in military and naval service are receiving compensation from the company at the rate of $700,000 a year in addition to their regular government pay, John A. Hartford, president, reported today.

"For more than a year, despite the increasing number of employes entering service, we have found it possible to continue supplementing the compensation they receive in performance of their patriotic duty," Mr. Hartford's announcement said. "The plan which makes these payments possible is being reconsidered each quarter year for revision to meet changing conditions of the emergency."

The military compensation plan provides A & P employes in service with 20 per cent of their salary in monthly installments. All qualified full time and part time employes working more than 30 hours a week were made eligible for compensation not to exceed $100 a month. In addition, the company assumed payment of premiums on the group insurance policies held by the men.

CONTINUE NIGHT FERRY RUN AT STRAITS

Late Service to Continue Until Ice Conditions Prevent

State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy announced Monday that the state would continue operating a late boat across the Straits of Mackinac until January 15, when ice conditions will make such operation impractical.

Kennedy said a boat leaving at 11:30 p. m. from St. Ignace and 12:30 a. m. from Mackinaw City would permit continuation of existing bus schedules.

Otherwise the daily schedule is operated on an hour and a half basis, first leaving each terminal at 6 a. m. and continuing until 9 p .m.

DEER HUNTING SEASON CLOSED SUNDAY

Local Nimrods Believed to Have Had Unusual Success

Local hunters wound up the 1941 deer hunting season Sunday with about average success in the woods.

While no last day kills have been reported from the large number of hunters taking advantage of the final day to fill their license, the number of bucks brought home by local hunters is thought to have equalled former years.

Successful hunters so far unreported included George Whitley and Bill Fessenden, in the Iron River district; Harry Hooker, Ralph Bacot and Lloyd Baker, near Onaway; W. E. Goss, near Ralph, in the upper peninsula; B. Nickerson, Peto Scott, Clare Staley and Gordon Denais, in Ontonagon county; Ray Cornell, in the Ralph district; George Wood, on Beaver Island; Harold Tousley, in the Jordan river district.

BARNARD CHURCH DEDICATION SET

PUBLIC CEREMONY TO BE HELD DECEMBER 13TH

Edifice Built Entirely by Volunteer Labor; Much Material Donated by Members

The South Barnard Reformed Church will dedicate its new church, five miles south of town on the Charlevoix-Barnard road, at a public ceremony at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, December 13, it was announced today by Rev. Harold Ringenoldus, pastor.

Begun in November, 1938, the church has been built entirely by volunteer labor and will be debt-free. Work is still going on, but the auditorium, which seats two hundred people, will be ready for the dedication program.

Timber for the church, including inside trim of red birch and maple, was cut from woods in the vicinity of Barnard. Asbestos cement siding was used for exterior finish, while the interior is plastered. The ceiling is painted ivory, the walls are buff. Fluorescent lighting is to be installed, the gift of young people of the church. A memorial window and two gift windows are in place. The church will be heated by a furnace. The basement dining room is not yet completed.

Rev. John Bruggers, of Coopersville, has been invited to speak at the dedication ceremony. Announcement will be made next week of the complete program, to which the public is cordially invited.

NEW OFFICERS SCOUT COUNCIL ARE CHOSEN

George Olmstead, of Traverse City, Is Elected President

At the annual meeting of Scenic Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, held last week in Traverse City, George Olmstead, treasurer of the Michigan Public Service Company, was made president and George John, general manager of the Petoskey Portland Cement Company, was elected vice president.

Howard Shirley, manager of the Manistee Salt Company, was elected vice president and W. E. Baker, superintendent of schools at Mesick, was named Scout commissioner. Several changes were made in the constitution and by-laws of the council.

Reports of Scouting activities were made by each district and indicated a healthy growth in number of Scouts and quality of Scouting during 1941. Charles Boyer, area executive, in his report said that more and better camping, general improvement in the Scout program and more Scouters would be the aim for 1942.

GIRL SCOUT LEADERS MET FRIDAY EVENING

Area Meeting at City Hall Led by Miss Winifred Colley

An area meeting of Girl Scout committee members and leaders was held at the city hall community room Friday evening. Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Boyne City, Boyne Falls, East Jordan, and Ellsworth scout groups were invited to send representatives.

Mrs. Arthur Hinkley and Mrs. Harris Lilga, of Petoskey, assisted her in giving demonstrations of handwork projects to be carried out by Girl Scouts. Committee members are to aid Scout leaders in giving instruction in weaving and other crafts.

The meeting was planned by the local Girl Scout committee, assisted by Mrs. O. P. North for the Shakespeare Study club, and Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff for the Charles Dickens club.

ARMY TRANSPORT IN CHARLEVOIX HARBOR

Sixty-Foot Chris Craft Enroute to Chicago and Gulf

Charlevoixans Monday had an opportunity to inspect one of Uncle Sam's newest ships—not a Navy vessel, but a U. S. Army craft—strange as it may seem.

Visiting the harbor enroute from Algonac to Chicago, the U. S. Q 39, a troop transport, aroused considerable curiosity. One of ten built by Chris Craft at Algonac, the Q39 was 60 foot long and powered with two 165 h. p. Gray marine deisels, has a cruising speed of 17 miles per hour. Besides oil heating plants and hot water system, electric generating plant and numerous other up-to-the-minute details, the craft, to be used for troop transport duty, had a carrying capacity of 64 men besides crew.

Capt. Leigh C. Merrill, piloting the craft to Chicago, stated the boat would join a fleet af other craft of miscellaneous size including smaller and larger troop transports, mine layers and sweepers, oil carrying barges, tugs, etc., all awaiting army crews to take them via the Mississippi river to the Gulf of Mexico.

AUTO ACCIDENT TOLL IS HIGHEST IN YEARS

January to October Record Shows Increase of 250 Over 1940

Highway traffic in Michigan from January through October killed 250 more persons than in the same period last year. According to State Health Department records, this year's motor vehicle fatalities are the highest that the state has known except in the all-time record year of 1937.

"Probably there will be more than 2,000 traffic deaths for the year," says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "The total will be second only to the 2,187 deaths piled up in 1937."

From January through September, this year's monthly figures exceeded those of 1940, but October's total dropped slightly below that of a year ago. The high month this year was August, with 227 deaths. The 1940 total was 1,732, which was slightly below average traffic fatalities for the past five years.

STATE SAVINGS BANK MAILED XMAS SAVINGS

Approximately $2,000 Released to Charlevoixans December 1st

Approximately 60 residents of Charlevoix and surrounding district were around $2,000 richer on December 1, when the Charlevoix State Savings Bank released Christmas savings club returns to respective owners.

Fifty weeks of saving for each of the 60 persons will provide funds for taxes, insurance, and above all, ready money for Christmas shopping. For those 60 persons, at any rate, this Christmas will be a merry one.

Proof that Christmas saving is becoming more popular each year is shown by the substantial increase shown over 1940 savings. More than 8,000,000 Americans annually take advantage of Christmas Clubs, it is reported.

Checks mailed December 1st averaged approximately $32 each, officials of the bank reported.

AWAIT SNOW ENFORCE PARKING REGULATION

Parking Between 1 and 7 In Morning Will Be Banned

While snow conditions have not made necessary enforcement, winter parking regulations went into effect Monday evening, December 1st.

Signs have been posted by order of Police Chief Clarence Heise, prohibiting parking of automobiles on any street in the city between the hours of 1 a. m. and 7 a. m., as a means of enabling snow removal crews to operate more efficiently during the night.

While lack of snow so far has made the ruling unnecessary, it will be strictly enforced when conditions require.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

When you want facts about women, ask a shoe salesman. He knows them from the ground up.

Tuesday was the most glorious December day I've ever seen and, despite the fact we've had a little snow and a couple nights of freezing temperature, incidents indicating this as the most unusual early winter this region has ever experienced keep coming to our attention. For instance, Mrs. Milton Block reported a red rose blooming in her garden Tuesday, and Mrs. Charles Lamphear picking a dozen tea roses Monday. Just so long as nobody reports the "first robin", we'll stand by for more unusual incidents.

They say the night has a thousand eyes, the day but one, and the neighbors twice as many as both of them put together.

Next year I'm going to do just the thing I've threatened to do for several years. I am going to buy a quarter of beef or half a hog before the deer season opens, then go off about my hunting with the satisfaction that when I return home the larder will be provided for. There's a whale of a lot of fellows who probably along with myself have to try and explain why it is they'll spend what it would take to buy a quarter of beef on a deer hunting trip and then come home empty-handed. Life's like that!

Lawyer: "Where'd you get that black eye?"

Janitor: "I went to a dance hall last night and was struck by the beauty of the place."

In one respect it is creditable to business men that they seek to justify their lives by proclaiming that they exist to serve. The motto "I serve" indicates that a business man's heart is in the right place, even if his head isn't. Actually every man is in business to make money. When he ceases to seek a profit he's not functioning as a business man, but as a philanthropist. The business motive is

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Price control, two words of great potency, may become a new function of the Michigan Council of Defense. However, Council members are not thrilled at the prospect.

If price regimentation, with ceilings and all that, is inevitable as the only practical way to check ruinous inflation, then responsibility must be imposed on some agency and some individual. Anyway you look at it, the task isn't going to be a pleasant one, for the subject is loaded with grief and trouble.

At the session of the state defense council last week, the subject of commodity prices was discussed from the viewpoint chiefly of the consumer. The difficulty of dealing with prices as a statewide activity is realized fully by members of the council. Milk prices in Detroit, for example, must vary from those in upstate centers, as is the case for all metropolitan centers in the United States. For the state council to undertake the job of setting milk prices, even if there were no state agency to do it, would become quite a chore, to say the least.

It brings up the basic question: What is the function of the defense council anyway?

Clearing House

When the 1940 state legislature created a state council of defense and impowered the governor to appoint the personnel, legislators realized that war-time problems must be dealt with by a special agency.

Without knowing what the council duties might be, as future needs arose, the legislature made an appropriation of $40,000 a year to man and operate the agency.

Colonel Harold A. Furlong, Pontiac, one of the few Michigan men to be honored by Congress with the distinguished service cross and the Congressional medal of valor, was named administrator. Everett DeRyke, Milan newspaper editor and past state commander of the American Legion,

On November 16, Owen Gallagher passed away at his home on Beaver Island at the age of 94 years, five months and five days.

Mr. Gallagher had been n continuous resident of Benver Island since coming to this country from Ireland ns a young man of 19 years. He decided to locate on Beaver Island because at that time its harbor was one of the best harbors of refuge on Lake Michigan and also was located its greatest fishing industry. As a man of the sea, born and bred, what could be more natural than to choose this location, or maybe that word called destiny, may also have had an influencing power because it was here that he met Hannah McCauley, a childhood friend, who soon after became his wife, and who preceded him in death by 18 months, at the age of 94.

Mr. Gallagher joined the fleet nf sail boat fishermen and followed this industry until 1887, when a vacancy occured nt the then so-called Life Boat Station, located at the entrance of Beaver Island harbor. He was offered and accepted the appointment as keeper in the life saving service. This station contained nn crew but was manned by volunteer fishermen on the occasion of shipwreck or casualty.

Space would not permit of even a short account of Mr. Gallagher's 28 years of courageous and conscientious service, nor more than mention of the lonely vigils along the rocky coast line of Beaver Island during the many stormy nights of his honorable service. He wns retired ns n warrent officer from the Coast Guard on March 31st, 1915, after continuous service of 28 years.

Mr. Gallagher was widely known among sailors of the Great Lakes, fishermen and coastguardsmen nnd was held in the highest esteem by one nnd all.

Fire started on the second floor of the Hotel Michigan last Friday morning at 2:30, and gave the fire department a pretty stiff fight until half past five. As the hotel has been closed for some weeks, the exact manner in which the fire started is not known.

A banquet was given Monday evening at the Methodist church for Bishop Theodore S. Henderson. This is the first time a bishop of the church has visited Charlevoix.

Ray Ashdon, Bob Madill and Fred Coon returned home from deer hunting Saturday. Ray got n 60 pound fawn, and Fred got a doe near Rexton.

W. E. Byers lost his Lizzie, Monday night—just long enough to realize the crushing weight of his loss and then—he found it, in the alley alongside the Baptist church. Someone evidently had taken the car for a joy ride.

The war editor of a Kansas newspaper figures it out like this, and he makes the situation plainer than the ordinary news dispatches: "The allies' left is trying to move around the German right, but the German's right is also moving around the allies' left. Now if the left of the German's right moves around the right of the allies' left then what is left of the German right must be right where the allies left. But if the German right's left is left right where the allies' left right was right before the allies left then the left is left where the right left the right'a left. Isn't that right? Or is it?" We left it to you.

Saturday evening a potluck supper was held at the Chestnut cottage, followed by a dance at the bank hall, chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rachow. Those present were the Misses Hazel Allen, Bernice Bush, Bess Hammett, Laura Cole, Ruth Hammett, Benona Bartlett, Jane Ferguson, Hilda Glassford, Beatrice Harrington, Roberta Ferguson, Miss Allen and the Messrs. Leo Butler, Robyn Merriam, Robert Sloan, Robert Bridge, Forrest Fowler, Dick Finucan, Frank Weaver, Gerald Parsons, Harold Cartier and Mr. Loomis.

Windsor F. Aldrich, well known Charlevoix summer resident, writes from Paris, France about conditions in post-war Franco and Germany. His hotel bill in Coblentz, Germany, for two days was 16 cents. But although living was cheap, he begged the Courier editor not to advertise such things as buckwheat pancakes and Michigan apples, as these were not to be obtained in Europe. He added that he hoped, with Charlevoix's new light plant, one would be able to walk from Hallett's Inn to the bridge of a Saturday night and have light enough by which to recognize other people on the street.

Every effort is being made to complete the new electric power station on Ferry avenue, before cold weather stops work.

Bert Beaudoin, Harry Gregory, D. J. Eckinger and Wm. Duba spent a fine Thanksgiving day in an open boat on Pine lake. Returning from a rabbit-hunting expedition at Oyster Bay, their boat's engine stalled and it was three hours before they were rescued by the coast guards.

W. E. Byers and Dr. Newman, local veterinary, have leased the Welsh stables on Mason street and have opened a feed barn for the convenience of farmers. Drive in when you come to town.

Hilton School: There was no school Thursday and Friday on account of Thanksgiving. Corrected, this sentence should read: There was thanksgiving Thursday and Friday on account of no school.

Prescott Adams returned last week from Ohio, where he has been in the interests of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

Antrim City: Ben Mason and family are living on the Beach place.

MICHIGAN BAKERIES BUY BON TON BAKERY

Petoskey Plant to Continue Operation As Separate Unit

Purchase of the entire stock of the Bon Ton Baking Company by Michigan Bakeries, Inc., has been announced by Percy Owen, president and general manager of Michigan Bakeries.

Officials of the two companies completed the transaction Monday morning and Michigan Bakeries officially took over the operation of the Bon Ton plant.

Thomas Travis, president of the Bon Ton company, will continue in an advisory capacity.

Mr. Owen, when interviewed, said:

"Aside from the officers and directors of the Bon-Ton company who are retiring, the present personnel will remain the same and all operations will continue as at present with a staff entirely of residents of Petoskey.

"The Bon Ton Baking Company will continue to merchandise its products under the Bon Ton name and will operate as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Michigan Bakeries. We will make additions and improvements to plant and equipment as deemed necessary and plan to make the plant modern and complete—one of the show places of northern Michigan."

"Michigan" products have been distributed in the northern Michigan area for more than 20 years, Mr. Owen said. The distribution, as at present, will continue separate and without change.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS REJECT UNION DEMAND

Boyne City Leaders Predict Strike to Settle Difficulty

Reversing their earlier reported plans to meet with representatives of the newly organized roads employers union, county highway officials yesterday refused to discuss with officers of the new local plans relative to employee difficulty. Consenting, however, to converse about the problem with individual members of the roads force, Chairman, W. F. Tindall and Commissioner W. K. Straw informed Art Fisher and Leslie Mayes of the attitude of their administration relative to union requests.

The commissioners categorically rejected these plans of the employees: (a) the re-instatement of Cecil Smith (president of the County Road Employees Union); (b) seniority rights; (c) grievance procedure; (d) union recognition.

Strike Appears Inevitable

According to W. F. Tryon, CIO organizer, and Cecil Smith, president of the local, a strike appears to be the only means left to the organization in order to receive the concessions which they require from the county road commissioners.

It is expected, according to some local persons, that a strike on December 17, the expiration date of the thirty-day notice period required by state statutes, will not only seriously tie up all traffic in the county as far as snow-removal is concerned, but may also prompt state officials to withdraw state highway funds from the county commissioners direction and allocation.—Boyne Citizen.

NAVY NEEDS MEN AVIATION GROUND WORK

Four Schools Established to Provide Instruction Work

Announcement was made in Washington, D. C., recently that the U. S. Navy will need more men who desire basic training for aviation ground work. To supply this need, schools have been established at four separate Naval air stations to give instruction in the work of aviation metalsmith, aviation machinist's mate, aviation ordnanceman and aviation radioman. Locations of these schools are Jacksonville, Florida; Norfolk, Virginia; Pensacola, Florida; and San Diego, California.

Information from the Traverse City recruiting station points out that these schools are open to recruits who have the aptitude and qualify for this schooling on the completion of their recruit training period and before their assignment to sea duty. These aviation ground work schools are called Class "A" Schools, Group IV, because they give basic instruction and are the 4th group of trade schools open to recruits, the others being Group I, electrical and ordnance; Group II, communication and clerical; Group III, machinists, metalworkers and aviation ordancemen.

The aviation metalsmith course gives special instruction in the properties of metals, heat-treatment of metals, cutting, forging, and in those phases of welding and brazing essential to aviation. Aviation machinist's mate training covers bench, vice and floor work necessary to the machinist and instruction in the use of power tools. U. S. seamen who are interested in this work will also obtain practical experience in the operation, care and repair of aviation engines used in the Navy and will learn to assemble and disassemble such engines as well as learn to install them in planes and check all phases of operation such as carburetion, timing and lubrication.

Aviation ordnanceman training consists of instruction in the use and maintenance of machine-guns and other weapons used in Naval aircraft. This course includes a study of boresighting guns, synchronizing gun fire with propellers in motion, mounting and effective use of guns. The recruit entering this course of instruction also will learn the use of gun cameras, and the rigging and release of high-speed targets for practice.

Aviation radiomen receive general radio training in addition to those phases of radio peculiar to aircraft.

In addition to the technical job training outlined above, the Traverse City recruiting station informant stated that there are nearly fifty trade jobs and vocations for which patriotic young men can receive training when they join Uncle Sam's new "Two-Ocean" Navy.

MAY SEEK REPEAL OF NEW DEER CAMP LAW

Hoffmaster, Conservation Director, Says Privilege Abused

P. J. Hoffmaster, state director of conservation, said Friday he would recommend repeal of the camp deer law when the conservation commission meets December 9.

Hoffmaster said that after spending three days in northern Michigan during which he talked to many conservation officers, he found "a lot of things that were not right."

"The officers told me there were a lot of imaginary deer hunting camps," the director said.

Earlier in the week Hoffmaster directed conservation officers to seize all whole does which were being transported from the deer woods to hunters' homes. He pointed out that the doe law was passed solely to provide camp meat.

"The season closing Sunday, permitting the taking of a doe for a camp deer, has resulted in flagrant disregard for the intent of the law," Hoffmaster said. "Very few of the thousand deer shot under camp permit were used in camp as the law requires.

"It is apparent that hunting parties obtained permits for the sole purpose of getting meat to take home. It was obvious, according to conservation officers, that in many instances just enough meat had been removed from so-called camp deer to provide an excuse to take the rest of the carcass home.

"We have even heard of instances in which meat was cut off and thrown away to make it appear that a portion of the doe had been used in camp.

"There is no doubt but that it is advisable to lower the deer population in some areas, but I certainly don't believe it ought to be done by the subterfuge of killing does under camp permits. In so doing, we are taking too many does in some areas and too few in others.

"I don't believe we are justified any longer in retaining the camp deer law—whether it be for bucks or for does."

Fresh eggs are probably the most popular part of the menu of the United States Navy. In one year over 146,016,000 are consumed.

Rabies Present In Northern Michigan

Since rabies has been reported in a number of dogs in the northwestern counties of the lower peninsula, Dr. James Chapman, health officer of District No. 3, has issued a warning along with a few suggestions which the public should keep in mind for its own protection.

Rabies or hydrophobia is primarily a disease of lower animals, principally dogs. It is caused by a virus which cannot be seen by the ordinary microscope, being smaller than bacteria. It is passed from one animal to another and usually by biting since the virus is found chiefly in saliva; it may however enter the body thru an abrasion of the skin or mucous membrane.

Other animals than the dog contract rabies but since man is in closer contact with dogs than with any other of the lower animals, only the disease as it appears in dogs will be considered. Dogs almost invariably contract the disease from other dogs, often strays or homeless dogs. After being bitten, the disease develops as a rule in from three to four weeks. The dog is noticed to be acting in an abnormal manner, becomes restless, perhaps shuns members of the family and prefers to lie in corners and out of the way places. After a few days of such actions the dog may become furious, rushes about attacking everything in its way. During this stage the dog may travel long distances, twenty-five miles or more, snapping and biting at everything enroute. Finally the dog becomes paralyzed, beginning usually in the hind quarters first. Often, especially in home dogs and pets, the dog appears to be ill, is quite restless, refuses food and finally becomes parnlyzed. There is no furious stage and such dogs often do not offer to bite. This is the dumb type of rabies as distinguished from the furious type. The course of the disease is usually rapid and parnlysis develops in four or five days after symptoms appear, rarely over ten days.

The disease if allowed to develop in man very closely resembles the disease in dogs so far as nervous symptoms are concerned. Rabies is a dreadful disease and all normal-minded people are anxious to cooperate in every way to prevent the disease among lower animals, certainly among humans. The terror the disease inspires and the financial loss suffered when livestock and valuable dogs must be destroyed also stimulates cooperation with authorities seeking to control the spread of rabies.

Everyone should be on the alert for the dog who bites, fights or acts in a suspicious manner and such an animal should be captured, restrained and reported to the health officer immediately.

Children should be given every protection against the biting dog. Owners of licensed dogs should protect their dogs by restraining them until a better knowledge is obtained of the extent of the spread of the disease.

In case a person is bitten, a physician should be seen at once. If begun early, the Pasteur treatment is successful. The treatment consists of injection of a substance into the body which stimulates the body to resist the disease. As a rule fourteen injections are necessary. Without treatment all human beings contracting rabies die.

The important factors in the prevention of rabies are:

Restraint of all dogs until further notice.

Report to the health officer of all dogs acting in a suspicious manner.

Application for immediate treatment to the family physician if a human is bitten.

Destruction of all homeless or stray dogs which are unlikely to be under constant observation.

Vaccination of all dogs by the owners.

Failure to cooperate and a resultant increase in the number of rabid dogs reported will result in the state of Michigan laying a strict quarantine on the area—after all, the state is interested primarily in the welfare of its citizens and means to protect that welfare with all its might.

PHILLIPS-KLING WEDDING WAS SATURDAY AT GAYLORD CHURCH

Miss Anna Mae Phillips, of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Phillips, of Alba, became the bride of Edwin Kling, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kling of Charlevoix, at a ceremony performed Saturday evening, November 29, at the Latter Day Saints church at Gaylord. Mrs. John Geer, of this city, sister of the groom, and Lawrence Phillips, of Alba, brother of the bride, attended the couple.

For her wedding, the bride chose a moss green dress, street-length, and wore a shoulder corsage of talisman roses. Mrs. Geer wore a corsage of pink sweet peas on the shoulder of her black dress.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Kling left for a trip to Detroit, and returned to Charlevoix on Monday to make their home.

LOCAL CITIZENS MAKE RETURN ON TB SEALS

Eight Listed by Association Are Among Those Responding Early

Returns for tuberculosis Christmas seals were received from 8 Charlevoix citizens in the first mail after the campaign officially opened Monday, November 24, according to a report on early seal buyers prepared by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. They include: Dr. Mark Gifford, Anne W. Lawrence, Harry E. Bingham, Otto Krueger, Glen S. See, M. A. Levinson, J. K. Moore, and Peter H. Timmer.

Another early buyer in Michigan was Dr. George A. Sherman, director of the bureau of tuberculosis control of the State Health Department, who gave his hearty endorsement to the seal sale as "one of the finest examples of democracy at work."

"By voluntarily taxing their Christmas mail, Michigan citizens have for 34 years supported the fight against tuberculosis," Dr. Sherman said, adding that in the present national crises the Christmas seal's work is particularly important.

"War has always been an ally of tuberculosis," he states. "In 1918 death rates shot up in every country that was involved in the war. That year Michigan's death rate rose as high as it had been in 1900. Surely, we must not lose the gain of 20 years of tuberculosis control," he warns.

Dr. Sherman believes the work of preventing tuberculosis, carried on by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated local associations to be vitally important, and urges citizens all over Michigan to use Christmas seals.

POST OFFICE APPEALS FOR EARLY MAILINGS

Avoid Last Minute Rush Advised by Postmaster J. M. Foster

With the Christmas season approaching, the local post office again requests the patrons to mail early in order to insure delivery in time for Christmas day.

Mail during the Christmas season averages about five times that during the normal seasons of the year. The post office department does everything it possibly can to take care of this mail and expedite its delivery, but unless it has the cooperation of the public, this mail cannot be handled properly.

Parcels should be securely wrapped and tied, addressed plainly on one side with the return address in the upper left hand corner. Fragile parcels should be packed sufficiently to prevent breakage. Patrons are advised to insure their gifts.

Greeting cards sent as first class mail receive first class treatment and may be forwarded or returned. When sent as third class they must be destroyed when undeliverable. Each year many expensive greeting cards must be destroyed because of the difference of a cent and a half.

The post office will remain open for several evenings before Christmas for the convenience of the patrons. The time and dates will be announced later. Of course there will be no rural delivery on Christmas day.

So play safe and send early, wrap securely, and insure your parcels.

With this payment, the bank will have released 72½% of its original deposits.

Officials of the institution have announced that a continuel liquidation of assets will proceed to provide further distribution as rapidly as consistent with the best interests of certificate holders.

SOMMERVILLE-PRATT WEDDING SOLEMNIZED WEDNESDAY, NOV. 19

The marriage of Miss Josephine Sommerville, daughter of Mrs. Alice Sommerville of East Jordan, and Leonard Pratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pratt of Greenville Junction, Me., was solemnized Wednesday, November 19, at 7 o'clock at the Methodist parsonage, by Rev. Leigh H. Hagle. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sommerville, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

DEER RETURN REPEATEDLY TO LIVE TRAPS

Instances of One Being Taken Fifty Times Are Reported

By periodically shifting their traps to new sites, game men at the conservation department's Cusino game area this winter hope to trap and tag more deer with less handling of recatches. Being caught in the box traps and ear-tagged bothers the deer so little that one animal was recaught 50 times in three months.

Trapping and tagging will begin as soon as the weather is favorable. CCC workers at Camp Cusino have built five new deer traps and 12 handling crates and repaired old equipment.

The tagging aids in studies of deer range and other deer habits.

LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

Air Corps Advnnced Flying School
Kelly Field, Texas

Dear Ken,

The Courier comes ln pretty handy away down here at Kelly Field, Texas. You are about 2,000 mlles away and different events and happenings in Charlevoix make very good reading to me. I want to thank both you and the Courier for making the distance between here and Charlevoix a lot closer.

To give you an idea of what it's like here, I'm studying navigation and we get up at 5:30 every morning and are in our first class by 7:00. From 7:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. we have regular lecturea and study periods. From 4:00 until 5:00 we have athletics and after our evening meal we are back in the study halls from 7:00 to 9:00 p. m. I thought college was hard but this Army school has "State" beat all hollow. Here, we even have study periods on Saturdays and Sundays.

Two daya ln the week wa have practical flights in actual navlgating. For instance, last Friday we flew to Sweetwater, Texas, and back, a distance of 432 miles. My duty as a navigator is to keep the plane on a steady course to our destlnation. Once ln the air the pilot aets the plane on the "automatic pilot" and I have control of the ship until we are ready to land or change altitude. If at any time I find that the ship is drifting off course, I change the heading of the ship wlth my gyro-control which resets the "automatic pilot." At the same time I plot my course and figure my ground speed and estimated time of arrival. It's all very interesting work and a lot of fun.

This is a 15 weeks course. Upon graduation we becoma 2nd Lieutenants in the Army Air Corps. To me, navigation offers the best opportunity for a young fellow in the Air Corps. If you or anyone you know in Charlevoix have any questions about it, I will be glad to answer them if I can.

Sincerely yours
Aviation Cadet

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Who said: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country"?

A. Nathan Halo, who gave his life for America, like great numbers of his fellow countrymen. We are only asked to lend our dollars for Defense Bonds and Stamps to defend the liberty for which they died.

Q. Where I work there is no pay-roll nliotment plan for the buying of Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps. How can I get one started?

A. Thls depends on your position, and the kind of organization in which you are employed. Generally speaking, your lnmediate superior would be the proper person to receive your suggestion that you would like to have a voluntary pay-roll nllotment plan introduced. The firm's hank can supply information about such a plan.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to tho nenrest post ollice, bank, or savings and lnan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now nre on sale at retail stnres.

LANSING LETTER

was appointed executive director. Robert C. Hargrave, formerly with the department of commerce under President Herbert Hoover, was chosen defense cnordinator for the Detroit metropnlitan area. James Denison, former newspaperman in Detroit, was engaged ss publicity director.

The council's general policy has been to regard itself as a clearing house whereby established agencies, whether officiul nr volunteer in organization, may be utilized to foster needed action for national defense in Michigan.

Local Problems

Colonel Furlong, for one, doesn't regard the stnte defenso council as a super-agency with powers of regimenting the public.

That conception runs into constant snags, hnwever, as problems are brought to the council with urgent request that "the government do something abont it" as if the responsihility rested entirely at Lansing and not in the hnme communities.

In the field of commodities, for example, the state council deftly side-stepped an opportunity to wade into the deep waters of commodity "cost of living" through the following steps.

1. Compile facts on the cost of living.
2. Analize the facts so that recommendations can be submitted, action taken.
3. Conduct a "popular educational program on consumers' problems."

Instead, the council appointed a special four-man committee to go into the subject of retail prices. Members are: Raymond W. Foley, state administrator for the Federal Housing administration; V. H. White, Grand Rapids investment broker; A. H. Sarvis, Flint banker, and Mrs. Ida Z. Kleinman, Detroit club woman and housewife.

Shy from Control

The attitude of many members of the state council is somewhat that of Colonel Furlong with regard to the council's function in retail prices.

While the council will function to clenr federal action down to the local communities, being a funnel as it were for Washington to utilize, the council isn't going to be pushed into the opposite function: A general wailing place for home responsibilities.

The local county and community defense councils, appointed by the governor and operating under the state council, will deal with local problems. If there is to be a wailing place, then the local defense council must provide it. While this isn't officially the policy, in effect such is the case.

As far as Colonel Furlong and members of the state council are eoncerned, there will be no regimentation or super-control other than powers duly authorized by Congress and delegated officially to the council for administration through local defense committees. Most council members hope that price control, if it comes, will be a federal headache, not a state burden.

Defense Cooperation

An example of business cooperating with government in behalf of defense will be found in the functions of the council's advisory technical committee, the committee of public information.

All media of information and advertising — newspapers, motion pictures, radio, outdoor advertising, periodicals, and so on — are represented by their own leaders. George W. Trendle, president of the King-Trendle Broadcasting Corporation (WXYZ and Michigan Network) is undertaking a series of defense programs as chairman of the committee's radio division. C. D. Blessed, president, Walker & Company and chairman of the outdoor advertising division, is planning a program designed to appeal for greater defense effort.

Don McGowan, advertising manager of the Consumers Power company, heads the industrial and labor division of the committee, uniting all elements of labor and management behind defense.

The advertising craft, represented by the Adcraft Club of Detroit through their manager, Harold Hastings, is utilizing talent for advertising slogans and ideas. Newspapers have been active for many months in getting and presenting defense facts.

This work is being performed entirely voluntarily, without expense to the state government. It offers an example of what can be done locally for defense. After all, the goverament comprises "we, the people", not the other fellow across the street or on the other rural route. It's our responsibility, not some agency at Lansing or Washington.

invarinbly a profit motive. Something may be dono today at a loss, but it is always expected that such "services" will somehow later contribute to the major objective which is profit. Since this is so, Professor Carl F. Tneusch, anthor of the book Policy and Ethics in Business, suggests thnt business men ought to stop trying to identify themselves with doctors and lawyers. It is a pnrt of the code of ethics of a doctor that he shall minister to the sick and wounded without pay, if the patient has no money. Business recognizes no surh code, and never can. This fact, however, need not shame those who spend their lives in business. The contribution of business to the happiness and well-being of mankind is just ns real as the doctor's or the lawyer's. The function of business is to conserve capitul, to improve the methods of production, to facilitate the exchnuge of goods, and to maintain n proper relntionship between supply and demand. Those engnged in business who do their job well nre rewarded and thereby encouraged to continue. Those who do their job badly are mercilessly eliminated.

Mike: "Has your son's college education been of any value?"

Spike: "Yeah. Now his mother has stopped bragging nbout him."

In mnny instances, one of the best investments of the decade was leaving $100 on deposit in a liquidated bank, forgetting all nbout it for seven years until informed of the oversight, at which time a check for $85 and a liquidator's note for $15 were presented. Some of these busted hanks have turned out better than good bonds.

Life is just an everlasting struggle to keep money coming in and teeth and hair and vital organs from coming out.

In times of comfort and security it's easy to be tolerant nnd complacent. But with these periods becoming shorter and less frequent, we find little opportunity for the practice of tolerance. The fact is that broadminded people are irritating. We don't like the impartinl view; we like to classify our ucquaintnnces as friends or enemies; we force them to take sides. Our friends are expected to approve our ideas. Or, if they take the opposing view, we can enjoy battling with them; they arouse our fighting spirit, and that is pleasantly invigorating. But when they half agree with us nnd point out some virtues in the counter nrgument, we find their tolernnce unnoying. We call them vacillating nnd unrealistic. So it is not surprising thnt the wisest men (who are invnriahly tolerant men) tnlk little. They have found it discreet to keep their thoughts and observations to themselves. Action and ardor are what the world demands; sagacity is not wnnted. Men who see both sides of the question must confine their thoughts to books, nnd mostly to books that are never read.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 46 NUMBER 50 TEN PAGES THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1941 PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

WILL TAKE BIDS ON U.S.31 RELOCATION

CHARLEVOIX TO BAY SHORE IMPROVEMENT PLANNED

Relocation to Provide Scenic Highway; Ask Bids for Surfacing Now Grades on M-66

Of unusual interest to local citizens is the announcement by State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy that bids will be taken December 17 for 6.11 miles of major relocation on U.S.31 between Charlevoix and Bay Shore.

On another page in this issue is the highway department's advertisement for bids on the project. The advertisement stipulates that work will consist of grading the road and constructing necessary drainage structures. Bids will be opened at the Capitol Building, Lansing, at 10:00 a. m. December 17th.

While no official information is available at the present time, it is understood the relocation will start at the John Martin farm (W. J. Kerns property) on the present highway. From there the grade will follow the west side of the Pere Marquette Railway tracks to a point beyond the Waller farm buildings before swinging in a northwesterly direction, to parallel Lake Michigan a short distance beyond Nine Mile Point. Swinging to the northeast the grade will either cross or go beneath the railway tracks to join the present trunkline about a mile from Bay Shore, then swing into the village and join the improved highway east of Bay Shore.

Completion of this project will bring about an improvement long desired by Charlevoix citizens and eliminate as well, one of the admitted worst stretches on U.S.31.

Highway Commissioner Kennedy announced that on the same day bids will be received for aggregate surfacing of 9.8 miles on M-66 between East Jordan and Charlevoix. New grade from East Jordan to foot of the Flagg Hill and relocation from Loeb Farms to Ironton has been completed. It is believed this project will not be started until spring, however.

ICY HIGHWAYS KEEP ROAD CREWS AT WORK

Sanding and Scraping Under Way As Winter Weather Prevails

The routine of keeping state trunklines, county highways and city streets safe for motor traffic is under way with advent of winter weather.

State and county highways south and east of Charlevoix were sanded Sunday following Saturday night's rain storm and following sleet.

City streets received attention beginning Monday. Warm weather during the day, followed by a freeze at night, turned snow into ice and coated streets and sidewalks with the first ice of the winter.

With continued snowfall, night parking regulations prohibiting parking of cars between 1:00 and 7:00 a. m. on city streets will be enforced.

DRAFTEES MUST KEEP CONTACT WITH BOARD

Must Notify Change in Address or Affecting Classification

An appeal has been issued by the Charlevoix county draft board, through Fay Davis, clerk, urging all draft registrants to report to the board any change of address or change in condition which might affect classification.

Mr. Davis stated that in recent weeks registrants had been lax in this respect and, with war conditions now existing, failure to do so might result in serious difficulty.

Excerpts from the draft law are quoted as follows: "Report to your local draft board any change in address ar before leaving county on extended trip. If you are away from home, your draft board might take action affecting you, and you would not know of this action unless the board has your address at all times. You must report any change in your condition which might affect your classification. This means change in dependents, occupation, citizenship or physical condition."

TWELVE PASS INDUCTION EXAMS

FOUR COUNTY MEN REJECTED AT TRAVERSE CITY

Step-Up In County Draft Quotas Expected Under War Conditions; New Regulations Are Adopted

Twelve of 16 Charlevoix county selectees passed pre-induction physical examination Monday at Traverse City, it is reported by Fay Davis, draft board clerk.

Passing examination were Donald Sloop, Carl Umlor and Oscar Gikiere, of East Jordan; Elmer Crain, of Charlevoix; Joseph LaFreniere, of St. James; Edward Carson, of Boyne Falls; Robert Cook and Lyle Snyder, of Boyne City. This group, to be given from 10 to 30 days before induction, are awaiting call, probably for January quota which has not yet been announced.

Rejected because of physical defects were George Richardson, of Charlevoix, Jason Lewis, Kenneth Scott and Conrad Kanipe, of Boyne City.

Indicating an increase in demand for men for military service under present war conditions, Mr. Davis announced that the state draft board had requested county boards to make a re-check of Class 2, given occupational deferment, also inauguration of a rehabilitation program whereby men rejected for minor physical defects will be re-examined and, if defects are correctable, will be taken care of at army expense.

While no increase in draft quotas have been requested from counties up to the present time, such a move is anticipated in the near future, it is understood.

WOULD GIVE 600 ACRES TO U. S. COAST GUARD

Offer Prompted by Family Desire to Be of Service to Country In Present Emergency

Through the generosity of Mrs. Anna Loeb and sons, Ernest and Allan, of Chicago, prominent local summer residents, Charlevoix has been placed in a position to offer to the United States Coast Guard Service free site for a proposed northern Michigan seaplane base.

In a telephone conversation Monday night with Mayor Robert Bridge, Ernest Loeb stated that his family, in an effort to be of whatever service possible to the United States in the present emergency, was prepared to give a 600-acre portion of their summer estate near this city for the air base. In the past the property has been available at a stipulated price.

A temporary Coast Guard air base, established pending decision on a permanent site, is now located at Traverse City, headquarters for two 2-motored amphibian planes used for Great Lakes patrol duty. One plane was originally assigned to the area and the second was added in recent months.

The Loeb Farms site is one of several under consideration since the proposal to establish a northern Michigan base was launched two years ago.

Mayor Bridge on Tuesday notified Coast Guard and government officials, Senator Prentiss M. Brown and Cong. Fred Bradley of the city's offer made possible by members of the Loeb family.

RED CROSS PLAN WAR FUND DRIVE

COUNTY QUOTA IN SPECIAL CAMPAIGN IS $2,200

County Roll Call Chairman to Use Same Organization As In November for Solicitation

A drive to raise a special quota of $2,200 for war relief will be started at once by the Charlevoix county Red Cross, it was announced today.

Mrs. C. F. Kreighoff, of Boyne City, county roll call chairman, received news of the special demand Tuesday by telegram from Norman H. Davis, national chairman. The same local organizations which conducted the roll call campaign, will direct the current drive.

The Davis telegram follows;

"Again the American Red Cross is called upon to serve our nation in war. Both nationally and locally we face vast and definite responsibility for services to our armed forces and for relief to distressed civilians.

"To provide essential funds Red Cross today is launching a campaign for war fund minimum of $50,000,000. The President will issue on Friday a proclamation supporting this appeal.

"Your chapter quota is $2,200. Chapter may retain 15% of their collection for local war relief expenditures. Chapter should devote full efforts to raising their quotas in shortest possible time. We must not and shall not fail in this crisis."

He had spent more than thirty summers in Michigan, at Frankfort, Harbor Springs, and Petoskey. For the last nine summers he had come to Charlevoix, and last year purchased Riverside Cottage.

CHARLEVOIX LOSES FIRST CAGE GAMES

PETOSKEY—WINNER—DOUBLE BILL HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Rayder Varsity Defeated 30-18; Reserves by 30 to 23 Count; Play Friday at Harbor

Charlevoix high school's Red Rayder basketball teams were defeated here Friday night by Petoskey's class B Northmen in both games of a double bill opening the 1941-42 schedule. The varsity lost by a 30 to 18 score, the reserves by a 26 to 23 margin.

Playing before one of the largest first night crowds on record, the varsity squads staged a nip-and-tuck struggle until Petoskey pulled away in the final period. The score indicates closeness of play in the early periods. Petoskey led 4 to 3 at the quarter, Charlevoix 11 to 10 at the half, Petoskey 15 to 11 at close of the third period. The Northmen netted 16 points to Charlevoix's 4 in their last quarter drive.

Petoskey played better basketball than Charlevoix, with accuracy the deciding factor. The visitors made good on a majority of their tries for field goals, counted six of 16 chances from the foul line, while Charlevoix's shots rimmed the hoop with aggrevating consistency. Charlevoix also made good on 6 of 16 free shots. Charlevoix executed but a single successful floor play against Petoskey's defense.

Coach Kipke used nine players, alternating Shapton and Gallagher at forward, Stewart and Rowe at guard. Bissell played well in the final minutes of the fourth period.

COUNCIL NAMES CITY ENGINEER

ENGAGE CLIFFORD McKIBBIN, JR., OF LANSING

Muskegon Firm Given Contract for New Water Main and Electric Cable Under Channel

By unanimous vote Monday night, the Charlevoix city council moved to employ a city superintendent to succeed Donald F. Herrick, who resigned recently to enter United States military service.

Clifford McKibbin, Jr., of Lansing, chosen from numerous applicants for the position, was engaged at a salary of $3,000 per year. Mr. McKibbin, a graduate of Michigan State College as a mechanical engineer, has been employed with Lansing public utilities for six years. His qualifications include electrical production and distribution, water works maintenance, sewage treatment plant operation, as well as mechanical and civil engineering. Mr. McKibbin is 28 years old and married. He will assume his duties January 1.

Contract was awarded the Muskegon firm of Holthe & Shultz to install new water main and electric light cable across the lower channel between Round lake and Lake Michigan, a project made necessary by the proposed new highway bridge on U.S.31. The city and state highway department will share the expense, it is understood. The Muskegon firm's bid of $8,454.00 was the only one received on the project. This firm installed the upper water main recently and has done satisfactory work for the city on other under-water jobs. Work will be started as soon as equipment is moved here.

The proposal to purchase a new fire truck with equipment required for rural fire protection, was also taken under consideration. Representatives of Marion and Charlevoix townships were again present, as well as Supervisors Lloyd Stephens of Hayes township, and William M. Sanderson of Eveline township. Progress on township financial cooperation toward truck and equipment purchase has reached a point where city officials will now determine within the near future the type of equipment, and negotiate purchase, it is believed.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Take a tip from the clock—it passes the time by keeping its hands busy.

I don't suppose it would be fair to judge all Petoskey basketball fans by the actions of a certain handful at last Friday night's game here. There was a group of young smart-alecks, however, that should have been taken home and taught some sportsmenship before attending another game. They were the ones who persisted in wisecracking at the top of their lungs, whistling while opposing players were shooting from the foul line, booing decisions of the officials and otherwise making themselves obnoxious. Whether it be Petoskey or any other city, such followers are no credit.

Union recognition appears to be the stumbling block now in negotiations between the county road workers' union and the county road commission. The Boyne Citizen last week reported that the road commission granted some union requests, including an increase of 5c per hour for truck drivers, wage payment based on time of leaving and returning to county garage instead of time reporting and leaving job, an increase in number of hours in work week to exceed forty hours per week per man. Union officials, it is claimed, say a strike is mandatory unless union recognition is granted. A few men can certainly stir up a lot of trouble!

The six women members of Congress voted unanimously in favor of the second lease-lend appropriation, which didn't surprise us in the least. The sum involved, 5,985 million, so clearly appeared to have been marked down from 6 billion it was a bargain they couldn't resist.

Good things can't last forever, it seems, and so it was with the fine early winter weather we were having. From a spring-like temperature of between 50 and 60 degrees last Thursday, the Weather Man gave us snow late Saturday.

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

That 60-day "cooling off" period for strikes in national defense industries, as proposed in the Smith bill adopted by the House last week, was a national bouquet handed to the Michigan state legislature.

It was the much-abused legislature which, in 1939, provided a waiting time of five days between the actual call and the actual walk-out in an industrial strike. A 30-day clause, affecting public emergencies, was later interpreted by the state labor medintion board to apply to national defense industries.

The significant difference is that the proposed federal plan is just twice as severe.

Minnesotn requires a 10-day notice; Colorado, 30 days. But Michigan, one of the few outstanding "arsenals" in the defense program, has apparently set a precedent of national importance.

Labor's right to strike, as well as its fundamental right of collective bargaining, is fully recognized under the Smith bill.

The Canadian war-time labor plan of requiring a secret ballot for strike elections in defense plants is incorporated in the house bill. The Wagner act set a precedent for this in the arrangement for collective bargaining elections under government supervision. The strike election merely asks for a majority vote, as contrasted to the C.I.O. strike in the "captive" coal mine field called personally by John L. Lewis.

Another reflection of public resentment against Lewis' closed shop stand was a house provision to prohibit organizational strikes or jurisdictional strikes in any defense plant for the duration of the present emergency.

"Full Sacrifice"

Today's choice of labor and management was expressed by President Roosevelt at the international labor office conference at the White House one month ago, when he said:

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Farmers in Charlevoix county who are taking heed of the warning to order repair parts for farm machinery early and who are unable to obtain ordered parts should inform their AAA committeemen of the fact, according to Walter H. Henley, chairman of the Charlevoix County AAA Committee.

AAA committeemen will then pass this information along to the U. S. D. A. Defense Board for Charlevoix county, headed by the county AAA chairman, which will then relay the information to the office of Agricultural Defense Relations in Washington.

There should be no reason why farmers cannot obtain repair parts for farm machinery because the office of production management has assured the Secretary of Agriculture that there will be made available sufficient metal to supply the demand for repair parts, even though there will be much less new machinery manufactured in 1942 than in 1940 or 1941.

Because of this assurance, farmers should not hesitate to make known any difficulty they encounter in obtaining parts. Some local or temporary shortages may develop because of unusual demand for certain replacement parts, but manufacturers will be able to obtain sufficient metals to produce needed parts.

The sharp reduction in manufacture of new farm machinery and equipment for 1942 puts more emphasis on the care and repair of existing machinery, the AAA chairman said, and because of this farmers are being urged to check over their present equipment, order needed repair parts immediately, to get their equipment in shape during the winter in order to avoid serious delays next spring, and to dispose of all scrap metal in their possession in order to make more metal available for defense and civilian needs.

Individual farmers are not required to obtain priority ratings, because priorities apply only to manufacturers in most cases, and to wholesalers in some cases.

Farmers in Charlevoix County are now receiving their Triple-A payments earned for compliance in the 1941 program. Seventy-six checks totaling $2,548.00 were received in the county Triple-A office on December 5. This is only a small per cent of the total payments to be received in the county, however, remaining payments will be mailed to farmers at regular intervals in the near future.

Approximately 50% of all applications for the county have been mailed to applicants. Other farmers who are eligible for payment may expect to receive an application within the next few weeks.

Charlevoix County Triple-A committeemen have completely covered the county on a house to house canvass with 1942 farm defense plans. A farm plan was prepared for each farmer showing his intentions for increased production in 1942. Farm defense data tabulations have been made in every county and state which will show the extent of increased production that can be expected from American farmers. Michigan farmers have been asked to increase milk production by 8 per cent over 1941, egg production by 6 per cent, marketings of beef cattle and calves by 5 per cent, pigs by 10 per cent; to hold the present high level of navy bean acreage; and to make slight increases in soybeans for beans, commercial vegetables, barley, oats and potatoes.

Next week, Charlevoix county farm defense tabulations will be published showing the amount of increased production this county will contribute to National Defense.

According to announcement from the County Road Commission, a large rotary plow will be used to clear Highway M-11 between Bay Shore and Eastport this winter. The county now owns one truck with plow equipment which will be located at Boyne City. Two large tractor-plows are also to be operated in the county. County roads last winter were kept open by one plow.

ROCK ELM

Starting this week East Jordan schools are now on an all day schedule for all grades.

Provisions for hot lunches for East Jordan schools were solicited in this district last week.

Mr. Whitfield's sale drew a large crowd last week Tuesday. Nearly everything offered for sale brought a fair price.

Miss Beatrice Tebee called on Mrs. Lawton Saturday. She reported her father as recovering from his recent illness.

World wide war! Just when people are preparing to celebrate the day kept in memory of the coming of the Prince of Peace. Will the beating of the war drums be so loud that no one will be able to hear even the faintest echo of the angels' song of "Peace on earth, good will to men"?

Electricity Boosting Farmers' Efficiency

Electricity, a powerful and relatively new tool on the farm, is speeding the efficiency of farmers in the current drive to strengthen national defense.

Many farmers have been using this servant in their work for the past five or six years. They are now broadening its use.

Others who have used it in only a small way for household purposes are applying it to farm jobs and finding it the easiest, quickest, and cheapest way of doing their larger chores.

In dairying, it milks the cows, cools the milk, pumps the water, grinds the feed, heats the water, and sterilizes the utensils. On the poultry farm, it broods chicks, heats the drinking fountain, lights the laying house, grinds the feed and pumps the water.

For the truck grower, it heats the plant bed, pumps water for irrigation, operates a spray pump, provides refrigeration and ice at marketing time, operates a grader, a washer, a sacker, and a loading machine, and in the case of sweet potatoes, supplies heat for curing and storing.

Dust Livestock

Lice on livestock in the winter can best be controlled with a dusting powder of some kind.

One effective mixture is one part of pyrethrum to three parts of cheap flour. Another combination is one part of derris powder to three to five parts of talc or flour.

These mixtures have proved effective against sheep lice and ticks.

Use a small hand duster to give quick and thorough coverage of the infested animals.

The U. S. Navy is probably the world's largest single distributer of motion pictures. It maintains 2,000 films in constant circulation and has a nightly attendance of 150,000 seamen. The Navy acquires between 300 and 400 new films each year, or practically the entire output of all of the major studios. The films are leased for a period of four years and then returned to the studios. When you witness slow motion pictures of your favorite athlete in action you are indebted to the U. S. Navy, for the necessity of studying the flight of projectiles led the Navy to develop the camera that makes possible slow motion movies.

A CALL FOR UNITY

Today our country is involved in a war forced upon us by aggression. Our soils have been invaded by an enemy.

With electric suddenness efforts of our legislators to maintain peace were shattered by ruthless invasion of Pacific possessions by the Japanese. United States soldiers and sailors were killed, our ships were sunk, our airplanes destroyed.

Congress acted swiftly and with positiveness in declaring war as we expected it would. Now it is up to us, one and all, to carry on the traditions of these United States of ours. We have never been defeated at war—we won't be now. Times will be hard, the going will be tough, but a united people will win.

Let's everyone do our part.

ELLSWORTH CANNERY CLOSES RECORD YEAR

Pack of 110,000 Cases of Beets Largest In United States

Ellsworth's No. 1 industry, the local canning plant of Reid, Murdoch & Co., finished the 1941 canning season Monday night. This is about two weeks earlier than the closing last year. Tonnage of produce was not quite as large as last season, as the drouth during August cut all crops, especially string beans. Total disbursements, however, were about equal to last year, about $300,000.

Since 1932, when the company built the main plant, the amount paid out to producers and employees has shown an increase of about 700 per cent as shown by the following figures: 1932 — $45,000; 1933 — $60,000; 1934—$80,000; 1935 — $100,000; 1936 — $130,000; 1937 — $137,000; 1938 — $225,000; 1939—$250,000; 1940 —$300,000 and 1941—$300,000.

A crew of about twenty men will work through the winter, shipping canned goods and repairing machinery.

Elmer H. Rood, manager, reports that the company packed more than 110,000 cases of beets this year, which is a record for the entire United States, the local factory being the largest beet canning plant in the nation.—Central Lake Torch.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Gwellantop, home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Mower at Ironton, was the setting for a dessert bridge party given by the Women's Guild of Christ Episcopal Church last Wednesday afternoon. Lighted red tapers and Christmas garlands of evergreen decorated the spacious rooms. About seventy-five were present from Petoskey, Boyne City, East Jordan and Charlevoix. Prizes were awarded for each of the seventeen tables, and Mrs. Russell Barden, of Boyne City, won the door prize.

Dr. and Mrs. James Chapman entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening of last week, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Pratt. The table, set in blue and crystal, bore a centerpiece of tiny yellow chrysanthemums. Card games were played following dinner. Guests, who presented a group gift to Mr. and Mrs. Pratt, were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rice and Miss Katherine Warner, of Petoskey; Dr. Frank Monaco and Miss Shirley Bachi, of Mancelona; Mrs. Erna Wheeler, of Bellaire; Mrs. Clare Staley, Miss Ann Lawrence, Miss Dorothy Gallagher and Miss Eileen Zeitler, of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Robert Emrey entertained members of her sewing club Monday evening at her home on Petoskey avenue.

Mrs. Frank Nowland was hostess to her bridge club Monday evening. First prize was taken by Miss Lula Savara, consolation prize by Mrs. Glenn Rose, while the traveling prize went to Mrs. Keith Wagner. Others present were Mrs. Fred Southwood, Mrs. Clayton Brown, Miss Clarabelle Curtis, and Mrs. Peter Scott.

Mrs. Alonzo Powers gave a party Saturday afternoon honoring the sixth birthday of her granddaughter, Jackie Cooper. A number of little guests enjoyed games, followed by refreshments.

The Shakespeare Study Club met at the home of Mrs. Meyer Levinson for their Christmas meeting, Monday, December 8. The home was beautifully decorated with evergreens and colored lights. Theme of the program presented by the music committee was the story of the Nativity, as told by our Christmas carols. In the dining room also were Christmas decorations. The table centerpiece was the punch bowl encircled by a wreath of green. Fancy cakes were served with punch. A social time closed a pleasant afternoon.

Milk—An All Important Food

Of all the things of life which effect humon welfnre, none is more important than food. Food is to man what coal is to the furnace or gasoline to the automobile. Food furnished man with internal heat, without which even overcoats would not keep him warm. Properly selected food provides mankind with the mental and physical energy which has been the mainspring of all civilization, it repairs the structural damage which the weor and tear of life inflict upon our bodies, and it helps make us resistant to disease. On the other hand, improperly selected food is responsible for a large proportion of human ills, from a simplo stomachache to the shortening of lifa itself. In short, food is all-important in tha human economy.

Of all the kinds of food, none is more important than milk, the principal food of infants and small children.

It will be obvious that one of the most important attributes which a food should possess is that it be a good source of energy, since every living thing needs a fresh supply of energy every day. Milk is such a food and, furthermore, is a cheap form of energy.

Milk is also n good muscle builder. It is rich in protein, which is required for muscle building. "A quart of milk yields more than an ounce of pure protein of the highest quolity", that is, more than one-third of the total daily protein requirement of an adult.

Again, milk is a good teeth and bone builder, for it contains plenty of lime. Children particularly need lime, and the lime should be in a form which is easily utilized by the body. This is above all true of the lime in milk. One cup of milk contains as much lime as 3½ cups of carrots, 7 eggs, or 42 slices of bread.

We think of milk as a liquid not much above the consistency of water; but it contnins 13% of solids by weight, which is more than is contained in onions, beets, carrots, squash, pineapple, turnips, oysters, cabbage, rndishes, cauliflower, spinach, watermelon, pumpkin, tomatoes, asparagus, celery, lettuce or cucumbers. When we buy one pint or one pound of milk we buy one pound of any of the other above-mentioned foods.

Milk is also an exvellent source of fat. This, of course, is in the form of crenm, which, with the milk sugar, is directly related to its fuel value.

Milk is an excellent source of vitamin A which is the factor of greatest practical importance to nutrition and health because so many of our staple foods are poor in Vitamin A, and because a deficiency in this vitamin causes such wide-spread weakening of the body and increases its susceptibility to so many infectious diseases.

Milk seems to be a good source of Vitamin G, which has been found to be valuable in preventing and curing pallagra, a dietary deficiency disease.

—Finally, milk is one of the most digestible of foods. It is easily digested by most persons.

Milk does not seem to be an entirely dependable source of the other vitamins, nor does it contain sufficient iron, and experiments hnve shown that infants and young onimols restricted entirely to milk over consideroble periods of time develop anemia.

For this reason, and also because variety stimulates the appetite, we should not try to live on milk alone. The diet of normal children should include a quart of milk daily, supplemented with a wise selection of other foods, among which should bo included orange juice, cod-liver oil, and green vegetables. Normal adults may wisely include at least a pint of milk in their daily diet. Of course, abnormal adults or children should receive and follow competent medical advice.

CHRISTMAS TELEPHONE CALLS

PILE UP TOO!

You can shop early and avoid the rush. You can mail Christmas cards early. But naturally you want to place Christmas telephone calls on Christmas Eve and Day. And then our rush is on!

Last Christmas the number of long distance telephone calls at some points was EIGHT times normal. This year we expect an even greater "traffic jam".

No amount of stretching can expand a normal telephone system eight times its size for one day in a year. It would not be practicable to build that large a system for just one day's use.

All available operators will be on duty this Christmas and many new toll circuits will be in use. But there still will be delays on many calls—some may not get through at all. You can help speed your message by calling before 9 a.m. Christmas day and by giving the operator the number of the distant telephone.

If there is a delay on your Christmas call, we hope you will understand the situation we face.

LANSING LETTER

"The choice we have to make is this: Shall we make our full sacrifices now, produce to the limit, and deliver our products today and every day to the battle fronts of the entire world? Or shall we remain satisfied with our present rate of armament output, postponing the day of real sacrifice—as did the French—until it is too late?

"The first is the choice of realism—realism in terms of three shifts a day; The fullest use of every vital machine every minute of every day and every night; realism in terms of staying on the job and getting things made, and entrusting industrial grievances to the established machinery of collective bargaining—the machinery set up by a free people.

"The second choice is the approach of the blind and the deluded who think that perhaps we could do business with Hitler. For them there is still 'plenty of time' . . . And their tombstones would bear the legend 'Too late!'"

Living Costs

The labor situation is linked closely to present inflation of prices, as we reviewed recently in this column. Farmers do not want ceiling of farm prices unless Congress puts a limit on labor's wages. Labor sees an opportunity in the defense prosperity to get closed shop agreements with checkoff of union dues from employees' wages. Hence the weapon of calling strikes for increased wages or contracts is valued highly by labor leaders.

Congress doesn't want to offend either the farmer or the laborer, since 1942 is going to be an election year for many congressmen.

In the meanwhile, strikes continue and prices continue to go up in an inflationary spiral. The incentive to "buy now" is pushing a $3,000,000,000 Christmas retail sales—an all-time record for those United States!

Lowering Standards

Federal Price Administrator Leon Henderson warned last week that prices have already climbed 11 per cent, will continue to do so at the rate of 1½ per cent each month, and are expected to soar to 20 per cent above pre-emergency level by next spring—unless something is done at once.

As Henderson phrases it, "It means a 20 per cent reduction in the standard of living of anyone who lives on a fixed income." Here is another inkling of what the President meant when he referred to "full sacrifice" in our own war upon Hitler. Everyone is going to "pay", in more ways than taxes and bonds, unless income is increased along with prices. Recent price raises have already nullified wage gains of some labor groups.

As every business man knows, a rise in prices forces up costs, a rise in cost forces up living costs, higher living costs heightens wage demands, higher wages add to manufacturing costs leading in turn to higher prices—and so, on and on.

As compiled by Business Week, the increase of prices and costs during the past nine months have been as follows: Wholesale prices 14.1%; department store prices 13.4; cost of living, 9.6; hourly wage rates, 10.5; and labor cost per unit of output, 7.7. It is proof of one thing: Inflation is here.

Politics

If the democracy is to function, it must have elections. And 1942 brings another popular poll.

In Michigan the interest is going to center on candidates for governor and United States senator. Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and Prentiss Brown will be the Democrats' choice. Harry F. Kelly is being pushed far into the lead as the Republican candidate for governor, although Kelly has not committed himself publicly and is heading a movement to organize the party on a state-wide basis.

Fear of offending farm or labor votes in any strike or price legislation is an obvious factor in the present hesitation at Washington. The Smith strike bill drew Michigan support along party lines: Twelve Republicans voted for it, while five Democrats opposed it. And so it goes.

"Too late!" for defense production? "Too late!" for price control?

Time will provide the answer.

AT THE MOVIES

"A Very Young Lady"

Janet Beecher, the strict school teacher of "A Very Young Lady," the latest Jane Withers' picture, is considered one of Hollywood's finest character actresses.

Prior to her appearance in this 20th Century-Fox film coming Tuesday and Wednesday, December 16-17, to the Palace Theatre, Miss Beecher has been cast in almost every type of film role. She was seen as a society lady in "The Prisideat Vanishes," as a patieat mother in "Judge Hardy's Childrea," and as a very effieint nurse in "Yellow Jack," to name but a few of her outstanding characterizations.

A certain quiet dignity coupled with a sense of agreeableness make Miss Beecher an ideal person to work with. She is seen in "A Very Young Lady" with Nancy Kelly, John Sutton, Richard Clayton, and Juno Carlson. Harold Schuster directed from a screen play by Ladislas Fodor and Elaino Ryan.

"Wide Open Town"

It's a woman who puts tho redoubtable "Hopaloag" Cassidy oa his mettle in the latest in this popular series of western action romances, "Wide Open Town," which opens Thursday, December 18 at the Palace Theatre.

After matching wits and trigger fingers with rustlers, road agents, hold-up men, illegal gun traders and what-aot in some thirty-four or five drnmas, "Hopalong," played by William Boyne, is confroated ed hy a beautiful gambliag joint operator in the person of Belle Langtry, played by Evelyn Brent. And she ulmost gets her man!

"Wide Open Town" ineludes in its impressive cast such players as Russell Hayden as "Hoppy's" pal "Lucky"; Andy Clyde as the garrulous "California"; Evelyn Brent as Belle, a lovely neweomer nuned Bernice Kay, Victory Jory, Morris Ankrum, and many others.

Each bit af tape, braid and embroidery on the uniform of a member of the U. S. Navy hns a meaaing all its own. It tells how long the wearer has been in the Nnvy, the branch of the service to which he has been assigned and his pay.

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Fall plowing of the vegetable garden will tura up msny hibernating insects to freeze during the winter.

Geraniums in pots in the windowgardea will make firmer growth and flower better if not kept too warm and watered too much.

Plan to give all evergreens standing in the quickly drained soil near the foundations of buildings a thorough watering just beforo winter sets in.

The growing practice of keeping the roots of trees and shrubs under permanent mulch is especially sound where the soil is gravelly and so elevated as to be quickly draiaed.

Cover strawberry plants with two or three inches of loose mulch soon. Failure to mulch in sections where winter temperntures drop consistently below 18 degrees Fahrenheit has been known to result in at least 30 per eent loss in crop the following season.

A mulch of coal ashes will protect old delphinium plants agninst slugs and, by delaying the rosette-like shoots of later winter,' may give some protection against injnry through freeziug. Seedlings of this summer's sowing may be mulched to advantage with half an iach of sharp sand.

Trained fruit trees sre neither practical as fruit benrers aor long attractive in appearance if not properly cared for. Fortunately, the technique can be learned reaaily froan books or skilled instruction by any understaadlng gardeaer. Reading up oa the subject will make a pleasant winter project.

NAVY OFFERS ELECTRIC, CLERICAL TRAINING

Numerous Trade Schools Established to Train Recruits

Navy trade schools located at Norfolk, Virginia and San Diego, California, offer excellent training to U. S. Navy recruits in electrical, ordnance, communication and clerical schooling, according to an announcement made in Washington, D. C., this week.

These schools are available to men who have completed their recruit training and have been selected from applicants who desire to learn one of the trades which lead to a rating of electrician's mate, fire controlman, gunner's mate, torpedoman, aviation ordnanceman, radioman, signalmnn, quartermaster, yeoman or storekeeper.

Recruits are offered this training free and at the same time they receive their regulnr navy pay. The course of instruction is short but comprehensive. It is so planned as to give the Navy student the foundation on which the career of a finished mechenic can be built. The graduate's training is continued and rounded out by practical experience on board a ship of the fleet where the Navy develops its skilled mechanics.

Gradustes from these navy trade schools are constantly needed in the Navy to fill vacancies left by men who have been promoted or have completed their Naval service. Since graduates are expected to lill petty officers' rntings in the Navy, qualities of ambition, education and character from which leadership can be developed are required of applicants for these schools. This trade training is open to recruits in both the regular Navy and the Naval Reserve.

The curriculum of the electrical course includes an intensive study of Ohm's law, magnetism, inductance, wire calculation, direct and alternating current, storage batteries, principles of armature winding, blueprint rending nnd actual work on electric meters, switchboards, ground detectors, searchlights, interior communication systems, gun wiring, telephone transmitters and receivers, motors, generators, and many other features of the electricinn's trade.

The ordancemen are given instructions in ammunition and explosives, torpedo and gun control equipment, rangefinders, gun construction, fire control instruments, with actual work on torpedoes, guns and small arms.

The communications school covers practicnl work in typewriting, English, composition, Internntlonal Morse code, official letter forms, duties of Navy yeomen and storekeepers, semaphore, blinker signals, gyro compasses, bridge instruments, charts, flag signals, piloting, duties of the officer-of-the-deck, and a thorough grounding in radio sending, receiving and procedure.

Graduates are assigned to ships of the fleet nnd are given the privilege of requesting the ship they desire. These requests are usually granted if practicable.

Any patriotic man between the ages of 17 and 50 should look into the opportunities offered by the regular Navy and Naval Reserve to serve his country and build his future.

Opportunities for advancement, to learn skilled trades, for travel and adventure are identical, whether a man enrolls in the regular Navy or in the Naval Reserve, and his pay, food, clothing, medical and dental care are the same.

UNCLE SAM'S SAILORS ON HORSEBACK SEE PANAMA FROM THE SADDLE

No, the U. S. Navy doesn't hnvo n cavalry unit, but many n sailor straddled leather before giving up his bucking broncho or plow horse for the bounding main.

The sailors in whites above are seamen in the U. S. Naval Reservo on shore lenve in Panama. No distinction is made between sailors in the Naval Reserve and those in the regular Navy. Enlistment in the U. S. Naval Reserve is for four years, but all men enlisting in the Naval Reserve will be released to inactivo duty as soon efter the national emergency as their services can be spnred, regardless of the length of time remnining in their enlistment. If the emergency ends within a period of several months, those enrolled in the Naval Reservo will not be required to complete their 4 year term in active service.

Opportunities for advancement, to learn skilled trades, for travel and adventure nre identical whether a nnn enlists in tha regular Nnvy or the Naval Reserve, and his pay, food, clothing, medical and dental care are the same.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON
From Your Congressmen
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

Last week I had a very interesting inspection trip through the Boston, Massachusetts, Navy Yard. It is in this our oldest and one of our largest navy yards, that most of our new destroyers ara being built and it is likewise to this yard that many of our destroyers on the North Atlantic convoy patrol return for reconditioning, reprovisioning, refueling and general overhaul when necessary. At the time of my visit there were a number of our Atlantic convoy patrol destroyers in the harbor, emong them the "Jones" which, I was told, participated in the actual rescue of some of the survivors of the ill-fated "Reuben Jemes". These destroyers are out at sea for a period of approximately three months and lhen return to port for but five to seven days. While at sea they are tended by their mother ships which not only handle the refueling and reprovisioning but also are able to assist in making minor repairs when necessary.

The Boston Navy Yards in peacetime employ approximately 6,000 civilian workers but today this number has been increased to somewhere around 25,000. The yards work six days a week, three eight-hour shifts per day. Six destroyers can be built on the ways at one time. Much of the ship structure comes into the yard prefabricated and can be seen piled hither and yon. It is the practice to launch destroyers as soon as the hull is completed and without any machinery and interior equipment being installed. A destroyer can be built and launched in about six to eight weeks but normally it requires between ten to twelve months more to put it in commission and get the crew properly trained in its operation and familiar with its fighting equipment.

I was much impressed by the considerable difference in size between the old World War type destroyer—such as was the "Reuben James"—and our modern ships. The newest destroyers now underconstruction will run approximately 2,200 tons while those of World War days were but 1,200 tons, while those built since were mostly about 1,600 tons.

The Boslon Navy Yard is divided in two yards, one at East Boston and the other at South Boston. My tour was through the East Boston Yard which is the older of the two and in fact the oldest navy yard in the country, one of the buildings having been constructed in 1806 and another in 1830, both being in good repair nnd still nsed. In this yard likewise is one of the few rope-walks in this country, which is a long slender building in which manila rope is made up in various sizes. Here also is a lnrge chain plant where nll sizes of chain are made from anchor chains to small size chains. In the South Boston Yard docking fncilities are availnble for somewhat larger type boats and it is there where some British ships are being brought for repairs.

I found one of the major problems presently confronting the Boston ynrds was that of arming our merchant ships. Some guns are on hand but not in sufficient numbers to do the job properly. Some of our newer type ships, which we have been building under our Merchant Marine Re-construction Program of 1936, have been designed and built with their possible future armnment in mind and these have sufficient reinforcement built into their hull and deck structure to permit their armament with comparatively small structural changes. On the other hand, I was informed, the first merchant ships to be armed are those which were acquired by our government through the recent Ship Seizure Bill and most of these, as is also the case in our own older type boats, present a most difficult arming problem because they were not constructed with future armament in mind and many structural changes and stiffening of deck structure are necessary before guns can properly and safely be mounted; and furthermore the navy yard finds it increasingly difficult to secure the required steel members to correctly strengthen these ships.

Another difficulty we are running into with our ship nrming program is that of keeping our shipments to Britain and Russia and China up to schedule. Pulling our merchent ships out of this Lend-Lease delivery service into port for arming has so disrupted our program that it may be months before the steady flow of munitions to Europe can continue; this is causing much concern here in Washington, not only to the British officials here but likewise to our own government, because having embarked on the program of aiding Britain and her Allies and having entered even an undeclared Naval War, it is imperative to have as little interruption in our supply line of munitions and materials as possible.

FARM TOPICS

PARTIALLY RIPE TOMATOES SAVED

Timely Picking and Care Preserves Tomato Crop.

By LEE A. SOMERS
(Extension Vegetable Specialist, University of Illinois, College Of Agriculture.)

Thousands of bushels of tomatoes which go to waste each autumn because the earlier frosts come before tha later set of fruits has had time to ripen fully could be saved if picked and cared for properly.

These eerly frosts catch tomatoes in all stages of growth and ripening. Some are nearly ripe, and some are half-red, pink-blue, white-nosed, while some are still grass-green.

When the first frosts ere coming, growers should pick the tomatoes and store them in a basement or some other place safe from frost where they can be spread out to mature.

The grass-green tomatoes will never ripen and should be used in making chow-chows and piccalllllies of various kinds and pickled tomatoes in various forms. If not used in a few days, they will shrivel end become worthless.

The nearly ripe, half-red, pink-blue and white-nosed tomatoes will complete the ripening processes in the order named, and in so doing will lengthen the tomato season about three weeks. The nearly ripe specimens will ripen fully with normal color, flavor and texture over a period ranging from a few days to a week or more. The half-red tomatoes will ripen to a nearly normal red color, a fair flavor and only slightly rubbery texture in 10 days or two weeks. The pink-blue and white-nosed specimens will ripen yellow-red, and with poorer flavor and a rubber texture, characteristics of artificially ripened tomatoes. Some of them will need to be discarded because they are shriveled.

If frost has already killed the tender vines and leaves, it is still possible to salvage that part of the crop which has had some protection from the vines and leaves.

Cross-Cut Wood Saw And Motor for $25

"It saws while you split" is suggested as the idea behind the cross-cut wood saw driven by a quarter-horsepower electric motor designed by H. L. Garver and Paul G. May, U. S. department of agriculture engineers engaged in rural electrification research. Material for the outfit costs about $25 they estimate, including the motor. The bureau of agricultural chemistry and engineering has mimeographed the plan for distribution to those interested.

Wood is still the mainstay for fuel on many, if not most, farms. The cross-cut saw operated by two men is still in common use. The circular saw either requires a considerable investment for an engine or large motor or a charge for custom sawing. A man exerts about one-tenth horsepower on such work and the engineers reasoned that a quarter horsepower motor might be substituted to operate the saw. It has automatic shut-off devices.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 29

A short while ago the answer to this question was largely guesswork, but now it can be answered by facts. The American Bankers Association has completed a nation-wide survey revealing that 6200 answering commercial banks (43% of the country's total) made over 13,500,000 credit extensions involving over 20 billion dollars, in one recent six-month period. day and it's still with us. It has been one of the warmest falls on record, we believe.

Have a line from the Don Clothiers. Don says: "Arrived here (Miami) today. Been taking our time coming down the west coast, fishing and shelling along the way. Better luck shelling than fishing. Weather is grand. 85 now at 11:00 in morning and trade winds are starting up. Nights are cool. No mosquitoes here but they sure gave us an awful time on the west coast. Drove us off Sanibel Island after one day and night of it."

A lot of Charlevoixans were rouned out before breakfast last Saturday morning by the fire alarm. It was a false alarm, so we've been told, caused when Ed. Scott, who was helping Fire Chief Charlie Marshall fix a furnace stoker, pushed the fire alarm button by mistake. The chief complaint heard was because of loss of sleep.

Brother Editor Al Weber devoted three-quarters of a column in his Cheboygan Observer "Observations" last week lambasting the Conservation Department for the now very ill-favored law allowing a doe deer to hunting parties of four for camp meat. His accusations might be just were it not for the fact that the legislature, not the Conservation Department, was responsible for the law. If memory hasn't failed me, the Conservation Department asked for power to designate a special season on does in specific areas where overpopulation existed, not a general open season on does for camp or any other purpose. Al wants the department to feed, or else live-trap and remove from over-populated areas, the excess does. He doesn't mention the fact that the worst arens of over-population are on the innumerable private clubs in northeastern Michigan—places where John Public isn't allowed to hunt and where the few monied hunters holding thousands of acres with "Private — Keep Out" signs surrounding them, don't shoot off the natural yearly increase. Live-trapping and feeding of deer, I've been told by conservation officials, is too expensive to undertake on a wide scale. And anyway, if these rich fellows don't want to see the deer on their private property starve, let them feed them themselves. There's always two sides to most every matter, but as I see it, Al usually only prints one—his side.

Speaking of conservation brings to mind a situation existing in our own county, and my argument on this item is against, not for, the Conservation Department. Each spring they net and place over the Michigan Public Service Co. dam on the Boyne river hundreds of rainbow trout congregated below the dam during the spawning season. Last season, I've been told, nearly 500 fish were transferred. The purpose, I suppose, is to allow the fish to spawn in the upper waters of the river. Instead of spawning, however, most of these fish end up in a pork barrel, salted down for summer use. Charlevoix has a perfect right to complain over such a situation, for as matters now stand, this city has the only active sportsman's club—one carrying out a fish propagation and planting program—in the county. The local organization raises the rainbows, plants them in Lake Charlevoix for the conservation department to transfer over the Boyne river dam, never to return. Five hundred rainbows are a lot of fish, much more valuable as a means of attracting trollers to Lake Charlevoix than in somebody's pork barrel. This writer would advocate closing of a quarter mile below the Boyne river dam until the rainbow spawning season is over.

Psychologist: "When children are naughty, quickly switch their attention."

Mother: "Switch their what?"

MANY LOCAL MEN ARE IN WAR ZONE

Likewise young men from Boyne City and East Jordan districts are in the war zone, two, it is reported, on the island of Wake, reported captured by the Japanese.

War-Time Regulations

Charlevoix, only minutely affected in comparison with metropolitan areas, nevertheless felt the imposition of regulations ordered by military authorities for defense protection. Upon orders from S. B. Steers, director of Michigan Board of Aeronautics, certificates of Dr. F. W. Yonag and Robert Wexstaff, local private plane owners, were temporarily suspended. Controls were removed Monday to forestall 'theft or use by aliens. Likewise it was ordered immediate steps be taken to police and protect airport facilities. Another order from W. B. Blain, CAA inspector, prohibited Japanese or suspected Japanese to fly or ride as passengers in any plane. These orders were sent to city police officials.

Like other cities throughout the United States, word of this country's declaration of war Monday was followed by a rush of enlistments of young men eager to serve their country. Applications for army enlistment were made by Charles Bilow and Alexander Boulton, both Class 3 draft registrants.

FARMERS RALLY DEFENSE DRIVE

"FOOD FOR FREEDOM" CAMPAIGN PROMISED

AAA Committeemen Find Farmers Eager to Produce Share of Food Needed for Defense

Triple-A committeemen have successfully completed a "food for freedom" drive in Charlevoix county, according to Walter H. Henley, AAA chairman.

Results of a farm-to-farm canvass show that farmers in this county are willing to produce their share of the food needed for national defense, and like farmers in the rest of the state and nation are determined to meet production goals established for 1942. These goals provide for plenty of food here in America, for normal exports, lend-lease shipments, and reserves of food for peace-time bargaining.

Survey figures from farm plans tabulated in the AAA county office show the following production intentions and percentage increases in 1942 over 1941 in this county: 23,409,005 pounds milk, 11% increase; 521,817 dozen eggs, 32% increase; 4764 hogs, 38% increase; 3768 beef cattle and calves, 7% increase; 1509 acres dried beans, 21% increase; 397 acres farm gardens, 15% increase; 3624 acres oats, 18% increase; 4848 acres corn, 9% increase; 17,300 acres hay for harvest, 4% increase.

Farmers are asked to raise less wheat and instead plant more acres to vegetables, to produce more milk, eggs, and livestock products. The use of goals in meeting the expanded demand enables farmers to make the necessary increases needed, at the same time holding in check production of commodities in which no increase is needed.

1942 production intentions show that farmers are realizing the responsibility that the nation has placed on them in this present crisis and in spite of record-breaking increases, they intend to conserve and maintain soil fertility.

Defense Council Organized

WAR DECLARATION GIVES IMPETUS TO EFFORTS

ACTIVITIES OUTLINED

Competitive Defense Bond and Stamp Campaign, Other Activities Planned

With war now a reality, the Charlevoix County Council of Defense has been organized under the direct supervision of Lieut.-Col. Harold A. Furlong, Michigan defense administrator.

Members are E. K. Reuling, East Jordan, chairman; Rev. Fr. J. W. Collins, Charlevoix, vice-chairman; Ralph Price, Ironton, secretary; Mrs. Katherine Dilworth, Boyne City; Benj. Brown, Charlevoix.

Headquarters have been temporarily established at the office of E. K. Reuling in East Jordan. P. E. Burklund has volunteered as stenographer.

Definite functions of the Council are to secure unity in patriotic efforts for national defense in the county. At least six organizations have already offered assistance and the cooperation of all will be sought. At present no definite work has been assigned any organization, but there will be work for all soon.

It is planned at a date to be announced later in this paper to register at Charlevoix, Boyne City or East Jordan all persons of the county who wish to volunteer their services for any type of defense work. Registration is not compulsory, rather to have complete information on those desiring to devote a part of their time.

The Council will endeavor to give impetus to sale of scrap iron held by any individuals in the county. The need for scrap iron is very great in the nation's war effort.

Another plan, to start at once, is to conduct the sale of defense bonds and stamps on a competitive basis in the county. For this purpose, the county has been divided into three groups: Class A—Charlevoix, East Jordan and Boyne City; Class B—Granges of county; Class C—Villages of Beaver Island, Ironton, Clarion, Bay Shore, Norwood, Boyne Falls, Walloon Lake. Class A will be supervised by Robert Campbell at East Jordan; Alex Heller at Boyne City; supervisor at Charlevoix to be named; Class B under supervision of commanders of three American Legion Posts; Class C under supervision of Ralph Price.

It is planned to compile standings weekly and publish results. This competition will be continued through duration of the war and will be carried out on a quarterly basis in order to declare winner for each quarter. Weekly reports are to be made to Ralph Price by the various supervisors.

More information on the Council's plans will be published when available.

BARBARA FOWLER IN CIVIL AIR RESERVE

Daughter of Former Local People Serves Uncle Sam

Barbara Fowler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest F. Fowler, of Grand Rapids, is the first Grand Rapids girl to offer her services to Uncle Sam with the Civil Air Reserve. She is a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fowler and Mrs. Jone Durance of this city.

Barbara, who has just passed 21, enrolled last month in the service. If she passes her flight tests, she expects to take advanced training, after which she hopes to be one of a gallant crew who will fly "tubs" on patrol and reconnaissance duty for the government.

During World War 1, Barbara's father, then only 18, was a balloon instructor at San Antonio, Texas, in charge of three balloon fields, and Barbara has been steeped in the traditions of flying. That she was anxious to fly is evidenced by the fact she worked in a Grand Rapids store and saved money for her flying lessons.

APPROVE BUYING NEW FIRE TRUCK

CITY PLANS BETTER RURAL, LOCAL PROTECTION

Truck Equipment Includes Special Apparatus for Fire Fighting In Rural Districts

Replacement of present inadequate fire fighting apparatus was voted Monday night by the city council.

Purchase of a modern truck with special equipment brought to a culmination plans inaugurated several months ago to provide better protection within the city and at the same time allow extension of protection to adjacent townships willing to cooperate through participation in financing the purchase.

While the new truck is more modern, more powerful, speedier and better equipped, a special feature aimed to facilitate rural fire protection is a 300-gallon tank providing needed water at locations where the supply might be limited, and an auxiliary pump which may be utilized to pump from wells, lakes, streams or other sources of supply located at a considerable distance from the truck.

The council, in purchasing the new equipment, had in mind a plan of protecting resort property particularly, and rural farm property generally, in all townships adjacent to Charlevoix. Several townships have already made plans to cooperate and an effort is being made to include all in this immediate area.

Upon request of the state highway department, the council authorized removal of earth from a northeast section of the golf course for grading of the proposed re-routing of U.S.31 north of the city.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Ushar

Said the Scotchman as he was run over by a beer truck: "This is the first time the drinks are on me."

They left some deer seed for next year's crop out in Hayes township, because I saw a buck, doe and fawn Friday afternoon on the Folander farm out on U.S.31.

Never shift your mouth into high gear until you are sure your brain is turning over.

Tuesday's pleasant moderate temperature was a welcome change from the blustering, snow-filled winds of the past week.

"That's the guy I'm laying for," cackled the little black hen as the farmer crossed the barnyard.

This week brings back memories. A year ago the 15th a fire gave us a good sizzling and resulted in the issue of the Courier a year ago this week and subsequent ones until the following April were printed at Boyne City. The fire was something I like to forget, but the generosity and kindness of our fellow publisher, Guy Baker of the Boyne Citizen, in turning over his shop facilities to us, will always be a pleasant memory.

The bigger a man's head gets, the easier it is to fill his shoes.

I would like to take this means of assuring the many indignant Charlevoixans that myself, as correspondent for the Grand Rapids Herald, and Fred Cartier, as correspondent for the Grand Rapids Press, were not responsible for the manner in which the Loeb family offer of a site for the proposed Coast Guard air base was publicized in Metropolitan newspapers, and that no newspaper, whatsoever, had any right or authority to quote Mayor Robert Bridge as was done.

Well, well, well! Here it is only 7 days before Christmas and I nearly forgot to write a letter

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Remember Pearl Harbor!

That cry is echoed throughout Michigan today. Vanished are the ardent debates about isolationism and interventionism. Gone are partisan activities for immediate gains at the expense of the administration. Forgotten for the moment are the bickerings of labor leaders for jurisdictional control and closed shop benefits.

Something has happened in Michigan. It represents one of the most complete overnight changes in citizen attitudes this state has experienced in half a century.

The suddenness of the treacherous Japanese attack on American territory, while Japanese envoys were receiving our hospitality in presumed efforts to preserve the peace, came as a great shock to Michigan citizens. Those who had scoffed at the prospect of invasion—who had decried civilian defense activity as war-mongering—were among the first to raise their voices in demands for greater action, or in criticism at apparent unpreparedness and laxity.

Special Session

Because of mounting needs for money, observers here are forecasting that the governor will call a special session of the state legislature early in 1942.

At the first war-time session of the state administrative board, national defense needs in Michigan were discussed. State troops, organized to replace national guard units, number 3,200 men. These will probably be increased at once to 4,160 and later on to 7,500, the full strength point for the guard units they will replace.

State prison industries have been assigned the job of turning out needed military clothing. It was discovered that Michigan could not even assign 1,000 men to winter patrol duty except in their own civilian overcoats to keep them warm.

The daily maintenance cost of state troopers will be $4.50 to $5

Another item on Blanchnrd's gift list for ladies was a pearl-handled knife. Must have been a sturdy breed of girls in those days.

Boudoir caps, waist pins, and moire hair ribbons were nlso suggested for the girls. Evidently they had their more feminine aspects, too.

Wood Brothers suggested having your home wired for electricity for Christmas. If already wired, they recommended use of mazda lamps instead of carbon lamps.

Old Lake Michigan is playing a doleful ditty these days, but we doubt if it will be able to drown the reverberations that follow when 25 gallons of home brew "take off". Down in Kansas they'd have a little cyclone insurance on this mixture.

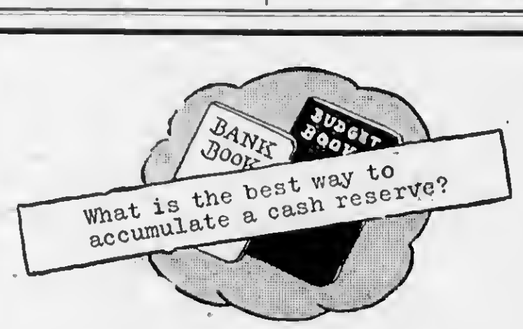
While a wide range of plant material will be used to liven up the Christmas scene, the poinsettia will as usual strike the note for the season. Poinsettias with white or pink floral bracts are available but the red varieties are still the most popular. With careful handling, poinsettias delivered in their prime on Christmas Eve may be made to last for a considerable period. They should be kept out of drafts and should never be allowed to go thirsty, nor should they be over-watered. Air which is too dry may also cause the leaves to drop suddenly, leaving nothing but the bare stems of the poinsettias.

Kept in sunny locations, with attention to all these culturnl details, poinsettias will remain whole and happy until their natural resting period arrives in late winter. Some home owners let the plants rest without wintering until early summer when new growth starts. Old plants may be cut back and regrown or new cuttings may ho rooted in summer and the old plants discarded. Most home owners have found that their florist makes a much better job of growing poinsettias, than they do.

Among the other colorful pot plants available for Christmas, are begonias in a variety of strains, chatelaine, melior or winter-flowering. These, too, can be kept in an attractive condition for a long time but it takes speciul care to grow them over again for use for another year. Primulas and cyclamen promise to be beautiful again this Christmas. These two differ in their water requirements. The cyclamen needs careful watering to make sure the centers of the plants are kept dry. The primulas, on the other hand, require copius watering, especially if their pots are standing on hard, impervious surfaces which promote quick drying.



Times like these are a challenge to every person who wants to build financial security. With living costs and other demands on the purse shooting skyward, it becomes more important than ever to have a plan for accumulating reserve funds. The best way we know is to have a bank account and to put a definite percentage of income in it the first thing every pay day. It will be hard to do at times, but well worth the effort. We will welcome your account.

CHRISTMAS SEALS IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

What have tuberculosis Christmas seals done for Charlevoix county over the past year? With 1941 Christmas seals now being distributed by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, Charlevoix residents will be interested to know a few of the things the seals do for their benefit.

MTA conducts case-finding clinics for people all over the county. Since September 1940, a total of 137 residents have been examined for tuberculosis by means of the X-ray. The last clinic was held November 4th. Case-finding is one of the most effective Christmas seal weapons against tuberculosis. Every case of tuberculosis discovered means protection for others in the community.

Health education is the other part of the Christmas seal campaign. Educational movies about tuberculosis were shown to a Charlevoix-luncheon club with 35 people attending. The pictures are produced through Christmas seal funds and tell the essential facts about tuberculosis.

Special health education literature, including pamphlets, posters, and a monthly bulletin, is available to all teachers. The association believes that people who know the facts about tuberculosis will fight it.

When the Michigan Tuberculosis Association first organized to fight tuberculosis in Michigan, Charlevoix county's death rate was 77.6 per 100,000 population. The 1940 rate was down to 23 per 100,000.

Only through the intensive work of Christmas seals could such gains have been brought about. Only through continued efforts—made possible when Charlevoix residents use the seals—can further gains be made.

BIRTH RECORD NEEDED FOR DEFENSE JOB

Department of Health Urges Citizens Obtain Record

Men and women who want jobs on defense work should prepare themselves now with a certified copy of their birth record, says the Michigan Department of Health.

"In order to obtain work in defense industries, a birth record as proof of citizenship must be shown the employer," Dr. H. Allen Moyer, state health commissioner, explained. "Without that proof, workers cannot be placed on defense payrolls, even old workers who are transferred within a plant to production for defense."

In the next few weeks and months, thousands of old factory jobs will be abolished and new defense jobs will be created. To avoid delays in defense work and to avoid unemployment, Dr. Moyer said, workers who anticipate a shift to defense jobs should apply now for certified copies of birth records.

Birth records can be obtained from the county clerk of the county where the birth occurred, from the State Health Department at Lansing, and for certain years from full-time city health departments. The fee for a certified birth record from the state is $1.00 in cash or money order. Name, date of birth, place of birth including county and names of parents must be supplied.

RECORD DEER KILL IN STATE IS ANTICIPATED

Big Increase In Bucks Transported from Upper Peninsula

While conclusive figures will not be available until game kill report cards are filed and tabulated, early reports of an increased deer kill are being substantiated by conservation department records kept at northern Michigan checking stations.

When actual counting was discontinued at St. Ignace at midnight of the last day of the season, 10,916 deer had been transported on the Straits ferries, as compared with 7,789 for 1940. In the upper peninsula, 933 permits were issued at Marquette, Escanaba and Ewen headquarters to transport deer through Wisconsin, exceeding last year's mark of 785. Hunters removed 471 bucks and 168 camp deer from Drummond Island, as compared with 439 bucks in 1940, while Beaver island hunters bagged 68 bucks and 10 camp deer, as compared with 23 bucks last year.

Conservation department game men report Drummond Island hunters were 100 per cent successful in taking camp deer, all camp licenses issued being filled. With 1,372 persons in the field, the island had more hunters than were ever before concentrated on its 130 square miles.

NAVY SEEKS ENLISTMENT OF RADIO MEN

Experienced Men May Join With Rating of Petty Officer

The Navy Department today issued a call for amateur radio operators and radio repair and service-men. The existing state of war necessitates that they be procured within 50 days for duty as technicians in connection with RADAR, the Navy's new secret device for detecting the approach of enemy aircraft and submarines. Enlistments will be made until RADAR school quotas are filled.

Until now, men with radio training could join the Navy only with initial ratings of Apprentice Seamen at $21 a month. Under the new plan, qualified applicants between the ages of 17 and 35 may enter the services as Naval Reservists with Petty Officer rank, and receive schooling that will fit them for advanced ratings paying as high as $99 monthly, plus additional allowances for dependents.

"Applicants should be high school graduates and hold class A or B Amateur Radio Licenses. If they have no license, they may qualify if they have been actively engaged in radio repair or service work, or have had experience in high-frequency design, reception, or transmission.

SUBSTITUTES FOR ORANGES NUMEROUS

Many Vegetables Contain Vitamin Content of Fruit

Consumers who can no longer afford to buy oranges because of present high prices have a choice of several other foods relatively high in vitamin C content, according to Miss Harriet Elliott, head of the Consumer Division of the Office of Price Administration

The most important other sources of vitamin C are grapefruit, canned tomatoes, spinach, raw cabbage, raw salad greens, turnips and rutabagas.

36 DEER KILLED DURING DOE HUNT IN ALLEGAN

Killing of 44 deer on 20,000 acres of central Allegan county in Michigan's first strictly antlerless deer season December 1-10 reduced considerably the herd in the crop-damage area, but yielded slim returns to the 384 of the 500 lottery license winners who took to the field.

The legal kill included 14 adult does, 11 fawn does and 11 fawn bucks, a total of 36.

CHAPMAN URGES SUPPORT TB SEAL SALE

Cites Work of Association In Protecting Human Life

As the last week of the 1941 tuberculosis Christmas seal campaign opens, Dr. James W. Chapman, director of Health District No. 3, urges all Charlevoix county citizens to support the tuberculosis Christmas seal campaign.

"The grim carve of tuberculosis has always swung up during times like these," Dr. Chapman points out. "By cooperating now with the Christmas seal sale we can help prevent this deadly climb."

The Michigan Tuberculosis Association, which is supported solely by Christmas seals, plans a strong offensive against the disease during 1942. The success of this program depends upon the Christmas seal returns sent in during the next week. At present the Christmas seal sale is far short of its goal.

"Certainly the Christmas seal program has proved its value to Michigan people in the past 34 years," Dr. Chapman stresses. "It has made possible a continuous active campaign against tuberculosis which has been an important factor in the lowering of our tuberculosis death rate 66 per cent. Yet more people in Michigan between the ages of 15 and 45, die from tuberculosis than from any other disease."

To save more lives next year,—USE CHRISTMAS SEALS.

Gags, Gobs, Gals Go Hand-in-Hand In "Navy Blues"

"Navy Blues," a story of reckless gobs and gorgeous gals frolicking on and off a battleship in Hnwaii, and starring Warner Bros. cinema clowns Ann Sheridan, Jack Oakie, Martha Raye and Jack Haley, will start at the Palace Theatre Saturday, December 20.

In this Potpourri of comedy, sailors Jack Oakie and Jack Haley try to filch their shipmate's paychecks and pawn their battleship's trophies with almost disastrous results; Ann Sheridan both hog calls and hog collars her man Herbert Anderson; and Martha Raye chasing her ex-husband, Jack Haley, gets thrown into jail accused of being an international spy.

"Shadow of the Thin Man"

Rowdy Nick and Nora Charles (Bill Powell and Myrna Loy, to you!) are back in "Shadow of the Thin Man," gnily doing all the slap-happy things and stuff you've always loved them for. They dive into fascinating new mysteries in the latest of M-G-M's gay mystery series, opening Thursday, December 25, on the Palace screen. Asta, the pooch, has a whole new bag of tricks, and the kid in the three-cornered pants is a one-haby earthquake now, in the person of little Dickie Hall. Also featured are Barry Nelson, Donna Reed, Sam Levene, Alnn Baxter and Henry O'Neill, under the direction of Major W. S. Van Dyke II.

CHAPMAN URGES SUPPORT TB SEAL SALE

Cites Work of Association In Protecting Human Life

As the last week of the 1941 tuberculosis Christmas seal campaign opens, Dr. James W. Chapman, director of Health District No. 3, urges all Charlevoix county citizens to support the tuberculosis Christmas seal campaign.

"The grim curve of tuberculosis has always swung up during times like these," Dr. Chapman points out. "By cooperating now with the Christmas seal sale we can help prevent this deadly climb."

The Michigan Tuberculosis Association, which is supported solely by Christmas seals, plans a strong offensive against the disease during 1942. The success of this program depends upon the Christmas seal returns sent in during the next week. At present the Christmas seal sale is far short of its goal.

"Certainly the Christmas seal program has proved its value to Michigan people in the past 34 years," Dr. Chapman stresses. "It has made possible a 'continuous active campaign against tuberculosis which has been an important factor in the lowering of our tuberculosis death rate 66 per cent. Yet more people in Michigan between the ages of 15 and 45, die from tuberculosis than from any other disease."

To save more lives next year,—USE CHRISTMAS SEALS.

LANSING LETTER

—an inkling of the coming cost to the state treasury if Michigan is called upon to use the home guard during the war.

Police Army

Civilian defense machinery is now going at high speed, thanks to preliminary organization undertaken by the state and county councils of defense in cooperation with the federal government.

Heading the volunteer units are the experienced technicians of the Michigan State Police, county sheriffs and deputies, and city police — a trained force of 7,100 men. The state defense council, clearing orders received from Washington, has asked local police chiefs to recruit auxiliary volunteers at once. It is expected that the combined strength of full-time and volunteer police guards will eventually approximate 30,000.

Experiences of England, for example, are being utilized by Capt. Donald S. Leonard of the Michigan State Police, president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police who recently returned from England as a member of the LaGuardia study mission, to safeguard Michigan defense plants against damage from bombing and sabotage. Instruction courses are being set up for this purpose.

Fire Peril

Aside from the possible damage to defense industries through fire, a peril which is admittedly great, defense authorities do not foresee any immediate need for safeguards against air incendiary raids.

Yet, as a matter of precaution—a step which Pacific coast states are taking belatedly—schools for volunteer firemen are to be established at once. Attention will be given to the acknowledged peril of industrial incendiary attacks—isolated fires or a chain of isolated fires which could become a disastrous conflagration under favorable circumstances.

Responsibility for conducting these schools in each community rests on local officials—again, a home obligation.

First Aid

As modern war is all-out, involving civilians as well as the military, the importance of first aid and other protective services is being emphasized.

Volunteer nurses are wanted. Volunteer first aid crews are needed. Volunteer bandages and other equipment are needed.

Without hysterics, but with quiet thoroughness, local units of the Red Cross are expected to mobilize and train human resources in every community.

"It can happen here" is the slogan. And if it does happen here, we must be prepared for any contingency.

Sacrifices

Since the home front requires 16 to 17 trained persons for every man at the military front, Michigan has a definite responsibility and obligation.

Instead of momentary flag-waving, defense officials foresee continuous hard work, continuous sacrifice. A long, hard war is in prospect. Many sacrifices must be made. Strength of the enemy must not be underestimated — a mistake made by the English and even by the Germans in the recent Russian campaign.

Taking a view that years of sacrifice are ahead for all of us, what then should each person do? We suggest that you apply to the official defense authorities in your community. Then await orders.

Farmers should overhaul their farm equipment. Cooperative use of machinery and perhaps labor can also be studied.

Michigan will remember Pearl Harbor next month, next year, and years to come.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. I am a machinist in an airplane factory. When the war is over I may be laid off. How can I prepare for that time?

A. Make systematic and regular purchases of Defense Savings Bonds. They will give you a substantial reserve which you can fall back on in the period of readjustment after the emergency.

Q. To what very large group of Americans does the Government look particularly for extensive buying of Defense Bonds and Stamps?

A. People in the middle and lower income brackets, where many of the most rapid increases in national earnings have taken place. This immense part of our population can be especially effective in reducing national purchasing power by buying Bonds and Stamps, thus aiding the country's defense program, while helping to keep down the cost of living.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps now are on sale at retail stores.

NAVY MODIFIES PHYSICAL REQUIREMENTS

Those Rejected for Minor Defects May Re-Apply for Enlistment

A relaxation of physical standards for enlistments in the U. S. Navy and the Naval Reserve was announced this week by the Navy Department. In commenting on this action, the Navy Department announcement stated that numerous men who in past months have sought to enlist and have been rejected on the basis of minor physical defects will, because of the modification of physical standards, be encouraged to re-apply for enlistment in either the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve for the duration of the emergency.

The Navy Department has requested that any person knowing of young men who had been barred from enlistment in the Navy or the Naval Reserve because of minor physical reasons should bring this modification in physical requirements to the attention of these young men.

Applicants with varicose veins will be acceptable under the changed standards, this varicocele condition to be corrected, if the condition is painful, at the Naval Training Stations to which the new recruits are sent. Hydrocele, another defect that formerly ruled out numerous applicants, will be corrected, if necessary, after enlistees arrive at Training Stations. Applicants suffering from hernia will be accepted provided their I. Q.'s are 75 or better. Recruits suffering from hernia will be treated at the Training Stations and will be enrolled for schooling during their periods of convalescence.

Other physical defects which formerly prevented men from being accepted as recruits, but which now are waived, are seasonal hay fever, correctible nasal deformities or nasal deformities of such a degree as not to interfere with duty; undernourished and underdeveloped applicants, providing the condition is not due to organic disease; and minor surgical defects which can be corrected within a month. Applicants who possess 18 natural serviceable teeth, with at least two molars in functional occlusion and not more than four incisors missing, will be acceptable. Dental treatment will be given at the Training Stations.

Any applicant who has been rejected because of any of the defects noted above is urged to reapply for enlistment in the Navy or Naval Reserve immediately.

All applicants accepted with defects requiring correction will be hospitalized. After correction of these defects recruits will be returned to their Training Stations at the earliest practicable time.

These modified physical standards will apply for all applicants for enlistment in either the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve with the exception of applicants for enlistment in classes for prospective commissioning.

SHOT AT RANDOM

to Santa Claus. It isn't hard to do this year, because I'm going to be easily satisfied. A few months back I was sort of inclined to grumble to myself over the fact I had to pay high prices and was taxed on everything I bought because of a defense program aimed to aid Britain and her allies fighting to maintain their freedom. I selfishly thought it was unfair. Events of the past ten days have changed this attitude, because now it isn't only Britain and her allies, but the freedom of this great country which is my home that is in danger. Thousands of men have taken up arms to defend this country. Many have already died and thousands more will give their lives before the titanic struggle is over. They will make this supreme sacrifice to maintain the things that I and all the rest of us hold so dear. So I think it is time to forget about oneself and put every thought and effort into the preservation of our ideals. I would ask Santa Claus to give my share to someone who perhaps will not see another Christmas.

DICKENS CLUB PLAYS "A CHRISTMAS CAROL"

Entertained Shakespeare Club on Monday Evening

Charles Dickens "A Christmas Carol" was presented by members of the Charles Dickens club Monday evening at the city hall, for husbands, friends, and members of the Shakespeare Study club and guests.

Written for the Christmas of 1842, the story so caught the profound and joyous mood of the season that in this far from peaceful Christmas of 1941 it fulfills a great need for a means to keep alive the spirit of peace on earth, good will to men.

An address of welcome was given by Mrs. Arthur Ranger, president of the Dickens club. Mrs. S. W. Mower was director, Mrs. R. L. Lewis general chairman. Mrs. Clarence Wood played the part of Scrooge, while other members of the cast were Mrs. Clinton Cooper, Mrs. Charles Emrey, Mrs. Max Novak, Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff, Mrs. Paul Harter, Mrs. H. A. Craig, Mrs. Peter Tapovic, Mrs. Robert Emrey, Mrs. W. A. Cline, Miss Janet Livingston, Miss Minnie Payton, Mrs. Robert Ashdon, Miss Marian Craig, Miss Anne Campbell, and Alvin Ranger. Assisting in the production were Mrs. Henry Partridge, in charge of costumes, who secured trousers over 100 years old for "Tiny Tim" from Mrs. Archie Livingston, Mrs. Earl Young, scenery and properties, and Mrs. Robert Emrey, music.

Christmas trees used for decoration, gifts of Charlevoix County Nursery, were later given to the city hall, Congregational church, library and St. Mary's church.

The Dickens Club extends appreciation to all who co-operated in the fine success of the production, particularly Chas. Marshall, for his help with stage properties.

HEAVY BOND BUYING REPORTED LOCALLY

War Declaration Gives Impetus to Government Stamps and Bonds

That declaration of war has given impetus to buying of defense savings bonds and stamps is reported by Postmaster J. M. Foster and officials of the Charlevoix State Savings Bank and Charlevoix County State Bank, local sales agencies.

Sales by the three combined agencies sky-rocketed into the thousands of dollars last week and are continuing, it is reported. Being sold are Series E bonds, with maturity value of $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000. These bonds are issued at $18.75, $37.50, $75.00, $375.00 and $750.00 respectively. The bonds pay off in ten years at the maturity value.

Bonds may be redeemed at any time after sixty days during the ten year period for the amount of issue value plus discount rate. The bonds are not transferable, but may be registered in the name of a minor if the purchaser desires.

It was also pointed out that many people are now buying bonds via the defense stamp plan. The sales agencies provide albums for stamps of 10c, 25c, 50c, $1.00 or $5.00. The stamps are placed in the album, and when enough of them have been saved to amount to the purchase value of a bond, the owner may turn them in and receive in exchange a defense bond.

Citizens are urged by government officials to purchase stamps and bonds as an aid to finance this country's war effort.

MISS JUNE FAIRBANKS AND CLIFFORD RILEY WED MONDAY EVENING

Miss June Fairbanks, daughter of Mrs. Agnes Fairbanks, and Clifford Riley, of Petoskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Riley, of Petoskey, were united in marriage Monday evening, December 15, in a ceremony performed at 7 o'clock by Rev. W. L. Cruthers at the Baptist parsonage.

Their attendants were Miss Helena Isaksen, and Charles Ingers, of Petoskey.

A tailored suit of green tweed, with harmonizing brown accessories, was worn by the bride. Talisman roses and white mums made her corsage. Her attendant wore dark green silk, also with brown accessories, and a corsage of rust mums and white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fairbanks. A small lighted Christmas tree, encircled by a garland of evergreen, decorated the table from which buffet refreshments were served. Lighted red tapers completed the table setting. The wedding cake, beautifully decorated, was topped by bride and groom figurines.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley are making their home in Petoskey.

CONGRESS SETS NEW DRAFT AGE

MEN 20 TO 44 SUBJECT TO MILITARY SERVICE

Ultimate Registration of All From 18 Through 64 Provided By New Legislation

Congressional legislation exempting 'teen-age youths from compulsory military service but creating a potential army of 7,000,000 men between 20 and 44, inclusive, awaited President Roosevelt's signature.

Designed to mobilize the nation's manpower for the all-out war against the axis powers, the bill calls for the ultimate registration of all men from 18 through 64. But only those in the 20-44 age bracket would be liable for military service.

Final action came Friday on approval by both chambers of a senate-house conference report compromising differences on the draft age limitations.

Altogether, an estimated 10,000,000 males will be affected. Officials indicated the gigantic registration task will be "staggered" by age groups, and will not be completed until April.

Instructions already have gone out to local boards for a recheck of men registered in the original roll call of men from 21 through 35. It was indicated that those in the 36-44 age group probably would be the first to register this time.

As finally approved, the bill includes a senate amendment providing for payment of $5,000 to survivors of men who die in action or to men who are totally disabled while on active duty. It would pay a similar sum to widows, children or dependents of the men killed in the surprise Japanese attacks on Pearl Harbor and in sinking of the destroyers Kearney and Reuben James.

Selective service officials estimated that the 20-44 age group will add approximately 7,000,000 men to the nation's present draft army of 755,000 or more.

They said 17,500,000 men between 21 and 35 registered in the first draft. These include 3,000,000 in the 21-28 class—expected to be the first group tapped under the new law—and some 2,000,000 in the 28-36 group.

It was indicated that induction will continue at the present rate of 200,000 a month for the time being.

Already local squadrons of the United States Power Squadrons are doing defense patrol duty and other assignments, especially along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

RAYDERS VICTOR OVER MANCELONA

HUNG UP 34 TO 15 WIN HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Reserves Copped Preliminary by 49 to 3 Count; Play Alumni In Holiday Game Friday

Charlevoix high school's Red Rayder basketball teams hung up a pair of decisive victories over Mancelona here Friday night. The varsity won by a 34 to 15 count and the reserve by a lop-sided 49 to 3 margin.

The victory was the varsity's second in conference competition. It was the third for the reserves this season. The two Rayder combinations showed a decided superiority in both contests.

The varsity took a commanding lead over Mancelona's rangy but less experienced squad and never relinquished it. They were out in front 8 to 1 at the quarter, 17 to 3 at the half and 19 to 11 at third intermission.

Stewart, guard, led the Charlevoix attack, scoring 15 of his team's points. Carey snared 7, Rowe 6, Gallagher, Swanson and Lusk 2 each. Clough and Schepperly divided Mancelona's scoring, the former with 5, the latter 5.

The Rayder reserve victory was a walk-away. Mancelona was held scoreless in the first, third and fourth periods, counting their one goal and free toss in the second stanza. Bill Rowe scored 13 points, Vrutinina 12, Bellinger 11, Chambers 5, Martin 4, Bergmann and Hallett 2 each.

The annual varsity-alumni tilt scheduled for Friday evening, December 26, is next on the list for the Rayders. On January 9th they play at Gaylord and then return to the home hardwood for successive contests with East Jordan and Boyne City on January 23 and 30.

XMAS SEALS FIGHTING COUNTY TUBERCULOSIS

Finance X-Rays and Examinations for Many Persons

The Christmas Seals you buy are hard at work fighting tuberculosis in Charlevoix county. Here is their latest report.

Among the 24 persons X-rayed, three were "arrested" cases—persons who had had the disease and recovered.

Five cases of primary infection were also shown. A persons with "primary infection" has caught the germs from some one who has active tuberculosis. The cells in his body have sealed these enemy germs off, so that he cannot give the disease to anyone else. By observing general health rules he may never break down with tuberculosis himself.

Charlevoix county still has a serious tuberculosis problem, the Michigan Tuberculosis Association points out, reminding us that in the past five years 20 of our residents have been killed by the White Plague. Every five hours some one dies in Michigan from tuberculosis. To save these lives is the purpose of the X-ray clinics which Christmas seals finance.

PLAN SERVICES CHRISTMAS EVE

EVENING, MIDNIGHT, MORNING OBSERVANCES

Sunday School Program Presented Sunday Afternoon and Evening in Churches

Midnight services heralding the birth of the child of Bethlehem, re-telling the story in song and pageant, will be held in various Charlevoix churches on Christmas Eve. The public is invited to attend any of the services.

St. Mary's church will observe midnight mass, for the first time in fifteen years.

The Congregational church service will begin at 11 p. m. The traditional candlelight service is planned, with singing of carols and responsive reading. The Sunday school program, a pageant entitled "Night of the Star" was given at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

At the Methodist church, the Christmas eve service will also begin at 11 o'clock. Special music is being arranged, including an anthem, a solo number and two duets by choir members. Church, Sunday school, adult choir and junior choir joined Sunday in presenting a pageant of the Nativity, at 7 o'clock in the evening.

The Church of God will have its Christmas program at 7:30 on Christmas eve. "When the Light Shone" is the title of the play to be given by the young people. Recitations will be presented by intermediate and smaller children, and carols will be sung.

The program at South Barnard Reformed church is to begin at 8:00, with recitations by smaller children and a play, "The Empty Room", by the young people. The Christmas morning service will begin at 10 o'clock.

On Christmas morning, there will be a celebration of Holy Communion at 8 o'clock at Christ Church, Episcopal.

DEFENSE REGISTRATION SET

COUNTY-WIDE EVENT TO BE HELD JANUARY 10

All Men, Women and Children Sought as Volunteers for County Defense Activities

A countywide registration of all persons in Charlevoix county who in any manner can contribute to county, state and national defense will be held Saturday, January 10. Those desiring to volunteer can register on that day at any one of the following three places:

Boyne City — conference room on the second floor of the post office building.

Charlevoix — conference room on main floor of city building.

East Jordan—conference room in city building.

Registration is not compulsory. Every resident, however, who has the smallest spark of patriotism and wants to do something for our country should go to one of the three registration places and volunteer. A separate registration for all school children from the 7th grade up will be held on January 9th and will be handled through the schools.

The purpose of the registration is to give the county defense council complete information on all types of volunteers, men, women and children, so that when there is a job to do, and there will be plenty of them, the council can intelligently, and without confusion assign the volunteers to specific jobs.

For women, volunteers will probably be needed for Red Cross work, knitting, sewing, aid in harvesting crops, such as beans, gardening, volunteers for training classes to learn what to do in case of an epidemic or other emergency, care of evacuated children should it be necessary to evacuate children from Detroit and other large cities, and many other types of work that women can do, even possibly to working in factories should it be necessary.

For children and high school students, volunteers will probably be needed for gardening projects, Red Cross work, first aid and health classes, fruit and bean pickers, part time farm workers, and many other similar types of work.

SHOT AT RANDOM

Merry Christmas, folks!

The most cherished gift of the Christmas season is the friendship and pleasant relationship existing between mankind. The season of genial fellowship and good will when men draw together in ties of common brotherhood. Fateful though 1941 has been, this is the season for peace in the hearts of men. Let us then all wish for as much of happiness as our hearts can bestow, not only to our intimates, but to those whom others may forget; let us be sympathetic and understanding to those who do not have this happiness; let us carry the Christmas spirit not only for this one day, but thru all our days. If we can accomplish these things, we will have fulfilled the true purpose for which Christmas was intended.

A woman's tears are the greatest water-power known to man.

Which reminds me — that it rained Friday, turned cold and froze us out before the night was over; Saturday was bright and cold. Thus goes the unending variety of weather we've had this fall. Inland lakes are frozen over at last, as were portions of the south arm of Lake Charlevoix last Sunday. Now just to make things perfect for the kiddies, we should have snow before Christmas.

A job is like a savings account—the more you put into it the more you get out of it. So it is with defense bonds and stamps. BUY MORE FOR DEFENSE!

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Michigan's capitol dome, illuminated at night with 738 electric lights and a beacon visible for many miles, has been blacked out.

The precautionary step was taken at the recommendation of military authorities, and aside from its economy to the state—an economy incidentally that was not made during the depression—the blackout is significant for its reflection of a drastic and complete transformation of popular thinking in Michigan since the fateful December 7.

By itself, the blackout of the capitol dome will not greatly affect the lives of the people of Michigan. As a symbol of the new order, it foreshadows events and attitudes.

For, as it seems to us now, Michigan has had a bad case of war jitters and near hysteria. Smugness that we were safe from attack has been replaced by positive apprehensios for the safety of our cities and our own lives. Since the Japanese raided Pearl Harbor some 4,000 miles from home bases and since military officials insist that enemy planes actually flew over the Golden Gates at San Francisco, we have concluded: "It can happen here!"

Liberties

Among war's first results is curtailment of civil liberties. When our collective liberties are endangered, we willingly accept temporary loss of individual liberties.

Freedom of speech and freedom of the press, for example, are subordinated to national security.

In Chicago last week a youth, 23 years old, was fined $200 for booing the President of the United States in a loop newsreel theater. He said he was peeved because his draft number was 1729 out of 2,000, because the navy, air corps and marine all had rejected him because of defective eyesight, and because he was a Republican. "But I'm as good an American as anybody," he insisted.

AAA NEWS OF INTEREST TO FARM WOMEN

Farm women have immediate responsibilities in the farm production program, and can help the family budget by producing more of the foods used in the farm home. Any new production which is added to the nation's total by families who have not been producing all their own needs of milk, eggs, and meat will release that much more for those who must depend on commercial supplies. Such foods as milk and eggs particularly contain the elements which are essential to full physical vigor, and when sufficient quantities are used it will enable members of the family to stand off disease many times and thereby work more efficiently.

We as farm women will be called upon to work longer hours, harder work, more work and different work and will have a greater responsibility in helping to manage the farm business so that our farms can contribute to our national production program in providing "Food for Freedom".

LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

December 12, 1941
Pearl Harbor, Hawaii

Dear Mother and Dad,

Have finally found time to pause and get another letter written to you. Things have kept us pretty busy this week. Of course you know what has happened here so there isn't anything that I can tell you. Censorship of both incoming and outgoing mail is in full effect. Therefore I cannot describe what has happened over here at this time, but I don't think I will ever forget what has taken place.

What probably is more important is that everyone I know over here is well and O. K. I'm going to try to get into Honolulu soon and see the Allens. (L. G. Allen, brother of Olive Allen) Don't think I will be able to enjoy Christmas dinner with them this year.

I will not have any use for civilian clothing now as you may have guessed and therefore do not send any articles of clothing. Those that I have over here now will probably be used for some good cause . . . I had my watch repaired during my leave in November and just got it out last Saturday. I should have waited another week and then I wouldn't have had to bother about it . . . I'll probably lose it now or break it.

. . . Hope the candy wasn't crushed. Some of the fellows in the office received candy for Christmas and most of it has been broken up or melted. Perhaps I should have sent jams instead. Don't think it will be possible to get any more Hawaiian jams and sa forth to send to you now.

Haven't seen Bill (Ecclestan) for two weeks. Oh yes I have too; he came on board last week and we saw the picture showing that evening. I haven't seen him since Sunday. I never did hear from Bennie Gill since he left last summer. Does his mother have his address?

. . . Don't know when the next mail will leave for the mainland, perhaps you won't get this letter before the first of the year. Don't worry if it seems long since you hear from me; between letters I mean. Realize that perhaps there are no Clippers or sailing ships going back to the mainland. If anything urgent should come up and I have to get word to you I will let you know by the fastest means possible.

At present everything is fine and we have settled down to the task ahead. War or peace, life is very much the same in military service, perhaps a little more tension and less freedom, but it is all very interesting and exciting.

Oh yes, just noted in today's paper that in Washington the war department presented congress with legislation which would require all men in the United States between the ages of 18 to 64 to register with the selective service. Now's the chance for you and Charley to get into the Navy. Wouldn't it be funny to drop in the ship's barber shop and find you and Charley there . . . I would be sure of a good haircut then wouldn't I.

How is the bridge game coming along? Our daily game in the office has dropped off considerably this week. In fact no one seems to be interested, and just when we were beginning to enjoy the game . . . Well here I have been rambling on and by now this is all beginning to sound like goofy chatter so will close for now. Take care and do write as always.

Ray Ashdon is helping out on the postoffice force through the holiday rush. J. L. Price is operating the barber shop during his absence.

Students home from college for the holidays include Cecil Louise Pollock, Albion; Margaret Fitch, Kalamazoo; Richard Saltonstall, Olivet; Freda McMillan, University of Michigan.

Bridge street is in fine shape due to an excellent system of snow removal. Snow is hauled off the street instead of being piled up in the middle with a scraper. Automobile traffic throughout the winter is no longer a dream, but a reality, and our main street compares favorably with country highways in this respect.

Restrictions on TIRE Sales Effective Jan 4

AUTO TIRE RESTRICTIONS ARE SCHEDULED

Rationing to Start After Lifting Ban on Sales January 4

The ordinary man who uses his car principally to drive to work, to scout around Saturday nights and for Sunday driving may not be able to buy a new tire for the duration of the war, or until Far Eastern shipping lanes are reopened.

That news—perhaps more than any other—has brought the impact of the world wide war directly to the home front. War needs for all materials—especially rubber—will be placed uncompromisingly ahead of less-essential civilian demands.

Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson, who also is director of the OPM's civilian supply division, revealed that state and local machinery is being set up to ration automobile tires beginning January 4 only to persons and agencies classed as essential to industrial efficiency and civilian health.

The same machinery, he said, may be used to carry out rationing programs for other scarce commodities.

From Now On You Must Get Every Mile Possible Out of Your Present Car Tires

WE ARE READY AND PREPARED TO HELP YOU GET THOUSANDS OF ADDITIONAL MILES OUT OF YOUR PRESENT TIRE EQUIPMENT

Firestone

Here Are A Few Suggestions:

1. Have your tires examined now for cuts and bruises that should be repaired immediately.
2. Have us rotate your tires to increase tread mileage as much as 25%.
3. Have us check tire pressure. Too little breaks down sidewalls. Too much wears out center of tread.

Disloyal Speech

Examples of how freedom of speech was curtailed during tha last World War, largely as a result of mass hysteria, may bo faund in these recorded cases:

In Yorkville, New York, Adam Loris was sent to the workhouse for 60 days for shouting "Hurrah for the Kaiser."

In New York City a waiter, Henry Schneider, was jailed six months for sneering at the Liberty loan.

In Jackson, Minnesota, A. C. Townley was found guilty of violating the Minnesota espionage act seven months nfter the Armistice beenuse he made speeches in behalf of the Non-partisan league, a farm protest group founded in North Dakota.

Myron T. Herrick, former governor of Ohio and former ambassador to Frsnee, was quoted in the Daily Patriot of Concord, New Hampshire: "This is no time for leniency. We should lock up all those who utter words that prejudice our cause."

Food, Gasoline

During 1918 the federsl fuel administrator invoked "gasless Sundays". Louis A. Koch, Detroit, with his wife nnd another couple, had planned to leave enriy Saturday for an automobile tour to Clevelnnd. Rain delsyed dcparture until Saturday afternoon, and they spent the night in Toledo.

The next morning, en route to Cleveland, a member of the American Protective League—a group of volunteer vigilantes—spied the foreign automobile license and stopped the car.

From a report of the league Koch was summoned before the Michigan state fuel administrator and was fined $15 for driving his car on a gasless Sunday.

Another Detroit citizen, J. M. Liebermsn, was fined $5 for permitting the lights to burn in his store show-window on the evening of October 28, 1918, in violation of a "lightless night" order.

In Albion a citizen made application to three differept coal dealers for anthracite coal. In each ease ho said he had placed no other orders. When the case was heard by the fuel administrator, ha was instructed ta take tho coal out of his basement and to donate it ta Albion afficials for free use of the poor, and to show within 48 hours a reeeipt for the sum of $200 contributed to the Red Croas.

Censorship of News

Freedom of tho press is snother civil liberty to be curtailed during war.

Close censorship af news at the military source has already been applied by tbe federal government.

A Detroit newspaper was banned from Camp Custer for one month during the first World Wnr because a reporter was charged with writing an objectionnble article.

Actually, tho reporter (now a prominent newspaper executive in Detroit) wrote a news article according to limitations previously approved and aecepted. After he had filed the dispstch, he learned from the commanding officer to refrain from mentioning unusual camp activities and wired a request to kill the dispatch.

Although tho news article was promptly suppressed by the editor, the newspaper was banned from camp for 30 dsys and the reporter was put permanently on the banned list.

Hysteria

Michigan'a first weeks under war conditions were spent by citizens and officials under unusual circumstances.

Peace-time thinking had been drastically revised. The transformation was unparalleled in its swiftness. Whereas many citizens had been divided in attitudes abaut isolation and intervention, or suspicious at tha administration, they became overnight intensely indignant, feverishly at white heat in anger, thoroughly aroused and embittered and determined to do something about it at once, without delay.

The result, of course, was inevitable. Calm thinking gave way to jittery thinking. In view of the sudden outbreak of war, it was perhaps inevitable.

und the elimination of shafting, the possibility of accidents in the normal course of employment has been literally eliminated in innumerable shops. Without figures to prove the point, it might be said the steel industry has decreased accidents ninety percent. The same is true with railroad shops and many other heavy industries. But while safety has been making such progress in industry, the toll of the highways has been mounting to ghastly proportions. Speed, drunkenness, and incompetence are the factors that are chiefly responsible. How to make motoring safe is one of the great problems of the day. It demands the immediate attention of legislators, prosecutors, judges, manufacturers, and the public.

William: "How many kinds of wood are used in making a match?"

Sarah: "Two kinds—he would and she would."

Home Christmas decorations have been late in appearing and there aren't as many this year so far, either. There are some outstanding ones, though. To mention a few, there's the See Funeral Home, St. Mary's Recreation Center and South Side Service Station. The last is especially worthy of comment for the reason it is the work and effort of a 14-year-old youth, Versil Shearer. You can better appreciate this unique decoration by seeing it for yourself.

WAR TOLL NEWS WILL BE SENT NEXT OF KIN

No Publication of Casualty Lists Will Be Permitted

The war department will notify the next of kin of soldiers who sustain casualties as soon as such information is received and verified, the department announced Saturday.

The department statement said: "The department is receiving a tremendous number of inquiries by telephone and telegraph relative to the safety of individual members of the army on duty in foreign garrisons. The volume of these inquiries is so great as to preclude the possibility of individual replies.

"It is standard war department procedure to notify the next of kin as promptly as possible of any casualty sustained by a member of the army while on foreign service. As soon as casualty reports are received and checked, notifications by wire are sent to the persons concerned.

"Relatives and friends of army personnel will greatly assist the war department by refraining from inquiring as to the safety of individuals."

Newspapers will not carry any news on individual casualties until after next-of-kin have been notified.

AT THE MOVIES

New Kind of Honeymoon

When is a honeymoon not a honeymoon? When a beautiful Boston belle marries a fast-talking "con" man in the Western manner—then insists on a staid Boston courtship.

That's the honeymoon the screen's newest romantic team, Lana Turner and Clark Gable, celebrated in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Honky-Tonk," coming Saturday and Sunday to the Palace Theatre.

No sooner does the whirlwind marriage begin, than Lana Turner bluntly turns her bridegroom out of her room until he mends his manners, Boston style.

"Blues In Night"

Sweet and low-down. The soft wail of a muted trumpet. The dull pulsating rhythms of a bass drum. Music of the people. The streets. Of slamming doors and roaring trains. That's the sort of music you hear in "Blues In The Night," the new Warner Bros.' film, which will start its local run at the Palace Theater December 30.

In the starring roles are newcomer Richard Whorf, lovely Priscilla Lane and Betty Field. Besides such fine performers in the lead, the rest of the cast consists of one of the season's finest group of supporting players—Lloyd Nolan, Jack Carson, Elia Kazan, Wally Ford and many others.

"The Chocolate Soldier"

"The Chocolate Soldier," starring Nelson Eddy and Rise Stevens, is scheduled Thursday and Friday, January 1 and 2, at the Palace Theater.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 29

AUTO TIRE RESTRICTIONS ARE SCHEDULED

Rationing to Start After Lifting Ban on Sales January 4

The ordinary man who uses his car principally to drive to work, to scout around Saturday nights and for Sunday driving may not be able to buy a new tire for the duration of the war, or until Far Eastern shipping lanes are reopened.

That news—perhaps more than any other—has brought the impact of the world wide war directly to the home front. War needs for all materials—especially rubber—will be placed uncompromisingly ahead of less-essential civilian demands.

Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson, who also is director of the OPM's civilian supply division, revealed that state and local machinery is being set up to ration automobile tires beginning January 4 only to persons and agencies classed as essential to industrial efficiency and civilian health.

The same machinery, he said, may be used to carry out rationing programs for other scarce commodities.

NEW YEAR'S FEATURE PLANNED AT ARGONNE

Annual Party Scheduled for Wednesday Evening, December 31

Plans are under way for the annual New Year's party at The Argonne, Charlevoix's popular night club.

This year's event is scheduled for Wednesday evening, December 31, with the usual favors, noise-makers and hats. Music will be furnished by Wayne Behling's popular orchestra.

With all indications pointing to a capacity crowd, patrons are advised to make reservations early.

HENRY EINWACHTER SUCCUMBED FRIDAY

Well Known Local Man Was Victim Heart Attack

Henry Einwachter, 68, died Friday at his home on May street, as the result of a heart attack.

Born March 1, 1873, in Canada, Mr. Einwachter had lived in Charlevoix many years. He is survived by his wife.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. L. Cruthers at 9 o'clock Monday morning at the See Funeral Home, and the body was taken to Sebewaing for interment.

street a definite tenseness can be sensed. The olive-drab of the Army and the blue of the Navy is very much in evidence, since all officers and men are now required to be in uniform at all times.

"The Capitol building (the only place in the United States where the flag is permitted to be flown twenty-four hours a day) is now "blacked out", as is the White House. Upon arriving at the office (Treasury) the other morning I observed that anti-aircraft guns had been mounted on our building as well as on several surrounding government and privately owned buildings. These guns are manned twenty-four hours a day and a platoon of soldiers are quartered in the sub-basement of the Treasury.

"The city is now being equipped with air-raid alarms and an "alert" was sounded at 12:30 p. m. Friday, December 12; it was, however, very inadequate and as the Washington Post stated in an article: 'One old tired whistle, secured from the Rockville (Md.) Fire Department, failed to register any attention even two blocks away.' This situation is now being remedied and every precaution is being taken for the protection of the civilian population.

"For the past several days, large steam-shovels have been very active on the street which separates the White House from the Treasury (East Executive Avenue). As yet I have been unable to learn whether a bomb-shelter is being constructed or a connecting tunnel between the two buildings.

"In spite of all the war-time preparations and excitement, the Christmas spirit is perhaps more in evidence this year than in the past. Shop windows are gaily decorated and lighted and the holiday crowds are as prominent at eleven in the evening as they were at twelve noon in previous years.

"This is more or less a hurried glimpse of Washington, D. C. as our Nation enters its second week of the war. If you would be interested in more information from time to time I will be only too glad to write."

NEW RED CROSS DRIVE JANUARY 1

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY QUOTA IS SET AT $2,200

This Community Asked to Raise $700 for National Organization's War Aid Program

With the biggest peacetime Roll Call drive in its history just finished the American Red Cross is beginning a campaign to raise $50,000,000 for war relief in this nation.

In Charlevoix county, the new quota has been set at $2200, of which the city of Charlevoix's share is nearly $700. The drive will open in this county next Monday, January 5. It will be carried on by the same group of volunteer workers who conducted the November Roll Call.

To aid in raising this county's quota, the American Legion will give a benefit party on January 15, the entire profits of which will be turned over to the Red Cross.

The response to the Annual Roll Call was generous, but the answer to this second appeal must be made with more than generosity. It must, and it will, be made even at a saerifice. For this fund is not for war relief in remote European countries. It is for war relief in our own land.

It is for the defenders of our shores, who now are fighting a desperate battle in thte Philippines, who wait another attack on the Hawaiian Islands, who guard the rocky islands in Alaskan waters, who patrol the Atlantic as far as Iceland, who watch the shores of our mainland where the enemy may attack all too soon. It is for those civilians who may be the victims of this war. It is for bandages, medicine, food, clothing, and maybe wooden legs for Americans.

While all of us are prepared to go without many of our luxuries and pleasures, even necessities, we all must realize that the sooner we throw all our resources into the battle, the sooner will victory be ours.

Frank W. Kulpa, formerly of Charlevoix, who was inducted into the U. S. army in June, has been promoted to the rank of private first class at Camp Roberts.

Camp Roberts is halfway between Los Angeles and San Francisco on Highway 101, and is about 30 miles from the Pacific ocenn. The nation's largest army replacement training center, the camp comprises about 1100 buildings and 26,000 officers and men.

Most of the men stationed here are undergoing an intensive 13-weeks training course, upon completion of which they are sent out to their regular army units. This is done at Camp Roberts at the rate of some 100,000 men a year.

Pvt. Kulpa is stationed in the 76th infantry training battalion, commanded by Major Ray E. Marshall, and completed his basic training in October, However, Pvt. Kulpa was assigned to the cadre of Company C in the 76th battalion, and was given the duties af mail orderly.

BIRTHDAY BALL HEAD IS NAMED

JOSEPH F. BUGAI, EAST JORDAN, IS CHAIRMAN

Annual Party to Aid Infantile Campaign Scheduled January 30 — Will Name Committees

Charlevoix county's part in the nation-wide "Fight Infantile Paralysis" campaign is in the process of being mapped out following the appointment of Joseph F. Bugai of East Jordan as general chairman for the county's activity this year.

Appointment of Mr. Bugai by national headquarters marks the first year that he has served as general chairman in this county for the celebration of the President's birthday.

Mr. Bugai will shortly announce his committees to represent various cities and townships of the county as assistants in preparing the program.

While no definite details are yet available, it is believed the birthday party will be held the evening of Friday, January 30, and activities are expected to follow closely those of previous years. In past years a dancing party has been held at The Argonne, and no doubt a similar event will be held there this year.

Proceeds derived from the party will be combined with funds raised by the "March of Dimes" to carry on the national campaign against infantile paralysis. A portion of the proceeds remain in the county to be administered by the local Infantile Paralysis Chapter, and the balance is sent to the national committee.

HUNTING LICENSE GOOD ANOTHER NINE MONTHS

Throw away your old fishing license when the new year rolls around, but keep that hunting license for another nine months, conservation officers are advising sportsmen. New licenses are needed for fishing beginning January 1, but this fall's hunting licenses do not expire until September 30, 1942. When seasons on game are closed, small game licenses are required of sportsmen getting gun permits.

We wish to extend the Season's Greetings and to express our appreciation for the loyal support given us in the past year.

We sincerely hope that the pleasant relationship that has prevailed will continue indefinitely.

NEW TRESSPASS LAW IS EFFECTIVE JAN. 10TH

Written Consent Needed to Hunt On Private Property

Northern Michigan rabbit hunters are reminded by the conservation department that the law requiring them to have written consent to hunt on farm lands or adjacent woodlots becomes effective January 10.

Amending of the Horton tresspass act to specify that the consent be "written" was done in the recent legislative session. Though the act applies to all hunting on private farm lands, it will not affect many hunters until next season, as little but rabbit hunting in northern counties remains of the current season.

While they are not necessary, blank permits may be carried by hunters for convenience of farmers, who may object to taking the time to write out permits and sign them. The blanks need not be printed.

COURT HOUSE OFFICERS HELD CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas party at the courthouse was enjoyed last Wednesday afternoon by nineteen county officers and courthouse employees, in the office of Probate Judge E. A. Ruegsegger. Lunch was served, and gifts were exchanged by "the gang".

WINTER FISHING SEASON ON SOON

ANGLERS NEED 1942 LICENSES ON JANUARY 1ST

Numerous New Regulations Made Law by Last Legislature To Go Into Effect

When January 1, 1942 rolls around, Michigan fishermen will carry on ice and open water fishing under a new inland fishing code passed by the 1941 legislature and made effective New Year's day.

Several important amendments were made to fishing laws that prevailed last year. For the most part they are principally restrictions, one in particular, forbidding the spearing of muskellunge or whitefish through the ice of any of the connecting waters between Lake Huron and Lake Erie.

A special law enacted just before the Legislature adjourned allows bluegill fishing through the ice until February 28 and supercedes the December 31 closing date in the general fishing laws. Bluegill cannot, however, be speared through the ice or be held in possession on the ice between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.; which does

MOVE TO SAFEGUARD CITY'S WATER WORKS

State Health Department Orders Will Be Carried Out

Complying with orders of the Michigan Department of Health, city officials are taking steps to safeguard the municipal water works.

As soon as materials are obtained, the pumping station will be fenced in completely, cover to the well padlocked and other safeguards installed.

Orders received from Dr. H. Allen Moyer, state health commissioner, are quoted in part as follows: "Now that the nation is at war, we are pointing out to water works operators new precautions against snbotage. Defense plants are everywhere in the state, and their water supplies must be guarded constantly, if necessary with police protection."

DEALERS BEGIN RATIONING OF SUGAR

Voluntary Action Follows Restriction Dealer Purchases

Voluntary rationing of sugar to thwart any run on present supplies was instituted by Charlevoix retail stores last week.

While it is pointed out that there is no shortage of the commodity, precaution by retailers to guard their supply has been made necessady hy federal orders which restrict retailer purchases to an amount equal to that stocked for the corresponding month a year ago. In other words, if a retailer stocked 500 pounds for December a year ago, he was allowed the same amount for December this year.

Considered a drastic ruling by some merchants, it is a measure taken to prevent any unwarranted hoarding and to maintain a balance in distribution.

As far as can be learned, no set rationing is being followed, except that A. & P. and Kroger stores have voluntarily set a limit of five pounds to a customer.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

Tomorrow is New Year's. As 1941 fades out and 1942 unfolds, we've an awful lot to wish for during the next 12 months. Our country is at war. The security which our remoteness gave us as ather distant nations locked in a life and death struggle the past two years, no longer exists. The stark reality of war has reared its ugly visage upon us. But ours is a great nation, of great people. We, with ideals, privileges and standards of living enjoyed by no other nation on the face of the earth, are possessed with the spirit, strength and determination to protect from the whole world, if necessary, the things we hold so dear. So we will, standing upon the threshold of a new year, wish for a speedy victory over aggressor nations that have declared this war against us. Yes, we have much to wish for in 1942.

If memory hasn't failed me, northern Michigan this year had its first 'green' Christmas since 1923. Strange as it may seem, several local enthusiasts got in a round of golf and a party driving a car with an Iowa license was observed at the Belvedere course. The kiddies had to wait until the day after Christmas to try out their new sleds, skiis and other winter equipment. So much for this unusual winter we're having.

If you want to be popular, don't talk about what you have done.

An Industrious New Year to You

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Good journalism comes straight from the heart.

It also comes from country towns—those small towns of less than 10,000 population which serve as trading centers for surrounding rural areas.

This phenomenon in journalism has been noted often by students of American life. It was Simeon Strunsky, leading editorial writer of the New York Times, who observed in his book, "The Living Tradition": "With us the small-town and county newspaper which is most often a weekly journal is more influential than the metropolitan daily press . . . Psychologically it is a sound contention that a single copy of a weekly newspaper slowly absorbed may succeed in driving home a point more effectively than ever daily newspapers repeating the same point in the course of a week to a metropolitan audience."

All of which is preface to a remarkable newspaper editorial, written by Schuyler R. Marshall, editor and publisher of the Clinton County Republican-News at St. Johns. Marshall was both an isolationist and non-interventionist during the period of debate on fareign affairs, and his readers knew this well. The editorial on America's war aims is as follows:

The War, and You - and Me

It was Sunday morning, December 7, 1941. Some people were at church. Others were sleeping late—as is their habit on this day. In New York City it was late forenoon. In San Francisco, early morning. At Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands there was a dim light of daybreak. Despite the varying progress of daylight in these widely separated points, it was the same identical moment and all these places and all these people were under the same flag—the Stars and Stripes. The people, whether in mid-Pacific or on Fifth avenue, are Americans.

In Washington the representatives of Japan were conferring with the State Department—talk-

COMMISSION FAVORS CAMP DOE LAW REPEAL

Will Recommend Change to Legislature Next Session

After nfficially gning on record as determined tn change the regulations that this senson permitted the killing of doe and fawn deer for camp use, the conservation commission hns nsked Director P. J. Hoffmnster to nssemble all fnets about the operation of the law for the attention of state legishtors, at the expected specinl session.

Hoffmaster denounced abuses of the camp deer law after n tour through the deer huntiag territory at the height of the deer season, when he saw instances of "flagrant disregard of the intent of the law" and learned from conservation officers of "imaginary" deer camps, set up jnst to get meat to take home. He has urged repeal of the camp deer provision entirely, as no longer necessary with modern trnnsportation and market facilities nvailable throughout the deer country.

Expressing the belief that the Legislature had not intended to make the law operate as it did—boosting the sale of camp permits from 700 to about 20,000 or 25,000—maay observers seem confident the legislators will take the first opportunity to alter the 1941 act.

A & P THROWS WEIGHT AGAINST UNWARRANTED FOOD PRICE INCREASE

John A. Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, today threw the full weight of the nation's greatest retail food distributing organization behind efforts of government agencies to prevent unwarranted rises in food prices.

In a six point pledge "to our national government and to the people of the United States" published as an advertisement in more than 3,000 newspapers throughout the United States, Mr. Hartford outlined a definite working program for company cooperation in the national war effort.

"No one in the food industry can control the wholesale price of food," Mr. Hartford said. "Only the government of the United States has power to do this, and for the protection of our people this power in the government is now a necessary power.

"Today, with the nation at war, we believe that no private interest has any rights in conflict with the general public interest."

The six-point pledge by which the company will be guided in fulfilling its public responsibility declared that:

"We will cooperate unhesitatingly in every effort of authorized government agencies to prevent unwarranted rises in prices of foods.

"We will continue our efforts to reduce the spread between prices paid the grower and prices charged the consumer.

To this end we will continue to do everything in our power to assist the farmers and growers of American in the orderly marketing of their products at the fairest possible prices to them.

"We will make every effort to hold our inventories at the lowest point consistent with good service to our customers because hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers, or consumers, will cause higher prices.

"We will endeavor to continue to pay our employees the highest wages and to give them the best working conditions in the grocery business generally.

"We will make every effort to continue to sell food at retail at the lowest gross margin of profit in the history of the retail grocery business."

CLOTHING LASTS WITH RIGHT CARE

With less clothing and textile material available and with the natural thrift of typical Michigan families, the proper care of clothing becomes important these days, it is pointed out by home economics specialist at Michigan State College.

Information obtained from the United States Department of Agriculture and described by Ruth O'Brien, federal home economist, offers a guide. First step in intelligent care of clothing is knowledge of the fabric. Methods of cleaning, pressing, removing spots and storing vary according to the fibers in a garment.

Intelligent care of clothing includes knowledge of whether the color in a material is fast to light and to washing, whether and how much the garment is likely to shrink, and what special finishes, if any, have been applied to the material. Labels, clerks, and store buyers are sources of information.

The right way to wash wool is to use warm, soft water and mild soap. Squeeze suds through cloth—don't rub. Dry in a warm place, but not near a fire or in direct sunlight. Stretch knit garments into shape while they are damp and lay them out flat to dry. Press other wool garments while they are still damp with a medium-hot iron and a pressing cloth.

Rough handling while it is wet, harsh soap, sudden extremes of temperature in washing water or drying cause a wool garment to become boardy. The little scales on the surface of the wool fibers hook into each other. This locking or "felting" result in shrinkage about which you can do practically nothing. For if you try to stretch the garment back into shape, the fibers break into short pieces, soon work out, and weaken the cloth.

For washable rayons, use heavy lukewarm suds of neutral soaps Do not rub, but handle them with particular care while they are wet. Rinse in water the same temperature of the wash water. Iron with a moderately warm iron. For acetate rayons, keep the temperature even lower. It's a good idea to try the iron first on the back part of a hem or a seam to make sure it's not so hot it will melt the rayon.

The sensible way to clean most cottons is to wash them. Colored cottons need to be colorfast both to washing and to light if they are to be satisfactory for long. And they should not shrink more than 2 per cent in order to retain the fit of the garment after washing. Look for definite facts about both points when you buy.

Textile experts say there's nothing to the old custom of soaking materials in a solution of salt and water to "set" the color. It doesn't work.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 29

HALT WHEN COMMANDED

Michigan Tradesman

Michigan residents realize fully that we are in a war when they read the executive order issued by Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, placing the state under martial law.

The order was issued at the request of the commanding general of the 6th Corps Area, United States Army. All citizens should obey it cheerfully, for it is intended for their protection and for their best interests. It hardly affects the average individual who goes along minding his own business.

Everybody should acquaint himself with its provisions. We consider the order of such importance that we present here in brief its principal provisions.

The following areas and facilities are declared under military or police protection and will be guarded:

International bridges and tunnels between Michigan and Canada, and approaches thereto. Certain airports to be designated, Federal communications commission installations, armaries, certain docks and harbor facilities, and other areas and facilities for which protection may be deemed necessary.

The order says specifically that no interference in the normal operations of the above-named facilities or properties is intended, nor to normal public use of them. But all trespassing on such facilities, buildings, grounds, rights of way, etc., is prohibited.

All that is simple enough. Every person should understand now that a command to "halt" means what it says. When you hear that command, stop where you are. Persons have been shot for refusing to obey it.

Remember: We are at war.

To Our Correspondents

The rural communities adjacent to Charlevoix have been well represented in the Courier the past year and to our correspondents and their families we extend our best wishes for a Happy, Prosperous New Year.

DOROTHY KORTES AND BRUCE WITHERS WERE WED AT PLAINWELL

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Kortes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kortes, of Plainwell, and Bruce W. Withers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Withers, of this city, took place Saturday, December 20, at the home of the bride's parents at Plainwell.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. G. Beard at 2 o'clock, in the presence of thirty-five guests. Robert Doerr, of Traverse City, served as best man, while the bride was attended by Miss Gretchen Vaughan, of Plainwell.

A beautiful gown of ivory slipper satin was worn by the bride, with a fingertip veil of illusion arranged from a pompom of net and orange blossoms. She carried an heirloom handkerchief and satin-covered prayer-book, tied with a white orchid and satin streamers. The bridesmaid wore black velvet, and carried a bouquet of talisman roses, with a matching garland of roses around her head.

Traditional wedding music was played by Vincent Fannelli, harpist. Following the ceremony, a reception was held for seventy-five guests.

Mrs. Withers graduated from Plainwell high school, and attended Western Michigan college and Mabers Business college in Kalamazoo. Mr. Withers graduated from Charlevoix high school, class of 1938, and attended Western Michigan college, where he was affiliated with Theta Chi Delta fraternity and the Industrial Arts club. He is now stationed with the U. S. Army Air Corps at Jefferson Barracks, near St. Louis, Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Withers and daughter, Bettie, of this city, were among those at the wedding.

FARM TOPICS

ELIMINATE HENS THAT DON'T LAY

Don't Keep Poor Layers When Easy to Cull.

By H. H. ALP
(Poultry Extension Specialist, University Of Illinois College of Agriculture.)

Can the birds in the home poultry flock pass the "physical" test?

If they can't, they shouldn't be "drafted" for another year of service in the "army" of egg layers, because chickens, like soldiers, are playing an important part in the present emergency. They have been "drafted" to furnish millions of healthful eggs under the nation-wide food-for-defense program.

If flock owners haven't kept accurate records of their layers' abilities, it is especially important that the birds' physical characteristics be studied carefully before they are put in their quarters for the winter. Fortunately, it is comparatively easy to distinguish layers from non-layers by the culling method, after a little practice.

Bald-headed as they often are, good layers are usually tight-feathered over the rest of their bodies. The feathers generally are dry, frayed and "washed-out," and good layers are active, good feeders, and have good dispositions.

The head of a good layer is usually clean-cut, well-balanced, of medium length and depth, and the eyes are quite large and prominent. Be suspicious of the laying ability of the bird with a thick or coarse head or the bird with a crow-head.

And the back of a good layer should be wide over its entire length and free from hard fat. A narrow spring of ribs or a back that tapers decidedly or slopes sharply to the rear indicates small feeding capacity.

The body should be deep, but flock owners shouldn't be fooled into thinking that birds have body depth just because the feathers are long and loose. Depth of the body can be measured by placing the thumbs on the front end of the keel bone and the middle fingers on the rear of the heel bone. Depth of the front and rear can be measured by spanning the body from back to breast with the thumb and middle finger and sliding them along the keel and back.

If the bird is a good layer, her comb, wattles and earlobes will be large, plump, smooth and waxy. If the comb is limp, the bird may be laying, but when the comb is dried, especially at molting time, the bird is not laying.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Weed

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Peaches for Fuel

Ingenious is the fuel business developed by a California man who makes a round of canning plants, collects discarded peach stones, dries them in the sun, then resells them for fireplace fuel. Scientists believe that some day important industrial products will be found in peach stones.

In colonial days, peaches were used for cider and brandy and were preserved by drying. Forsythe's famous fruit book of 1803 reports that peaches ripened from July to November and the great surplus was "applied as food to hogs."

When canning methods were perfected, the fruit grew in favor and now ranks next to the apple. From 30 to 50 million bushels are grown annually. In the Pacific states, 90 per cent of the 20-million-bushel crop is canned. Some commercial pectin is derived from the peach skins.

California, Georgia, Arkansas, North Carolina and Virginia produce peaches by the million bushels. Important areas are along the eastern and southern shores of the Great Lakes in Michigan and Ohio and around the Finger Lakes in New York. There in the spring, the heat absorbed by the lakes retards blooming and lessens the danger of frost. In the winter, the heat released from the water moderates the temperature and prevents wood and bud injury from freezing.

Nowhere, except in America, are peaches grown commercially. In England and on the continent, the fruit is a delicacy, grown under glass or trained on trellises. The results are excellent, but costly, and peaches there are a luxury only for the rich.

EMPLOYER LIABILITY FORMS ARE REQUIRED

Must File Insists Unemployment Compensation Commission

Almost 30,000 Michigan employers face possible penalties and financial loss because of failure to return liability forms to the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission, it was announced today.

Wendell Lund, Director of the Commission, revealed that only 55,000 of the reports to determine liability of employers under the Unemployment Compensation Act have been returned out of the 82,000 mailed more than a month ago.

"In spite of the war and all of our efforts to concentrate on a successful prosecution of the war," Lund declared, "business must still go on and as it goes on must continue its responsibility to government."

Many of the 55,000 reports returned, according to Lund, were not completely filled out.

"The Unemployment Compensation Act," he explained, "requires the filing of such a report by every unit employing one or more persons. Failure to receive or to file the report does not relieve an otherwise liable employer.

A questionnaire sent out recently to former Navy men, picked at random, showed that 86 per cent were working in skilled trades which they had learned in the U. S. Navy.

If so they should go try find the Harbor Master. Joe has a pile of Xmas Cards so high you can't see him over them, all from his friends on visiting yachts. In spite of the fact that literally thousands of yachts were turned in to the Coast Guard Reserve and the C. G. Auxiliary and were not cruising this year Charlevoix enjoyed an increase of 33 1/3% this summer. These are not guess work figures, we have the names of both boats and owners, through the fine work of Mr. Howard. This ten million dollars worth of yachts certainly shows that they like us. Every yachting magazine in the U. S. had a Charlevoix note in the December issue. Our rating is the best small boat harbor in the world. Our three boat clubs all have national affiliations. The yachtsmen visitors have only suggested a couple of minor improvements for the present. Let's see they get them. And when the present emergency is over we will need double the slips we now have. Our '41 boating business was in dollars and cents many times the best schooner year we ever saw. Would like some time to take up most of an issue of the Charlevoix Courier on wages paid, groceries bought, drinks consumed. But it would be useless as all old timers who will honestly make comparisons know we can look forward to the best times ever if we stay ahead of the others.

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

"One Foot In Heaven" Something New In Film Entertainment

"One Foot In Heaven," the Fredric March-Martha Scott co-starring film which opens Saturday, January 3, at the Palace, has something brand new to offer in the way of screen entertainment. Based on the best-selling novel by Hartzell Spence, it tells the story of a "practical parson" and his family in the first part of the century.

Besides March and Miss Scott the talented cast includes Frankie Thomas, Elisabeth Fraser, Harry Davenport, Beulah Bondi, Moroni Olsen, Vern Lewis, Jerome Cowan, Ernest Cossart, Nana Bryant, Roscoe Ates and dozens of others.

"The Pittsburgh Kid"

While Billy Conn was gallantly holding his own throughout the thirteen rounds of his fight with the invincible Joe Louis, his most enthusiastic rooter was a frail little woman who listened to the fight from a radio beside her hospital bed.

Just three days later she died—happy that her boy had acquitted himself so courageously in the ring.

When he again encounters Joe Louis his plucky little mother will again be Billy's inspiration. In the meantime, Billy has added to his laurels by becoming a movie star. He has the leading role in Republic's "The Pittsburgh Kid," which comes to the Palace Theatre for a run of two days starting Tuesday, January 6.

"Lydia"

A star-studded cast headed by Merle Oberon, Joseph Cotten, George Reeves, Alan Marshal and Hans Yaray, plays the strong dramatic roles in Alexander Korda's latest production, "Lydia," which will have its premiere showing at the Palace Theatre on Thursday and Friday, January 8-9, through United Artists release.

ing about a peaceful settlement of a dispute. This conference had been going on for months, and in the last week or two had been made much of. There was reason to believe an honest effort was being made by these Oriental representatives to arrive at some peaceful understanding. We did not want war with them—or with any nation. They had much to gain by a peaceful settlement. They had much to lose if war was resorted to. There was no precedent, no incident in the history or the past of any nation using open diplomacy as an instrument of treachery.

But that is just what happened.

Treacherous Death

While the conferences were in progress and while the citizens, soldiers and sailors of the United States went about their usual duties and their usual activities, death and destruction rode the skies.

Out of the early morning skies came Japanese bombers. They dumped murderous explosives on barracks filled with unsuspecting soldiers. They blasted ships at anchor. They swooped over air fields and dumped their loads of treacherous death. Onto the heads of defenseless men, women and children, they rained explosives . . . and in a few minutes were gone.

They left dead American citizens strewn around amid burning wreckage.

They left amazement, astonishment and bewilderment.

But not for long.

They left something they will never forget.

They left something they will always regret.

In a few fateful minutes they kindled the rage of a people who had for months reluctantly withheld from accepting war with all its terrible consequences.

They aroused in one rash act one hundred and thirty million Americans who have never, and will never, let any of their citizens suffer such treatment without paying back ten fold.

Japan Will Pay

America is fighting mad.

Our people will fight as they always have fought when it was necessary.

They will work as they always have worked to win — produce more and more and then double that again and again.

They will make any sacrifices necessary—and do it quickly and just as long as there is a treacherous Japanese left.

Japan will pay for this—pay a terrible price. They asked for it. They will get it.

Yesterday is forgotten.

We have a job to do.

It will be an expensive and a revolting job. It will take lives, blood, sweat, toil and privations.

No one is afraid.

No one even flinches at the prospect.

War is no longer a theory. It is here. We are engaged in it. We are in to win. We are in to revenge the lives of our citizens and our boys in service who were not given the opportunity to defend themselves.

We'll Do Our Part

But what about you and I—what are we going to do?

You know, just as well as we, that we will do whatever is demanded and whenever it is needed.

Some of the boys will go to join others in army camps. Others will join the navy—and still others will pilot planes in the skies.

The rest of us will stay at home, doing our jobs to support the fighting men—to keep our homes, our farms and our factories functioning full blast.

There is food to be raised.

There are planes, tanks, munitions and equipment to be furnished.

There are vital industries, and strategic points to be guarded against sabotage.

There is the morale of the people at home and the boys away at camp or on the high seas to be maintained.

There is accurate information to be disseminated. There will be false rumors to be discredited.

An Unsavory Job

THERE IS A FREE COUNTRY TO BE PRESERVED FOR MILLIONS OF AMERICAN CHILDREN—future citizens who must never be the slaves of a slant-eyed Jap or a brutal Hitler.

All these and a thousand more jobs born of a war emergency will be waiting to be done.

Later—we hope not—there will be dead to bury. There will be wounded to rehabilitate. There will be men coming home no longer carefree, adventurous youths who will have to be helped to fit into a new place and a new life.

In time, there will again be Peace.

But it must be an honorable peace and it will not come until the mad-dog nations of the earth are subdued.

Let us, in the meantime, be thinking ahead to the time when there can be a just peace. Let us, even the humblest, be thinking of the day when something can be substituted for the senseless and horrible penalties of war.

It is too late to speculate on the mistakes that have been made.

We have an unsavory job to do—and WE ARE GOING TO DO IT. No quibbling. No hesitating. Come on! Everybody—let's go!

Many people are no doubt aware of the fact the Charlevoix Lumber Co. is one of Charlevoix's oldest business firms, but few probably realize it has served this community 73 years. On December 16, the present firm, incorporated by Harry Nichols, George Bates and Freemont E. Lewis in 1891, reached its 50th anniversary. The present Charlevoix Lumber Co. succeeded the firm of Redington Nelson & Co., estnblished in 1868. The original founder's first payroll record, still in the hnnds of E. J. Hiller, who has been the firm manager 35 yenrs, contnins the names of many Charlevoix pioneers.

Fox hunting in this area is the best this year it has been in a long while, so they tell me. They are plentiful everywhere and actually thick in some localities. Two local hunters were successful over the week end. Gordon Dennis killed one Sunday near the Harry Webster farm nnd Stewart "Irish" Coleman cold-cocked one with a 22-caliber rifle Snturdny out in the Marion district.

Edward J. Vratinina, stationed with the army at Port of Spain, Trinidad, British West Indies, sends us a Christmas greeting. Edward's wasn't the only one, but having come the greatest distance, merits special mention, we believe.

A good New Year's resolution: "Buy Defense Stamps and 'lick the other side'."

If you see Frank Courler and Kit Carson riding a taadem bicycle, don't get excited. They'll be just getting in practice for next fall's deer hunting trip.

Many of the local boys home for the holidays will be having their last vacation in some time, for those who haven't started already will go on a 7-day work week when they get back to their factory jobs.

FINAL PLEA MADE IN TB XMAS SEAL DRIVE

Increased Control Efforts Needed During Era of War

Making n final plea for returns from tuberculosis Christmas seals, Curtis M. Wylie, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, declared that the work of the Christmas seal has never been more vitnl than it is this year. "Because tuberculosis has always increased in times of war, our preventive efforts must be intensified," he declared.

However, until the amount of returns from Christmas seals is known, the anti-tuberculosis program for 1942 cannot be planned, Mr. Wylie said.

Approximately 40 per cent of the persons to whom seals were sent have not yet mailed in their money or returned the seals, according to Mr. Wylie.

This yenr will be the grentest challenge in the MTA's history, Mr. Wylie believes. No country has ever succeeded in holding down its tuberculosis death rate during and immediately after n war. Equipped with a better understanding of the disease, this country might break the old alliance of war and tuberculosis, he said, . . . if the money is available.

"If this control is not achieved, if Michigan's tuberculosis death rate goes back as high ns in 1918, there will be more than 5000 persons killed by tuberculosis in one year in this state instead of the 1752 of 1940," Mr. Wylie warned. "To meet this emergency, send in your contribution for Christmas seals," he urged.

The seal sale represents the one public appeal of anti-tuberculosis societies. Although no seals are sent out after Christmas day, returns are accepted at any time.

STATE FURNISHES NATION CALCIUM NEEDS

Now Independent of Germany or France for Requirements

Michigan today is capable of satisfying rapidly increasing domestic demands for calcium metal, for which the United States only a few years ago was almost completely dependent upon France and Germany, according to the conservation department's geology division.

One of the most importaat "bases" used in processing other essential metals, calcium now is produced in sufficient quantity at Sault Ste. Marie, in the upper peninsula, to fill present needs, and production can be expanded to meet defease requirements. The metal is expected to become even more importaat as its possibilities become better known.

away with all night fishing for bluegills nnd sunfish.

The black bass season closes at midnight December 31 and will not open again until June 25. One change has been made on bass; the daily limit next year will be five over the Great Lakes as well as all inland waters. It formerly was 10 over the Great Lakes.

The limit on bluegill has been reduced to 15 in a day instead of 25. The restriction of 15 pereh on Houghton lake was changed to allow 25.

A new rulo on lake trout allows the fisherman 25 pounds and one trout each day. It formerly was five in one day. There is no restriction, however, on the number that may be taken through the ice from the waters of the Great Lakes.

Another new provision is that no person can take more than a combined total of over five large or smallmouth bass, wall-eyes and northern pike in one day or have more than five in possession except when taken out of the connecting water of the Great Lakes when the possession limit is 10 or a two days' catch.

After January 1 fishermen will be prohibited from using live gold-fish or carp as bait for fishing in any waters and the State Conservation Commission has been given authority to ban the use of any kind of live minnows in certain trout lakes they might name to prevent the introduction of undesirable species.

Fishermen are reminded that all 1941 fishing licenses expire on December 31 and new licenses must be obtained for all inland water fishing after January 1. The law does not require a fishing license for residents for angling in the Great Lakes or their connecting waters.

We pledge ourselves to this cause

A Statement by

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company

We make this pledge publicly to our national government and to the people of the United States:

That we will cooperate unhesitatingly in every effort of authorized government agencies to prevent unwarranted rises in prices of foods.

That we will continue our efforts to reduce the spread between prices paid to the grower and prices charged to the consumers.

That to this end we will continue to do everything in our power to assist the farmers and growers of America in the orderly marketing of their products at the fairest possible prices to them.

That we will make every effort to hold our inventories at the lowest point consistent with good service to our customers because hoarding, whether by wholesalers, retailers, or consumers, will cause higher prices.

That we will endeavor to continue to pay our employees the highest wages and to give them the best working conditions in the grocery business generally.

That we will make every effort to continue to sell food at retail at the lowest gross margin of profit in the history of the retail grocery business.

Today we are providing food for our customers at the lowest gross profit rate in the history of the retail grocery business. This means that we have achieved efficiencies in the distribution of food never before attained. More of your food dollar goes for food and less for overhead expenses than ever before. No other great retail business in the United States in any field is operated with such a low cost of distribution.

No one in the food business can control the wholesale price of food. Only the government of the United States has power to do this, and for the protection of our people this power in the government is now a necessary power.

Today, with the nation at war, we believe that no private interest has any rights in conflict with the general public interest.

The armed forces of the United States are today receiving more and better food than ever before in our national history. It is equally important that all of our people working and living behind the lines, men, women and children, shall be better fed and better nourished than ever before in our national history.

SEEK SCRAP IRON, RAGS, OLD PAPER

SCHOOL CHILDREN JOIN CAMPAIGN FOR DEFENSE

Period of January 12-24 Set for Collection of Scrap Materials in Charlevoix

At the request of the Michigan Council of Defense, the boys and girls of Charlevoix public schools will carry on a compaign to collect old metal, rags nnd wnste paper during the fortnight of January 12-24. These metnls will be sohl to scrap dealers nnd the money will he used for some worthy student enterprise.

There is a serious shortage of iron nnd steel scrap at the present time, according to information from the Michigan Council of Defense, and Charlevoix public schools are planning to do their bit to help solve this problem. Steel is made from a combination of pig iron nnd scrap in about equal portions in normal times. There must be a great increase in the flow of scrap to mills, immediately, if the steel industry is to continue production at peak capacity. This situation is particularly acute in Michigan, where at lenst two big steel mills are reported to have only a few days' supply of scrap nn hand.

Shortages in rags and wnste paper are reported. Both of these are important materials in the defense produrtion program. Thousands of pounds of renovated rags are needed for cleaning and wiping machinery in defense factories and increased production to meet needs of a rapidly expanding Army and Navy has placed a tremendous burden upon the nation's paper supply.

Any per on having paper, rags or scrap metal is asked to give it to any school child who will bring it to school for proper disposal.

The following representatives from the junior and senior high school are a committee to handle the collections: Charles Smith, Helen Jean Hammond, Jane Kohler, Cassie Fox, Jonn Heise, Sally Miller, Bill Rowe, Bud Rowe, Don Carey, Dick Fochtmnn, Bill Poole, Bill Cruthers, Dan Brown, Ken Hardy, Dan Bellinger, Marygrace Rogan, Jill Chapman.

FRUIT GROWERS TO MEET AT MSC JANUARY 12-16

More than a hundred of the state's leading commercial fruit growers are expected to attend the annual Fruit Growers' conference scheduled at Michigan State College January 12 to 16, inclusive.

Recent developments in orchard management and in the handling and marketing of fruit crops are featured in the live-day short course.

CAREFUL DRIVING WILL SAVE TIRES

The first act of newly-appointed tire rationing administrator Arthur Sarvis was to urge careful driving to conserve tires.

"Not on a patriotic, but on a purely selfish basis," he said. "Would you rather drive for two years at 45 miles an hour or six months at 70?"

He asked motorists to "drive for necessity only," to keep under 50 M. P. H., and to avoid fast starting and stopping.

WINTER SPORTS PARK IS ATTRACTING MANY

Fine Facilities Available At City-Owned Mt. McSauby Tract

Improved facilities at the Mt. McSauby winter sports park are attracting many devotees since the advent of favorable weather conditions.

The 33-acre tract, acquired by the city early in 1941 and improved last spring through a WPA parks project, has been provided with an excellent toboggan slide, two layed-out ski runs in addition to numerous other nnturnl slides and trnils. A shelter lodge, 20x20 of log construction, is equipped with fireplace, benches and tables.

Facilities of the park nre available to both local nnd out-of-town winter sports enthusiasts. While no definite plans has been worked out by the city council for use of the lodge, it is believed it will be available to responsible parties, and that future policy for manngement will depend upon the demnnd for use of the facilities.

REGISTER FOR DEFENSE SATURDAY

COOPERATION EVERY CITIZEN IS BEING SOUGHT

Charlevoix Place of Registration In Community Room of City Hall, From 9 Until S

Every adult resident of Charlevoix county will have an opportunity on Saturday, January 10, to express willingness to aid in national defense.

Sponsored by the Charlevoix County Defense Council as its first step in developing cooperation of citizens in the present national emergency, a registration will be conducted on a county-wide basis as a means of determining what type of activity each and every citizen is willing to enter.

Three places for registration, each to be open from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. have been designated. In Charlevoix, registration will be conducted in the community room of the city hall. Similar registrations will be conducted in East Jordnn nnd Boyne City. A special registration for school children will be conducted in the schools on Friday, January 9, thus bringing every person in the county—man, woman and child—under this voluntnry plan of aiding the nation.

Primary purpose of the registration is to nscertnin the particular abilities nnd availability of each person for various types of emergency duty. On page 2 of this issue the full text of the registration blank to be used is reproduced. We would suggest you read it rarefully and give full consideration to your intended answers before going to register. In other words, know beforehand exactly how you are going to fill out the blank, for in so doing you will save your-elf and those who are assisting in the registration a great deal of time.

That you register and indicate your willingness to cooperate in national defense efforts should not have to be stressed. It is a patriotic duty no one should shirk.

Clifford McKibbin, Jr., of Lansing, who assumed his duties as city superintendent on January 1, met with the city council for the first time Monday evening. Mr. McKibbon succeeds Don F. Herrick, who recently resigned to enter military service.

Deadline for payment of taxes without penalty for collection was extended from January 9 to February 14, following an estnblished custom.

The council by unanimous vote authorized payment of $100 to the Red Cross war relief fund. The step was taken as a patriotic duty as well as assisting in rnising this city's quota of $700 in the county campaign for $2,200.

Appeal for Money and Workers Is Swiftly Met; Many Women Knitting and Sewing

Charlevoix resident- are responding generously and cheerfully to the Red Cross campaign to raise a $2,200 war relief fund in the county. The drive opened Monday, Januury 5.

This is not a campaign for memberships, it is an intensive drive for contributions. Funds must be ronsed for relief of American citizens who have already suffered disaster and loss in this war, and for those who will experience such calamities.

Guy Conkle, Jr., of Boyne City, is chairman of the county quotn committee. Prosecuting Attorney Norman D. Ance is the local member, and East Jordan is also represented.

The Charlevoix city council Monday night voted $100 to the Red Cross war relief fund. Proceeds of a benefit party Wednesday, January 7, at St. Mary's Recreation Center, and one planned for January 15 by Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, will be turned over to the fund.

Residents of rural districts, where road conditions will prevent a house-to-house canvass, may leave their donations at either the Charlevoix County State Bank or the Charlevoix State Savings

CALL 11 MEN JANUARY DRAFT QUOTA

Group Ordered Report Jan. 14th; Induction Camp Custer

Eleven men have been certified by the draft board to fill Charlevoix county's Jonuary quotn for military service.

Those who have been ordered to report Wednesday, Janunry 14, for induction at Camp Custer are:

Elmer F. Crain, John E. Jones and Oliver L. Duplessis, of Charlevoix; Robert D. Sloop, Carl T. Umlor, Clifford L. Derenzy, and Leon R. Dunson, of East Jordun; Robert D. Cook, Lyle R. Snyder and Edwurd C. Carson, of Boyne City; Joseph M. LnFrenlere, of St. James.

A group of 18 men, yet to be selected, have been ordered to report January 22 at Traverse City for pre-induction examination. Those who successfully pass physical tests will be called to fill the February and March quotas, it is understood.

TO SEEK DATA ON CAMP DEER KILL

DEPARTMENT WILL ASK THAT HUNTER COOPERATE

One Member of Each Party With Camp License Will Receive Request to Report

Every party of deer hunters that bought a camp deer license in the recent season will be asked shortly to report by mail whether the license was filled by killing a buck, doe or fawn, the conservation department disclosed today. The information is being gathered to get more facts on the controversial subject of doe killing, legalized in the state in the recent season after 20 years of the one-buck law.

Camp deer permit sales records still are being collected from the hundreds of agents throughout the state. To one of the signers of each permit will be mailed a double postcard, one half having the address and instructions, the other for the report of the kill under the camp license, if any. The return cards will be stamped, and will cost the hunter nothing to mail.

Because of the intense interest in the doe-shooting question, prompt cooperation on the part of hunters is expected. No kill report was included in the camp license form because at the time of its preparation last summer the prospect that doe shooting would be allowed was far from certain, and continued so until the Legislature reconvened in October. Previously, under the one-buck law, camp deer permits accounted for a very small part of the kill. Only 700 permits were issued in 1940, when this season [illegible] 25,000 or more may have been sold.

The proposed canvass of camp permit buyers is part of a survey of the annual workings of the doe law which the conservation commission has ordered, so that authoritative facts and figures may be supplied for possible reconsideration of the law by the legislature.

Local Soldier Transferred

Herbert L. Ager, recently inducted into the army at Camp Custer, has been transferred to Camp Roberts, Calif., for training.

TIRE RATIONING WILL BE DELAYED

PLAN AWAITS NAMING FULL COUNTY BOARD

County Clerk Fenton R. Bulow Is Chairman; County Quota for January Determined

Opening of the tire rationing program in Charlevoix county will be delayed several dnys until personnel of the Commodities Board can be determined and qualified to act.

Originally state authorities directed a seven-man board be named for the county. Later federal regulations cut the group to three members. Fenton R. Bulow, county clerk, will act as chairman and secretary of the board and county tire administrator.

There will be two other members of the board qualified from the six others named for the original seven-man group. These selections are not as yet available.

Mr. Bulow received official notice of his appointment as administrator Monday morning, along with a supply of forms on which applicants for tire purchases can be made.

Charlevoix county was allotted 9 tires and 8 tubes for passenger cars and light trucks and 26 tires and 22 tubes for heavy trucks for the month of January.

Only a few persons, however, qualified as those "performing a function essential to the war effort or to the health and welfare of the nation" may get a tire or tube and then only if they can show that their present tire cannot be repaired.

Two members of the committee will sign each purchase order and public notice of the granting of the order will be made to prevent possible favoritism. As far as private cars are concerned, they must continue with the tires on the wheels or obtain ynlnnl retreaded tires.

Whether or not city boards will be formed to handle city requests and act in cooperation with the county board has not been made public although original plans called for the formation of such boards in cities over 2,000 population, it is understood.

PARTY FOR INFANTILE AID IS BEING PLANNED

Await Committee Appointments to Conduct President's Ball

Plans are being made for the 9th annual President's Birthday ball, scheduled for Friday evening, January 30. Joseph Rugai, of East Jordan, county chairman, is expected to name committees this week. Groups will be named to represent each city village and township, it is understood. Full details of the event are expected to be available next week.

PRIMARY ELECTION IS ON FEBRUARY 16

The city primary election for 1942 will be held February 16. Any candidate seeking office must file petition with the city clerk not later than 1:00 p. m. Tuesday, January 13.

Offices to be voted for are: Mayor, clerk, treasurer, justice of the peace, one supervisor, alderman and constable for each ward.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By Ken Usher

The world owes every man not a living, but the opportunity to make a living.

Candidates seeking nomination to city offices at the spring primary election have just five days in which to file nomination petitions and yet, with the deadline so close, we haven't heard even the slightest rumor regarding who's who.

Whew! Old Man Winter didn't fool when he finally got around to giving us a sample. The storm of New Year's afternoon and night was a dandy while it lasted. Never saw so much snow in so short a time in my life. Cars were stalled everywhere; we went for one dny without train service; it will take street crews weeks to clear nway the necummulated snow off Bridge street. Many motorists stayed in farm houses when their cars became stalled, some just waited in their auto until plows came along to release them. And that isn't all! As this is being written, we are experiencing our fifth consecutive duy of winter blizzard. Snow has fallen steadily and, swept by persistent strong winds, has brought equal to most severe midwinter conditions in this short space of time. Temperatures have hovered close to the zero mark. Motor traffic on trunkline and county highways has been maintained only by constant plowing and many township roads are completely dugged. Those guys who predicted an open winter sure had their wires crossed.

These are war times, even in our small and remotely located city. An example of steps taken to safegnard the public is the employment of a guard at the water pumping station on Lake Michigan.

A Coast Guard training base is a possibility for Charlevoix. Preliminary reports on the housing capacity of buildings on thot portion of Loeb Farms offered to the U. S. Coast Guard for an air base have been sent out in answer to

LANSING LETTER

By GENE ALLEMAN

Field Manager, Michigan Press Association

Life in Michigan will be different in 1942.

Looking upon a n"all-out" tug-of-war with the Axis as ever a "temporary interruption in the normal course of business", Michigan may expect changes during the coming year to include the following:

Added to the selective service list of 600,000 men will be 500,000 men between the ages of 36 and 65—or a total of more than one million Michigan men subject to war duty, is physically qualified and if needed by the nation. Of this group the men between the ages of 20 and 45 will be liable to call for combat service.

The registration call, issued last Monday (Jan. 5), affects 25,000,000 men between the ages of 18 and 65 years. Michigan's total thus will be about one-twentieth of Uncle Sam's potential manpower for prosecution of the war. Even a half million men, taken from normal economic use, would result in drastic changes throughout the state.

Yes, life is going to be different.

Old, Old Story

The blunt plain talk of Winston Churchill at Washington and Ottawa made a profound impression on Americans.

Just as our pre-Christmas prosperity clam was shattered by the treacherous Japanese raids on Pearl Harbor, later duplicated by bombing of Manila during the holidays, so nlso attitude on the war underwent a major readjustment during the Churchill-Roosevelt conferences.

De-pite the encouraging headlines of Nazi defeats in Russia, the fact remains that Washington now plans for a three-year war. Production of arms, growing as it has been, is totally inadequate to meet new needs. Unless the German nation collapses from weak morale or a lack of needed supplies, we must wait until 1943 and possibly 1944 before there are sufficient arms and trained men to justify a

Since our entry into the war, the American Red Cross has asked each district for additional funds. The quota for Eveline township is $50 by January 20. As road conditions will prevent a house-to-house canvass, the committee is asking each resident to co-operate by sending donations to your former solicitor, or leaving it at the Ironton post office or the Advance store. It is the hope of the committee that Eveline township will again exceed its quota.

NEED MACHINE REPAIR TO BUILD '42 CROPS

Farmers Urged to Order Parts, Put Equipment In Condition

Michigan agriculture faces the task of food production in 1942 with a well trained force of farmers better equipped than in any previous emergency era, but with certain preparations necessary if farm work is to get done through the next harvest without more than the present visible supply of hired help.

This is the sentiment of members of the Michigan State College agricultural engineering department. They suggest an adequate program on every individual farm to insure equipment will be ready for the job.

New equipment will be scarce, but tractors now on farms number more than ten times those used in Michigan in 1920.

"Repair, paint, grease, adjust and protect with housing," suggests A. J. Bell, college extension specialist in agricultural engineering.

"Considerable undue breakage occurs while machinery is out on the job because bolts are not drawn up tightly. Proper lubrication as simple as applying either hard oil or machine oil means a great saving. Old crank case oil had better be used only for covering unused plow bottoms or for heating up the repair shop. Its lubricating value is poor."

Bell suggests wooden parts be painted and metal parts sprayed with oil as a partial offset when housing of machinery is poor. January, February and March ought to see the machinery repair jobs completed so that a farmer will have ordered, obtained and installed repair parts in time to put machinery in order.

THRIFT GIRL

SYLVIA KOOPING, 21, of Ironwand, named by State Club Leader A. G. Kettunen as Michigan's 1941 canning champion, was awarded an all-expense trip to the recent 20th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago provided by Mrs. Ruth Kerr. The honor climaxes a nine-year record. . . . The girl put up 1,087 quarts of fruits and vegetables, raised a large garden annually, and handled eight dairy animals. She won $14 in cash prizes, two trips to the State Fair, and was on the State honor roll four years for her canning achievements. Ever since 1933 she has been a county honor member, was assistant junior leader two years, and junior leader three years. This is the 13th year of the contest, which is conducted in cooperation with the Extension Service.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Bids on limestone and marl contracts for the 1942 Conservation Materials program have been awarded to Francis J. Lilak and Harold Moore of East Jordan. These contractors have agreed to furnish lime and marl to all farmers within the county at the following rates: limestone, $2.40 per ton for farm delivery; $2.90 delivered and spread on fields. Marl, $1.00 per yard for farm delivery; $1.50 delivered and spread on fields.

Any farmer who wishes to obtain either or both of these materials for spring delivery should call at the Triple-A office to sign an order for the amount desired. Your order will then be placed with the contractors who will make the deliveries in accordance with specified dates. Walter H. Henley, county chairman, is advising every farmer to avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining either lime, marl or commercial fertilizer this coming year in an amount equal to all or a portion of their 1942 farm payment. The cost of the material will be deducted from each farmer's payment with no "cash-out-of-pocket" inconvenience.

Some farmers may be in doubt as to the type of material needed on their particular soil. In these cases a soil test is recommended. You may leave soil samples for testing at the County Triple-A office.

Deliveries have been made within the county on 130 tons of commercial fertilizer to date. The county office is continuing to accept orders on expected new shipments. Eighty tons of 20% phosphate was received in the Boyne City warehouse this week, and it is expected that additional shipments of phosphate will be made to Charlevoix and East Jordan sometime this winter.

New recruits at the U. S. Naval Training Stations receive two mail deliveries daily.

INFORMATION REGARDING INCOME TAX

Editor's Note:—This is the first of a series of articles dealing with income tax. This year, more than ever before, it is necessary that all prospective taxpayers be given information concerning income tax and their obligation to file returns.

Who must file a return? Every single person having a gross income of $750 or more; every married person, not living with husband or wife, and having a gross income of $750 or more; and married persons living with husband or wife, who have an aggregate gross income of $1,500 or more.

When must returns be filed? For the calendar year 1941, on or before March 16, 1942. For the fiscal year, on or before the 15th day of the third month following the close of the fiscal year.

Where and with whom must income tax returns be filed? In the internal revenue district in which the person lives or has his chief place of business, and with the collector of internal revenue.

How does one make out his income tax return? By following the detailed instructions given on the income tax blanks, Form 1040 and Form 1040A (optional simplified form).

What is the tax rate? A normal tax of 4 per cent on the amount of the net income in excess of the allowable credits against net income (personal exemption, credits for dependents, interest on obligations of the United States and its instrumentalities and earned income credit) in the computation of the normal tax net income; and a graduated surtax on the amount of net income in excess of the allowable credits (personal exemption and credit for dependents) against net income in the computation of the surtax net income.

Sailors in Uncle Sam's Navy have their own language for certain things. Candy bars, popcorn balls, nuts and similar sweets are called "porgy bait". Ice cream, soda water, sundaes, ginger ale and soda pop are termed "gedunk".

"What's the matter with Charlevoix?" That is the question raised editorially, probably not for the first time and certainly not for tha last time. Quote: "Our city is the gateway to tha upper lake region; it has natural resources and advantages which are unequalled by many of the neighboring cities, it has abundant water supply, splendid sites, both water and railway shipping facilities, and we all acknowledge we want industries. Why don't we get them?" Suggestions offered as a solution to the problem, which may well apply in 1942, were that merchants could occasionally subordinate their own interests to those of the city, and not be afraid they were going to lose a dollar when their co-operation was required in some project for the good of the entire community; eliminate factional fights and resentment between individuals, which may be human nature but is extremely detrimental to the progress of the city. Whom the shoe fits, put it on.

H. B. Jacobs, of the firm of Jacobs & Dawson, has purchased E. L. Dawson's interests in the grocery business.

A mass meeting of citizens was held in the council rooms Wednesday night, to deliberate on the local light and power situation. A. J. Usher, Capt. William J. Finucan and Louis Orlowski were appointed a committee to make a report to the council concerning the matter.

Miss Jana Mitchell and Roy Stanley Swinton were married in a pretty ceremony Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents on Antrim street.

Two changes have been made in the court house with the opening of the new year. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Emrey, clerk and deputy clerk respectively, have turned the office over to George Roderick of Boyna City. Mrs. Roderick will serve as deputy clerk. Sheriff Charles Novak, after eight years in office, is succeeded by Dave Vaughan.

Glenn Ingalla returned to Detroit on Saturday, to attend Detroit Technical college.

Miss Hilda Hyers left Saturday for Detroit to enter Harper Hospital as a student nurse.

In December, three dolls were sent to Japan by a local Sunday school class, among thousands from other groups in the country, for presentation to some Japanese girls at the Doll festival in March. The object of sending tha dolls is the promotion of friendship between the children of Japan and the children of America. (Evidently the idea didn't work, but anyway we tried.)

The council Monday night voted to give the Michigan State Telephone company permission to remove overhead wiring and telephone poles from Bridge street between the bridge and Hurlbut avenue, and instnlling the wiring in underground conduits; and also considered the matter of putting city electric wires in the same area beneath the surface.

Dear Captain Joe Howard,
"The Harbor Master"

I can see you now coming along the docks, making us feel we were "among 'em" at Newport. You sure make us feel "glorified", Captnin Joe, and we sure like it. You not only contribute to Charlevoix, the Beautiful, but to each and every one of us, because you cause us to want to have our ships spick and span, and help to keep the waters and the docks clean, so we all fit into the picture you create in making your daily rounds.

There's one thing I like about you, Captain Joe. When an actor takes a curtain call, I like to see him remain "in character". Captain Joe, that's what you do and you do a damn good job of it, you remain "in character".

I have watched you meet and talk to all sort of boat owners and crew. I have never seen you "out of character". You are playing the part the people of Charlevoix wrote into their stage show for someone who could study the part and make a living character out of it. Perhaps it was not intended to be "the lead", but damn it all, Captain Joe, you've stolen the show with it.

Captain Joe, I do not think any other actor can take that part and do as much as you have. You have made it the "spot light" on "Charlevoix the Beautiful."

Thanks a lot for your Christmas Greeting and I also wish you and yours a very happy Christmas.

Sincerely yours

Poultrymen Experiencing Difficulty in Selling Eggs Locally

Several poultrymen have become somewhat concerned with their inability to sell their eggs to the local merchants. Apparently the increase of laying hens in number, plus a higher than seasonal average production has brought about a problem of moving eggs locally. Fortunately we have a market near by that can handle all of the surplus eggs produced in Charlevoix county at a good price level.

The Ellsworth Cooperative Co. have a state and federal approved egg grading station handled in connection with their regular organization. At this station eggs are graded as per the egg grading law in Michigan and the producer receives his pay immediately upon being graded. The prices paid are in line with the general egg prices and best of all poultry producers who include the proper sanitary measures receive the highest prices. For instance last week in the extra grade, large eggs brought 34c per dozen, medium 31c and small 28c; in the standard grade, large 32c, medium 30c, and small 26c; then in the last class, namely the trade, the price per dozen was 27c, with the soil or dirty eggs 25c a dozen and with checked eggs 25c. Thus one can see that if the producer of eggs has a majority that are small or dirty or checked the price is low. On the other hand if you produce the large, good, clean, fresh eggs then the returns are very satisfactory.

If one or two places are selected to receive these eggs that are to be sold throughout the Ellsworth agency we have been informed that a truck would be sent to pick up the eggs without additional charge to the producer. This announcement is not aimed to upset the splendid contacts between producer and local stores but is to be used where your local merchant is unable to handle all of the eggs brought in by the local poultrymen. If you want further particulars contact your county agent.

Jersey Breeders of District to Hold Winter Meeting

All dairymen interested in Jersies are planning to hold their annual winter meeting in the Boyne City post office building on Tuesday, January 6th. The meeting will start at 10:30. The breeders will eat together during the noon hour and continue their discussion of vital Jersey matters in the afternoon.

One of the subjects to be discussed will be the desirability of having a Jersey Parish Show in 1942. The election of officers will take place as well as considerable attention devoted to the production requirements before Jerseys can be registered. The American Jersey Cattle Club was the first breed organization to make it necessary for all males to meet certain requirements before they could be officially registered and thus classified as purebred. All Jersey breeders will be interested in hearing what these new requirements are. Jersey boosters from Emmet, Cheboygan, Antrim, Charlevoix and Grand Traverse counties will be expected to attend this important meeting on Tuesday, January 6th in the Boyne City post office building, starting promptly at 10:30.

East Jordan Dairymen Lead N. W. Michigan D. H. I. A. in December

The December report for the Northwest Michigan D. H. I. A. indicates that production is increasing and that more individuals are producing over 50 pounds of butter fat per month. During the month two new herds were added, those of Rowley Williams, Charlevoix and Fred Barr of Bellaire. John Evans, the tester in charge, reports six cows producing over 50 pounds of butterfat. During the month five cows were sold because of low production. Approximately 85% of the females born are being kept for replacements and increasing numbers. This somewhat indicates that dairymen are planning to do their share for National Defense in increasing their milk production as requested by the Secretary of Agriculture.

MICHIGAN 1941 PIG CROP A HIGH RECORD

Carry-Over Is Eleven Per Cent Higher Than Year Ago

Michigan produced the largest pig crop in its history in the fall of 1941 and prospects for spring indicate another new record, the Michigan co-operative crop reporting service has announced.

Officials said the total of 785,000 pigs saved for the fall was 11 per cent above the 1940 fall crop and 55 per cent above the 10-year average. The combined fall and spring crops for 1941 totaled an estimated 1,591,000 pigs saved, 39 per cent above the 10-year average.

Rural mail carriers conducting the surveys reported that not only did 114,000 fall litters set a new record, but the average of 0.89 pigs per litter also was a new high mark.

WE'LL DO THE JOB

The following editorial is taken from the December issue of Motor Wheel, Lansing publication edited by King Saunders, former local youth. It has been widely copied for its outstanding merit and is reproduced herewith for our readers:

"The war which long has been expected has come.

"It was brought down upon our shoulders not by our nation or any individual in it, but by the war lords of the Japanese nation whose treachery, betrayal of faith and false-face diplomacy was recorded in bloody beastliness at Hawaii and the Philippines a few days ago.

"The surprise attack probably gained for Japan a momentary initial advantage, but it also did something else. It lit in the hearts and breasts of every loyal American a fiercely-burning fire of unity the like of which never before has been witnessed in the history of the world. A unity which can mean but one thing—absolute and decisive victory for the forces of the United States.

"It does not detract one whit from the glory and honor due our armed forces to say that this war will be won in the machine shops, mills and factories of America. It will be won in the machine shops, mills and factories because from there come the highly mechanized implements of war—absolute necessities if we are to engage successfully in war as it is fought today.

"Motor Wheel is one of these factories from which the sinews of war are already pouring. It will occupy an increasingly important place as our armed forces place heavier demands on us for equipment.

"That Motor Wheel will hear those demands and answer them with munitions and more munitions is a foregone conclusion.

"Faced with the task of helping to protect and save the very life of our nation and all we hold dear, Motor Wheel will be a shining example of that unity which only a nation like ours can produce.

"No longer are we capital and labor, management and shopman, Democrat and Republican, union and non-union, Catholic and Protestant, Gentile and Jew, employer and employe. We are just AMERICANS; first, last and all the time; imbued with but one spirit—that of winning the war and doing it as rapidly and as decisively as possible.

"With the dropping of the first bomb, every man at Motor Wheel became a fighter in that vast army of men-behind-the-men-who-man-the-guns.

"Let it ever be said that the guns were loaded because we did our job and did it well."

Sailors in Uncle Sam's Navy who are performing "night watch" receive an extra meal every night while on duty. It consists of many sandwiches and a beverage.

SWEET POTATO HARVEST TIME

Growers Cheat 'Jack Frost' By Digging Quickly.

By LEWIS F. WATSON
(Extension Horticulturist, N. C. State College.)

Shortening days and cooler nights herald the arrival of fall and harvest time for sweet potatoes, one staple in the diet of many farm people.

Potatoes keep best when they are allowed to mature before harvesting and before frost kills the vines. If the vines are killed by frost, they should be removed immediately and the potatoes dug soon.

Use a vine cutter, attached to the beam of the plow, when vines are not removed before harvest. This attachment should be constructed so as to prevent the blade which cuts the vine from going deep enough to injure the potato.

One of the most important rules at harvest time is not to bruise the potatoes. They should not be thrown from one row to another. Three rows can easily be placed together without throwing the potatoes. Bruised yams rot easily in storage, and dark spots caused by rough handling lower the market value of the crop.

As the potatoes are removed from the soil and piled in the heap row, they should be graded carefully. All cut or broken yams should be piled separately from the No. 1s and fed to stock as soon as possible.

For curing and storing, a regular storage crate has many advantages over the bushel tub. Besides conserving room, the crate allows a better circulation of air.

Potatoes should be stored and cured in a thoroughly cleaned and dry house immediately after harvesting. Proper temperature and moisture conditions are essential factors in keeping the crop.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Weed

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

CASTOR BEANS

To make American industry less dependent upon foreign products, castor bean growing is being revived to supply a fast-drying oil for paints and enamels. It is found to be a good substitute for tung oil, a product of China which has been extensively used in the paint industry. Since the Japanese invasion, this foreign oil is both costly and difficult to get and the domestic supply is not being produced in large quantities.

Castor bean growing is not new to this country for it thrived in a half dozen states around 1850 when 23 oil mills were operating, most of them located around St. Louis. After the Civil war, production increased until Kansas, glutted the market with a boom crop of 766,143 bushels in 1879. Prices fell and interest in the castor bean declined.

Last year test plots were grown in 33 states from coast to coast, in the South and as far north as New York. New seed was imported from Java, Brazil and India by the National Farm Chemurgic council in an effort to find a new market for the farmer. It included shatter-resistant varieties which do not require a prohibitive amount of hand labor, since they are less likely to eject their seeds as they start to ripen, and can be harvested in two or three operations.

One of the first commercial uses of castor oil is in lacquer for lining cans in which food is preserved. By treating it with sulphuric acid, an oil is obtained which is used for softening textiles. It is also used in the manufacture of soap, aniline inks, and non-brittle tire cement.

Farm Notes

Milk cows on farms in the U. S. increased nearly three per cent between 1940 and 1941.

One hen normally will eat about 80 pounds of feed a year; of which approximately one-half should be mash and one-half grain, in order to obtain best results.

• • •

An inexpensive and efficient homogenizing machine for small dairies, operated by a quarter-horsepower motor and weighing only 137 pounds, is now on the market.

The 1941 United States lamb crop probably is the largest on record.

The 1941 U. S. hay crop of 96,000,000 tons is expected to be the largest harvested since 1927 and the third largest produced in the last 30 years.

July 1 estimates on corn in the United States indicate a harvest of 2,543,709,000 bushels, which will be 4 per cent more than the 1940 crop and 10 per cent above the average crop in the period 1929-39.

America's War Victims Appeal for Your Help

First war poster of the new World War, painted by the distinguished artist James Montgomery Flagg, carries an appeal for a $50,000,000 war fund to aid the victims of aggression upon the United States and its island possessions.

To aid the victims of warfare being waged upon America and her island possessions, the American Red Cross has issued an appeal for a $50,000,000 war fund. Chairman Norman H. Davis announced from the national headquarters in Washington.

Mr. Davis urged men, women and children to give to this mercy fund through their local Red Cross Chapters. These funds will support the Chapter's war work with the families of men in the military services, as well as the broad relief program of the national Red Cross.

President Roosevelt, who is president of the American Red Cross, issued a proclamation urging all citizens to give to the Red Cross war fund.

In launching the appeal, Chairman Davis said:

"There are millions of our citizens who desire today to demonstrate their will to victory over the enemy. Not all can be in the armed forces, and not all can volunteer their services for humanitarian work, but all can volunteer their dollars to arm the Red Cross to be their representative at the scene of battle and distress.

"Today is the day to demonstrate our high morale, our unity, our determination not alone to support our President and our fighting men at the front, but also to succor our wounded, homeless and suffering fellow citizens in our Pacific islands that we stand one hundred per cent ready to aid them through the Red Cross."

PROTECT BABIES, ADVISE HEALTH DEP'T.

Prevention of Contagious Disease Cited As Important

Michigan's babies have first claim on health protection for 1942, says the State Health Department.

"The best foundation we can build in public health will be built by protecting babies against diseases which are preventable," says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "In 1941, more than 100,000 babies were born in the state, and every one of them should be guarded against smallpox, diphtheria, and whooping cough."

The first vaccination according to an approved Michigan schedule is against whooping cough. Those injections are made at six to nine months. At nine months, babies should be protected against diphtheria. The first injection of diphtheria toxoid is followed by a second a month later. At 12 months, the smallpox vaccination is given.

A smallpox death is a rarity in Michigan today, but in the first nine months of 1941, diphtheria took 11 lives and whooping cough 71.

Golden Heart

By RALPH EMERSON
(Associated Newspapers.)
WNU Service.

"SAY! Take your heavy weight off my glass case, will you, Butch?" laughed Wayne Taylor.

"That's my new case and . . ."

"Sure, sure, anything to oblige," returned Butch, shifting his weight to the other foot and grinning at his friend. "Why we ever took up with each other is more than I can make out, Wayne. You with your millionaire father and his acres of greenhouses. And my dad a hard worker all his life—"

"Oh, well, you and I are both working hard enough now, certainly, even if we did take it easy in college," returned Wayne, cutting off a tiny cluster of golden-hearted roses.

"Got an order for those?" asked Butch carelessly.

"N-not exactly. But a girl comes in here every night and spends a quarter for flowers. Curious thing, too, she doesn't dress like a girl who can afford to spend 25 cents a day for flowers—"

"Getting kind of soft over her?" asked Butch hastily.

"No woman is mine, Butch. Now or ever! Just a selfish bunch of grabbers, every one of them."

Thoughtfully, Butch picked up one of the tiny roses and cracked the stem in four places before his friend took it out of his hand.

"Boosh!" laughed Wayne, "first you try to lean your great hulking weight on my best case of flowers and then you snap off the stems of flowers I'm going to sell. On with you, boy, and continue counting the nickels in folks' telephone boxes. Some day, with good luck, you'll be manager of the telephone company."

"Betcha," Butch said cheerily. He found that his bus had left three minutes before. Eighteen minutes remained until the next one and Butch decided to collect two near-by telephone boxes. Springing up the stairs of an old-fashioned flat building, he knocked at the door. Ordinarily it was unlocked and the thin, pleasant voice of an elderly woman in a wheelchair answered his knock. Tonight, however, a slender girl in pink opened the door.

"Telephone man," he said briskly, showing his identification card.

Butch put his black carrying case on the floor beside the funny little writing desk that held books on one side. Deftly Butch inserted his passkey and let the nickels slide forth into his hands. The girl had returned to the tiny kitchenette and was peeling boiled potatoes.

"Nice day, wasn't it?" he said to the little old lady in her wheelchair.

"Yes, indeed," she answered cheerfully. "Emma, dear, you forgot to bring in the water for my flowers."

"Just a second, grandmother. Thought I'd get the potatoes started first—you must be starving. I was a little late tonight—"

But Butch heard nothing more. He was looking at the golden roses in the old lady's lap—golden roses in a tiny cluster, one stem cracked in four places.

Emma had gone to the sink and was filling the vase and the old lady looked after her with affectionate eyes. "D'you know what I just found out that dear child has been doing?" she said.

Butch shook his head, his eyes still on the golden roses.

"Why, the girl that works in the same office with my Emma stopped in tonight and told me that Emma has been going without her luncheon every day to buy me flowers on the way home. You see, I've always lived in a small town and I always had a nice big garden full of flowers. But when grandpa died and I had my stroke—a person who likes flowers never, I reckon, gets over liking them."

Butch counted his coins rapidly, then hurried back to see Wayne.

". . . . and some way or other, I b'lieve I have fallen for that girl," Wayne told Butch a half hour later when Butch dropped in at the florist shop. "You know, I've never even thought of her in that way until you put it into words tonight and when she came in for the flowers say, she'd just take your breath. Butch—great, big eyes—she just looks big-hearted but—" here Wayne sighed. "I suppose she is a gold-digger along with all the rest of them."

"And suppose I told you that like those roses with hearts of gold this girl of yours had a golden heart, too," said Butch slowly. "Suppose I told you that she had gone without her noonday meal every day so that her grandmother, who loves flowers, might have a little cluster fresh every night, eh?"

"I'd say it sounded like a fairy tale," grinned Wayne, "and you couldn't tell me anything like that for you don't know her name any more than I do. But I'm going to find out—"

"Her name is Emma Martinson," said Butch, "and—say, where are you going, eh?"

"You stay right here and watch the shop for me," said Wayne. "And give me her address, pronto, see? If you sell a lot while I'm gone—well, when I've popped the question and all maybe I'll let you be best man. Who can tell, eh?"

Silently Butch took his place behind the counter.

KIWANIS PLAN AID IN RED CROSS CAMPAIGN

Carry Dinner Pails, Give Dinner Cost to County Chapter

Thirty men carrying dinner pails will attend the Kiwanis meeting at the high school next Tuesday night.

In place of the dinner usually served at Kiwanis meetings, each man will have a pail packed according to his own desire, which he will eat. Money usually charged for the meal will be presented to the Red Cross.

This dinner pail idea is perhaps original with the Charlevoix club. The enthusiasm with which the suggestion has been received by the men makes it possible that other meetings of the same sort will be held not only by the local club, but by luncheon clubs in other places.

NEW PERCH MARKETING LAW EFFECTIVE

No Substitution for Great Lakes Species to Be Allowed

On and after January 10 when housewives at markets and diners in restaurants order perch they can be sure of getting Great Lakes perch, and Michigan commercial fishermen are expecting to benefit from that certainty.

A new law effective next week prohibits further sale of rose fish as "ocean perch" or "sea perch" or "perch", and with the elimination of the imitative name from the marine fish, state fishermen expect Great Lakes perch to get an deserved and better standing in the markets and on the menus.

According to conservation department records, Michigan fishermen last year marketed 894,000 pounds of perch.
